

TICKET SALE STARTS WITH RUSH

FIRST PRACTICE STAGED TODAY

Coach Fred Dawson, Husker Mentor, Calls Candidates For First Practice Grind.

SCRIMMAGE NEXT WEEK

Assistant Owen Frank Arrives To Help In Preparing Husker Varsity Eleven.

The 1921 Cornhusker machine will get into action this afternoon when Coach Fred Dawson will hold the first scheduled practice of the season. Thirty-five men have already donned the mole-skins and a number more contenders for Varsity berths are expected to arrive this week.

With the initial game of the season only two weeks away, Coach Dawson plans to give the men a number of new formations to perfect in this short space of time. Assistant Coach Frank is already on the scene of action to help perfect the 1921 eleven. Practically all of last year's letter men have returned that are eligible for Varsity work and the 1920 Freshman eleven has brought out a number of promising candidates for the Varsity. Captain Swanson, Wright, Howarth, Hartley, Thomsen, Bassett, Hoy, Scherer, Monte Munn, Weller, Russell, Lyman, Moore, Schoepell, Pucelik, Wenke, are the letter men back. A great team is the prediction of all the critics that have witnessed the workouts of this year's squad.

Signal Practice This Week. The greater part of this week will be devoted to signal practice with a light scrimmage schedule early next week. The Freshmen will have a chance to get into action soon and buck the heavy varsity line. Some of last year's yearling production who should help strengthen the Varsity are McGlasson, Klempe, Noble, DeWitz, Lewellen, Benisch, Hartman, Moser, and a number of others.

"Bill" Day Assisting. "Bill" Day last year's leader is assisting Coaches Dawson and Frank with the Varsity squad and will help out in developing a prodigy to fill the hole in the line made by his graduation. The first signal practice for the season will be staged this afternoon. Two practices a day for at least a week will make up the schedule for the Husker machine.

RURAL TEACHERS NEEDED THIS YEAR

With fall terms of school already under way in most districts, there is still a present shortage of 450 rural teachers in Nebraska at the present time, according to information given out by State Superintendent Matzen, based on official reports from the different county superintendents.

Fifty more high school teachers are also needed, Mr. Matzen says. There is a small surplus of 26 teachers for grade positions.

The state superintendent has so far refused to issue any emergency certificates, but the situation is such that he may be compelled to before long in order to get enough instructors to supply schools in counties that are short.

In some country districts, school will not begin until October and Matzen says they will have a chance to recruit teachers from the summer normal graduates who may qualify as certificate holders between now and then.

Twenty-one county superintendents reported a surplus, fifty-six a deficiency, and three had a shortage in one class of teachers and a surplus in another.

The state superintendent is sending lists to all county superintendents showing what counties have more teachers than they need, and also where teachers can find employment.

WORLD SERIES CROWD HAS NOTHING OVER REGISTRATION LINE

The annual world series crowd has nothing over the registration line at the University of Nebraska.

From 7:30 a. m. to dusk the Social Science Hall was prominent for the long line of students crowding the south and west doors. These were the lines waiting to consult advisers and register.

Hats of all shades and colors and here and there a parasol gave the crowd a rather holiday appearance.

Some came early and stay late. One co-ed complained that she arrived early and camped near the door but when the portals opened the throng rushed past her and she found herself well along towards the end of the line.

"Old Sol" shone unsparringly down on the students patiently waiting the turn at the registration mill, giving a rather warm reception to the new students.

STUDENTS ASKED TO SUPPORT NEBRASKAN

Subscription Price is One Dollar Per Semester—Call Made For Reporters.

Have you subscribed for The Daily Nebraskan? If not, why not? "The Rag" as the publication is popularly termed on the campus is the paper which will keep you posted on campus affairs and give you the latest news concerning the university.

The publication is published and managed entirely by the students of your university and is entitled to undivided support.

The subscription price is one dollar per semester and may be paid at the Student Activities office in University Hall.

The Daily Nebraskan is issued five times each week.

Call For Reporters. An opportunity is given students interested in newspaper work to obtain some valuable experience. The Nebraskan is in search of reporters and staff members. Application should be made at the office of The Daily Nebraskan, Room 206, "U" Hall.

To become a member of the staff former newspaper experience is not necessary.

Subscription Campaign Next Week. Circulation Manager Hicks will have charge of the subscription campaign which will be staged Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of next week.

