

HUSKERS RATE ALL-AMERICAN

John Pucelik and Captain Swanson Named by K. C. Writer For Mythical Eleven.

SAYS IS GOOD AS CAMP'S SELECTION

Nebraska And Iowa Only Teams To Be Given Two Representatives On First Team.

Captain Clarence Swanson and John Pucelik, veteran Cornhusker gridiron performers, have been selected for the first all-American football team by Bob Reed of Kansas City. Reed offers to pit his selections against those presented by Walter Camp or any other picker of mythical elevens.

Nebraska and Iowa were the only teams receiving two positions on the first "all" team. The other players selected for the eleven come from teams of the entire country—from California, Notre Dame, Lafayette, Pittsburgh, Penn State, Yale and Harvard.

Stein, Pittsburgh center, who Carl Peterson, Nebraska center, is credited by a Pittsburgh scribe with having outplayed, is selected for the pivot position of the mythical team.

Sherman Criticizes Selection.

C. S. "Cy" Sherman of the Lincoln Star gives the following comment in regard to the selection of this all-American:

"A rather nifty layout, to be sure, but Noble of Nebraska would fit better than Devine of Iowa into the backfield. Killinger or Aldrich could attend to the punting and forward passing, while Noble could play rings around Devine in carrying the ball, either on smashes off tackle or driving around the wings. Wallace of Ames would be a better selection for center. So would Peterson of Nebraska who outplayed Stein in the Nebraska-Pitt game."

Nebraska fans are now anxiously awaiting the announcement of the selections for all-American team as made by Walter Camp, rated as the most authentic football critic in the country. Unless Nebraska rates at least one position on that team, Nebraska fans will say—and rightfully so—that the team was not the best that could have been chosen for the Cornhuskers this year have at least three men who cannot be surpassed anywhere in the country.

The selections of the K. C. writer follow:

- Ends—Swanson, Nebraska, and Anderson, Notre Dame.
- Tackle—Slaters, Iowa, and McMillan, California.
- Guards—Pucelik, Nebraska, and Schwab, Lafayette.
- Center—Stein, Pittsburgh.
- Quarterback—Killinger, Penn State.
- Halfbacks—Aldrich, Yale, and A. Devine, Iowa.
- Fullback—Owen, Harvard.

JUNIOR HOP COMES SATURDAY EVENING

Annual Class Dance Is Scheduled For Knights of Columbus Hall.

Knights of Columbus hall will be the scene of the first class party Saturday evening when the juniors stage their annual hop. Floyd Reed, the chairman in charge, says that all the committees have completed their plans and all is ready or Saturday night. Dick Reese, chairman of the refreshment committee, has a dark secret about the eats that he refuses to disclose now. The only thing to do is to climb the steps to K. C. hall that night and see what this deep, dark secret is.

There are still a few tickets left and all that are not sold will be sold at the door to those who have suddenly awakened to realize what they are missing. But it is not best to put off buying a ticket until then for by Saturday morning there may not be any left. Most of the members of the committee have tickets for sale for $1.25, including the war tax.

Green Goblins Attention!

PRESS CLUB WILL MEET NEXT TUESDAY EVENING

The University press club will hold a meeting in Law 101 next Tuesday evening at which time Dean Philo M. Buck and Mr. Miles, instructor printing will discuss some of the plans being formulated looking toward the establishment of a University press.

Roy Gustafson, president of the organization, has asked that all active members make a special effort to be present Tuesday as the questions which will be under discussion are both interesting and instructive. Any students interested in journalism will also have a chance to apply for membership before Tuesday at the student activities office in care of the membership committee.

PITT MAY NOT SEND TEAM TO NEBRASKA

Were To Have Come Here If Penn State Went To Pitt Next Year—Nebraska May Go To Pitt.

Mr. K. E. Davis, manager of athletics at Pittsburgh University, in a letter to Prof. P. K. Slaymaker of the department of applied mechanics at Nebraska, says, "Our arrangement with Nebraska was that in case Pennsylvania would come to Pittsburgh to play us in nineteen twenty-two, we would go to Lincoln. The way things shape up now, I doubt if Penn is coming here, and I am trying to get Mr. Luehring to bring the team to Pittsburgh again if possible. They did not draw so well this year, because Nebraska was little known, and a lot of people who were not familiar with the strength of the Nebraska team felt that we would win easily. We, of course, knew we had a hard game, and were not surprised when we were defeated."

