all 11 o'clock classes are to be dismissed Wednesday so that all students may go to St. Paul's church to hear Mr. Eddy.

The student committee in charge of the Eddy meetings believes that every address to be made by Mr. Eddy while at Nebraska will be of such importance as to challenge the interest of every student. An appeal was made to the university authorities on this basis and they have agreed to excuse any student who attends the Eddy meetings instead of his class.

Dismissal of individual classes has been left up to the instructors. A committee of students has been visiting individual professors. Their reports are still incomplete but a list is given below of some of the professors who have dismissed their classes at 11 o'clock on Thursday and Friday.

A splendid spirit of co-operation on the part of the faculty members as a whole has been manifested, the students report. Several professors have said that they consider the university fortunate in having Mr. Eddy here for several days, that it is the most important event on the campus of the year and that they were more than glad to help in any way they could.

The interest of the students has been strikingly evidenced in several ways. One professor, after agreeing to dismiss his 11 o'clock classes on Thursday and Friday, put it up to a vote of the classes whether or not they would be willing to remain overtime at two sessions next week in consideration for dismissal at two classes this week. Their response was 100 per cent favorable.

As all the faculty members have not been visited by the student committee yet and the report is not complete, the following list of dismissed classes is incomplete and will be supplemented in the Thursday issues of The Daily Nebraskan.

The list of professors as it now stands is as follows:

Sealock, Wilson, Brownell, Hinman Frey, Sjogren, De Baufre, Spencer McNeal, Slaymaker, Mickey, Frankfurter, Demming, Waite, Upton, Barker, Poole.

THIS IS A NEWSPAPER OFFICE, IF YOU GOT NEWS, COME IN, NUFF SED

"This ain't no information bureau and I don't know what time it is," roared a hard working reporter in the "Rag" office to a trembling inquirer.

Do not think too harshly of the "hard boiled" reporter. His patience was exhausted and he couldn't restrain himself any longer.

Day after day, twenty, more or less, persons trail in to the Daily Nebraskan office thinking that it is some place or an institution for finding out things. Four girls came in the other day and sat down quietly awaiting their professor and when he did not grace his illustrious presence they asked one of the "typewritten pounders" whether the "prof" had dismissed class. They discovered that the room "across the aisle" was the one in which they belonged. A "bone-rimmed" Cornhusker popped his head in the office the other day and asked if this was the Modern Language library; and only yesterday a sweet young thing "blew" in and coyly asked to see Dean Heppner. During registration, several "newly co-eds" came into the "Rag" office to pay their fees and subscribe for the Cornhusker. Every one of them asked to use the phone and several "thumbed" through the stack of Awwgans thinking that they were history or encyclopedias.

It was expected yesterday that a line would be waiting to get into the office to vote, but some one put a "bug in their ear" and they all went to the right place. However, that same day, a boy dashed desperately into the office, wild-eyed, hair on end and sobbingly asked where he could find Mary Brown. It was very important. Life or death.

Now be reasonable. In a school of several thousand how can you expect a poor "no nothing" bunch, like the "gang" that hangs around in the "Rag" office to know Mary Brown? Newspaper men and women are expected to know quite a "speck" about facts and things but—heavens! when it comes to knowing every thing, even Mary Brown, well—that's the "berries."

For the convenience of the student body, particularly the "Rag" staff. It is hoped that an attractive sign will soon adorn the top of the office door with the words. "This is a Newspaper Office. If You Got News, Come In."—Nuff sed.

CO-EDS GIVE TEA FOR MRS. SHERWOOD EDDY

DENVERITES BEWAIL THE PASSING OF THE BLACK PLUSH EAR MUFF

THE PASSING OF THE BLACK PLUSH EAR MUFF

A Denver paper laments the passing of ear muffs. Clothiers in the city are waking up to the fact that they are not just top-notch so have scratched them from the early fall 1922 list. Whether all Denverites are stocked up or whether the winters are milder, the reason for the decline in popularity is not given. One thing is certain, they are not seen as they were years ago. Frost-bitten ears are not so comfortable but are more modish.

Time was when it was no unusual sight to see the ears of the elite oamped down with the egg-shaped velvet commodity. Whether the wired bow connecting the warmers was worn around the head or up over, the top was left to the humor of the wearer, and quite impish was the effect of the red plush lining peeping out from the black resembled wireless telegraphers on duty. But they have passed, fur collars that make warm nestling places for freezing listeners, have pushed them out. Yes, Denver it is deplorable that at last this picturesque piece of winter make-up is passing. They have had their day as have the peg-top trousers and the horse-shoe stick pin, and now they must be laid aside.

LEROSSIGNOL AND IVEY WILL SPEAK
