

NEBRASKA INVADES PITTSBURGH TODAY

Size and Speed of Husker Aggregation Impresses Crowd Watching Team on Stagg Field.

PITT READY FOR SCRAP

Maroon-Ohio State Battle Expected to be Deciding Game in Big Ten Conference.

(CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 3.—(Special).—

The Cornhusker football squad, twenty-five strong, invaded the "windy city" this morning on their way to Pittsburgh where the Nebraskans will meet Glen Warner's Panthers in one of the big inter-sectional clashes of Saturdays program. Coach Dawson, an old Princeton man, took his proteges out to Stagg field where the westerners took a hard workout before boarding the Pennsylvania Limited for Pittsburgh.

The practice at the University of Chicago's field was as secret as possible but a large crowd of students and people interested in the Nebraska-Pitt contest were on hand to see the Cornhuskers' workout. Coach A. A. Stagg of the Maroon clan was favorably impressed with the appearance made by the Nebraska athletes and upon their departure wished them lots of luck against the Pittsburgh eleven.

Second Time on Stagg Field.

This is the second time within two weeks the young giants from Nebraska have worked on Stagg field, the previous time being when they were on their way to South Bend to meet the Notre Dame crew. Chicagoans have never seen such a squad of "big fellows" this year and were much impressed with the size and speed of our visitors.

The punting of Lewellen and Russell was one of the features of this morning's practice and the Nebraska clan certainly have two punters of sterling calibre in these two men. Captain Swanson and Scherer made some nice catches from different angles of Wright's passes and should give the Panthers lots of trouble if the aerial game is uncocked. Wright, who is no stranger to Chicagoans, showed lots of speed in the backfield work. Wright is one of the premier ruiders of the west and holds a number of records in the high barriers.

Pucelik, who was given all-American mention last year by Walter Camp, looks good in the Nebraska line as does his running mate, Lynn. Both of these Huskers tip the scales at well over 200 pounds and are fast and shifty. The Husker eleven is probably the heaviest team to appear in Chicago thus far this year.

Maroon-Ohio State Game.

Overshadowing the Nebraska invasion is the coming Maroon-Ohio State battle. The ticket sale has already surpassed anything previous this year and one of the greatest crowds of years is looked for. The losses will be eliminated from the Big Ten race for championship honors and the winner will probably be looked upon as the pennant winner, although Iowa will probably go undefeated through the season.

KELSO SPEAKS TO COMMERCIAL CLUB

Future of Advertising is Uncharted, Declares Prominent Business at Club Meeting.

Mr. H. R. Kelso of the Kelso Manufacturing Co., spoke to the university commercial club at their regular meeting Thursday morning.

"The future of advertising is uncharted. We think we have made progress but in the next fifteen or twenty years progress will be made which will make the present look mediocre. Truth is making itself felt and in the future we will not have to discount advertising so much. Bankers realize the importance of advertising when granting credit.

"Some of the qualities essential for the advertising man are imagination and sincerity. He must also study human nature in order to appeal to the buyer and in order to analyze the reasons for not buying.

"Art work and illustration will continue to play an important part in advertising. Pictures are a universal language.

FRESHMAN OLYMPICS TRYOUTS ON MONDAY

First Year Athletes To Hold Elimination Meets In The Armory. From Four to Six O'clock.

Freshman tryouts for the olympics will be held Monday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock in the armory, according to an announcement made Thursday afternoon by President Giles Henkle. All men of the freshman class who are physically fit to take part in athletics should tryout.

The freshman class this year outnumbers the sophomore by a good margin. The second year men, however, have some excellent athletes who are getting ready for the battle on November 12. The freshmen must get the best wrestlers, boxers and runners in their class if they expect to carry off these events, for the sophomores have some wonders.

Wilbur Shainholtz, chairman of the sophomore olympics committee, has been lining up the second year athletes all this week. He has some material of fine quality although the quantity of it is not great. Any sophomore who has not yet tried out for the battle, should see Shainholtz at once.

Committees Delayed.

Naming of the committees for the olympics has been delayed because of the ineligibility of some of the candidates. President Henkle submitted his list of committee members some time ago but many of them were not allowed by the censors and new ones must be named.

The innocents, senior men's honorary society, has been busy for several days lining things up for the battle. The junior committee under Glenn Baldwin is all keyed up for the big day.

The Far Eastern Question

by

Dr. Louis H. Grey

One of the two great problems announced for consideration by the approaching Washington conference is that of the far east. This involves much more than the relations between the United States and Japan. It really includes the problems of Asia—not merely the position of Japan, but the integrity of China and Asiatic Russia. Indirectly it affects the independence of Siam, Afghanistan, Persia, and the new Arab states—it concerns Armenia and Mesopotamia, Palestine and Syria, which at last have an opportunity, under mandates controlled by the league of nations, to prove themselves worthy of place among the states of the world; it exercises an influence upon the question of Turkey.

