THE GAME.

The Cornhusker football machine again is to be congratulated upon its splendid work. Facing a line as heavy as their own, against the Missouri Valley Champions of last year, and handicapped as much as Oklahoma by the muddy field, Nebraska's splendid team demonstrated to us, what she could do. Nebraska is very proud of her team.

Even if the backing broncho contest to have been put on at the college of agriculture was postponed, the day was not entirely void of this sport for the Oklahoma Cow furnished us with an exciting five minutes. Fortunately the animal was not inflamed by the red sweaters of the Oklahoma rooters.

A little colored chap takes the prize when it comes to cutting down old H. C. L. He came to the game with a pair of high stilts and nonchalantly gazed at the game over thina field as if his act was an every day occurrence.

If the University of Oklahoma is as fine as the spirit shown by her representatives, it must be a mighty fine school. It certainly took spirit to parade the streets after their defeat—we want them here again.

What's the matter with Nebraska? Were we the hosts we should have been? Their rooters were tucked away in one corner of the bleachers—they ought to have had grandstand reservations.

They came prepared to show us what they had—but somehow our band always seemed to be going at the wrong time and drowned out yells, and diverted our attention from their carefully prepared "stunts."

Nebraska's rooting, yesterday, was a dismal failure, and again it was apparent that such an arrangement cannot be a success. There was no coordination between these two distinct groups of rooters and often one side would be putting everything they had into a song or yell, and the other section was absolutely silent. If the football men can afford four or five hours a day, six days a week, preparing themselves for OUR games, why can't we spend half an hour some afternoon practicing our yells right out in the stands so that during games we can support our team as they should be supported. At least we ought to get all the men together.

Didn't it thrill you when Preston made that sixty-five yard run?

If Ohio could charter eight special trains carrying over six thousand students to the Michigan game, and if Oklahoma could bring such a patriotic aggregation to Lincoln, why can't Nebraska make a real showing when our team meets Ames in three weeks? Lets all push together to put this idea over the top.

To Floyd Wright, one of the greatest athletes ever produced at Nebraska; a man known throught this country for his ability as a man that can carry the ball thru the enemy lines—we take our hats off.

A girl was overhead to say yesterday afternoon that she "was going to write a student opinion for the Rag because we didn't give two poor Oklahoma players stockings to wear during the last half of the game. After they had been playing two minutes you could not tell whether they had stockings on or not.

How would you like to wallow YOUR face in the mud for a hour?

As usual there were those overly eager self-centered students at the game that could not wait a minute, after the final whistle had blown, to sing our song, and give the men who had been battling in the muddy field a chance to get to the warm showers for which they were longing. The players earned this preference to get out first and something is lacking in those who did not feel enough Cornhusker spirit to stand with bare heads while our song was being sung.

The Daily Nebraskan Weather man predicts snow.

Any hard-fighting, fast-playing football team will be penalized—they expect to be. It's our hard luck if our team happens to be such an aggregation. It's harder luck, however, to have the type of sportsmen in our stands who will jeer and sneer when we have been penalized, or cheer when such misfortune befalls our opponents.

We might call some of our visitors "Schmoons" rather than "Sooners."

Guess we didn't need the rally after all.

Omaha alumni showed spirit yesterday with their contribution of a jazz band.

Next Saturday we have the hardest game on this season's schedule. Pittsburg has a team that has not gone down to defeat this year. Their victory over Syracuse by a 35 to 0 and Pennsylvania 28 to 0 scores shows us how strong they must be. Our team has a week in which to whip into shape again after yesterday's battle. For hours every day they will go thru their training without a whimper. Let's help them this week all we can—let's show them that the whole school is right back of them.

Did you know that a "scout" was in the Press stand yesterday watching the game play by play? Every move made by the team was watched by two keen-eyed men who outlined in a notebook the attack and defense.

The night-watchman reports that there are four inches of dirt in the showers in the gym. We wonder where it came from!

ESTHER SWANSON WINS PRIZE FOR BIG SALES

Esther Swanson won the box of candy for selling the most candy at the game Saturday for the Women's athletic association. Elizabeth Montgomery and the Whelpley sisters were next. The girls who came out to sell showed the real Nebraska spirit. In spite of the bad day the organization sold quite a lot of candy.

