DAIRY EXHIBITS OPEN THIS WEEK

Organized Agriculture Week Begins Under Auspices of the Dairy Club.

ROOMS AND HALLS PUT ON DISPLAY

Herd Exhibition and Stock Judging Contests Feature the Entertainment.

The student dairymen of Ag. college will be busy "Organized Agriculture" week, carrying out their plans for the entertainment of the visitors and the public of Lincoln. A student exhibition of the better individuals of the dairy herd on Wednesday afternoon, January 4, and an open house that afternoon and evening, feature the "big days" entertainment. The student judging contest and the similar contest open to dairymen Friday, 2, p. m. will complete the program.

The Herd Exhibition.
The students of the elementary course in dairy have volunteered to show the individual cows of the college herd in classes that bring out the results of the breeding work carried on in the past at this institution. Short explanations prepared by Mr. T. E. Oliver and his committee will be given by each exhibitor to show the effects of good sires in increasing milk production, the records made by these individuals in the past years and the future prospects of the industry. This exhibition is primarily for the dairymen visitors, but the general public is cordially invited to attend.

The Open House.
The dairy building and equipment at this institution are the most elaborate and extensive of similar plants in this country. Mr. Bauer as chairman of the committee plans to have every machine and every laboratory in operation. All exhibit rooms and halls will be open during the afternoon and evening, under the supervision of competent guides. The creamery will be in operation and a dairy lunch should be a great drawing card. Every effort will be made to secure the best possible films for a motion picture show.

The Judging Contest.
The Nebraska Dairymen's association offers $100.00 in prizes for a contest scheduled Friday morning under the supervision of the Ag. college dairy department. The faculty, in forming the rules for the contest, plan to divide it into two contests, one open to college students and the other open to dairymen, all professionals being barred from both contests. The prizes will be distributed equally in both contests, a trophy for first premium and cash prizes for the next ranking eight men. Four or five classes will be placed. Completed rules will be published later. This judging contest is an annual affair and has in the past helped materially toward encouraging registration in the courses preparatory to the dairy stock judging team work.
This is the second annual open house sponsored by the dairy club but the first attempt to stage it at this logical time. The exhibition is an entirely new and original feature.

UNIVERSITY MIXER ON FRIDAY NIGHT

Students to Have Gala Celebration at Armory This Week—Surprises Planned.

Students of the University of Nebraska will hold a gala celebration next Friday evening at the university armory when something new in the line of university mixers is introduced. The surprises awaiting the celebrants have been refused publication by the committee in charge.

Dancing will be the main feature of the evening although many other interesting events are planned. Refreshments are to be served in order to keep the spirit flowing at high ebb. Northwall's orchestra will furnish the music for the evening. The circle one-step, fox-trot and straight one-step will keep all of those present busy for the entire evening.

Just what the nature of the surprises will be has not been revealed by the officials of the mixer, but they have promised something new and different than ever before featured at student mixers.

GIRLS' INTER-CLASS TOURNAMENT NEXT WEEK

The girls' inter-class hockey tournament will be played off, early next week. The preliminaries will be played on Monday and Tuesday noons, with the finals Wednesday at 12. The time to get the required ten practices in, has been extended until five tonight.

Marie Shavelly is the W. A. A. sport leader, and with the temporary class captains and Miss Clark will choose the teams at once. The class captains are: Josephine Reymann, senior; Jessie Hiett, junior; Lois Shepherd, sophomore; and Irma Johnson, freshman.

SYRACUSE TO PLAY HUSKER GRID TEAM

Orange and Black Eleven and Kansas Aggies Added To 1922 Schedule.

The 1922 Husker football calendar is fast nearing completion with seven contests all ready scheduled for next season. The two latest additions to the schedule are the Syracuse and the Kansas Aggies game. The Nebraska football squad will journey to Syracuse next fall with the Orange and Black warriors appearing in Lincoln in 1923.

The Cornhuskers have met the Syracuse eleven twice on the local grid-iron, losing one contest and winning the last game. The first game went to the Orange and Black eleven by a 10 to 9 count. The last contest was played in 1919 when the Nebraska team defeated the easterners by a 3 to 0 count. Captain Paul Dobson kicked a field goal for the winning count.

Syracuse had a very successful season during the past year and can be depended upon to furnish some real competition for the Nebraska team. Director Luehring is now in the east at an Athletic Director's meeting where he is looking after the interests of the Cornhusker school. The Kansas Aggies were next to Nebraska in Missouri Valley standing during the past season and defeated some of the strongest teams in the middle west. The Aggie game will be played on November 18, and will be the Homecoming contest for the Cornhusker institution. The Syracuse contest will take place on November 4 at Syracuse and should be one of the big inter-section contests of the season. Other games on the Husker calendar are South Dakota, Kansas, Oklahoma, Notre Dame and Ames.

FOGG SENDS OUT HOLIDAY LETTER

Twelfth Annual Letter Mailed To Members Of Inter-Collegiate Debate Seminary.

Prof. M. M. Fogg last week mailed to the members of the University of Nebraska inter-collegiate-debate seminary his twelfth annual news letter. The letter was sent to the 148 members in the form of an 8,000 word holiday greeting and history of the work of the twenty years.

The news letter shows that the class includes one college president, ten college professors, one ex-president of the national educational association, seventy-nine lawyers, telephone executives, assistants to United States attorneys, judges, assistant general counsel, assistant state attorney general (Nebraska), four primary candidates for attorney general, chairman state public service commission, state commissioner of institutions and agencies, members of state legislature and university regent.

Scholarship honors include three of the first four Rhodes scholars; one-third were winners of Phi Beta Kappa, two-thirds of law graduates won order of Coif; seven fellowships and ten scholarships to other institutions; advanced degrees were taken by eighty-nine.

More than one-half of the members were fraternity men. One-third served in the world war in which two died. Only one other death has occurred among the members.

Nebraska won twenty-one of the decision debates from 1902 to 1916, getting the verdict from sixty-five of (Continued on Page Three.)

"Everybody's Cornhusker" To Reflect Every Student's Work

You've heard of "Everybody's Magazine," which contains reading matter for and about everybody. The Nebraska annual this year will be known by the name "Everybody's Cornhusker." It is a short cognomen, but it means much.

"Everybody's Cornhusker" will reflect the activities of every student at the University of Nebraska. It will not be the collection of material by a few students, but the compilation of a mass of material submitted by many students.

The staff headed by Ward Randol, editor-in-chief, and Ray Stryker, business manager, is urging everybody to bring in suggestions for this year's book.

"We will gladly receive all you can offer. If you have 'copy' or suggestions you want incorporated into 'Everybody's 1922 Cornhusker,' bring them in."

The new Cornhusker office, Room 105, Law hall, will be open every afternoon. Work on the annual has already commenced in earnest. The management of the book feels confident that the new office will meet the needs of the staff better than any previous working place of the annual.

Two double windows facing the campus on the east makes the room well lighted. The office is easy of access, being on the first floor of the Law building and convenient from all parts of the campus.

Staff members need not fear that they will be compelled to labor in a cold room, according to those in charge of the book. Telephone communication will be available with all parts of the city and campus. The Cornhusker number is 58.

Plenty of desks, chairs, copy paper and writing materials including annuals of other schools for reference, will make the Cornhusker office a good place for an inspiration, according to Editor Randol.

With several innovations to be later revealed to Cornhuskers, it is the purpose of the staff to make "Everybody's Cornhusker" a book that will be favorably commented on by the colleges throughout the country.

LAW COLLEGE MEN AT STATE BAR ASS'N

Dean Seavey Submits New Regulations for Admission to State Bar.

Several members of the law college faculty and many students attended the state bar association meeting in Omaha during the Christmas holidays.

The faculty representatives took an active part in the proceedings. Dean Seavey, who was chairman of the committee on legal education delivered the committee report. This report favored a requirement for admission to the bar of two years study in a college followed by three years work in a law school. Action on the matter was deferred and the proposition will probably be voted on at the next meeting of the bar association. The dean also spoke at the banquet which directly preceded adjournment. Professor Robbins was on the committee dealing with incorporation of the state bar. Professor H. H. Foster delivered an address on "Pitfalls in Real Property Law of Nebraska."

On the opening day the alumni from the university law college had a luncheon at the Fontenelle. About sixty law graduates were present and welcomed Chancellor Avery as a guest. On the following day thirty-five Phi Beta Phi lunched together. It is planned to make these luncheons annual affairs.

Professor G. H. Robinson spoke to the section on association at the American convention in Chicago.

Dean Seavey was chairman of this section, but on account of his activities at the state bar meeting was unable to attend.

The following requirements were presented by Dean Seavey:

1—Every candidate for admission to the bar shall give evidence of graduation from a law school complying with the following standards:

A—It shall require as a condition of admission at least two years of study in a college.

B—It shall require its students to pursue a course of three years duration if they devote substantially all of their working time to their studies, and a longer course, equivalent in the number of working hours, if they devote part of their working time to their studies.

C—It shall provide an adequate library available for the use of the students.

D—It shall have among its teachers a sufficient number giving their entire time to the school to insure actual personal acquaintance and influence with the whole student body.

2—Upon the adoption of and in addition to the above requirements, every candidate should be subjected to an examination by public authority to determine his fitness.

DEAN P. M. BUCK HEADS COMMITTEE

Students Given Opportunity to Assist in Founding Woodrow Wilson Endowment.

Dean P. M. Buck is to head the committee at the University of Nebraska that is to assist in raising a fund of a million dollars or more, to be known as the Woodrow Wilson Foundation, according to an announcement made yesterday by Professor Stephen P. Duggan, of the College of the city of New York, who is chairman of the educational committee of the foundation. Working with Dean Buck will be professors, instructors, and students organized as a committee that will give to members of the university to become founders of the endowment from which annual awards are to be provided each year for "meritorious service to democracy, public welfare, liberal thought, or peace through justice."

The committee is about equally divided between democrats and republicans, and includes those who voted for Mr. Wilson and those who did not. They are serving on the committee, Dr. Duggan said, "because of their adhesion to Mr. Wilson's ideals of human freedom and international co-operation and will work in a wholly non-partisan spirit to secure support among teachers and students in colleges and universities for the purposes of the foundation, confident that the appeal will be particularly acceptable to that constituency."

HUSKERS BATTLE BADGERS TONIGHT

Nebraska Basketball Team Will Meet Wisconsin Quintet at Madison.

NINE BASKETEERS TAKE INITIAL TRIP

Coach Frank Has Lineup About Selected for the First Cage Contest.

The Nebraska basketball team will meet the University of Wisconsin quintet on the Badger court this evening in the opening contest of the season. The Huskers left yesterday afternoon for Madison with Coach Frank in charge of the squad. The men making the trip are: Captain Austin Smith, Russell, Holland, Kohl, Munger, Haverly, Lowellen, Carman, and Warren.

The Huskers have been working out almost every day during the holiday vacation and present a formidable appearance. Coach Frank has been using Russell at the center position with Captain Smith and Holland working at the forward positions. Kohl and Munger have been holding down the guard positions during the last few practices. Coach Frank may make some last minute change but it is expected that this is the lineup that will work against the Badgers.

Wisconsin has the jump on the Huskers in the cage sport and have already participated in a number of fast games, winning three and losing one contest. Coach Meanwell's athletics have lost to the Butler college crew in the initial contest of the season and won from Knox college, Rippon, and Beloit. The Badgers thus far have presented an exceptionally strong defense and have been able to put the ball through the hoop for the necessary counters in most instances.

The first home game of the season will be staged Saturday night at the state fair coliseum when the University of Washington quintet of St. Louis will appear on the local court. This will be the first Missouri Valley conference contest for the Huskers. The ability of the Huskers has not yet been determined but the Washington basketekers are usually up to the standard.

Coach Pickett has been giving the Fresh some good workouts since the reopening of school and it is expected that the yearlings will be in first class condition to give thearsity a real battle when they return from the northern jaunt. Just at present Coach Pickett has two or three teams of about equal calibre in action and expects to develop some real varsity material for next year. The coming semester is expected to bring in some excellent material for the yearling squad.

A preliminary try-out debate, open to all bona fide students who have been in the University this semester, will be held probably late in January. Nebraska will be represented by teams of four-six speakers and two alternates.
