NEXT SEMESTER

Today's issue of the Daily Nebraskan is the last one under the jurisdiction of the staff elected to handle the publication's work during the first semester. The staff has done its best to make the paper worth while. Things of interest have been overlooked, and things of importance have not been given prominence they should have, but each of the seventy-five issues of the term have received the best the staff is capable of giving.

Those who are to be in charge of next semester's paper have been chosen after a great deal of care and deliberation by the Students Publication Board, and those selected have distinguished themselves not only during the year, but during several years just past for their earnest and faithful work. They are capable of giving the students of Nebraska a splendid paper.

The present staff is saying "good bye" wants to let the people of Nebraska know that their official publication is in most capable hands and the paper they will edit will be a fine one.

"EVERYBODY'S CORNHUSKER"

The Nebraskan today is devoted almost entirely to predicting as nearly as possible what the new 1922 "Everybody's Cornhusker" will contain.

"Everybody's" certainly is descriptive of what these intend the book to be. Full of pictures, write-ups, and humor, the book will be a thing that for many years will bring back many happy times to those who in future years are the purchasers during this next week. Every Nebraska student should have a copy of the 1923 Cornhusker.

Contemporary Opinion

(Ohio State Lantern.)
DON'T BE DEPENDENT.

Are you the guy who depends on somebody to get your work, somebody to take care of your clothing, and send you money? Or are you the kind of girl that depends on your mother for every little thing or on her friends for every small decision you have to make? Well, don't be! Some day you'll wake up and find these very dependable persons gone, unable to be reached, and you'll be like the babes in the woods.

Don't be dependent! Learn to stand on your own feet. Learn to think for yourself, to have ideas of your own, to plan ahead. Learn ways of making a livelihood, of meeting emergencies, of always sitting on the world. Have a reserve fund of knowledge and resourcefulness to draw on.

Being independent can be overdone, as can everything, but a little of it will go a long way. Why should your roommate or friend have to be sought for every trivial thing? Why should your parents have to feel that you are incapable of thinking things out for yourself? Do you believe they will always be at your beck and call, if so, you have a nearsighted view of life and know little of its privations and sudden twists and turns.

A man or woman who is resourceful and stands on his or her own feet will be prepared for the moment when the dependable persons are swept away from reach. He will not be at a loss, but will be prepared.

Union Banquet.
Eighty active and alumni members of Union society were entertained Saturday evening at a banquet held in the garden room of the Lincoln hotel. The Union colors, purple and gold, were used, together with bouquets of violets and yellow gardenias, in artistic table decorations. Bouquets of violets were given as favors to each lady, while yellow roses were presented to the men. Toastmaster Robert Eastwood, president of Union.

MORE DELINQUENT GIRLS IN NORTH THAN IN SOUTH?

New Orleans, Jan. 13—Girls of Dixie wear longer skirts, drink less liquor, smoke fewer cigarets and hold fewer "petting" parties than girls in other sections of the country, Dr. Valeria H. Parker of the United States interdepartmental social and hygiene board declared in an address before the public health institute here.

Dr. Parker said she based her opinion on the southern girl upon statistics collected by representatives of the department. She asserted that of 6,000 cases of girl delinquents investigated by the department the southern girl made the best showing, called for the following toasts, the first letters of which spell the word Union: Utopia, Tom A. Wier; Nerve; Beatrice Schenk; Ullumination, Dr. H. B. Alexander; Optimism, Dr. D. Thomas; Nectar, Hazel Taylor.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

An If For Nebraska Girls.
If you can love your school, dear old Nebraska,
And love it with a love sincere and deep
So anything but right and truth and honor
Away from it you'll always strive to keep,
If you can make a few good friends and keep them
If you can ever shout a glad "hello" To some one who to you looks rather lonesome
And follow it with a friendly word or so;
If you can make real friends of your professors
And know as well the man that sweeps the hall;
If you can master French and Greek and Latin
And still not feel as if you "know it all";
If you can dance without a craze for dancing,
Play without giving play too strong a hold;
If you can dream your dreams entrancing;
Without day-dreaming of what's only gold;
If you can have a sense of right and honor
And not assume a saintly priggyish mien;
If you can hear the voice of gossip's murmur,
And not believe the tale until you've seen;
If you can dress to make yourself attractive
Without too much of fad or of expense;
If you can laugh, joke, and be active
Without having too much self-confidence;
If you can make a code of love and honor
That's independent and is all your own;
And take some minutes from each day's short hours
To think, to contemplate when you're alone;
If you can follow each day these suggestions
Nor let your life be too much in a whirl,
Then you can claim the highest honor given
A loyal, true-blue, real Nebraska girl.
