

LUEHRING SPEAKS FRESHMEN LECTURE

Explains Importance of Recreation to Health and Urges Fresh to Exercise Daily.

SPOKE TO LARGE AUDIENCE

Says Physical Defects Can be Overcome by Right Kind of Regimen Development.

Prof. F. W. Leuhring, director of athletics spoke at freshmen lecture this week, taking for his subject "Recreation and Health." Prof. Leuhring said that his topic was really part of the field of physical education. He sketched some health rules which he said every student should know and follow.

The question of student health presents two factors, said the speaker. First comes the personal factor. Every student should know and take into consideration any physical weaknesses he may have. The physical examination often reveals such defects as adenoids, flat feet, faulty vision, bad teeth, poor posture, and abnormal blood pressure. If an examination should reveal any of these weaknesses, the student should immediately set about to overcome them. With few exceptions the people who successfully do things in the world are well equipped physically.

Prof. Leuhring said that he hoped before long to see the university giving two examinations a year to all students. These examinations should be followed up, and where some remedial defect is discovered, the physical education department should assist the student in finding the right method of cure.

Secondly comes the environmental factor. College students have to contend with certain unhealthy conditions which other people do not. Some of these conditions include poorly ventilated class rooms, excessive eye strain, bad posture influence, heavy schedules, physical inactivity, and indoor work. Considering these conditions, what kind of a health program ought a college man or woman to have?

Some of the high points in a sane health program were then outlined by the speaker. A student should first undertake to correct any defects such as faulty vision, flat feet, etc. He should develop to a maximum degree, his muscular system. Two hours each day should be spent in the open air. The sunlight is better than night air but night air, contrary to a belief sometimes voiced, is not injurious. In studying, a student should try to have the light come over his left shoulder and should never face the light directly. Bad posture can be corrected by calisthenics. A heavy schedule should be offset by complete relaxation and plenty of sleep.

Prof. Leuhring recommended especially to the students, walking, hiking, calisthenics, swimming, and competitive games. Some of these rules, he said, might seem hard to follow but a student cannot under any circumstances afford to neglect his health. A body abused and neglected in youth will never be vigorous or capable of enduring fatigue and hardship in later life.

Wonder if I could,
Wonder if I should,
Some come,
Some "slum,"
Sure thing, Tanglewood.

—Gusto.

PERSHING RIFLES

Important meeting Nebraska hall, Thursday 7:30 p. m. Every old member is urged to attend this initial meeting of the honorary drill company. Come! Come!

BIZ AD HOLIDAY.

The following statement was issued by Dean C. C. Engberg yesterday:

"TO THE REGISTRAR:

At the request of Dean Le Rossignol and the students of the college of business administration, Friday, October 28, has been granted them as a holiday in order that they may on that date engage in certain college activities.

CARL C. ENGBERG."

SPECIAL ENGINEERING CONVOCATION CALLED

A special engineering convocation will be held at 4:00 p. m., Wednesday in the social science auditorium. Engineering classes will be dismissed for the occasion and engineers in other classes may be absent themselves from these classes provided they make up the work. Special arrangements have been made in regard to drill, regarding which men will be informed by the military department.

The speaker is Mr. C. E. Drayer, national secretary of the American association of engineers. He later addresses the A. A. E. of the Lincoln chapter at an evening banquet.

W. S. G. A. HAS MANY NEW CO-ED MEMBERS

Association is Half a Thousand Larger as Result of Recent Membership Campaign.

Four hundred and sixty girls became active members of the women's self governing association during the first week of October. Florence Price was captain of the team, turning in the largest number of membership slips. Her team sold membership slips to nine girls.

The whole campaign was under the management of Margaret Stidworthy, secretary of the W. S. G. A. The W. S. G. A. is an organization for all women in the university and to make its work most effective every girl, or at least, representative types should belong. Active membership carries with it the privilege of voting and holding office.

