THE UNIVERSITY PLAYERS.

The University players of Nebraska are behind a big campaign to put dramatics at our university on the same plane they are in the other big schools in the United States. They are offering prizes that are more than worth while to the winners.

Men and women interested in dramatics put in as much time in perfecting themselves in their work as the football men do for their team. They take courses in interpretation, work on small parts in plays, and day after day, and night after night, rehearse to be ready to give the university finished productions. And finished they are, for the men and women are coached by the highest type of professional trainers.

We owe the players backing because they give us a type of amusement that we cannot get in Lincoln, for good plays given by good companies, are few and far between. We owe it to our school to back them for they advertise us in Lincoln and in the state. While it is impossible for a football team to play a game anywhere in Nebraska but in Lincoln, the players can and do take their productions to many of the cities in all parts of the state and not only show what we can do here at the university, but stimulate a desire on the part of high school students to come to Nebraska.

The plays that are to be given this year are worth while. They represent the highest type of comedies and serious plays obtainable. Support for this school activity will bring a great deal of pleasure to those interested in dramatics.

AWGWAN.

Today Awgwan will appear on the campus. Full of the humour happenings of college life, it will bring a pleasure hour to all those who have subscribed for the comic.

It is not too late to be a monthly reader. This year the price is just half what it was last year—only one dollar. The staff is an experienced one and will produce a paper Nebraska will be proud of.

THE TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

Nebraska's fall tennis tournament is under way. For several weeks tennis enthusiasts have been getting in shape for the grand windup of the season. The thirty tennis courts have been in use nearly every afternoon and a brand of tennis never before seen at Nebraska is being exhibited. Our university should be proud of the forward step we have made in this sport. Next spring we will have contests with other colleges and we hope to lead in this sport as we do in football and track. Some mighty interesting matches are expected when the contestants reach the final rounds.

CONTEMPORARY OPINION

(Ohio State Lantern)
HUNTING SEASON OVER

The fair sex has always been a mystery to mere man, and probably always will be. The motives of the female gender have baffled him since the time of Adam. But one of the greatest puzzles nature provides is the way of sororities with their rushees. Males are bothered every year with rushing, too. They get a list of prospects, drag them to the Greek-letter liars, and give them a hasty and cursory once over. "Looks good to me—put a button on him." The opinions of the powers that be goes forth. The man is pledged. Or: "Nuthin' stirrin'. Feed him and send him home." The man is passed up. There are squabbles, of course, but man rushes much as he shops—quickly.

But the woman! Ah, there is thoroughness for you. They spot a girl when she is about 11 years old, review her family history for generations, start rushing her before she is half through high school, and tear their hair when somebody else covets the angel.

The parties are elite, the essence of etiquette and glucose. "I'm so glad you came to our fine party." And then some meticulous lady will think to herself: "Humph, I don't crave that girl. She's always telling who she is and how many parties she's been to." There is to be no "talking sorority," say the rules. There is none—not of the fraternity type. They don't say, "Noow, we own the campus. Blix is football captain and Hix is president of student council and Flinx is a gym aid." No; it's "Beta Chi Kappa has the loveliest girls at our Michigan chapter. You know, we met them at the game two years ago. We all went to our convention last year, too. All of our 196 chapters were represented." And the rivalry. "I could just kill those girls. Do you know what they did? B-r-r-r—b-z-z-z. Can you imagine it? And they never admit it."

Well, it's all in the day's work at college. Silent periods are the noisiest times of the year. Closed rushing means it's the open season for fighting. Nobody's completely satisfied and everybody thinks she has something on the others. It will be the same next year. We hope so. It would not be the same school if it were not.

The hunting season for sororities is over for another year. Mere man sits back on his haunches with a tired look and utters thanksgiving. Yet he does not understand what it's all about. Neither would Sherlock Holmes or Craig Kennedy.

FINE ARTS OFFERS

CHILDRENS' CLASSES

Professor Crumann of the college of fine arts reports that the classes for children in elocution and dramatics will be held under the auspices of the children's theater. These classes will be held on Saturday mornings and on week days after school. Classes for children in drawing will be conducted Saturday mornings in the art gallery.

