Students Will Be Given Chance To Learn Varsity Songs At Gathering.

START SCHOOL TRADITION

Committee of 200 Sponsoring Singfest Which Will Be Held This Evening.

UNI SING TONIGHT.

Students of the university will be given a chance to rehearse university songs at the student sing on the University Campus tonight. The sing will be held on the campus north of the Administration building. It will start at 6:45 and close at 7:20.

A community sing is to be held this evening on the University campus. The sing will be conducted under the auspices of the committee of 200. A good representation of the students is expected to be present at the sing.

Mrs. Carrie B. Raymond will direct the singing. She will be assisted by Margaret Perry and Oscar Bennett. Mr. Bennett is a university student, Miss Perry, a former student, will sing several songs.

University songs will be featured during the evening. A group of popular songs will be included. The fact that university songs will be featured is expected to draw a large crowd of first year students.

This is the first time a university sing has been conducted. The movement is part of the plan of the committee of 200 to interest the students in things worth while at school.

If the sing proves a success the committee plans to schedule a similar event later in the year.

The sing will start at 6:45 p. m. and close at 7:20 p. m. so that the students will have plenty of time to attend any entertainment planned for later in the evening.

Henrietta Stahl is chairman of the committee in charge of the sing. Other members of the committee are Valora Hullinger, Mary Ellen Ingles, Dorothy E. Williams, Clara Lowenstein, Mieda Vesta Summers, Hubert Addison, P. E. Peterson.

SHORT CUTS NOT EASY IN REGISTRATION LINE THIS YEAR

Dodging through the short cuts in the registration line was not as easy this year, as it has been in past years.

In years gone by, the one who knew the ropes could get through in a few minutes, pay his fees, and be registered. But the old times have gone. No more can the hand shaker get through. It takes even a pass to get into the Armory after one gets through the tolls over in Social Science Hall.

But it is possible to beat the game over in the Social Science building. A few wise and enterprising students yesterday secured some blank application forms, use their own typewriter to fill them out, coaxed their advisor to sign the slips, and then secured the dean's signature to the forms without even entering the Social Science hall.

The Plot Thickens.

Thought the boys; so far, so good. We'll beat this game, after all. But they did not. Not even though their line of friends at the exits could they get into the armory to reach the assignment committee. Even trying to rush the line at the east entrance availed them naught. Passes from the registrar for immediate attention gave them no help. All they had to do was to wait in line and hope. Wait they did. That for two hours. The hour was approaching near the time when the doors were to be closed, and one of the fellows was getting worried. His time card was Saturday afternoon, and he was registering on Thursday. He successfully passed three barriers before he reached the last door. A cautious glance around the corner revealed a friend in need. And also the ... was inside the building.

A long line of undergraduates waiting for first checker confronted him. Our friend did not want to go through this line. He saw that the line of seniors left the senior table one at a time, and passed by the first checker with no trouble. So our friend boldly walked over to the senior table, and from there over to the checker. He was passed. He slammed his application down before the line marked N to Z, and said "Let's go." He went.

Game Easy To Beat.

Instead of waiting in the long line wending its way to the assignment committee, this fellow walked on. A friend was assignment checker. So that way was easy. The next thing was to pay the fees. That is always easy, because the university always wants to hold up on that end of the line.

But it all goes to say that the game is easy to beat, and what was perhaps year will be beaten next year, and those who are wise will not wait in the line.

So goes it all.

MOVIE MIXER PROVES SPLENDID SUCCESS

Many Students Attend The Entertainment Staged Under The Direction of Y. M. C. A.

The mixer and movie, staged by the university Y. M. C. A. last night, proved itself a success. A good assemblage of freshmen were present to view the exhibit.

The feature attraction of the evening was the moving pictures, secured from Dr. Condra, which included the freshman-sophomore Olympics last fall, the Nebraska-Rutgers football game at the New York polo grounds, and the Nebraska-Michigan Aggie game on the home field. Views of last year's freshman class were also shown.

The mixer is held each year to acquaint the incoming freshmen with the ideals and traditions of the school. The pictures which were shown pictured the last year's first year men, and showed the traditional big days of a university year. "Bill" Day, general secretary of the University Y. M. C. A., was present to help get the new men acquainted and to make them feel at home.

BIG REGISTRATION IN AGR'L COLLEGE

Prof. Thompson Selecting Team to Represent Nebraska at National Dairy Show.

Leading Schools of United States and Canada Will Have Representatives at Conference in Minneapolis.

The attendance at the College of Agriculture will not be reduced as much relatively as will the attendance at other colleges of the University, because that a very large percentage of Agricultural students earn their way thru school, and are not so deeply affected by the present depression in financial circles, and in addition are men determined to go thru school in spite of all obstacles.

A fairly large number of freshmen have already registered, and more are registering as fast as they can be taken care of. The upper classmen are coming in rapidly, and a very large percentage of last year's men are already registered. The outlook for a great deal of activity on the suburban campus is indeed very good this fall.

Two students from the Virginia State College are registered for graduate work in Agricultural College this semester. They report that they thoroughly investigated the Engineering departments of nearly all colleges of the United States, and found that the University of Nebraska had the best facilities for this work.

Try-outs have started for the Dairy Judging team of the College of Agriculture, and Professor Thompson. (Continued on Page Four.)

STUDENT DIRECTORY CARDS SAVE TIME

Information Cards May Be Secured at Entrance to Armory or From Committee of 200.

