Farmers' Fair Advertises Work and Possibilities Of Our Main Industry

The Farmers' Fair was inaugurated at the Nebraska College of Agriculture in 1916. The second fair was held in the spring of 1920. The most common questions asked about this project are: What is a farmers' fair, and why is it held? The first and second fairs held at Nebraska were patterned after the annual fair at Missouri which was the first institution to have such an event. Missouri has held a fair each year since 1907.

Briefly a farmers' fair as put on at Nebraska is an advertising campaign launched for the purpose of telling the people of the state about the work and possibilities of the greatest industry of this country, agriculture. The Farmers' Fair is held because it is a great fun-fest for the Ag students and it gives them training in responsibility and initiative to carry on big ideas and projects. It is planned and carried out entirely by the students of the Agricultural College, although the faculty aid with their moral support and freedom of the use of departmental equipment.

Parade A Feature.

The greatness and magnitude of a circus is judged by the size and kind of parade that is staged prior to the opening show. So it is with the Farmers' Fair, but the Farmers' Fair parade held last year was only a good suggestion of what was in store for the visitors at the Farm. A parade over a mile long made its appearance on O street about noon. Led by the University band it paraded before the largest crowd ever assembled on the sidewalks to witness a student function. Gorgeously decorated floats from each department followed in order of their size and merit. The best examples of horse-flesh in Lincoln were drafted into use to pull the various floats. Numerous trucks, tractors, and automobiles endeavored to show the modern method of locomotion and power used by our gentle friend, the farmer. There were freak floats sandwiched in between the department floats to add variety to the parade. Prominent student and faculty members got their share of publicity in the stunts put on by these freaks. The Rube police force and band added color to the train of specialized advertising agents for the great 1920 Farmers' Fair.

MOVIE STUDIO BEING ERECTED ON CAMPUS

Will Be Open to University and the State—Storage Facilities Provided.

A unique photographic studio is being erected on the campus between the greenhouse and Mechanical Arts Hall. This studio will be in charge of the conservation and for the use of both the University and the state. The studio will also serve as a fire-proof film storage room. According to plans, it will be completed in July.

The building will be 25 by 72 feet. The main room will consist of a studio 25 by 50 feet. In this room the staging of still pictures and motion pictures will be carried on. The top and most of the sides will be glass, and the floor concrete. Artificial light will be used at night and natural in the daytime.

Provision is also being made for a film assembly and billing room, a drying room for the developing of films and a small printing room. In addition to these there will be erected a fire-proof vault for film storage. It has been estimated that the capacity of the vault will be approximately 3,500 films.

PARADE WILL DEPICT FARM STUDENT LIFE

14. Rural economics float—marketing of farm products.
15. Horticultural float—more fruit, "some peaches."
16. Sight-seeing bus—farmers a la old style.
17. Giant caterpillar, twenty feet long, and the greatest curiosity of the century.
18. Comic float, showing how every one who misses the fair will kick himself.
19. Poultry husbandry float—the hen, queen of the barnyard, and her year's production.
20. Three ways students go through college (very deep and funny).
21. Agricultural chemistry, the scientific aid of the farmer.
22. Home economics float, the science of better housekeeping.
23. Police patrol, exhibiting the prohibition law enforcing bunch and other husky guardians of public order.
24. A big barrel of "Mo. lasses"—"sweet stuff."
25. Cow punchers, hard-boiled, right off the range.
26. Rural clowns.
27. Father Time and his modern repair.
28. Donkmobile, graceful lines, high power, speedy, self-starter and no stark plugs. Latest invention in the automobile world.
29. Poor farmer and family enroute to fair in his Old Reliable Ford.
30. Barkers.
31. Yellow Dog saloon float; barrels of Volstead's worst enemy; a very unique and efficient still in operation.
32. Guards—near and rear.

KOSMET KLUB PRESENTS MUSICAL KOMEDY MAY 17

Scenery and Effects Are Original Productions of the Members of the Klub.

The Kosmet Klub will present its seventh musical comedy, "The Most Prime Minister," on May 17, at the Orpheum theater.

This original sparkling comedy was written by members of the Kosmet Klub and the large cast has been selected from the student body. The twelve musical numbers of this production were written by Wilber R. Chenoweth.

The three complete sets of scenery used in the comedy were specially designed and built for this play. From the waving palms of an oriental beach scene to the spacious halls of the native king's palace no detail is lacking. The brilliant electrical effects are absolutely original and will be used to make each setting as realistic as possible.

The large cast which has been carefully selected has been hard at work on rehearsal for the past four weeks and is making rapid progress.

The tickets for the "The Most Prime Minister" will be placed on sale the early part of next week.

the city as they please. At 8:15 all of the students will assemble at the new M. E. Smith & Co. auditorium to enjoy one of the finest dances of the year. This dance will include many carnival effects and should prove popular with the students. All who did not pay for railroad tickets when they enrolled, that is either paid $2.40 or $4.50 must purchase a ticket at the depot before boarding the train.

Instructions to those who are driving or who are taking an earlier train:

Those in group 1 be at the South Omaha depot at 8:15 sharp to meet the special train and form with the remainder of the group which will be let off there. The group leader will then take charge.

To those other than group 1 which are going up earlier than the special or who are going to drive up there, be at the Burlington depot in Omaha at 8:45 sharp to meet the special train there. In front of the depot there will be group leaders who will divide those present into groups according to the group number on the ticket. When the groups from the special train come up the steps each section assembled in front of the depot will join the group to which it belongs and then the entire group will at once begin on the program of the day.