The views of Miss Louise Pound of the department of English, on the origin of the English and Scottish ballads were made the subject of a leading article by the English novelist, Maurice Hewlett, in a recent number of the Literary Review of the New York Evening Post. During the summer, highly favorable notices of Miss Pound's "Poetic Origins and the Ballad," appeared in the "North American Review," in "Poetry" in the London "Mercury," and in many newspapers like the Springfield Republican and the New York Sun.

Dr. R. J. Pool of the department of botany reports that the registration in botanical courses this year is somewhat heavier. There is a 100 per cent increase at the college of agriculture in botany 1. The general courses, Botany 1 and 7, show the most increase and the advanced courses contain about the same number as last year.

The Exhaust

In lamping the Political machines as they made their advance, we were unable to describe any one of them as a steam roller. However, we did see some with brass bands on the front—no they weren't Fords.

A Tokyo Police Regulation.

"All foreigners owning a dog must wear a collar and be led about by a string."

N. B.—We suggest that if any of our readers are anticipating a trip to the orient, leave the canine home.

We didn't know we had so many friends until yesterday. They all had some important advice too—very thoughtful of them. From their mysterious manners we at first pictured extensive botlegging operations. After dragging us over into the cellar of U. Hall, whispering all the while in confidential tones, we had hopes of all dampness shattered. For they had nothing to share with us, and we in return were to give them our vote.

AWGWAN.

Among the Comics,

Its like dynamics,

Ain't it got pep!!

O how mushy,

so slushy,

Ain't it got pep!!

Hits prohibition,

And the ladies' dress too,

But smiles were made dear

For people like you.

If you are sad,

And getting sadder

And you want pep!!

Spend your dollar

It will holler,

For it's got pep!!

Theres nothing surer

The lean fatter

And the fat get fatter

While they are laughing

While they are chuckling,

Ain't it got pep!!

NO REPORT ON RESULTS OF W. S. G. A. CAMPAIGN

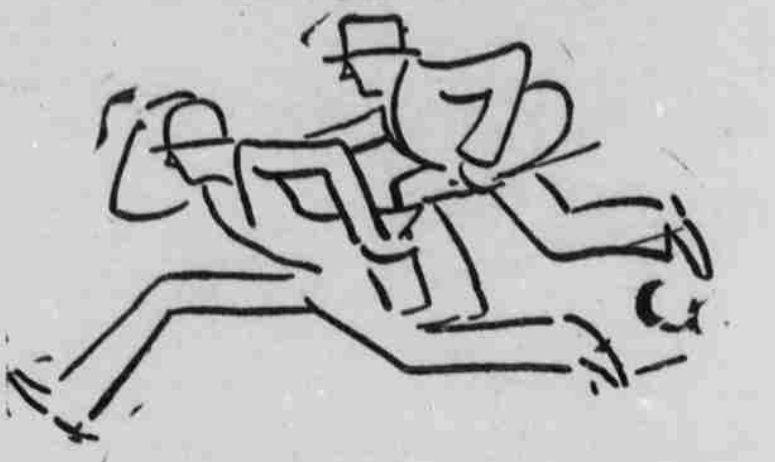

The W. S. G. A. campaign which began on October 3 is progressing rapidly. The committee has no definite report to make as yet. The girls are working hard to make this campaign a success. One hundred and forty books have checked out to the teams and many of the girls have asked for a second and third book which means that nearly fourteen hundred girls have joined the association.

Three jolly chaps came out of a theater in Montreal the other night, all trying to talk at once. It seems they had just seen one of the "Aesop's Film Fables." The argument was over a bird in the Paul Terry cartoon, which we believe was "The Rooster and the Eagle."

'Arry—It's a heagle.

'Erbert—(stuttering) Yer w-wr-wrong; it's a h-he-hen.

'Aroid—Yer both wrong; it's a howl.

Judging by the way the fellows have been hurrying in the last few days it is evident that they never before realized that good suits could be bought for $30 Have YOU inspected them?
