DEAN LEROSSIGNOL PUBLISHES BOOK

"What is Socialism?" is Just Off Press—Book Represents Years of Study and Thought.

PUBLISHED BY CROWELL CO.

Takes Up Creed Step by Step and Convincingly Refutes Its Arguments.

"What is Socialism?" a new volume by Dean J. E. LeRossignol of the college of business administration has just been published by the Crowell company of New York. In it Dean LeRossignol continues his work of many years: analyzing the fundamental character of current economic problems, taking up the claims of the Marxist socialists, pointing out their logical and practical difficulties, and showing the way to a safe and liberal adjustment of our economic ills.

The industrial unrest in this country and the experiments of socialism in various European countries add interest to the volume. The uncritical acceptance by many people of the Marxist doctrines; the "spendo-open-mindedness which toys with bolshevism"; the temporary success of the soviet regime in Russia; the many searchings of heart among various radicals—all make this book valuable. It is intended, primarily, for those people who are imbued with humanitarian motives and need a criticism of the leading movement in opposition to the existing order. It is a book for the students of economics and the social sciences, as well as for others interested in present day problems.

Dr. LeRossignol takes up the creed of socialism, point by point, step by step, and concludes that the entire economic and logical background of it is a caricature. Especially singled out for study from among Marx's beliefs are the economic interpretation of history, the labor theory of value, the law of increasing misery, the theory of surplus value, the socialist economics of machinery, the socialist theory of crises, the theory of the concentration of capital with its corollary of the elimination of the middle class, and the Marxian theory of the class struggle and idea of the social revolution. A chapter on "The Sects of Socialism" gives an historical sketch and discussion of like various branches of the revolutionists' family, including syndicalism, the industrial workers of the world, Godd socialism, bolshevism, communism, anarchism, and the American socialist parties.

Of special interest to Nebraskans will be the chapter on "The Nonpartisan League" which is related to the socialist party. The writer points out that the farmers who make up the nonpartisan league are not "proletarians," really constitute the bulwark of capitalism in this country, and that everything which is done to better the economic conditions of the agriculturalists will help keep the farmers from accepting the revolutionary theories of Marx. Though the organization has been slightly tinged with socialist leaders, the farmers are not socialists; and reform will in all probability be given them, even if the non-partisan league dies.

"Over against the denunciations, ideals and promises of socialism, with all their power for good or evil, capitalism has the tremendous advantages of possessing the field as a going concern which, with all its faults, has done great things in the past, and may do still more in time to come." The remedy for much of the evil in this world is wider diffusion of wealth and ownership. The Dean thinks that will come. He believes it will come as an alternative to revolution and widespread change. But, he says, "An alternative prophecy like this assumes, of course, with Marx and most of the revisionists, that man is a rational animal, that truth is teachable, and that people, individually and collectively, may be wisely led."

Highly Complimented.
Henry Campbell, editor of The Constitutional Review, said of it: "I have no hesitation in saying that I think it an excellent piece of work—a temperate but searching exposure of just what socialism really is and means, and a convincing refutation of its arguments and conclusions."

"DAVE" NOBLE.

One of Coach Dawson's backfield men who has distinguished himself with his fast and effective end runs is "Dave" Noble. He has played in both the Wesleyan and Haskell games this fall.

NEBRASKA PILES UP BIG SCORE IN HASKELL INDIAN GRID FRAY

Husker Warriors Recover From a Slow Start and Put Over Six Touchdowns in Last Three Quarters of Saturday Afternoon Encounter on University Field.

SECOND VICTORY FOR THE SCARLET AND THE CREAM

Big Crowd of Rooters See Coach Dawson's Men Demonstrate Their Ability To Tackle Notre Dame and Pittsburg in Coming Eastern Trip in The Near Future.

Rallying from a slow start, the 1921 Cornhusker machine pulled together and walloped the Haskell Indians in the second game of the season yesterday by a 41 to 0 count. The Redskins put up a real battle and threw a scare into the Cornhusker camp early in the game by their flashy offense. A big crowd witnessed the contest.

The first period found neither team with a counter but during the second, third, and fourth quarters, the Huskers piled up six touchdowns for a total of 41 points. The Kansas athletes were unable to stop the Nebraska offense after the Cornhuskers had once hit their regular stride. Long runs by Wright, Noble, Preston, and the line plunging of Dewitz were the chief factors in the Husker's score. The entire Husker line held like a stone wall on defense and usually cleared the way for a gain on the offense.

First Quarter.

Captain McLemore won the toss and the Huskers kicked off to the Indians. On the first few plays the Haskell athletes made big gains but had to

Cornhusker Football Rally Shows Real Nebraska Spirit

The best spirit and cheering shown in recent years was exhibited at the rally held Friday night in the armory in preparation for the Haskell game. A crowd of loyal Cornhuskers swarmed into the chapel of the armory and filled the lower tier and galleries to overflowing.

