AT THE THEATRES

Rialto.
"What Every Woman Knows" with Conrad Nagle is a splendid picturization of the well-known play of the same name by Barrie. It deals with the man who in his self conceit imagines no one has contributed to his success. But his wife finally shows him the secret that every woman knows, and he realizes how much she has done to make him a success. It may be of interest to note that the University Players will produce "What Every Woman Knows" as one of this season's plays.

Colonial.
Jones sat at his desk day after day longing for a part in a romantic adventure. His chance came in a rather unique way and—"The Children of the Night" tells the remainder of the story in a gripping fashion. William Russell is the star.

Liberty.
A good vaudeville bill and a good tabloid picture, "The Little Musical Comedy" offers some neat dancing. Craig & Catto in "Well, I Don't Care" are funny and go over big. The Marriott Troup offer an unusual acrobatic novelty.

PERSONALS

E. T. Kelly, '20, superintendent of consolidated schools at Henderson, Ia., is spending the week end at the Bushnell guild house and about the campus.

Paul Harding ex-'17, after several years absence doing government service in Oregon, has returned to the university. He is resuming his studies in the engineering school. Mr. Harding is a member of the Bushnell guild and Sigma Tau.

Professor George A. Stephens, formerly of the department of economics in the University of Nebraska, who for the last four years has been in charge of investigational work with the Federal Trade Commission, has been elected to a professorship of insurance in the American university at Washington, D. C. Mr. Stephens will continue his very successful work with the Federal Trade Commission while carrying on this educational work.

The giving of intelligence tests for the children, at Holdrege, Neb., is to be supervised by Dr. Fordyce of the teachers' college. He left last evening for Holdrege and will remain there for a few days.

Marguerite Fallon, '24, leaves today to spend the week-end with her parents in Omaha.
