DAWSON TO REMAIN.

The recent announcement by Chancellor Avery that Fred T. Dawson will remain at the University of Nebraska as head football coach has been joyfully received by all Cornhusker students. When it became known that Luehring was going to Minnesota the fear sprang up in the hearts of Nebraska students and adherents that he might take Dawson with him. It is well known that the Gopher school is badly in need of a gridiron mentor.

But it has been officially stated that Dawson will remain and altho Luehring's departure is deeply regretted, the fact Dawson will tutor the 1922 gridiron team is consolation indeed. Fred Dawson has not yet rounded out his first year as a Nebraska athletic mentor, but he has already become an idol of Cornhusker students. We have implicit faith in his ability as a football coach and are also fully convinced that he is a regular fetlow.

THE SPECIAL SESSION.

Governor McKelvie's special session of the Nebraska legislature convened yesterday, in answer to the call recently sounded by him. Slashing gasoline tax are slated to be the headline attractions on the governor's program.

The legislature is going to repeal the appropriation for the mythical gymnasium we have dreamed of for so long. There isn't the slightest chance in the world to save it. The governor says it is going and that settles it. Taxes are too high, the constituency is revolting, there must be a cut somewhere. As usual, the university suffers.

But we must be nice about it. If we must lose our long-cherished hope of a gymnasium, let us take it like true Cornhuskers. The legislature knows best—the foundations of our government demand that we have faith in our lawmakers. It is going to be mighty hard to see the desired object slip from our grasp just as we thought we had it firmly seized.

We must firmly resolve, however, that the gymnasium shall be a reality. Nebraska students want the people of Nebraska to know that when an emergency arises and a financial crisis seems imminent the university is one of the first institutions to come forward and offer to receive a cut in its appropriation. Accordingly we feel that when times are better and corn is worth more than 20 cents, we can go to the legislature and ask for the new gymnasium. We will get it, too.

The editor takes pleasure in announcing the following as his assistant editorial writers: Roy H. Gustafson, Kenneth McCandless, and Helen I. Peterson. These selections were made after careful consideration. They are truly representative of the student body and are capable and experienced journalists. You may look forward to enjoying the editorial column.

There are a number of new students on the campus this semester. They are entering the university for the first time. The freshmen who enter the second semester have a harder time than those who register in September. They miss a great deal of the early training and campus education that is doled out to the crop of yearlings every fall. This is an important part of their university career, too.

It is not at all difficult to recognize these new freshmen on the campus. Although they do not have the privilege of wearing the traditional green, they bear all the other earmarks of a very fresh freshman.

Go out of your way to speak to them. Give them a helping hand. Remember that they are in a way handicapped by entering university at this time of the year. Do all you can to instruct them in the ways of the campus and traditions of the school. They will not forget it—they will be your friends for life.

A live Cornhusker should keep in touch with the activities of his university. The best way to do this is to read the Daily Nebraskan. The best way to do this is to subscribe for it. Don't depend on your neighbor. Buy your own copy. It isn't necessary to tell you not to be a "rag picker." Cornhuskers aren't that kind.

The Minnesota Daily spared no the printer's ink in announcing to Gopherdom that Fred Luehring had accepted the directorship of athletics at that institution. A large cut of Mr. Luehring and screaming headlines told the Minnesota students that Nebraska's beloved director had been lured away.

We are philosophical, at least. While we wear crepe ourselves, we rejoice in the Gophers' good luck.

WHAT'S IN A NAME

The annual indoor sport of giving the student directory the once over & ruminating over its varied pages is now at its height. The Lantern has printed its traditional feature story about how many Fishes and Eggs there are in school, and has treated upon the whimsicalness of the contents.

The diversion thus practiced by the students brings up the age-old question, "What's in a name?" After all, what is? The name a person bears is merely a designation. It distinguishes him from other persons. It is more or less of a label.

It will be said that many family names bear great distinction. They do. Integrity and genius have a habit of running in certain strains that way. But every family of high standing has its recessive trait and its black sheep, and every family of low rating has its outstanding son or daughter who far outsteps his parents and brothers and sisters.

Names, although mere designations, may mean a great deal. They may be made famous thru hard work and ability. They may become watchwords of progress, respected everywhere. It should be the ambition of every man or woman to make his or her name one of this kind.—Ohio State Lantern.

(Pacific Interstate News Service.)
Berkeley, Cal., Jan. 18.—(P. I. N. S.)—California's Rifle club has accepted the challenge of the Oregon Agricultural College's team, to a rifle meet which will be held on January 27 and 28, both here and in Corvallis, Oregon.

The teams will shoot on their own ranges, and the results will be telegraphed to the other team as soon as they are compiled, according to Capt. L. R. Boyd of the military department who has charge of the activities of the Rifle club on the department's rifle range.

Each team will consist of ten men and three alternates, and each man will shoot from four positions, standing, sitting, kneeling and prone. Try-outs will be held at a time to be announced later, and all those who desire to try out for the team should see Captain Boyd in the Military building this week.

The challenge is the result of the rivalry which sprang up between members of the two colleges at Camp Lewis during the last R. O. T. C. summer camp, held last summer, at which much competition between members of the rifle teams was manifested.

EVENING COURSES IN BUSINESS TO BE HELD

Evening classes in business are to be conducted by the college of business administration during the coming semester. A course in accounting will be given each Tuesday from 7:30 to 9:10 p. m., salesmanship will be taught each Wednesday from 7:30 to 9:10 p. m., and on Thursdays at the same hour a course in Principles of Economics will be given. The classes will commence January 24, 25, and 26, and a registration fee of $2.00 per course will be charged. These classes afford an excellent opportunity for those employed during the day to receive valuable training along business lines under competent instructors.

NEW INSTRUCTOR IN DRAWING AND PAINTING

Miss Olive Rush, a new instructor in drawing and painting, arrived in Lincoln during the past week from Santa Fe, N. M. Miss Rush takes the place of Miss Hermine J. Stelar, who will be absent on leave during the second semester in order to do painting in Europe. Miss Rush is a painter of reputation, and has worked under Twochman, Volk, Mowbray, Richard Miller and Howard Pyle. She taught for a time at the John Herron art institute at Indianapolis, and in recent years has painted in N. M. Her work has been on exhibition from time to time in the annual exhibits at Nebraska, and has always aroused enthusiasm. Miss Rush has done considerable painting of mural decorations, and will be especially helpful in developing the work in interior decoration.