But if the far eastern question concerns all Asia, it also concerns Europe. It is bound up with that Russia which is to emerge from its present chaos; France is affected in Indo-China; Great Britain in India; the Netherlands in Java and Sumatra; Portugal in Timor, Macao, and Goa. It equally concerns the whole Pacific—Australia, New Zealand, and the British islands; the French islands; Japan in Formosa and in the ex-German islands north of the equator; the United States in Hawaii, Samoa, Guam and the Philippines.

Africa also is involved because of political and religious connections with both Asia and Europe. In short, the "far eastern" problem directly concerns at present the whole globe, except South America, and even that continent very possibly be affected indirectly.

The object of the conference is simply this: "Peace on Earth to Men of Good Will," the same object as that of the league of nations. For the attainment of this end two things—and only two—are really necessary: justice and honesty of purpose. Justice demands that the rights of each be protected sacredly and that no one be permitted to infringe the rights of others, whether these rights be those of California and Australia or of Japan and China. That this spirit will prevail there is no doubt; and it is equally certain that not merely an honest, but an intense desire for harmonious and righteous solutions will rule.

Of all Asiatic problems at present, the gravest is that of China, not because of foes without, but because of anarchy and weakness within. It is a huge idea to maintain the integrity of China, but a nation's true integrity is created by its own will; an integrity by mere agreement or foreign powers is at best fictitious. China may be—and should be—protected that she may work out her own salvation; but if she has this right, she has also the duty to become strong and united, else she will forfeit her right to unselfish protection.

Armaments both military and naval, immigration, and administration may be, and in part have already been determined by treaties, understandings, and mandates. China is the sole real problem that, so far as the present age go, confronts the Washington conference, and the ultimate solution lies in her hands alone. On all questions save that which China only can answer there is agreement among the powers as regards the great principles; and divergencies of detail can safely be trusted to come to speedy harmony.

ALL SET AND READY FOR CADETS' PARTY

Armory Will be Gamblers' Hangout Saturday Night With Faro and Roulette Games.

Everything is all set and ready for the big carnival which will be held in the armory this Saturday evening. The doors will be open to the crowds at 7:30 sharp and the dancing will begin at 8:00. The checking system has been well organized so that prompt and accurate service will be given. Careful watch will be kept against any thieving or exchanging of wraps.

Entrance and exit will be through the west door of the armory and up the right hand staircase as you come in. Those who have not already secured tickets for admission can secure them at the stand at the main doors. The price will be 35c, the same as for the advance sale. Ladies are admitted free. The ticket entitles the holder to admission, a carnival hat, and drinks. The ticket is divided into three parts for this purpose.

The big roulette wheel will be in the center of the floor of the chapel of the armory. It will be presided over by an experienced croupier, who will keep the wheel moving fast enough so that there will be no stage waits in the performance. The faro game will also be in full swing in a prominent part of the gym. The stands where the paper which is used in the plays may be secured, will be readily accessible.

The confetti and streamer stands will be located in the gymnasium proper near the central doors. The dancing will be in the east gymnasium—the varsity five piece jazz aggregation has been secured to provide the music for the dancers. The wild west girls and Spanish dancers will be on hand to dance with all who have not brought partners with them.

The carnival will run eleven-thirty and the dancing will continue until that time. The chaperons for the affair will be: Colonel Mitchell, Major Erickson, Captain Nix, Captain Murphy, Captain Hagan, Captain Forbes, Lieutenant Oliver and their wives.

AEOLIAN SINGERS CLUB ORGANIZED

Lincoln High School Glee Club Alumni Form Choral Society—Zimmerman is President.

Among the latest organizations of interest University of Nebraska students is the Aeolian Singers' club organized a week ago from the alumni of the Lincoln high school glee clubs. The club is the only choral society in Lincoln. It is composed, mostly of university students, although not restricted to them.

The club is planning to present an opera some time about the first of April. H. O. Ferguson, director of music in the Lincoln public schools, is director of the club.

The first meeting of the club was held a week ago when a banquet was given at the Trinity Methodist church. Decision to organize a choral society was arrived at then. A meeting was held Wednesday evening at the high school and the following officers elected.

President, Joe Zimmerman; vice-president, Ethel Upton; secretary, Marjory Cooper; treasurer, John Haines; editor and librarian, Merie Loder. A constitution was adopted. It was decided to hold meetings every Wednesday night at the Lincoln high school building.