Mr. Davis praised the Nebraska team highly. He says, "Nebraska played wonderful football against us, and was entitled to the game. It was one of the best coached and best balanced outfits that ever appeared in Pittsburgh. We have no alibis to make. They have a wonderful man in Mr. Luehring, and I think that Coach Dawson is also a man of high ideals." "We had a fairly successful season even if we did lose three games. We wound up by tying Penn State outfit which is considered by many the strongest team in the east."

Mr. Davis wrote this letter in reply to one in which Professor Slaymaker asked if the publication of the Pitt weekly had been suspended because of the Nebraska game. It was through Mr. Slaymaker that the game was arranged. He is an alumnus of Pittsburgh University and since his graduation in 1898 has kept in close touch with the school. Mr. Davis, who is also secretary of the alumni association at Pittsburgh, wrote and asked him to sound out the athletic department concerning a game in Pennsylvania, and he took the letter directly to Mr. Luehring.

A stack of papers from "Pitt U" lay on Mr. Slaymaker's desk during the interview. "Here," he said, "let us see what the weekly says about the game. My papers were merely held up by the mail of course, and I've just received a stack of them." After going over them several times he discovered that the paper of the week following the clash at Pittsburgh was not in the bundle. He still wonders if the absence of that issue is connected in any way with the outcome of the game.

Although Mr. Slaymaker was delighted with the score of the Pittsburgh game, he feels that there is no disloyalty in his attitude since he has been connected with the University of Nebraska for fourteen years and has a son in the engineering college.

FOUR STUDENTS LEAVE FOR JUDGING CONTEST

The varsity poultry judging team leaves for Chicago Wednesday. They will compete there in a judging contest with teams from a number of states. The contest, which comes Saturday morning, is a feature of the Chicago Coliseum Poultry Show, one of the four or five best shows in the United States and Canada.

Last year's contest was the first one held there. A number of colleges have indicated that they will send teams this year.

The members of the team are Paul Bancroft, the instructor of poultry judging, is making the trip with the team.

Hartley and Swanson Enter Movies---See Them at Banquet

Hartley and Swanson in the movies! With those new David Wark Griffith dreamy fade-out close-ups, too. Jack Best on the silver screen! Motion pictures of the Nebraska-Jayhawk game, the reception to the Cornhusker grid team on its return from Pitt and the "new Nebraska spirit" actually made a reality on the spoils of a "movie film." All these things are in store for the 500 Nebraska men who go to the Lincoln hotel ballroom Friday night, December 9, at 6 o'clock to partake of the Cornhusker banquet.

Even Nebraska's coaches have entered the ranks of moviedom and will make their debut Friday night. Immediately after the close-ups of Swanson, Hartley and Jack Best, the likenesses of all the Cornhusker mentors will be thrown on the screen.

These motion pictures are made possible for showing at this time because of the interest and co-operation of Dr. George E. Condra, of the conservation and survey department, who has actively entered the motion picture field to photograph Nebraska, its resources and its cities.

Coach Dawson has sent a telegram to Director Luehring stating that it will be possible for him to attend the Cornhusker banquet. He has been in the east in quest of a big inter-sectional grid clash for next year. His name has been added to the toast list. Governor S. R. McKelvie has notified the committee on arrangements that it will be impossible for him to attend the feast.

Approximately all 500 tickets had been sold up to Wednesday morning, according to the committee. There are, however, a few "turn backs" that may be procured from the Student activities office and from members of the Innocents society, Iron Sphinx, and other campus organizations.

No meals will be served at fraternity houses tomorrow night and the Greek men will attend the banquet in a body.

MANY CONTRIBUTE TO Y.W.C.A. BAZAAR

Ten Sororities Have Donated Either Money or Gifts For Booth Sale.

One hundred per cent contributions to the University Y. W. C. A. Bazaar have been made by the following sororities:

- Chi Omega
- Alpha Delta Pi
- Phi Mu
- Kappa Delta
- Kappa Alpha Theta
- Alpha Chi Omega
- Alpha Xi Delta
- Alpha Phi
- Alpha Omicron Pi
- Gamma Phi Beta

All of the other sororities on the campus responded with either gifts or money except one organization. Many contributions were also received from the dormitory girls although no dormitory went one hundred per cent.

