VOTE FOR SINGLE TAX.

The Student Council in a special session has called a general vote on the Single Tax for Thursday and Friday, May 12 and 13. If this expression of student sentiment is to have any effect on the Board of Regents, approximately two-thirds of the student body must cast their ballots in favor of this issue. For this reason it is imperative that every student go to the polls next week and vote. Make it a point to see at least three students each day and remind them of this election. If you are a president or a chairman of some campus organization, attend the meeting of presidents tonight in Social Science auditorium. Then talk "Single Tax propaganda" to the limit of your persuading power.

The University of Nebraska must put this scheme across this year. The chief objection to the Single Tax is that it would require those students who are working their ways through school to patronize activities that they would otherwise not feel able to support. In a measure, this is a false premise. A canvass among several University men who are working whole or part time during the school year shows that they are just the men who go to the football games, basketball games, who buy the Daily Nebraskan and attend the mixers.

The Single Tax will save you money. You will spend two or three times as much as the assessment under the Single Tax, if you buy football tickets at $5, basketball tickets at the same price, attend all the mixers at thirty-five cents for each one and subscribe to the Daily Nebraskan for $2.50 for the school year.

The reduction of University fees by the legislature does not mean that the fees have been reduced to a lower level than they have ever been. They have merely been placed on their pre-war basis. And the Single Tax was agitated at that time and this objection was not raised.

Vote for the Tax issue next week and help show that Nebraska students really have the spirit to put a BIG thing across. They have done it at scores of other schools. It has proved successful. Nebraska needs the Single Tax.

A BUSY WEEK-END.

This will be a busy week-end. However, it will only be a small indication of the events which will be crowded into the month of May for University students. Thursday afternoon the seniors will skip to Crete for an outing. Thursday evening the University Players begin their three-day complimentary presentation of "Seventeen." Friday is Omaha day. Saturday is dedicated to the Farmers' Fair. On Saturday afternoon the Jayhawkers will meet Nebraska in a track and field meet on the athletic field. The tennis and golf tournaments are on in full swing. Girls' baseball has started and inter-Greek baseball is "on deck."

The following weeks will be crowded with University traditions. If your school work is "up to snuff" you can enjoy all these outside activities without cause for worry.

ASSUMING THE STUDENT KNOWS TOO MUCH.

The professor who assumes that his students know too much is making a big mistake. We are not referring to the instructor who gives an opportunity for students to ask him questions about some doubtful point. We mean the professor who rushes ahead at a mile-a-minute pace, using technical terms and lengthy expressions which would make a Harvard psychologist choke, and without giving the students time to ask him their meaning. This instructor probably assumes that college students should know the meaning of the expressions he uses.

But college students are only human and if they knew all these things they would be teaching and not learning. They would no longer need to pursue the paths of knowledge. No student is ashamed to ask a professor a question in this age. The day of the abashed and self-conscious student has gone. But how can students get the maximum of worth from their courses if they are not given an opportunity to ask the meanings of expressions used by their mentor? Must they forever go on floating about on a spar in a sea of unsurmountable difficulties?

WELCOME TO PHI MU.

A new national sorority has entered Nebraska. It is the second oldest secret organization for women in the United States. The University of Nebraska takes this opportunity to welcome this new group of girls who have banded together under the name of Phi Mu and who have been successful in their petition to that national women's social fraternity.

The girls who will compose this new chapter represent every phase of student life—the social atmosphere, the atmosphere of the student and the environment of the campus worker. Is this not the ideal combination?

While they are yet young at our Cornhusker school, they are molding for the future, which is indeed a bright one. The Daily Nebraskan, in behalf of the University of Nebraska, congratulates this group of girls who are now to be known as Phi Mu.

The Rosemary Dresses of Imported Cottons $35

THESE captivating cotton frocks, creations of the renowned Rosemary designers, are Paris inspired due to deft style touches imparted by members of the Rosemary staff but recently returned from the French capital.

Each of these six cotton dresses is made of a foreign fabric—permanent finish organdie from Switzerland, the embroidered novelty voile is a French voile, flakke linen from England and dainty dotted swiss from Switzerland. It is the individual touches, the care exercised in bringing out the proper lines in draping, the expensive quality of materials used and the more costly part of the making that stamp Rosemary Dresses at their prices better values than their imitations at whatever the price may be.

You will find the six cotton styles illustrated in your exact size—they are made in sizes 34 to 44 for women—for misses, in sizes 14 to 18.