The special duty of the W. S. G. A. is to uphold the rights and welfare of the women in the university. Through its governing board and a council made up of one representative from each house in which four of more women live, house rules are made for all women students. The council members are chosen by the women in the houses they represent. The board members are elected by the active members of the W. S. G. A.

One-half of the dues go into a fund which is drawn on from time to time to aid needy students who are members of the W. S. G. A. During the course of the year several parties are given for all university women.

CONVOCATION WILL BACK CONFERENCE

Question of Disarmament Will be Discussed at All-University Meeting Next Week.

An all-university convocation will be held in the armory chapel on Thursday, November 10, for the purpose of passing resolutions backing up the disarmament conference which convenes in Washington on November 11. A capable speaker will be secured to address the convocation and explain to the students the many problems that must come before the conference.

Plans for the convocation were discussed at a meeting of the general committee at Ellen Smith hall last night. Jessie Watson, as chairman of the committee of eleven, presided and explained the general purpose of the movement. She told of the movements started by other colleges and universities in this respect.

Dean P. C. Buck addressed the committee, giving a brief summary of the difficulties and problems that confront the conference. He pointed out that it is the duty of citizens to express opinions to their representatives on such public issues and that such opinion should come principally from the universities and colleges. He said that an enlightened American policy will make possible the solution of many of the problems of the conference.

Roy Wythers, chairman of the convocation program committee, told of the plans for the affair. Class will be dismissed to permit all students to attend. Complete arrangements will be announced later.

Special articles by university faculty members dealing with various phases of the disarmament question and touching on the various problems will be printed in the Daily Nebraskan prior to the convocation. It is hoped that an enlightened American thought on the question among the students in order that an intelligent set of resolutions can be passed.

BIZADS PLAN BIG DAY CELEBRATION

Plan Downfall of Engineers' Grid Clan as One Part of Program of Annual Fun Fest.

Pink and green "bizad" day ribbons are making their appearance upon the university campus this week as a forerunner of the big celebration which the college of business administration is planning for next Friday. From 8 o'clock in the morning until the clock strikes midnight, the future business men of Nebraska will make merry. For once in their college days they will discard all seriousness and settle down to fun making.

Combined with the fun and as a part of the fun, there will be the serious duty, however, of putting the Bizad football team on the map. The Bizads have been practicing hard and promise the engineers a warm contest. Modesty prevents them from inflating the score as yet.

The day will start off with a parade through the university campus and the business part of Lincoln in the morning. The Bizads will then leave the city to spend the day. In the morning the boys intend to put on wide-awake stunts and the girls are planning activities of their own.

At noon there will be a luncheon and a speech followed in the afternoon by the football game between the engineers and Bizads. In the evening there will be a dance.

Bizad day is to be an annual part of life in the college of business administration if the celebration this year goes off as it is expected. The university commercial club, while not sponsoring it, is backing the affair strong. Up until Tuesday evening the sale of ribbons for the day was very encouraging.

SCORE FILE FOR RHODES SCHOLARS

Committee Will Select Five for Nebraska University Candidates Friday.

Tuesday was the last day for applications for Rhodes scholarships to present their petitions to Provost James Lees, head of the university committee. Nearly twenty applications have been handed in.

The university will hold its meeting to select the five candidates from the University of Nebraska probably Friday afternoon. Each applicant for a scholarship will be interviewed by the committee and passed on according to character, scholarship, physical and athletic ability.

All applications for scholarships from the state of Nebraska must be in the hands of the state committee by Saturday. This committee will review the candidates from all the eligible schools of the state and select the number of men which Nebraska is allowed. These men will start their work at Oxford university next year.

LAST DAY OF SALE OF UNI. BANQUET TICKETS

Today is the last day students are able to secure tickets for the all university banquet which is being held at the commercial club Friday, October 28. The committee of 200 is in charge of the banquet and says that they are able to accommodate only 400 students this year, whereas last year provisions were made for 1,000 students. For this reason the committee is asking the students to get the tickets early so that they are sure to get them. Tickets can be had at the Temple Bldg., from Dr. Thomas.

