PRICE FIVE CENTS

"N" BLANKETS FOR SIXTEEN HUSKERS

Omaha and Lincoln Alumni Will Present Blankets to Varsity Squad at Sooner Contest.

TRAIN LOAD OF OMAHANS

Grads From Metropolis to Arrive Saturday Morning for Oklahoma Game.

Cornhusker football practice is continuing at a speedy clip despite the bad weather that is prevailing over the Husker camp. Coach Dawson put the Varsity through a three hour practice last evening spending the greater part of the afternoon in scrimmage. The second string men and Coach Farley Young's freshmen eleven furnished the opposition for the Varsity.

One of the features of the coming contest with Oklahomans will be the presentation of large "N" blankets to sixteen of the regular men on the team. Omaha and Lincoln Alumni have raised a fund for the purchase of the blankets and they will be presented directly preceding the game. A train-load of Omaha alumni are scheduled to arrive in the city some time Saturday morning for the Oklahoma game. Sooners Plan Passes.

Coach Bennie Owen of the Oklahoma Sooners is spending the week in drilling his first string men in an aerial attack that he expects to launch against the Huskers on the local gridiron Saturday. So far this season the Oklahoma athletes have been very weak on the offense in comparison with the defense the big forward wall of the Sooners have exhibited. Coach Owen hopes to bring a co-operation between the line and the backfield that will pre-husker machine. With several All-Missouri Valley men in their lineup, the Sooner eleven should furnish some real competition for the Cornhuskers. Coach Dawson has been holding secret practice for his proteges all of (Continued on page 3.)

LEISHNER WINS IN LIMERICK CONTEST

First Winner in the Competition for Three Cornhuskers are Announced.

Frank H. Leisher is the winner in the Daily Nebraskan football limerick contest, which closed at 6 p. m. yesterday. Here is the limerick that Leisher submitted:

"The Huskers are showing the fight That's going to bring them out right, Though we've lost in the game With our fair Notre Dame, The future is bound to be bright."

A large number of limericks were entered in the contest and it was with difficulty that the judges selected the winner. Many of them seemed to be on a par with the one chosen.

A 1922 Cornhusker is the prize offered when they are placed on sale. Leisher is a sophomore in the college of arts and sciences. His home is at Western, Nebraska.

The second round of the contest begins today. The next prize will be awarded on Tuesday, November 1. The judges of the contest are Prof. J. T. Lees, Ward M. Randol, editor of the Cornhusker, and Leonard M. Cowley, editor of the Awgwan.

XI DELTA WILL GIVE TEA PARTY FRIDAY

Xi Delta will give its initial tea for all sophomore girls this Friday afternoon from three to five at Ellen South hall.

The Xi Deltas have been rather handicapped in starting their social affairs by the loss of many old members, and by attention to initiation and other business matters at the first of the year. Now that they are well organized they want all the sophomore girls to come to the tea Friday and do their best to make it a big success.

FRESHMAN PARTY.

Owing to a misunderstanding, the sign on the armory building announcing the first freshman party of the year reads Friday, October 28. This should be Saturday, October 29. All freshmen should be present that night sure.

An article "Mastering Mistakes," by Sidney Silber of the university school of music appeared in the last number of "The Etude." This is one of a series of ten articles by Mr. Silber which will appear from time to time in that publication. The articles are of great value and it is certain that they will interest and aid the readers.

A reception will be given for him by Dr. W. T. Elmore of the First Baptist church, following the banquet.

INTER-FRAT CROSS COUNTRY SATURDAY

All Candidates for Varsity to Try Out in Meet Also—Omaha Fraternities Send Two Teams.

The inter-fraternity cross country meet will be held Saturday morning at 11 o'clock according to an announcement made Wednesday afternoon by Track Coach McMasters. All candidates for the varsity cross-country team must run in this meet.

Varsity men must run in the meet because of the contest with the Kansas Aggies following Saturday and the Missouri Valley meet two weeks from Saturday.

Each fraternity may enter as many men as they care to in the meet Saturday but the first three men to finish will be the only ones to count. Two teams from fraternities at the Omaha medical college will enter the race. Each man must be marked with the insignia of his fraternity.