A new feature of the service this year will be the two delivery points on the campus. In addition to the post office the copies of The Daily Nebraskan will be delivered from the new office in Social Science Hall.

QUICK WILL DIRECT UNIVERSITY BAND

William T. Quick will direct the university band again this year. Mr. Quick is a well known musician and director, he plays the violin, viola, and French horn. Mr. Quick has been playing with a symphony orchestra on a Standard Chautauqua circuit this summer. After completing the circuit, Mr. Quick returned to Lincoln to direct the new Lincoln Municipal Band during State Fair week.

SCHEDULE CORRECTION

157 International Law should be listed for 9 a. m. Thursday instead of 2 o'clock.

Ruth McKenney, '21, is teaching in the high school at Madison, Nebr.

The Daily Nebraskan wants reporters. Apply to the Managing Editor, The Nebraskan, Room 206, "U" Hall.

What Kind of a Student Are You?

STUDENTS START FALL REGISTRATION

Registration Mill Grinds More Efficiently Than in Past Years.

NEW SYSTEM SAVES TIME

Sun Blazes Down on Crowds Waiting in Line Outside Social Science Hall.

Fall registration got under way Wednesday morning when the registration offices were opened to the crowd of students that went through the mill during the day.

A large crowd surrounded the Social Science Hall during the entire day. Those students holding time cards for early hours were permitted to enter and other compelled to wait until the time stated on their cards.

New students received time cards by mail while others called for them at the Registrar's office. The system now being used is much more efficient than the plan last year and considerable time is saved.

After leaving the Social Science building the students visited the assignment committee in the Armory and next paid their fees.

Everybody from the chancellor to the dean of women was to be found Wednesday in registration hall. Other buildings were almost deserted. The dean of women was present to place her signature on cards for girls, where necessary. Over at Ellen Smith hall, the regular headquarters for the dean of women, an assistant was in charge of direct new arrivals to addresses where rooms could be found.

Only three vacancies in the girls' dormitories had been left by Wednesday morning and these were expected to be filled within a few hours. Most of the rooms had been engaged in advance and about half the prospective occupants had arrived.

The list of addresses of homes or rooming houses where girls can be housed comfortably is said by Dean Amanda Heppner to be ample to house all who may come, though most of the rooms near the university have already been taken.

For the benefit of students who have not registered a list of instructions follow:

New Students. See Registrar in S. S. 101-7 for valuation of credits.

COMMITTEE OF 200 READY FOR ACTION

Meeting Held Tuesday Evening To Discuss Plans for Coming School Year.

PLAN MIXER FOR TONIGHT

Members of Committees Have Been Active During Summer Months Outlining Program.

The 1921-1922 campaign was planned by the committee of 200 at a meeting held in the Lincoln Y. M. C. A. Tuesday evening. Eighty students were present and took part in the discussion of work for the coming year.

Harold Hinkle of Lincoln, as chairman of that phase of the work, presented the plans and announced the committee chairmen, who have been formulating their plans all summer.

The work during the remainder of the week, as outlined, is a community sing Friday evening, with Henrietta Stahl of Milford, the recreation chairman, at the head of the committee. Florence Price of Omaha, chairman of the church affiliation group, will see that each student on registering makes known his church preference. The committee which will be in the registration rooms all the time to aid in registering new students is headed by Betty Giff of Lyons.

Beginning first thing Wednesday morning and continuing all week, all trains, into the city will be met. The large committee, of which Bliss Mapes, Lincoln, is chairman, and a number of other students, will be designated by "Ask Me" badges for the benefit of the students who are strangers in the city. They will be directed to their rooms, or to the university where they can check their baggage with Leonard Waterman, Lebanon, and his helpers, or be assigned to rooms by Huber Addison of Newcastle and his committee.

Schedule A Mixer. The university Y. M. C. A. has a mixer and movie scheduled for Thursday evening in the rooms in the temple. The movies, secured from Dr. Condra, will include the Freshman-Sophomore Olympics last fall, the Nebraska-Rutgers game at the New York polo grounds, and the Nebraska-Michigan Aggie game on the home field.

The new Y. W. C. A. secretary, Miss Erma Appleby, was introduced by Grace Staff, president of the university.

