UNI OF NEBRASKA ASKED TO SEND LARGE GROUP

Forty-five Men in Apportionment for Annual Rocky Mountain Conference Next Month.

Definite announcement has been made of the Rocky Mountain student conference, better known to Nebraska students as Estes Park conference, which will be held at Estes Park, Colo., this summer soon after the close of school. Nebraska University has been apportioned forty-five men as a limit who may be present from this school.

June 7-17 are the dates for the meetings. Among the noted speakers are Dr. Sherwood Eddy of New York, Dr. Timothy Stone of Chicago who spoke here at the October banquet of the Committee of Two Hundred, David R. Porter and many other equally interesting and instructive speakers. Rev. Harry F. Huntington is Nebraska University's representative on the list of conference speakers and leaders.

The Estes Park meetings are held every year for the purpose of giving an opportunity to as many university men as possible to hear what America's foremost Christian thinkers and speakers think about the problems facing the world today. Nebraska has always had a delegation at the summer camping trip and almost all of the U. of N. graduates who have gone into foreign work have attended at least one of the Estes sessions.

Besides the groups for students there will be special meetings for university pastors, college editors, and college student government presidents. The college presidents and faculty members, who are usually well represented at the Rocky Mountain conferences, will meet daily.

Any students who wish to be one of the University of Nebraska representatives for the ten-day excursion may obtain further information from Don Hefley in the Y. M. C. A. office in the Temple. A regular registration fee of $5 is charged. Tourist rates may be obtained for some of the trips and arrangements for lodging and meals are being made.

Other Nebraska schools to be represented are Wesleyan, Cotner, Doane, Grand Island College, Hastings College, Midland College, York College, and Peru Normal.

Progressive.

The dusty tramp stood without the kitchen door making his appeal to the lady within.

"Please, mum," said he in a plaintive voice, "C-could yuh gimme a drink—not much, just a little—I'm so—hungry I—hardly know where—where I'm a-goin' to stay—stay over night."

Any Old Time.

A case had been tried in court. The counsel for the defense was not satisfied with the judge's rulings and when he met the judge on the street during a recess he took occasion to inform the judge of his impression of the rulings.

Resenting the lawyer's comments and being unable to, right off the bat, justify his rulings he threatened the lawyer with contempt of court.

The lawyer came right back at him. "You can't fine me for contempt of court, four court ain't in session." Whereupon the judge standing on his dignity retorted, "I'll let you know, sir, that I'm the court and always open to contempt."

The extension division of the University will hold a school of citizenship at Millard on May 10 and 11. Dr. Lida B. Earhart of the Teachers college, Dean W. A. Seavey of the Law college, and Professors Senning and Virtue of the College of Arts and Science will appear on the program.

ALUMNI NOTES

Marian Frances Whitaker, '19, of Clinton, Mo., is a student at Sorbonne University in Paris.

Olive Lehmer, '17, a teacher in the Lincoln high school is the latest contributor to the Dr. Wolfe memorial fund.

Word has just been received at the alumni office of the death of Mrs. Dell Stratton Scott, '87, at her home in Denver.

Frank P. Fowler, '21, is with the Denoyer-Geppert company at Chicago.

R. W. Thatcher, '98, University Farm, St. Paul, Minn., has a book just off the press, "The Chemistry of Plant Life."

Esten H. Cook, '16, is now located in Denver. A recent report tells of the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Cook.

Dr. Alfred W. Adson, '12, since leaving Nebraska has graduated from the University of Pennsylvania as an M. D., served an internship at the Saint Mary's hospital at Rochester, Minn., and was later made general surgeon on the Mayo clinic staff. He is now specializing in brain surgery.

Walfrid Jacobson, '18, is engaged in the furniture business at Long Beach, Calif.

Mrs. R. R. Caldwell (Eunice Taylor, '17), is living at Santa Ana, Calif., where her husband is in the lumber business.

Ada G. Heaton, ex—, is membership and financial secretary of the Y. W. C. A. at Des Moines, Iowa.

Mary Alice Kittinger, '15, is in Muskegon, Mich., where she has been secretary of the American Red Cross since July, 1920. That chapter will close their post-war work on June 1, after which she and her sister, Ethel, '17, will open a summer tea room at Beulah, Mich.

Mr. Law, '04, and Mrs. Robert C. Strong of Billings, Mont., report the birth of a son recently. This is their second son. Mr. Strong is now district judge of the 13th judicial district of Montana. He is expecting to attend the Alumni day luncheon June 4.

Ruby Charlton, '08, who has been in California for the past two years will return in May to her home at Arcadia. She sends the notes concerning her brothers: A. T. Charlton, '09, and wife, Hazel Bock, ex-'17, report the birth of a son. This is their third son. They are now living in Whittier, Calif. C. F. Charlton, '08, who is living in Pasadena has specialized in eye, ear, nose and throat. He has been working some experiments in eye work. One of his articles appeared in the American Journal of Ophthalmology and is soon to appear in the British Journal.