ARTS COLLEGE TOO HAS BRIGHT NEW HEADGEAR

Caps for students of the arts and science college are to go on sale Wednesday at the A Starr Best clothing house on Twelfth street near the corner of P. These caps sell for 75c.

The members of the arts and science college intend to shop up their college, even better than the "Bizad" Laws, Engineers, or "Dents" have shown up theirs. This college has the largest registration in the school. A special section will be reserved for them at football games.

GEOGRAPHY COUNCIL TO HOLD MEETING

Nebraska Teachers Will Meet in Convention With State Teachers' Association.

Arrangements have been perfected for a series of geographical meetings in connection with the state teachers' association of Omaha. Prof. N. A. Bengston of the geology and geography department of University of Nebraska is director of the Nebraska council of geography teachers.

The cabinet meeting of professors of geography of the normal schools and colleges of the state will be held Wednesday evening, November 3. The annual meeting of the council will be held Thursday morning, November 10 and the geography section of the state teachers' association will meet Thursday afternoon, November 10.

The principal teacher at these meetings will be Pres. Walus W. Atwood of Clark university, Worcester, Mass. Others who will take part in the program are Dr. G. F. Condra of the University of Nebraska, Mr. Archer L. Burnham of the state department of education and Miss Rose Clark of Peru normal. The meetings will emphasize the necessity for better teaching in geography and present some of the new features and discoveries that have been made. The Nebraska council is ranked as one of the largest in the United States.

NEBRASKA FRESHMEN TO STAGE HALLOWEEN PARTY

Between eight hundred and a thousand freshmen, with all of their first year dignity and high school spirit, are scheduled to appear in the armory Saturday evening for the first all-freshman party of the year. The party is for freshmen only and is being managed by themselves.

Halloween decorations and refreshments, combined with a jack-o-lantern program, will serve to keep the first year students in the prime of their fun making. The reception committee is all geared and oiled up ready to see that no one is left to himself and that everyone at least has a chance to meet everyone else.

Members of the committees in charge of the party will meet Thursday evening at 5 o'clock in Ellen Smith hall to complete the plans for the affair.

VOCATIONAL STUDENT ASKED TO MEETING

Disabled soldiers taking vocational training at the University of Nebraska should attend the meeting Wednesday evening at 7:15 in the American Legion club rooms. Reports of the last national convention will be read, plans for the coming year will be considered, and the proposed reduction in compensation discussed.

The American Legion will take part in the Armistice celebration to be held in Lincoln on November 11, and plans for their part in this will be discussed. The meeting is very important.

MILITARY CARNIVAL TO BE STAGED SOON

Scabbard and Blade Will Hold All University Party to Raise Funds For New Colors.

The first annual "Military Carnival" has been scheduled at the armory for Saturday night, November 5. The management of the carnival has been placed in the hands of Scabbard and Blade whose members have been working on the features of the affair for the last three weeks.

The carnival is an all-university affair and no one will be denied admission because he or she is not attired in regulation O. D. uniforms will not be worn. An admission fee of thirty-five cents will be charged the men and the co-eds are invited to attend without charge. The ticket will also entitle the holder to one drink at the "bar" and to a carnival cap. The entire scheme of the party will be reminiscent of the days of '49, when wild west saloon and dance hall was to be seen in every town.

The doors will open promptly at 7:30 and dancing will begin at 8:00. There will be other form of entertainment besides dancing. Carnival amusements of all kinds will be in full swing during the entire evening. Full details of the carnival will be given out by the committee next week. Tickets may be procured from any member of Scabbard and Blade or at the door the night of the entertainment. The mixer promises to be one of the biggest of all-university parties in the history of the university. The proceeds will be used to purchase new colors for the cadet regiment.

