At the Theaters

The Nat Goldstein Producing Company which is presenting Victor Herbert's latest musical comedy, "Angel Face" at the Orpheum today and tonight. It comes here direct from long runs in New York, Philadelphia, Boston and Chicago with substantially the same cast and production. If no other factor augured happily for delightful expectancy, the name of Victor Herbert as the composer of the score would perforce lift the engagement into a class where musical imagery of sentiment and phantasy are well assured substances.

Further attest of quality is found in the fact that Harry B. Smith, librettist of a number of far-famed hits, sponsored the text and Robert B. Smith, a happy producer of jingles, the lyrics. The production was staged by George W. Lederer.

As if prodigality of varied novel interests were not sufficient to pique local interest in the forthcoming engagement beyond the ordinary, the Nat Goldstein presentation will offer no ordinary chorus girls nor male auxiliaries, but that the element hitherto supplied by this correlative of musical comedy exploitation will be found pleasingly supplied in attractive feminine and masculine sub-principals as singing, dancing and interpretative aids to other intermediate as well as star principles.

Marguerite Zender, who made a sensational hit on tour last spring in the title role of George M. Cohan's "Mary", John E. Young a comedian of international repute, and Nora Kelly, who needs no introduction to theatre goers, are the featured members of the cast. Others of prominence in the cast are Joe Mack, Sarah McVicker, William Cameron, John Peinhard, Agnes Paterson, Jess Mendel'son, Neil Moore, Evelyn Greig, Lillian Young, Arthur Van Slyck, Bertha Belemore, Bruce Budington, Ethel Martelle and Willard Hall, in addition to the "Angel Face" beauties as sub-principals.

Contemporary Opinion

COLLEGE ACTIVITIES
In the Collegiate world, as in all fields, of human activity, there may be found these peculiar phenomena which, in the business world, are called cycles. Mr. Babson says all human conduct obeys the well known law of "action and equal reaction." Instead of following a middle course, society moves like the pendulum of a clock, only the movement is, of course, much slower.

Throughout American colleges and universities today, those activities which furnish an opportunity for physical expression and competition are decidedly in the ascendancy. Other forms of activity such as dramatics, debating and literary competition are receiving just barely enough support to keep them alive. Not very many years ago the situation was reversed.

PRINTING PLANT NOW READY FOR STUDENTS

Evidently, the pendulum has swung through its entire course. If one idealizes regarding the type of products a college should turn out, he naturally pictures a young man or woman who has acquired that sound physical development, so essential under the strain of modern life, but who had added to this foundation a well trained mind. Unfortunately, this ideal is not always realized. Because of the strong human tendency to be carried away with the tide, we lose our sense of proportion.

Important as physical strength is as a foundation for success in life it must ever remain subordinate to intellectual power. Whatever may have been true of the past most of the struggles of life in modern times are won by brain and not by brawn.

Another striking characteristic of the present time is the movement toward cooperative activity. Everywhere men and women are joining forces with others of similar interests to attain common ends. Everywhere there is team work. We need to learn to work with others. For this reason most all of our college activities are particularly valuable. In this connection debating is especially helpful because it not only enables us to examine questions from many angles, but gives that training and power to convince others to our way of thinking. That is the essence of leadership—Utah Student Life.

PRINTING PLANT NOW READY FOR STUDENTS

One Man Registered for Mechanical Course—Full Time Assistant Engaged.

Students for the University of Nebraska printing plant will soon start their study of the types and presses if present indications point true. The plant is ready and one student has started work. He is the first of a possible twelve to twenty men who will be sent to the university to learn the trade of the country town newspaper man.

O. F. Smith has been engaged as assistant to F. A. Miles, instructor in charge of the plant. Mr. Smith will spend the greatest part of his time on regular production work and will have little to do with the students. Mr. Miles is looking for one or two other experienced men to help along with the job work.

The printing plant is now busily engaged with the work of putting out the university telephone directory. This is the largest single piece of production work so far put out by the plant.

Other Worlds Than Our Own.

Grinnell College, Ia.—The St. Louis Symphony Orchestra has been secured to give two concerts, on April 17th, in Herrick Chapel in connection with the annual Musical Festival.

University of Michigan—Growing abuse, by students, of reference privileges in the main reading rooms of the Library may make it necessary to plan a new system for the use of these references. A list of 43 books have been lost from September 1st to January 1st.

University of Minnesota—The honor system in the Law School is a wonderful success in this school. The students are on their honor during examinations, during recitations, and even in the use of the books in the Law Library. There has not been a case of violation in years.

Fred Laehring, new University athletic director, formerly connected with the University of Nebraska, will be an honor guest at the "M" banquet, Friday, February 3. Provision has been made for 200 diners.

Columbia University—A new campus ice rink has been opened for the use of the student body, and for the public at certain periods, and at a nominal price. A frame building for a check room and for use in changing skates has been erected and flood lights are strung above the ice so as to make it possible to use it at night. The rink is 100 feet by 300 feet wide.

Purdue University—Coach "Lonestar" Dietz has been dismissed under charges preferred by Professor Leslie J. Ayer, coast representative of the National Collegiate Association. He has been charged with offering Northwest high school and University stars flat salaries to play with the team. Many other charges of a similar nature were made. The move was made to prevent further importation of athletes from the Northwest to Eastern Colleges.

Georgia Tech—An impressive ceremony was held recently when a flagpole, erected this fall, was dedicated to the sons of Tech who made the supreme sacrifice during the war.

Ohio State University—An indoor relay carnival has been planned for February 25th. It will be run in five divisions, including college, high school, and junior high school athletes.

Brown—Plans are being made for a new stadium which will have several new ideas in design. There will be three floors or dormitories built under the seats in the space which is usually wasted.