Mabel Van Camp, '10, is teaching in the Girls' high school in Los Angeles, Calif.

Anna McFadden, county superintendent of Cheyenne county, is a recent contributor to the Dr. Wolfe memorial fund.

Replies are coming in from alumni who expect to attend the luncheon and meetings this year. Last year 500 attended the luncheon and many were turned away because of lack of accommodation. This year they are taking advantage of the opportunity to register early. Those from a distance who have signified their intention of coming are: Ethel Lee Howie, '06, Ogden, Utah; C. LeRoy Meisinger, '17, Weather Bureau, Washington, D. C.; B. C. Yates, '92, Lead, S. D.; Louise Meredith, '13, Midland College, Fremont.

San Francisco alumni of the University of Nebraska will hold their annual dinner May 10. Paul T. Bell, secretary of the association, wrote alumni headquarters asking for the University slides which were made up by Professor Barbour of the geology department, showing the growth and development of the University. These slides were prepared especially for the use of alumni associations. Several associations have already used them and others are contemplating showing them in the near future.

Knut E. Carlson, '15, who was for several years an assistant in the department of political science at the University, is now connected with the department of state at Washington, D. C. After leaving Nebraska he spent one year at the University of Pennsylvania where he received his Ph. D. degree. In the summer of 1918 he entered government service and was assigned to duty as trade expert on Scandinavia. In March, 1919, he was transferred to the department of state which position he still holds.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Smoyer (Nettie Henry, '98 and '00), are living at Hanford, Calif. Bertha Johnston, '99, is teaching in the New Home school there.

NEBRASKA CO-EDS ATTEND MIDDLE WESTERN W.S.G.A.

Elizabeth Scribner and Mary Brownell Were Delegates to Meeting at Madison, Wisconsin.

Elizabeth Scribner, newly elected president of the Nebraska W. S. G. A. and Mary Brownell, retiring president, returned Monday from the Middle Western Intercollegiate association for Women's Self Government associations held in Madison, Wis. Thirty of the most prominent middle western colleges and universities were represented at the conference.

The purpose of the association is to discuss the interests of women self government for mutual help and suggestions. Membership is open to any woman's organization for the promotion of self government in colleges of the Mississippi valley giving an A. B. or B. Sc. degree, with certain other restrictions. Among the colleges represented besides the local chapter were Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Ohio State, Cornell (Ia.), Cornell (N. Y.), Northwestern and DePaul.

The delegates were entertained at sorority houses in Madison and by various organization. Wisconsin chapter of Mortarboard, senior girls' national honorary sorority, entertained at an elaborate luncheon for girls of other chapters. The dean of women of Wisconsin gave the opening address to the visitors and during spare hours the girls were treated to boat rides and other amusements.

Among the topics in which the Nebraska delegates were especially interested and which they were called upon to discuss were the point system, the "big sister" movement, college student councils, the honor system and the overlapping of campus organizations and their functions.

The national convention for next year will be at Ithaca, N. Y., on the Cornell campus. The president of the W. S. G. A. at that school was elected national president for the coming year.

CAMPUS NOTES

A plastic picture called "The Last Herd," modelled by J. W. Wallace and purchased from him, has been placed in the museum.

A large specimen of quartz crystals from Hot Springs, Ark., has been added to the mineral cabinets of the museum. This was collected some years ago by Mr. Edward A. Rogers and was presented to the museum by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Rogers.

Dr. E. H. Barbour, professor of geology, returned recently from Lawrence, Kans., where he delivered an address at the banquet of Alpha chapter of Sigma Gamma Epsilon, honorary geological fraternity. While in Lawrence, Professor Barbour addressed the geology department of the University of Kansas.

Dr. Barbour also recently addressed 900 students in the South Omaha high school on "Parks and City Improvements."

The first breech loading shot gun in Nebraska has been loaned to the museum by Mr. William M. Byrkit, Fairfield, Neb. It is a ten gauge gun weighing fourteen pounds and was sent to Belgium to be changed from muzzle to breech loading by Mr. Byrkit's father, Mr. M. L. Byrkit.

Herbert Grummann, '15, son of Professor Grummann, has just been in Honolulu on the Non Magnetic yacht "Carnegie." While at Honolulu he met Mr. Harold McComb, formerly of the physics department faculty of the University. Professor McComb is now in charge of the observatory of the United States geodetic and coast survey at Honolulu.

Dean Charles Fordyce went to Columbus Thursday evening where he addressed teachers and citizens on "The Problems of the Young Man of Today."

LITTLE GREEN THEATER RE-OPENS THIS SUMMER

The Little Green theater will be on the campus again this summer. It became a Nebraska institution last summer when the University Players under the direction of Miss Alice Howell gave plays on the stage erected on the campus for Ivy day and left there during the summer. The same plan will be followed this summer.

The outdoor theater has been a huge success wherever it has been tried, from the hillsides of the Adirondacks to the garden terraces of California.