The Lincoln high school glee clubs under the direction of H. O. Ferguson have won a place among the musically interested people of Lincoln and the alumni feel that their new venture will prove successful under his guidance.

The entire R. O. T. C. unit will be there but there will be no uniforms worn. The carnival is sponsored by Scabbard and Blade. It will be repeated every year and so will become one of the regular annual functions of the university. All of the Scabbard and Blade men have been working on the party in some capacity for the past five weeks. At the close of the carnival on Saturday evening there will be but one question in the minds and on the lips of all who attend. This will be, "When is the next one?"

STRING QUARTET IN SYMPHONIC PROGRAM

The University String quartet furnished a symphony program at the first musical convocation of the semester held Thursday morning in the armory. A large number of students attended the program, filling the floor seats and occupying most of the galleries. The University String quartet is an organization that has been intact for several years and its interpretation of the symphony left nothing to be desired. Two numbers were given composed by Franz List, "Orpheus" and "Les Preludes."

The string quartet is composed of Edward J. Walt, First violin; Ernest Lange, second violin; William T. Quick, viola; and Lillian Eiche, cello. Mrs. Carrie B. Raymond was at the organ and Edith B. Ross at the piano.

LABOR TROUBLES ARE DISCUSSED AT CLUB

Men Acquainted With Problems Talk at Meeting of Industrial Research Club.

That the "closed shop" is the only effective means the workingman has of enforcing his just demands and that the eight hour day law is the only just law for any workingman were the keynote ideas of the talks given by men connected with the Havelock shops, Thursday night at the Grand hotel to the members of the Industrial Research club.

Mr. R. H. Chenoweth, formerly a workman in the shops, now a student at Wesleyan, spoke on the value of the closed shop. Mr. W. W. Marks, president of system federation No. 95, C. B. & Q. federated trades, spoke on conditions at the shop. Mr. Wilbur Neal and W. P. Kyes, president of the carmen's union of Havelock spoke on the relation of the shop men to the strike.

Eight Hour Day Law.

Every one of the four men emphasized the importance of the eight hour day law. As the matter now stands, a man is to work his regular eight hour days, seven days in the week, be liable for call for overtime but will not receive any overtime unless he is not regularly assigned. The public seems to be laboring under the impression that the railroad men are getting fabulous wages. All the tables of wages that have been printed have been exaggerated or were those used before the last cut in wages was made. The minimum rate for a conductor at the time when the highest wages were paid was $210.00 per month, the minimum rate of wages is now $192.00 per month. Of course high wages are paid for extraordinary work, but no man can keep up such work for any length of time and his earnings for this are always taken into consideration.

KANSAS AGGIES HERE TOMORROW

Distance Runners From Sunflower State Will Race With Husker Team Saturday.

OVER FIVE MILE COURSE

Expected to Give Opportunity to Judge Nebraska's Prospects for Valley Championship.

The Cornhusker cross country team will open the season tomorrow morning, when the Nebraska barriers will run against the Kansas Aggies cross country team. The Aggies are reported as having a strong team, composed of a number of runners with remarkable speed and endurance. Nebraska's team has reached a high state of perfection, after seven weeks of hard practice under the watchful eye of Coach McMasters. The teams are evenly matched and an exciting run is anticipated.

The meet with the Kansas Aggies will be held over the Belmont course tomorrow morning at 11:00 o'clock. This course is five miles long. The starting and ending point is in front of chemistry hall.

Nebraska Team.

The Nebraska cross country team is composed of the following runners: Bowman, Coats, Neilson, Weir, Hyde, Stenmons, and Hartman. Coach McMasters has been working hard to overcome the weakness caused by the loss of Captain Williams, and it is believed by many that the Nebraska team will carry off the honors in the meet with the Aggies.

This will give the followers of the Scarlet and Cream team an opportunity to judge Nebraska's prospects or winning the Missouri Valley run. This run will be held in Lincoln a week from Saturday. All the valley conference schools are expected to participate in this meet. This meet will be one of the feature events held on Homecoming day.

BABY INTERNATIONAL IS BIG STOCK SHOW

Judge Kennedy of Sioux City Will be in Charge of the Judging at the Pavilion Saturday.

When the curtains of the baby international show are raised Saturday evening at 8:00 o'clock in the judging pavilion, college of agriculture, and the first class of animals adorn the tanbark stage, those in attendance will begin to realize something of the scope of the show, the type and character of the animals owned by the university, and the nature of the work of those men who are specializing in animal husbandry. The baby international affords the only opportunity for the public to see the show cattle, swine, sheep, and horses before they leave for Chicago week after next. Judge W. J. Kennedy of Sioux City, Ia., will act as official judge. Judge Kennedy is a man whose experience is broad and whose reputation is nation-wide.