EXCELLENT SHOWING MADE BY COMMITTEES DIRECTING DRIVE

Students Show Loyalty to University of Nebraska Athletics by Getting Behind Movement to Place Varsity Squads on Firmer Basis—Campaign Directors Estimate 75 Per Cent of Registration Has Purchased Books.

PRESENT PLAN DOES AWAY WITH INDIVIDUAL CAMPAIGNS

Those Failing to Purchase Season Tickets Will Be Compelled to Pay General Admission Price to All Nebraska Contests—Present Arrangement Means a Direct Saving to Student Who Desires to Economize—Sale Closes Saturday.

NEBRASKA ATHLETIC CAMPAIGN
Purpose—To place Nebraska athletics on a firm basis and make "every Cornhusker a rooster at all contests."
Cost to student—$10 for coupon book.
Value—Book admits students to all athletic contests in which Nebraska takes part.
Saving to student—At least $12.50.
Terms—$2.50 down and payment of $2.50 per month for three months. (In case two thousand books are sold the final payment is cancelled.)
Additional advantage—Holder given year membership in University of Nebraska tennis club with privilege of using Nebraska courts without charge.
Place of purchase—Athletic booth in chapel following registration.
Time of campaign—Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.
Movement under direction of UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA STUDENTS.

The ticket sale calculated to put athletics at the University of Nebraska on a firm basis and secure a maximum number of students at every athletic contest went off with a bang Wednesday morning.

Ward Randol and Gertrude Henderson, joint chairmen in charge of the Wednesday campaign, were actively engaged in the sale of the coupon books throughout the day. The committee working in co-operation with the chairmen stayed on the job during registration hours and pledged their loyal support to the campaign by all purchasing the coupon books.

The fact that it will be possible for all students to see the Cornhusker athletic contests at such a low cost and in addition enjoy access to the University tennis courts by a year's membership is popular with the students as is evidenced by the support given the movement during the Wednesday registration.

Seventy-five Per Cent Subscribe. Those in charge of the drive estimated that at least 75 per cent of the students registering during the day purchased the season tickets.

According to the committee a majority of those who failed to purchase were co-eds. Under the Nebraska custom the men and women form separate rooting squads and sit in separate sections on the playing field. This makes it necessary for the co-ed to purchase her own ticket.

Co-eds a Bit Slow. A majority of the co-eds who failed to purchase the pasteboards Wednesday are expected to buy a book before the curtain rings down on the campaign Saturday evening.

The extremely low cost of the season tickets—ten dollars—is especially popular with the students. Should the two thousand total be reached, and it now seems that it will be attained, the cost will be lowered to $7.50. The terms call for a payment of $2.50 down and $2.50 each month for three months. In case the two thousand mark is reached the final payment will be cancelled.

Director Luehring Endorses Plan. Director of Athletics Fred W. Luehring is in hearty sympathy with the move. He points out that the sale of the tickets will probably not mean much additional revenue to the department but will result in a greater interest in varsity athletics by the student body.

"It will insure a greater attendance of students at University of Nebraska contests with the result, a keener interest in the development of Husker varsity squads," said the athletic director Wednesday afternoon.

Since the arrival of Director Luehring at the University, a marked interest in Nebraska athletics has been shown.

W. A. A. STAGES FIRST FUN FEST

Association Welcome Newcomers at First All Girls' Party of the Year.

The Womens' Athletic Association staged the first all girls party of the year Wednesday night at Ellen Smith Hall. Over one hundred old and new girls spent the evening getting acquainted, dancing and learning the deals of W. A. A.

The guests were given cards representing some sport, on which their names were written. Bernice Ballance gave a clown dance. The feature of the evening was a favor dance. The old girls presented each new girl with a favor before dancing with them. In fact on saw each one go home for homesickness among the freshmen girls.

Dorothy Whelpley was chairman of the party committee, assisted by Eleanor Snell, Dorothea Bertwell, Pearl Safford and Elizabeth Wilcox. Esther McClelland was chairman of the past-year committee. The university colors were used for decoration.

MORNINGSIDE DEBATER WINS PRIZE AWARD

SIoux CITY, Ia.—George M. Paradisanos, who is working his way through Morningside college, has recently been awarded a $100 cash prize for turning in the best answers to the questions in a contest conducted by the Stars and Stripes. The contest was open to all former service men. The questions were based on the United States government.

The answers were exceptionally good, although not as brief as possible. Paradisanos is a member of the Morningside debating team.