EXPECT ARTS COLLEGE HEADGEAR THIS WEEK

The arts and science college caps to be worn at all university functions by members of that college are due Thursday or Friday. They will be sold at A Starr Best.

The caps will resemble a jockey cap and will have an insignia for the college upon them.

FRAT BOWLERS TO ORGANIZE LEAGUES

To meet the interest shown in bowling at the university, a pair of leagues may be organized. Fraternities represented Tuesday evening include Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Silver Lynx, Alpha Sigma Phi, Delta Chi Beta, Theta Pi, Lambda Chi Alpha, Phi Delta Theta, Sigma, Phi Kappa Psi, Sigma Nu and Delta Tau Delta.

Big Bonfire to Feature Open-Air Rally Eve Of Sooner Clash

A beckoning bonfire, with flames leaping to the sky, will feature an innovation in football rallies Friday evening at 7 o'clock on the drill field just north of Social Science Hall.

Do you believe that Notre Dame supports her team 100 per cent better than Nebraska? Such, however, was the verdict of many Cornhuskers who journeyed to South Bend with the Cornhusker team and had a chance to get a "close up" of Notre Dame spirit.

At 6:45 the eve of the game with the Sooners the University band will call students together at the corner of 16th and R streets for the rally that will begin fifteen minutes later on the drill field.

All sororities, fraternities and dormitories and rooming houses are expected to turn out in full force and join the procession to the drill field. Students in the southern part of the city will be asked to meet at some specified place and march to the field en masse.

The rally will not only be a period of lusty yells, songs and music; it will give students an opportunity to listen to short speeches by Prof. Roy E. Cochran and Prof. R. D. Scott, who will make their talks from the small reviewing stand on the field, if arrangements can be made.

There is a tradition at Notre Dame that all Freshmen rake the campus and carry the leaves to a vacant field for a mammoth bonfire which lights up the sky for miles around South Bend the night before the biggest game of the year. Just such a bonfire greeted the Cornhuskers last week.

Nebraska has no tradition which involves leaves, the raking of the campus and bonfires, but there will be a big fire Friday night and it will beckon every student to the open-air rally.

Every freshman is required to attend. They are not asked to bring boxes of leaves and deposit them on the drill field for the fire Friday night, but all contributions of light kindling wood, leaves, boxes and other inflammable material will show that Nebraska spirit is really awakening.

Nebraska has spirit! It is only dormant. The student representation at the rally Friday night will indicate whether or not the Cornhuskers have found themselves or whether they desire to continue in their state of lethargy.

ALREADY! LET'S GET SET FOR THE NEXT HEAT IN THE LIMERICK CONTEST!

The first heat of the big football limerick contest is now over. The winner has been chosen and the 1922 Cornhusker awarded. The story is told elsewhere in these columns.

The next lap begins today. A second Cornhusker will be awarded to the winner on Tuesday, November 1. Everyone who entered limericks in the contest just closed, except the winner, is eligible for the next contest. Don't give up because you didn't win this time. Remember the old saying, "If at first you don't succeed—suck, suck another seed." That's the stuff.

The winning limerick in each heat of the contest will all be published in the Awgwan after the contest is ended. Leonard Cowley, editor of the Awgwan, is one of the contest judges and is co-operating with the Nebraskan in staging the event in every possible way.

Let's make this second heat snappier and more exciting than the first. The judges were swamped with limericks this time but are willing to handle more.

Take five minutes off today and write a football limerick.

FIRST GAMES HELD IN GIRLS' TOURNEY

The first games were played in the girls' inter-class tennis doubles tournament. The seniors defeated the sophomores 6-3, 5-7, 6-4. Miss Clark, captain, created the matches.

Those on the senior team were Nannie Roberts and Annabelle Ranslen, both stars in the late singles tourney. Meach Miller and Dorothy Shallenberger were the sophomore team.

FROSH PARTY TO BE SATURDAY IN ARMORY

Entertainment Committee is Keeping Mum on the Program for the First Freshman Mixer.

Displaying all of the dignity characteristic of freshmen in the University of Nebraska, the first year students will gather in their first party of the year next Saturday evening in the armory. Between eight hundred and a thousand freshmen are expected to attend the mixer.

