LAW COLLEGE TO ABOLISH PENALTY

Vote Was Taken At General Lecture—Prominent Lincoln Attorney Gives Barristers Advice.

Before introducing the speaker at general lecture Friday morning, Dean Seavey brought the proposed abolishment of penalties for missing class—of penalties for missing class—the law college. The vote of each class was unanimous for the plan. This was taken by the Dean to mean that every student would do his or her best to uphold the attendance record. He has always looked on the penalty method as infantile, and was glad to gain the support of the students in abolishing it.

The regular Friday morning lecture was delivered by Walter Anderson, a prominent Lincoln attorney, and ex-speaker of the Nebraska house of representatives. His admonitions to the future members of the bar were; to avoid procrastination, to cultivate a good memory, especially for names and faces, and to enter politics. His advice was as follows: "Do not put your work off until tomorrow, or next Sunday morning, or next spring. You will be as busy day after tomorrow as you are today. Always some unexpected work will arise to take up the short period, which you have looked forward to as the time when the many matters postponed would be done."

PSYCHOLOGY

The dictionaries and universities have much to say on this subject, but we say PSYCHOLOGY is only human nature in a new dress; and if the proper study of PERFUMES is woman-lovely woman. When a woman contemplates the purchase of toilet articles, she first smells them. Therefore, get a good Bouquet. OH! You have one? Well, get a better one!

"Another thing absolutely necessary to a successful lawyer is a good memory. Cultivate it. Not merely a faculty for remembering phrases and facts from the books you study, but the broad principles involved. Also, and this is very important, remember names and faces of those you meet. Man is a vain animal. If you remember his name, and speak to him he will be very favorably impressed. In this way you can cultivate an extensive acquaintanceship. I used to advise young members of the bar to keep out of politics, but I now consider it a duty for every one trained along this line to take an active part in the work of government. It is not necessary to run for office, but use your influence at least. There is going to be a revolution. It may be one of force, or it may be a gradual peaceful change. Which ever it is we must play our part. Many parts of our constitutions are incorporated therein by logrolling, and have no good reason, other than this for being there. These things should be changed, and this change will be one phase of the revolution, which is sure to come. Every lawyer should understand the workings of the legislature, and to gain this information he should serve in that body at least for one term."

Mr. Anderson was pleased to note the number of girls preparing to be leaders in a political way. He said there should be no woman's party, or branch of women in any of the existing parties, because the governmental interests of men and women are the same, and with proper leaders they can co-operate.