MARRIAGES

Mac Farland-Bailey.

A wedding of interest to university students took place Saturday evening at eight o'clock at the First Methodist Episcopal church of Omaha, when Miss Mildred Mac Farland became the bride of Russel M. Bailey. The church was attractively decorated in lavender chrysanthemums and pink roses.

Mrs. Leonard Winterton, a cousin and sorority sister of the bride, was the matron of honor, and Miss Wilma Mac Farland was the maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Eunice Fike, Miss Ethel Nimmo, and Miss Emily Ross.

The pink and lavender decorative scheme was carried out in the orchard crepe chiffon dresses of the matron and maid of honor, and in the bridesmaid's pink crepe chiffon dresses.

The bride wore her mother's wedding gown of white satin and Valenciennes lace, and a veil of tulle and Valenciennes lace. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses.

Miss Eloise Clark acted as flower girl. William Bailey was the best man. The ushers were as follows: George Sims, Art Bush, Everett Lamphere, and Frank Bieser.

A reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Mac Farland, followed immediately after the ceremony. Mrs. Carl Jungo, Mrs. Wilder Blaksley, Mrs. L. L. Clark and Mrs. W. E. Ross assisted. The bride wore a blue tricotine traveling suit with accessories to match. Afterwards, the newly married couple left for a wedding trip to California. They will be at home in Omaha in three weeks.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Bailey attended the University of Nebraska. Mrs. Bailey graduated in 190. She was a member of Pi Beta Phi and also Phi Beta Kappa. Russel Bailey graduated in 1929. He was a member of Alpha Tau Omega, Innocents society, and captain of the basket ball team, he sides participating in many other activities.

The following students went to Omaha to attend the wedding: The Misses Merle Malchow, Helen Stolterberg, Helen Boylau, Mary Ure, Ellen Frances Bradshay, Juvanta Harper, Esther King, Marie Hills, Lorraine Ootgen, Eva Hoagland, Mary Marshall, Lucille Johnson, Isabelle Pearson, Dorothy Gaul, Janice Bowers, Louise Ortmann, Gertrude Patterson; Robert Osborne, Robert and John Dadds, Homer Sandrock, Frank Patty, Leslie Carter, John Whetstein, Sidney Stewart, Walter Ernst, Harold Lindley, Warren Piddicord, Remy Clem, Otto Bieser, Elbert Evans, and Oliver Maxwell.

Wilkinson-Lawrence.

The marriage of Miss Gladys Wilkinson to Paul W. Lawrence of Des Moines, Iowa, was solemnized Tuesday evening at home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilkinson of Lincoln.

Mrs. Lawrence was graduated from the University of Nebraska and took post graduate work at Smith. She is a member of Gamma Phi Beta and a charter member of Delta Omicron, national sorority installed at the university last week. Mrs. Lawrence traveled abroad in 1910, 1913, and 1929, and attended Les Hirondelles in Switzerland during her last stay on the continent.

Mr. Lawrence, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Lawrence of Lincoln attended Lincoln high school and was graduated at Ames, Iowa. He served overseas as an ensign during the war.

Freshman Mixer.

The first all-freshman party of the year was held last Saturday evening at the armory. The money that is made from this party will be turned into the freshman class treasury. A Halloween color scheme prevailed throughout the room—the place being decorated with black and orange streamers hung from the middle of the ceiling and draped to the sides.

The first hour of the party was taken up with a very attractive program, a quartet of smart negro boys sang. After this a little negro girl entertained with aesthetic dancing. Herbert Yenne gave a skit which every one enjoyed. The final number was given by a quartet from the university school of music.

After the dancing, which followed the program, cider, doughnuts and apples were served.

Phi Tau Epsilon.

Phi Tau Epsilon gave a party Friday night at the chapter house for about twenty-eight couples. The open stairway was converted into a check-board in colors of orange and black, and the decorations in the remainder of the house followed the same color scheme. Carmel nut ice cream, cake and punch, were served. The chaperons and guests of honor for the evening were, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ralph, Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Tyson and Mr. and Mrs. E. A. McGlassen of Omaha, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Adams, and Mrs. F. E. Rudolph.

Cottage Dormitory.