The party is a "no date" affair although freshmen so fortunate as to have a "fair one" may bring her. The reception committee intends to see that all freshmen enjoy themselves to the last letter if anything they can do will help out.

Decorations for the mixer will be of a Halloween nature. Refreshments will also take on a jack-o-lantern style according to rumors from the committee.

Owing to an error on the part of one of the chairmen of the publicity committee, the sign on the armory announcing the mixer erroneously was made to read Friday, October 28, instead of Saturday. This error will be corrected as soon as possible.

A meeting of committees in charge of the mixer will be held in Egan Smith hall Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Final plans for the party will be made then.

A splendid program will in all probability will also take on a Halloween nature will precede the dancing. The entertainment committee is keeping mum on the program and little has leaked out.

DES MOINES CRITICS PRAISE THE WORK OF LAMB

The individual playing of "Rody" Lamb, former Lincoln high school athlete, who attended University of Nebraska last fall, featured the game between Des Moines university and Lombard college last week, according to the Des Moines Register. In commenting on Lamb's work the Des Moines writer says:

"Lamb, the Lombard quarterback, is easily the best, according to the locals, they have men this season. The fact he was able to return three punts and one kickoff through the entire Monmouth team for touchdowns the week before stamps him as having some claim to distinction.

Morningside university plays Des Moines university at Des Moines next Saturday afternoon. The Morningside Maroons will invade Lincoln to tackle Nebraska Wesleyan November 4.

SELL TICKETS FOR HUSKER LUNCHEON

Organizations Have Only Four Hundred and Fifty Tickets Available For Homecoming Day Feast.

GIRLS TO SNAKE DANCE

Feast List Will be Announced Later and University Girls Orchestra Will Provide Music.

The tickets are out today for the annual Girls' Cornhusker Luncheon, held Homecoming day, Saturday, November 12, at the Lincoln hotel at 12:00 o'clock. The tickets are 75 cents and are being sold by members of the Mystic Fish, Xi Delta, and Silver Serpents societies today, or may be purchased at the Students' Activities office. Only 550 girls can be accommodated, so girls should get their reservations early.

The annual luncheon is one of the oldest traditions on the campus. It is the one time when the whole feminine population of the school should get together and express the real Nebraska spirit and "pep." A special section of the bleachers will be reserved for the girls, who will parade and snake dance from the hotel to the game. It is the duty of every girl on the campus to attend the luncheon and find out what real Cornhusker spirit is.

The toast list for the day will be announced later. The university girls' orchestra will furnish lively music during the luncheon, and all the good old Nebraska songs will be sung. The university colors will be used exclusively for decoration of the day.

The committee in charge was chosen from the W. S. G. A. board and are: Ruth Fickes, chairman; Jean Holtz, and Ruth Taylor. This committee will be assisted by the Mystic Fish, Xi Delta, and Silver Serpent societies. Several supplementaries will be chosen later.

DANCE FOR BLOCK AND BRIDLE CLUB

Party at Antelope Pavilion Friday to Defray Expenses of Stock Judging Team.

The Block and Bridle club will hold a benefit dance at the Antelope Pavilion Friday evening, October 28. The proceeds of the dance go to help defray the expenses of the Nebraska judging team that goes to the leading livestock show all over the country to compete with the teams of other universities.

The Nebraska team has always been one of the leading teams. Last year in the Chicago contest in competition with twenty-one teams, Nebraska placed second to Purdue. Three Nebraska men placed in the top ten, out of one hundred and five contestants. At Denver, Asa K. Hopperly won high individual honors.

Nebraska won first in the contest at Peoria, Ill., only a few weeks ago. The team has been working hard for several weeks. Coach Savin feels the boys will do something that will please every Cornhusker when they match their wits with the judges from other colleges. He has confidence in their ability to pass on tanbark models.

The committee in charge of the dance are Floyd Reed, Stanley R. Hall and James C. Adams. They have employed the best jazz orchestra in the city and have made superb arrangements for the entertainment of the chowd Friday night at Antelope park. Tickets are selling for 75c and can be obtained from any member of the committee or club.
