HOME COMING.

Yesterday was Homecoming day! Thursday night, all day Friday, and Saturday morning, former students at Nebraska drifted in to be here to participate in the events of the day. The many thousands at the football game showed that they "came back."

The day was a happy one—not only from the standpoint of the grads themselves, but from the standpoint of the faculty and the students now attending the university. Nebraska alumni were busy with "Hello Frank" and "Do you remember when?" The heartiness of the greetings between the former students was a sure indication that the spirit of Nebraska still lives within them.

THE SPECIAL TO AMES.

The good news is out. Nebraska is to have a special train to Ames for our big game with the Cyclones on their Homecoming day. The game ought to be a good one for Ames must show its alumni that it has the stuff.

THE RAG REGISTER

In the Daily Nebraskan office is a book in which we want every organization that is planning social affairs to tell us about them through this book. It is very hard and often unsatisfactory for the paper to find out about these affairs and sometimes we overlook functions that should be reported.

"THIRTY POINT MONEY."

Comparative scores would have given our team the victory by a great many more points than we actually earned. Beating Oklahoma 44 to 9 just after they beat Kansas 28 to 7 should have made our score yesterday far larger than it was.

THE OLYMPICS

The olympics are over and shortly they will be forgotten until next year. The spirit of the day, however, should never be forgotten. Having tryouts for the different contests, make arrangements for practice, getting everything into shape, and the other things in connection with the day, took a great deal of organization. It was not a one-man affair but a one-class affair.

hard to accomplish the things we undertake in the future.

The day has a lesson in it for every Nebraska student and Nebraska will be a better school and everyone will only learn it.

THE ONE-YARD LINE.

Yesterday the Huskers played a team which they outweighed many pounds to the man. When we saw the two teams on the field before the game no one could doubt that Nebraska would win. Kansas lost, but they tried hard every minute.

The Kansas spirit is one to be proud of. Nebraska had the ball on their 1-yard line, and two downs in which to put it over. At this point the Kansas band began to play their alma mater and the rooters stood up with bare heads—the Kansas line stiffened, and Nebraska met an unflinching line twice without an inch gained.

Nebraska won and Nebraska is happy, but those that saw the game will remember how Kansas fought on their one-yard line, as one of the best features of the game.

THE CORN COBS.

Yesterday the rooting section was thoroughly pleased with the entertainment between the halves of the football game. So well was it planned and so smoothly did it work, that every Kansas rooter and all old grads must be firmly convinced that what was done yesterday is an every-game occurrence here.

Too much praise cannot be given the two organizations responsible for the stunts. As a starter it was a splendid piece of engineering and the school it proud.

What shall we do next? Let's appoint the entire student body of Nebraska as a committee to think up ideas to be used on such occasions as these. The Innocents, or any of the class organizations will be very gratefully receive suggestions along these lines.

FRATERNITY ROW.

In other universities they have a plan that is most admirable. Instead of having their fraternity and sorority houses scattered all over the city in which their school is located, they have what is known as "Fraternity Row." In the district so designated all the Greek letter organizations are located.

This plan would be a good one here at Nebraska. Think of the beneficial relationship that would exist if all the houses were side by side. A better understanding and friendship would exist between the members of organizations if such a plan were to be followed.

Right now is a good time to talk it up. To the students of today it may not mean much, but to the alumni that come back, say for Homecoming day, it means more. If they know that John Jones, '03, of Alpha Beta is also a visitor, how fine it would be if they could get in touch with each other by simply walking a block.

R street, perhaps, is the ideal location for such a fraternity row. With the extended campus to the tracks it would make it easy for all students to get to their classrooms.

Cornhusker Queries

- The University of Nebraska is a nationally known and well thought of school. General Pershing in an address in the east about a year ago said that Nebraska ranked as one of the three greatest Universities in the United States. In his opinion. Colleges all over the country are watching us, since our victory over Pittsburgh if never before. We must have school spirit and back the school with all our power. How can this better be done than by knowing the traditions of the school and just what they stand for? Send in a Cornhusker Query and learn something you don't know about the University. Q. What was the original cost of U hall? A. U hall originally cost $152,000. Q. What was the date of the formal opening of U hall? A. The date of the formal opening of U hall was September 7, 1871. Q. What was the first use of Nebraska hall? A. The first use of Nebraska hall was as the home of natural sciences. Q. What was the first fire-proof building in the University? A. The north wing of the library was the first fire-proof building on the campus.

SOCIETY

- Delta Tau Delta. Delta Tau Delta gave a homecoming party at the Lincoln in honor of the alumnae who came for the day. The rooms were decorated in a very unusual manner, an oriental design being used. The refreshments, too, followed out this plan. Alpha Tau Omega. The annual homecoming banquet of Alpha Tau Omega was held Saturday evening at the Lincoln hotel. A color scheme of gold and blue was used in the table decorations. Toastmaster H. M. Noble of Kansas City, called for responses from the following: Governor S. R. McKelvie, Glen N. Venrich, E. H. Shellenberg, A. R. O'Hanlon, Barlow M. Nye, and Sam Baker. Out-of-town guests were Clarence Wilson, Tristan Spurgeon, Lisle Grauer, Gene Ness, Judd Benson, Robert Lemon, Carl Duffis, Lawrence, Kansas. Tate Watson, George Getty, Manhattan, Kas. Cottage Dormitory. Cottage dormitory E. 410 N. 13, entertained Miss Khanto Rai informally from 7:00 to 8:00 o'clock on Tuesday evening. The first part of the hour was spent in dancing, after which the girls sat at the feet of Miss Rai while she told of some of the interesting customs of her country and also of some of her impressions of Americans. Light refreshments were served during the evening.

Varsity Dairy Club.

The Dairy club will hold a get acquainted meeting Thursday evening, November 17, at 8:00 o'clock in Ag. hall, for all agriculture, college students. Freshmen are given a special invitation to attend. A good program, eats, and a good time are assured.

Our Gift Granny Will Help You Solve Your Christmas Gift Here's How--- You give, in confidence, to Gift Granny's Secretary, the names and addresses of those to whom you would like to give a present. (Names may be filed by personal call, telephone, or letter.) Gift Granny mails each person a graceful note, explaining that a friend desires to make a present, and to avoid the embarrassment of a misfit gift, requests that a list of acceptable items be returned, with descriptions, colors, and sizes. (A form for this purpose, with return envelope, are enclosed.) When Gift Granny receives these items, they are immediately turned over to you and at your convenience you may make your choice. Isn't this a delightful selection of the gift problem? Your name is kept absolutely secret. Your friend, therefore, can frankly state the things that are desired. You receive the list without the slightest obligation or embarrassment. By selecting from the list, you save yourself all worries about gift selection, and when your friend receives the gift, he or she can truthfully say: "JUST WHAT I WANTED."