These gifts will be placed on sale this afternoon from two until eight o'clock in Ellen Smith hall. Several booths have been built to display the many beautiful and useful things which are to be sold. Girls from various sorority houses and dormitories will sell.

Those who wish to buy lovely articles at the lowest price possible, will find this quite a bargain sale, and it is expected that most of the gifts will be sold long before the afternoon is over as the articles have been priced very reasonably and are very dainty and desirable. Other features of the affair are booths where home-made candy will be sold and a booth in which a fortune teller will clear away the mists from the futures of all who apply with the necessary silver.

The committee in charge is: Jeanette Cook, chairman, Beulah Grabill, Dorothy Curtis, Helen Meyer, Peggy Hartman, Betty Riddell, Adelheit Dettmann, Ruth Albert, Ruth Menzer, Lucile High and Dorothy Work. They have been working hard to make the affair a success and with the splendid co-operation which most of the campus organizations have given, the Bazaar promises to far exceed in returns any affair given in previous years.

HUSKER GRADUATE EXHIBITS MASKS

Are Gallery Has Two Masks Made By Dwight Kirsch, Former Nebraska Student

Two interesting masks which were made by Dwight Kirsch, a former student at the University of Nebraska are now hanging in the University art gallery. Mr. Kirsch is studying in New York City and became interested in this line of art when he saw some of the masks which were made by Benda, a Polish artist.

These two masks which are modeled after the famous Benda masks are made of many small pieces of cardboard which are shaped and fitted together to form the contour of the face. The pieces are held together by strips of gummed paper. It requires a considerable length of time as well as an advanced knowledge of sculpture and modeling to make one of these masks. They will never be made in large quantities for commercial purposes for each piece of work requires so much skill and talent.

The two productions which Mr. Kirsch has made are both based upon Indian symbols. They are named "Rain-in-the-face" and "The Corn Princess." "Rain-in-the-face," the more grotesque one, is based entirely on the Indian symbol of rain. The arch of the eyebrow and the nose together form this symbol. His mask covers only the face. The back of the head is supposed to be covered by a dorp cloth which is dyed to carry out the general symbolism of rain. This cloth is decorated with small gold rings which represent rain drops. Arched above the forehead is the rainbow and from that are zig-zags of lightning which comes down across the forehead. The dyed strips resembling whiskers suggest rain as do the long ear rings.

"The Corn Princess" mask is beautiful rather than grotesque and is a much more elaborate piece of work than the other. This mask covers the entire head. The rain symbol is used here also and blades of corn arch up on either side of the head dress. It is necessary to see and study these pieces of art in order to appreciate them.

Mr. Benda first made these masks to amuse and mystify his friends. He became so fascinated with the work that he has made a great many of them. (Continued on Page Three.)

A GREAT INCENTIVE

A 1922 Cornhusker, the book of books, with your own name embossed in gold letters—isn't that worth a few minutes concentration? And that is all it requires to dope out a snappy little slogan for the Alumni Journal.

Those of you who were not fortunate enough to win in the recent limerick contest—here is your opportunity. The prize is the same, and a slogan is surely easier to write than a limerick. And the Cornhusker isn't all—you will have the satisfaction of knowing you have helped a very important University publication accomplish its best possible results.

COMING IN SLOW

To date the contest managers are a little disappointed in the number of slogans that they have received. They have no intention of prolonging the contest, however, and the best slogan received by 6 p. m., December 17, will be declared the winner. Accordingly, you had better hurry.

"A WINTER'S TALE" IS PLAYED TONIGHT

Professor H. Alice Howell Herself Takes Part in Players' Production Today.

"Winter's Tale," which is to be presented by the University Players this evening is a play of a supreme interest. The plot is based upon the unjust accusations of a king at his innocent wife. The story has all one could wish for. A heroine of beautiful character in Hermoine, the unjust King Leontes who lives to regret his haste, the sharp-tongued Paulina, one of the ladies in waiting, the lost Perdita whose love affair with Florizel makes a pretty love strain throughout the play, and the rustics with their dancing, make a play which is full of joy and of sorrow.

H. Alice Howell in the role of Hermoine shows the queen as a charming wife and mother and her sudden and unjust accusation by the king turns her life into one of pathos and sorrow. Miss Howell gives a splendid portrayal of this character.

