APPEAR IN RECITAL

Students of J. Manley Phelps, Jeanette Welsh Mcnson, and Ethel Dunn of the dramatic art department of the school of music gave a recital last night in the corridor of the conservatory. This was one of a series of monthly corridor recitals to be given for the benefit of all interested in dramatic art and interpretation read ing. Those taking part in this recitai were Eunice Diller, Helen Martin, Claire McDonald, Bary Ellen Inglis, and Robert Hiatt. Of especial interest was the appearance of Clarence Faubel, a former student of the dramatic art department who has just returned from a very successful lyceum tour of the southern states. Mr. Faubel gave several of his bumorous