Directory cards are being filled out by students this year during the process of registration in order that the compiling of the University Directory may be hastened. The system was adopted to save the delay which would be necessary in looking over the university records to get the information which is desired.

It is extremely important that the students fill out these cards as they register in order that there may be no mistakes in the book. Just inside the entrance to the Armory the committee holds sway and cards are handed out to the students as they enter. These are taken up as soon as they are filled out.

Due to the congestion at the door at certain hours of the day it has been found impossible to see that all students fill these out. It is imperative, therefore, that all students that have not filled out these cards by the time they complete their registration, do so at once. If the committee cannot be located in the armory, cards may be obtained from a member of the Committee of Two Hundred.

Y. M. C. A. EMPLOYMENT

BUREAU LISTING JOBS

The University Y. M. C. A. is planning for a big year this year. Under the direction of William Day, the new general secretary, things are expected to shape up well for a successful season.

The association maintains rooms in the Temple where students may find a place to read and lounge. Current periodicals are subscribed for which are always on hand, Eugene Ebersole, the employment secretary, handles all students desiring jobs, and handles the room situation. The association wishes students to feel that the rooms are maintained for their convenience.

EIGHT HUNDRED STUDENTS HAVE PURCHASED ATHLETIC SEASON BOOKS

Committee in Charge of Drive Enthusiastic Over Showing Made and Feel Confident Total Will Exceed Previous Expectations—Sale Will Continue Friday and Saturday.

STUDENTS SHOWING A LIKING TO NEW ATHLETIC PLAN

Glen Munger and Mary Sheldon Have Charge of Campaign for Today And George Sims and Emma Cross will Direct Saturday Drive—Bargain Sale of Season Tickets Popular with Individual That Wants To Practice Economy.

The athletic ticket sale has reached the eight hundred mark. When the registration will close for the day, Thursday evening, Neil T. Chadderton, agent of student activities, announced that the student committee had sold eight hundred of coupon books during the two days of registration.

This number exceeded the previous expectations of those in charge of the campaign. With the two heavy days of registration remaining the strategic managers feel confident that the new plan is a success.

A large number of students who passed up the opportunity to purchase the books Wednesday returned yesterday to deposit the first payment of $2.50.

The fact that no season tickets for individual athletic seasons will be placed on sale was one reason for the change of heart on

HUSKERS TAKE FIRST WORKOUT

Thirty Candidate Answer Official Call of Coach Dawson for Regular Practice.

SWANSON COACHES BACKS

Signal Practice at State Farm Held Until Downtown Field Is Ready For Use.

Thirty men answered the official call yesterday for the first regular practice of the season. Coach Dawson spent most of the afternoon in giving the men signal practice. The backfield men were in charge of Captain Swanson with the forward wall working under Coach Dawson. "Bill" Day and Farley Young, this year's Freshmen coach took charge of the pivot men.

The preliminary workouts will be held at the State Farm until the downtown field is in shape for the use of the men. Coach Dawson has a wealth of backfield material and the squad that is working out for line positions look promising but is not as large as that of the backfield.

Following is a list of the men who will represent the Scarlet and the Cream on the gridiron this fall:

- Captain Clarence Swanson, end.
- Howarth, quarterback.
- Berquist, guard.
- Lyman, tackle.
- Sorenson, halfback.
- Weller, guard.
- Pucelik, tackle.
- Monte Munn, guard.
- Scherer, end.
- Wright, halfback.
- Hoy, halfback.
- DeWitz, halfback.
- Hartman, halfback.
- Ross McGlasson, center.
- Peterson, center.
- Preston, halfback.
- Schoepel, halfback.
- Nixon, tackle.
- Wenke, tackle.
- Russell, halfback.
- Moser, center.
- Thomsen, halfback.
- Bassett, tackle.
- Glempke, end.
- Noble, fullback.
- Harold McGlasson, quarterback.
- Lewellen, quarterback.
- Hartley, halfback.
- Moore, halfback.

Coach Dawson will probably shift some of these men around thus balancing the line and backfield. Regular practice will be held every day until the first scheduled game of the season is played, which takes place October 1.

part of some students. The fact is that students who fail to obtain one of the coveted books which admits them to all contests will find that when they desire to see the Huskers in action they will have to pay the long price—general admission charge.

Many students working their way through college jumped at the opportunity to purchase the season pasteboards. "It now makes it possible for us fellows to take in all the games," said one of this group. "I figured up the sum I spent for athletic contests last year and found that the amount surpassed that asked for the season tax. I can see all the contests at less cost than that paid out for the several I witnessed last season."

University of Nebraska schedules this season contain a large number of home games, a number more than next year. Under the new extension policy of the athletic department the institution is branching out into new sports and when the curtain rings down on the 1921-22 school year chances are excellent that the number of contests to which the student ticket will admit will have passed the thirty mark by a considerable margin.

Thursday the University co-ed was one of the main ticket purchasers. A number who passed up the opportunity Wednesday perhaps did not fully understand the value of the bargain offered. At any rate a group of considerable size returned to purchase the season pasteboards.

The drive for sales will continue today and Friday, Glen Munger and Mary Sheldon have charge of the drive today, George Sims and Emma Cross will direct the Saturday campaign.

After fees for registration have been paid the students pass an athletic booth where the coupon books are on sale. About the booth are to be found a number of the trophies won by the varsity on athletic fields.

Two hundred additional names of those who have purchased coupon books and enrolled themselves as Loy-al Cornhuskers:
