

NEBRASKA WINS FROM GRINNELL

Huskies Lose Friday Night Contest to Missouri by Close Score of 31 to 46.

COLISEUM FILLED TO CAPACITY BOTH GAMES

Pioneers no Match for Coach Frank's Aggregation—Huskies Rest Next Week.

After dropping a game to Missouri Friday, Nebraska's cagesters came back last night, and vanquished the Grinnell Pioneers by a 27 to 17 score. The close guarding of the Husker guards, Munger and Kohl, who held the Pioneers to four field goals, featured an otherwise listless game. Benz, Grinnell center, led the scoring column with 13 points.

The game was close throughout the first half. After each team had an equal number of points via the foul route, Russell registered a basket for the Huskers. The Cornhuskers were never headed, although a little before the period ended, the Pioneers succeeded in tying the score, 11 to 11. The half ended in the Huskers' favor 13 to 11.

Soon after the opening of the second half, Nebraska counted two baskets, and from then on kept a comfortable lead. When the final whistle blew, the Scarlet and Cream were leading by ten points, 27 to 17.

The game was unusually rough, a total of 17 personal fouls being committed. The antics of the players in rolling about the floor during the contest greatly amused the spectators. A crowd of 2,000 persons witnessed the game, which was played on the coliseum floor.

MANY FEATURES FOR CORNHUSKER

More Space is Devoted to Every College on Campus than in Previous Books.

NEW CORNHUSKER WILL FEATURE STUDENT LIFE

1922 Year Book to Contain Entire Happenings of the Past Year

The 1922 edition of the Cornhusker is to be the largest and best year book that has ever been published. Each section is to receive more space than in former years. A uniform representation of every college is to be the chief aim of the University Section of the 1922 Cornhusker. Rotogravure plates of beauty spots about the campus will also have an important place in the book.

The book as a finished product will contain a summary of the best that happens during the school year. Only those things that we like to recall best are to be included. Every day thing are happening which make excellent material for the Censored Student Life Section. The student life editors are busy and have already gathered enough information to fill the entire book.

As a memory book nothing that any student could compile would be as complete as the Cornhusker. In picture and in story are told the daily history of the school.

The amount of advertising that a book like the Cornhusker is able to obtain makes it possible for the book to be purchased at the small sum of $4.50. $2.00 of this amount is to be paid at the time of ordering the book and the balance when the book is ordered.

The Cornhuskers make a complete four volume library record of your life in college.

They are a record of four of the happiest years of your life. Keep the record of your school career bound up in the pages of the Cornhusker. Sales campaign starts Jan. 16 and lasts until Jan. 21.

POULTRY RAISERS AT ANNUAL SHORT COURSE

POULTRY RAISERS AT ANNUAL SHORT COURSE

Second Short Course Finds One Hundred in Attendance at Agril. College.

Nearly one hundred poultry raisers are in attendance at the second annual poultry short course given this week at the state agricultural college. Nearly every county in the eastern half of the state is represented, besides a number of people from Lincoln and Dawson counties in the western central part of the state. About ten Omaha and Council Bluffs folks are in attendance, with a liberal representation from Lancaster and Seward counties.

The subjects covered at the short course are, selection of good layers, incubation and brooding, feeding for egg production and the marketing of poultry and eggs. The incubators, brooders and birds that are maintained at the agricultural college poultry farm are used for demonstration all work.

On Friday evening, a program to which the general public is invited, will be given at agricultural hall. A motion picture film of the poultry industry and a talk by Newton W. Gaines, will be part of the program.

Memories That Never Fade

Two clean-cut aggressive looking young men, now in their early thirties—one a successful young Doctor—the other an executive in a large manufacturing plant, were telling stories of their college days.

"Bill," remarked the young Doctor, "those were the real days, and do you know," he said with a gleam of fire in his fine eyes, "the old fighting spirit that we had driven into us on the Nebraska team, is one of the finest assets that we have had in our fight in the business and professional world."

"You are right, Dave," remarked the young business man. "Many a time when things are not going right and I feel a bit blue I look at the good old Cornhusker, and it brings back a flood of rich memories. It reminds me of the days when I was on the team, when we were marching our way through with the odds against us. It makes one wonder what happened to the old crowd, what they are all doing, and it certainly feels good to be able to look at the pictures of your friends who are now scattered all over the earth. I prize this book highly and would not part with it for a great deal. How little, we were attending school, did we realize what a Cornhusker would mean to us in later life!"

It is true that students unfortunately overlook this most important matter. They have an idea that College days keep on forever. They have an idea that they can secure a copy of their Year Book after they have left College, only to find out later that they are as scarce as hens' teeth.

Your 1922 Cornhusker will be an Annual that you can be proud of—will be unique and printed by experts—a concern that has a reputation in producing the very finest books for the largest Universities and Colleges. Frankly, College Annals containing as many pages and with as many novel, rich features as we have in our books, are selling for 25 per cent higher than we are charging.

The 1922 Cornhusker will visualize in a forceful, artistic manner our beautiful Campus. It will return to you countless hours of pleasure for your small investment. It is more beautiful than ever.

Don't put off ordering your book. Be sure that later on in life, when you get together with your friends, you can have a Cornhusker to refer to the most happy days in your life.

FIFTEENTH ROUND OF HIGH SCHOOL DEBATE

"Closed Shop" Will be Subject for High School Debaters of the State.

Ninety high schools are paired to the Nebraska high school debating league's fifteenth annual contests, on the proposition "that the movement of organized labor for the closed shop should receive the support of public opinion." For the discussions, the following official definition of the "closed shop" has been announced in bulletin No. 4 by the president, Prof. M. M. Fogg.

"A closed shop is one in which only members of a union are allowed permanent employment. In other words, the non-unionist is normally excluded either by a formal agreement between the employer and the union that the employer will hire only union men, or by the employer hiring members of a union the rules of which prohibit its members from working with non-union workmen. Under some circumstances, such as emergencies, non-unionists can work in a closed shop; rather than permanent."

All of the eleven districts have adopted the innovation percentage plan of deciding district championships. Under this plan, every school district—the east central and the west central—meets every other school; and the one winning the largest percentage of debates has the honor of representing the district in the state debate tournament held at the university in May.

Further announcements concerning the first series district debates are:

Eastern District.
Wahoo takes the place of Springfield which has dropped out. Wahoo will meet Plattsmouth, January 26; Fremont, February 2; South high, Omaha, February 23; Commerce

LANDIS PRESIDENT OF REGENTS BOARD

Seward Man Chosen to Head University Governing Body—Ask Cancellation of Tax.

H. D. Landis, a graduate of the University of Nebraska college of law, was elected president of the university of board of regents at a meeting Thursday. President Landis will head the board for a year. He succeeds P. L. Hall of Lincoln.

The board held a conference with a committee of the university alumni association composed of R. G. Simmons of Scottsbluff, president Harold Holtz, of Lincoln, secretary; Virgil Haggart of Omaha, of the executive committee.

The board also passed a resolution asking the Douglas county commissioners to cancel the 1921 taxes against the McCormick second addition lots in connection with the proposed program of rounding out the site of the state medical college of Omaha.

A request of the faculty of the state teacher's college that the college be authorized to recommend for the degree of bachelor of arts in education in addition to the bachelor of science in education, was laid over for a future meeting. The board desired to secure more information in the subject.

Chancellor Avery was directed to prepare for the consideration of the board a detailed budget for the summer school session, the total amount to be 10 per cent less than last year. The board discussed university finances at some length.

Margaret Anne Gist, ex-'20, is visiting this week-end at the Pi Beta Phi house.
Emily Ross, '24, is spending a few days in Omaha.
Elizabeth Johnson, '25, is visiting in Omaha.

FILLEY WILL ATTEND NATIONAL CONVENTION

Nebraska Professor Goes to Washington to Meet With Leading Agriculturists.

Prof. H. C. Filley, head of the department of rural economics of the college of agriculture, will leave Saturday for Washington to attend the national agricultural conference called by President Harding. Prof. Filley has been connected with the rural economics department since 1911 and knows the economic side of Nebraska agriculture as do few other men. In recent years he has given most of his attention to the marketing of farm products.

President Harding, thru Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, called the conference to consider agricultural problems, present and future, and to devise if possible some plan of relief for the present situation of the farmers. The plan is to work out a permanent policy for the development of a self-sustaining agriculture. While farmers and farm organization representatives will make up the bulk of the conference, there will also be representatives from industries whose interests are closely bound up with farming. These will include the railroads, marketing agencies, farm implement manufacturers, packers, and bankers. It is not known just how (Continued on Page Four.)

CONTEST AROUSES MUCH ENTHUSIASM

"Vanity Fair" Campaign Conducted by Cornhusker Promises to be Interesting.

SELECTION OF PRETTY GIRLS MADE THIS WEEK

Only Student Subscribing to "Everybody's" Annual Allowed to Cast Ballots.

The "Vanity Fair" contest, to be conducted this week in connection with the Cornhusker sales campaign, is creating a large amount of enthusiasm among university men as well as co-eds. Already favorites are being picked. It is expected that every student who purchases "Everybody's 1922 Annual" will be ready to cast his ballot for the "most beautiful girl at Nebraska with personality."

The sales campaign for the annual will be conducted in the west entrance to the armory on the days which students pay their fees. Each student who purchases a book will be allowed to ballot in the "Vanity Fair" contest. The first vote for any one co-ed will count as a nominating vote and will also tally for 100 points. The second vote and all votes following will count 50 points.

Reduce Price of Annual!
The Cornhusker will sell this year for $4.50—lower than the price of the 1921 annual—and $2.00 of the total amount will be paid when the subscription is given.

Results of the contest, with the standing of the leading candidates from day to day throughout the week, will be posted on a bulletin board in the west entrance of the armory. This will be done because the Daily Nebraskan will not be published during examination week.

A recent issue of McCall's Magazine has an article in it that tells exactly upon what basis the contestants will be judged. They must have an attractive personality and common sense, as well as "good looks."

The eight or ten young women selected from the 50 highest candidates will have their pictures reproduced in a rotogravure section in this year's Cornhusker. Three poses will be shown—of them personality photos.

RECOMMEND LOWER TEACHERS WAGES

State Association of School Boards Favors Downward Trend in Salaries.

University of Nebraska students prepared to enter the field of teaching may be forced to take lower wages than those who entered it this year as a result of a recommendation that wages of teachers in the public schools of Nebraska be given a shaking up by the respective boards of all schools, made by the state association of city school boards in its annual convention in Lincoln last week. It was left to the individual boards to decide a lower schedule.

A motion to recommend a uniform salary schedule was defeated. The association declared a distinction should be made against the experienced and inexperienced teachers. Dean Charles Fordyce of the University of Nebraska warned the association against any cut in wages that might injure the efficiency of the profession.

There will be no Freshmen basket ball practice until Wednesday night on account of examinations.
John Pickett, Coach.
