Our Inquiring Reporter

Five students picked at random are asked a question each day.

Today's question: What do you think of Edison's questionnaire?

1. Janet Maitland, 1950 Sewell: I don't believe he could answer some of the questions himself.

2. Carl Peterson, 2603 O St.: His questions are not practical and highly technical. Business men don't know the color of ebu's eyes; they would have to look those things up. It's the practical things that count most.

3. Asa Waters, 1516 S St.: I don't think he is justified in indicting the college man. Of course we don't get as much out of school as we should. However, I don't believe it is the fault of our educational system.

4. Vivian Hanson, 1410 Q St.: I don't agree with Mr. Edison and I don't believe he had any grounds for attacking our colleges. We don't pretend to teach students an encyclopedia full of technical bits of information; we try to stress the practical.

5. Winifred Meryhew, 312 No. 14th: Mr. Edison believes any man entering his employ should be a text-book not along any one particular line, but along every line. This is preposterous. The true test of the good business man of today is whether or not he can apply his knowledge. It's not whether he can store up a lot of detailed and unimportant information in his head. That's like judging a man by the amount of money he carries in his pocket.

MANY PLACES OPEN IN MISSIONARY FIELD

Dr. Harry F. Huntington Lists the Calls from the Board of Foreign Missions.

Dr. Harry F. Huntington, who has had charge of life work guidance in the unified program of the Christian workers at the University during the past year, has a long list of present needs in the foreign field.

Following a few of the calls from the board of foreign missions of the Methodist church alone, which give an idea of the variety of work for which the best trained men and women are in demand.

Korea calls for an educator for the department of mathematics in Chosen Christian College, Seoul. Korea also needs a physician at Konju.

These are merely a sample of the needs of the Methodist church and other denominations calling for men and women of university training to go to the foreign field in similar work.

AWARD MEDALS TO STOCK TEAM MEMBERS

Special Convocation at State Farm for the Disposition of Honors.

A special convocation for the purpose of awarding the medals won by the animal husbandry and dairy judging teams, and a "get-together meeting" of the students of the College of Agriculture, was held in the Assembly room of the Agricultural hall Thursday morning.

Paul McGill, president of the Agricultural club, introduced Dean E. A. Burnett, who gave a short address. Prof. H. J. Gramlich presented the medals won by the animal husbandry department at the various live stock shows the past year.

Prof. B. H. Thompson gave a brief review of the work done by dairy judging teams during the past twelve years, and awarded a special medal won at the national dairy show this year by Wayne Gray, for ranking as high man, out of twenty-one colleges, in judging Guernseys.

Prof. Grace F. Morton of the Home Economics department, outlined the "relation of Home Economics College work to the rural life of today."