The settings of this play will be especially attractive. Mr. Holme and the stage manager have been hard at work and have succeeded in producing some very splendid effects which are surprisingly beautiful.

A splendid cast has been selected to support Miss Howell. The following make up the entire cast:

- Hermoine Miss H. Alice Howell
- Leontes Hart Jenks
- Polixines Niel Brown
- Camillo C. L. Coombs
- First Lord Byron Quigley
- Second Lord Mr. Lindstrom
- Tailor Kenneth Metcalfe
- Dion Richard Day
- Florizel Herbert Yenne
- Autolyucus Oscar Bennett
- Shepard Stoddard Robinson
- Antigones Edmund Nuss
- Clown John Dawson
- Pauline Melba Bradshaw
- Emelia Erma McGowan
- Ladies Mildred Gollehan
- Miss Richardson
- Mopsa Esther Marshall
- Dorcas Katherine Matchett

The play is under the direction of Garnet Holme and he assures that this will be a great success as the students have all co-operated with him so well that their efforts are sure to bring results.

Don't fail to see this wonderful production as it sure to please you and you will see the players at their best as this one Shakespearean play is an annual event and a great deal of effort is made to make it as beautiful as possible.

Tickets are on sale at Ross P. Curdick Co., 1240 O St. Don't forget the date, December 8, 9, 10. Curtain at 8:15 o'clock.

INTRA-MURAL CAGE TOURNAMENT SOON

Luehring Announces Basketball to be Taken up by Colleges of University.

HUSKERS WORK OUT IN PREPARATION FOR K. U.

Kansas Team Working With Hope to Defeat Nebraska Quintet in First Contest.

The department of physical education and athletics desires to run an intra-mural basketball tournament for representative teams of each of the colleges comprising the university. Athletic representatives of the colleges of engineering, pharmacy, dentistry, law, agriculture, etc., are requested to call at the office of the director of athletics, Friday, December 9, at 4:30 p. m.

The Husker cage squad worked for three hours in the armory last evening under the watchful eyes of Coach Frank and a number of assistants. The prospects for a winning team are very bright considering the number of men lost last year and Nebraska will be represented by one of the best teams in the Missouri Valley.

The Kansas team which will be the first opponent the Huskers meet are out to capture the scalp of the Nebraska quintet and the following article from the Daily Kansan will give Nebraskans some idea of the work being done at the Jayhawk school:

LAWRENCE, Kas., Dec. 7.—Nineteen men were out for varsity practice in the gymnasium last evening, working out in the court for approximately three hours. The men spent most of the time in practicing shots at the basket and in dribbling while the last hour was spent in scrimmage.

As Coach F. C. Allen varsity mentor, was absent yesterday attending the Missouri Valley conference meeting at Kansas City, John Bunn, basketball letter man of a few years ago, took charge of the squad. Bunn showed the men several of the finer points of the game and then referred the scrimmage.

The first team last evening consisted of John Wulf, a "K" man from last year, at center; Captain George Rody and Speck, a last year's freshman player, at forwards; and "Scop" O'son and Paul Eudacott, at guards. In a few minutes the varsity ran up a good score against the second team. This team was made up of Lonborg, center; Woostemeyer and Bowman, forwards; Black and Roupe, guards. The varsity squad is working out six evenings a week at the present time.

B. G. ANNOUNCES FIRST FRAT FIRE

Surprised at Noon Meal Wednesday by Flames Leaping From Roof.

The season has arrived for fraternity and sorority house fire. Yesterday noon while the B. G.'s were peacefully eating their noonday meal a passerby spied the flames flashing skyward. The alarm was immediately given and in three seconds twenty B. G. S. had formed a bucket brigade to the flaming roof.

The lady next door heard the terrible noises and when she saw the immensity of the flames she gave a big scream and withdrew to safety, and put in an alarm to the fire department.

When Chief Olson arrived on the scene he found the fire almost extinguished and Wolf straddling the roof fighting with a wet sack. Chief Olson was loud in his praises of the work done by the boys. He seemed to think that it was almost equal to that of his worthy assistants.

The cause of the fire is not known but it is supposed that a spark from the chimney caught the roof affire. The damage was not serious and there were no casualties.