FRESHMEN ELECT MINOR OFFICERS

Yearlings Start Organizing to Win Annual Scrap and Discard Green Headgear.

Election of minor officers of the class of 1921 was held Tuesday morning in social science hall room 101. Giles Hinkle, president, presided over the meeting.

The result of the election follows: Vice-president, Gerald Carpenter; secretary, Elizabeth Johnson, treasurer, Ben Thomsen; sergeant-at-arms, George Randolph and Gifford Taibot.

The tightest race was between Gerald Carpenter and George Dovey, Carpenter winning out by a scant three points.

One hundred and four votes were cast in the election out of a possible 1,500 freshmen who have the right to vote.

President Hinkle announced after the election that all freshmen who intended to get out of the olympics should see him. The freshmen are reputed to have the makings of winners of the big class scrap but Hinkle warned them that they must work if they wish to discard the green caps.

The first freshman party of the year is to be held Friday evening in the armory. The party will take the form of a Halloween celebration. Committees in charge of the party will meet Thursday evening at 5 o'clock in Ellen Smith hall.

CONVOCATION FOR RENAMING COLLEGE

The musical convocation held Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock in Ag. hall was well attended by Ag. students and faculty. The musical program was given by students in the university.

Several saxophone numbers were played by Miss Nurenborg, Miss Riches sand, and Miss Clemmons played a piano solo.

Mr. T. L. Skinner was the chief speaker. His subject was "Renaming Ag. College."

HUSKERS DUE FOR SCRIMMAGE GRIND

Varsity Gridsters Gain at Will On Yearling Squad in Tuesday Scrimmage.

COACH GIVES MEN WORKOUT

Oklahoma Line Tips the Scales Heavier Than Huskers and Will be Formidable.

Scrimmage for the varsity began last evening when Coach Dawson sent the first string men against Coach Farley Young's yearling aggregation. The Huskers went into the fray with a surprising amount of vigor and gained almost at will against the younger men.

The result of the Notre Dame contest has left an entirely different atmosphere prevailing over the Husker camp and the Scarlet and Cream athletes are going into the game with almost an entirely different attitude than has been displayed previous to this time. Coach Dawson has made some minor changes in the team but the regular lineup will probably start Saturday against the Oklahoma Sooners.

Reports from Oklahoma indicate that the Sooners are invading Lincoln this week with the intentions of taking the long end of the score some with them. The outcome of Saturday's contest will be watched from all parts of the Missouri Valley with interest as the victor will more than likely be the Missouri Valley champions for the 1921 season. Last year the Huskers did not have a chance and the Oklahoma team grabbed the honors.

So far the Huskers have not met a team that would equal themselves in weight but Saturday followers of the Scarlet and Cream athletes will have a chance to see an eleven in action that will more than outweigh Coach Dawson's men. The forward wall of the Sooner aggregation is touted as one of the greatest defensive combinations in the country. Thus far this season Coach Bennie Owen of the Sooner club has had considerable trouble in getting cooperation with his line and backfield men.

The Sooners won their game Saturday from the Washington university eleven by a good margin but were scored on for two touchdowns and displayed to the Valley contenders that they did not have an unbeatable eleven. Coach Owen hopes to improve the Sooner attack to such an extent that the Husker defense will be shattered. The weak point of the Sooner combination has been the offense and Nebraska will probably have a chance to witness some of Coach Owen's craftiness in the new Oklahoma attack.

Tonight and tomorrow will probably see the Huskers in the hardest workouts of the season and Coach Dawson is sparing no one in an attempt to bring the Huskers into first class conditions to battle the Oklahoma eleven. Following the Sooner contest the Cornhuskers will take the road for the longest trip of the season. Pittsburgh will be the destination of the Scarlet and Cream athletes where they meet Glen Warner's Panthers in an inter-sectional contest. Coach Warner's aggregation turned in a 35 to 0 victory over Syracuse Saturday and from a scoring standpoint have one of the strongest elevens in the east.
