REWARD FOR SENIORS WHO HAVE WORKED.

In many colleges and other schools throughout the country, seniors having certain averages are exempted from the final examinations their senior year. This plan has proved successful, in that it has been an incentive for the students to keep their work above par during their fourth year in college. In some schools the average set is 85; in others it is slightly lower.

The schools which have adopted the plan of no examinations for deserving seniors contend that it represents a reward for those students who have really worked and applied themselves in preparation for their last year.

Seniors at Nebraska have already taken their first-semester senior examinations. It is not too late, however, to excuse those who have the required average from being subjected to the tests which come at the end of the second semester. Do you think the plan would work at this University?

"ON WITH THE DANCE."

Prologue.

Toddlers in wrestling set to music—as in wrestling, the first step is learning the holds—the rest is easy, because you merely hold on and keep moving—it doesn't make much difference what you move so long as you move and pay no attention to the music except to applaud when it stops—you applaud when it stops because that is the best part of it—it is very easy to toddle (especially for the men) for they have not only the floor to toddle on, but their partners' feet also—"I love to dance with you," says the lady, "you're so light on my feet"—married couples cannot dance well together, except when they are not married to each other.—Exchange.

A STRANGER? NOT MUCH.

(Contributed).

"One of the city papers in commenting on the 'Wild West' riding exhibition at the Farmers' Fair Saturday afternoon, makes this statement: 'After several students had tried their luck with the unbroken animals, the contest was thrown open to all, and a stranger stepped in and carried off the $5 prize offered by Mayer Bros.'"

"This is hardly fair to the 'stranger prize-winner,' for he is no less a student than the others who tried for the prize. His name is Bern R. Coulter and he is a senior in the College of Law. By the way, he comes from western Nebraska and central New Mexico, where riding had horses is part of the day's work."

New York has been called the "tallest city in the world." Nearly one hundred buildings are twenty or more stories high, and it is estimated that the total height of Manhattan skyscrapers is more than five miles.

EDITORIAL OF THE DAY

(Washington (D. C.) Herald.)
These little sayings from the Herald of America's capitol city merit reproduction:

The chap who studies the third button on your waistcoat while talking to you probably poses as a hero in the privacy of his home.

Some covet the good opinion of posterity; while others are content to win the respect of Heaven and the paying teller at the bank.

No doubt the Stillmans have moments when they wish they had paid a little more attention to the first half of their name.

The only good word we have for the Kaiser at this season is the hope that somebody is making him take sulphur and molasses.

"The old ways are best," declares the family physician; and perhaps a little bag of asafoetida would keep off Bolshevism.

"Another difference between death and taxes is that you don't have to work like fury to pay for the dying you did last year.

In the old days the West was very wicked. But it never fell so low as the dialect used in subtitles of Wild West movies.

There is no reason to waste anything at all in a world where a little vinegar can persuade people that pig's feet are edible.

Yap teaches us that an island no greater than a mustard seed can move whole nations.

TICKETS GOING ON SALE FOR 'THE MOST PRIME MINISTER'

Seventh Annual Production of Kosmet Klub Stated for May 17 at Orpheum.

Tickets for "The Most Prime Minister," the seventh annual musical comedy produced by the Kosmet Klub to be presented May 17, will be placed on sale today at 12 o'clock at the box office of the Orpheum theater.

The prices of tickets are $1.50, $1 and 50 cents.

No early reservations will be made. All tickets must be paid for at the box office when they are reserved. "First come, first served," will be the order of the day, so every one is urged to make his reservations as early as possible in order to secure the best seats.

"The Most Prime Minister" is entirely a Nebraska production as it was written by members of the Kosmet Klub, and the large cast of eighty people has been carefully selected from the University student body.

The music was written by Wilbur R. Chenoweth, a former University student. Three complete sets of scenery have been especially designed and built for this comedy.

The cast has been hard at work on rehearsals for the past month and is rapidly approaching the mark of professionalism, assuring a well rounded out and polished performance.

Miss Gladys Appleman, '17, was a guest at the Gamma Phi Beta house over the week-end. Miss Appleman is on her way to Southampton, L. I., where she has accepted a position as leading lady with the Trahorn stock company during the summer months. Since her graduation she has been in California where she played in movies and on the legitimate stage. Mrs. A. D. Zook entertained at tea in honor of Miss Appleman Friday afternoon for active and alumnae members of Gamma Phi Beta.

PROFESSOR MARTIN RETURNS FROM MEETING AT PITTSBURG

Attended Association of Collegiate Schools of Business May 5, 6, 7.

Prof. O. R. Martin of the College of Business Administration returned yesterday from Pittsburgh, Pa., where he attended the Association of Collegiate Schools of Business, which met with the National Association of Teachers of Advertising on May 5, 6 and 7. Nineteen of the largest business colleges throughout the country are members of the association and sent representatives. Three colleges were selected from ten applicants for admittance to the association.

Besides the delegates, there were present a number of professors and instructors, and also representatives of some of the country's large industrial institutions. Friday the delegates were invited to be guests of the H. J. Heinz company for luncheon, and the afternoon session was held in the H. J. Heinz company auditorium. Saturday they were entertained as guests of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company for luncheon and held their last session in the company auditorium.

The special problems of content and presentation in instruction in finance, advertising, general business administration, and salesmanship were considered both by addresses and general discussion. The association discussed the relation of the business school to the incoming freshmen, its alumni, and to the general business world; co-operation with business firms during the year and in the summer; and the co-ordination of theory with practice in the curriculum. This was the third general meeting of the association; but from henceforth meetings will be held yearly.

Trimmed Hat Sale

TUESDAY

300 new hats

$2.95

If we talked as enthusiastically about the values in this sale as we should like to, you'd probably think we were exaggerating, so let it suffice to say that if we sold these hats at several times $2.95, you'd still think they were bargains.

Every hat is fresh and new, and developed in the styles most favored for midsummer wear. There are street hats, sport hats, tailored hats, dress hats, hats with transparent brims, flowery creations, leghorns, ribbon crowned hats—but it is practically impossible to enumerate the complete assortment. All the bright colors now in vogue are represented, as well as the soft shades, and the dark colors for general service wear.

As the hats in this sale are so highly desirable in every way, and the values are so remarkably good, we anticipate a great demand for them, and for that reason