The program started off with selections from the band and cheering. The three variety cheerleaders, Fred Richards, Dick Kimball and Ed Shoemaker introduced a new system of preparatory cheering, as used in the tory cheering which is used in the east but which has never been tried before at Nebraska. The cheer is announced, the leaders give "Are you ready. Hip! Hip! Hurray!" and the rooters join in for the yell.

The Nebraska football squad was given the places of prominence on the first row of seats. Captain Swanson in a short talk emphasized the value of rallies and student support to the team and urged the students to give the players all the encouragement possible throughout the entire season. The football men should be helped to keep in training, not to break it. He then introduced the twenty-eight men from which the Scarlet and Cream team will be picked.

After the band had led the rooters in singing the "Scarlet and Cream" and the football team fittingly cheered, Dr. Fred Leuhring was introduced. He said that he would like to see a good student representation at the game. The Indians, he stated, have a very good team with a shifty, speedy style of game.

"In Head Coach Dawson, Owden Frank and Bill Day, Nebraska has a coaching staff that is not equalled anywhere in the country, the freshman squad has such coaches as Farley Young, former Nebraska guard, and Max Towle, who was one of the best quarterbacks the school ever produced. The first year football men are getting a thorough drilling in the fundamentals of the game and will be ready for varsity work next fall.

Coach Dawson made his first appearance to Cornhusker followers at the rally. The coach said that a new feature of his work had been furnished at Nebraska by the co-eds. All the other schools at which he has coached were mens' colleges. The girls, he stated, were a bigger factor than he had expected.

point and Nebraska took the ball on her own 15 yard line. Preston gained considerable ground on a fake punt and the Huskers made a first down by line plunges by Wright and Dewitz and a thirty yard pass, Noble to Swanson that brought the stands to their feet. Nebraska worked the ball down to the Indian 2 yard line and a touchdown seemed imminent but the Huskers lost the ball after attempting a forward pass over the goal line. After an exchange of punts with neither team making any ground the whistle for the quarter sounded with the Huskers in possession of the ball on the Nebraska 46 yard line. Score Nebraska 0, Haskell 0.

Second Quarter.

After an exchange of punts Wenke recovered a punt on the Haskell 35 yard line. Schoepfel went in for Klempke who was injured and Nixon substituted for Peterson at center. Line bucks and end runs by Dewitz, Preston, Noble, and Wright brought the ball to the Haskell 25 yard line where Preston tried a drop kick but the ball went outside on the 14 yard line. Nebraska suffered severely from penalties inflicted all through the game. The Indians failed to gain on the Haskell 37 yard line. Wright went for 24 yards on the first play. Dewitz, Noble and Wright carried the ball for small gains and Dewitz went over for the initial touchdown of the game. Captain Swanson kicked goal.

Russell and Hartley substituted for Noble and Wright at this point of the game. Nebraska kicked off and the Indians made good gains around the Husker ends. Captain Swanson intercepted a pass at this point and carried the ball to the three yard line where Russell carried the ball over on the second play. Captain Swanson booted the goal. Score, Nebraska 14, Haskell 0. The first half ended with the ball in possession of the Huskers in the middle of the field.

Third Quarter.

Nebraska scored early in the half with Noble, Wright, and Dewitz carrying the ball for long gains. The Huskers went straight through from the kick off for the third touchdown of the game. Wright negotiated the final distance. Captain Swanson again kicked goal making the count 21 to 0. The Huskers kicked off to the Indians and held the Haskell athletes to their own territory. After several penalties and long runs by Noble, Preston, and Wright and several short line bucks by Dewitz the Huskers were again within scoring distance. The Huskers displayed the best offensive work of the entire game in this period. After Wright had made the touchdown, Captain Swanson missed the goal making the score, Nebraska 27, Haskell 0.

Coach Dawson made several substitutions at this point of the game and the quarter ended with the Nebraska eleven in possession of the ball on the Haskell 20 yard line.

Fourth Quarter.

Plunges by Lewellen, Dewitz and Hartley were responsible for the fifth counter of the game. Lewellen carried the ball over and Captain Swanson again kicked goal making the count 34 to 0. A number of substitutions were made by Coach Dawson and the entire Husker lineup was completely changed. The final counter of the game came after Weller had kicked off to Haskell and the Indians failing to gain, punted to Lewellen who returned thirty-five yards and a forward pass Hartley to Schoepfel, who went over the goal line brought the total up to 40 and Captain Swanson added another point with a goal kick. This ended the scoring for the remainder of the game and the ball saw-sawed back and forth and Nebraska was in possession of the ball when the final whistle blew.