The girls of the 1232 R dormitory entertained at a novel party, Friday night at the cottage for fourteen couples. The rooms were fittingly decorated in Halloween colors, cornstalks, and jack-o-lanterns. Cider, doughnuts and apples were served in the basement among ghosts and goblins. Mrs. Heckler and Mrs. Hill chaperoned the party.

Chi Omega.

Chi Omega entertained Friday evening at a Halloween house dance. The lights were covered with black paste-board jack-o-lanterns. The decorations were further carried out with cats, witches, cornstalks and pumpkins. One of the attractive features of the evening was a fortune teller. Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. West were chaperons for the evening.

Pi Kappa Phi.

Pi Kappa Phi fraternity entertained at Ellen Smith hall Saturday evening. The fraternity colors, gold and white, were used in decorating. Autumn decorations were also used. Out-of-town guests were John Collins, Omaha; Lawrence Siler, Omaha; Ralph Woodward, Omaha; Frank Parks, Crete; Tom Mcberry, Crete; and Claire Pollock, Fremont. Dean Burnett, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Robinson and Mr. and Mrs. George Adams were invited as chaperons.

Delta Gamma.

Freshmen of Delta Gamma sorority gave a party for the upper classmen Friday evening at the coepter house. The house was decorated in Halloween effect. Guests from out of town were Frances Jager, Omaha; Jean Minor, Falls City; and Dorothy Lowe, Kearney. Chaperons were Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Krosmeier, Prof. and Mrs. P. F. Grumman and Mrs. A. G. Plehn.

Cottage Dormitory.

Cottage Dormitory no. 410 entertained twenty-five couples at a Halloween party Friday evening. Entertainment was in the form of old fashioned games and dancing. Miss Ellen Rice of Osceola was an out-of-town guest. Chaperons were Mrs. E. O'Neal and Miss Appleby.

Silver Lynx.

Silver Lynx gave a house dance Saturday evening for about forty-eight couples. It was a Halloween affair, both in decorations of witches, cats, pumpkins, and corn stalks, and in refreshments of ice cream in pumpkin shapes. Prof. H. Barbour and Dean Philo M. Buck were chaperons.

Sigma Nu.

Sigma Nu freshmen entertained thirty-five couples Saturday evening at a Halloween house dance. The fraternity colors, black, white and gold, and jack-o-lantern lights were used in decorating. Refreshments of pumpkin pie and cider were served. Chaperons were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Perry, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dobson.

AT THE THEATRES

Lyric.

Lincoln theatre goers were given a real treat in moving pictures last week in the form of a great story dramatized in superlative fashion and conscientiously produced. Ibanez's masterful story based on the Apostolic 'Four Horsemen' lost nothing by its picturization. A notable cast of principals were given every opportunity. The tremendous expense involved was expended to good purpose and the picture is a masterpiece. Mr. Garman is to be complimented on securing such a picture.

The musical setting furnished by the Lyric orchestra was especially enjoyable and was entirely in keeping with the picture.

This week finds another good program at the Lyric. Charles Ray has usually been seen in the very best stories available. He has been very successful since his appearance with Frank Keenan in "The Traitor" several years ago. The type of pictures in which he has been starred are entirely clean and enjoyable. He has been cast in a great many varied roles and this week will find him a football player in "Two Minutes To Go."

Charles Chaplin in his latest picture should prove a big drawing card. He is making better pictures all the time as was shown by his fine picture "The Kid." This looks like another real picture program.

Temple.

For the benefit of the children of Lincoln, the dramatic department of the University has decided to establish a children's theater. This will be one of the few children's theater in the United States. Its aim is to present plays of interest to the children by means of Saturday matinees.

The idea of children's theaters originated with Mrs. Minnie Hets Henger who has worked unceasingly to further this movement. In New York city she has established the children's educational theater.

NEBRASKA GRAD ON IOWA FACULTY WRITES POETRY
Edwin Ford Piper of the faculty of University of Iowa, who holds A. B. and A. M. degrees from the University of Nebraska, is preparing a book of narrative poetry called "Casuals."
Mr. Piper is the author of "Barbed Wire and Other Poems," published a few years ago, which has already gone through several editions. Some "Tramp Songs" by him are published in the last issue of "The Measure," a journal of poetry. Mr. Piper saw a good deal of pioneer and tramp life when he was a boy.
He has relatives in Lincoln and returns nearly every year to visit his alma mater.
