PRICE FIVE CENTS

BASKET TOURNAMENT STARTS THURSDAY

2,000 Cagers to Get Into Action Tomorrow for First Round of Competition.

TEAMS TO ARRIVE IN LINCOLN TODAY

Games Start on Five Gyms at 8 O'clock in Morning—Fifteen Honors to be Awarded.

Two thousand high school basketball players are due to arrive in Lincoln this afternoon and tomorrow morning for the twelfth annual state high school basketball tournament, to be staged in seven gymnasiums throughout the city, the last three days of this week. Promptly at 8 o'clock Thursday morning five whistles will blow and fifty cagers will fight to gain first honors in the first games in their classes.

From the north and the south and the east and the west the athletes of the cage sport will flock into Lincoln, all day Wednesday. Late comers who do not get into action until late Thursday will not arrive until tomorrow but the greater number of the cagers will have arrived by Wednesday night.

A troop of "N" men and delegates from the university Y. M. C. A. are scheduled to meet the incoming basketballers. The cagers will be housed in fraternity houses and private homes for the most part, practically all of which have already been provided.

More than one hundred games are scheduled for decision in the first round contests. The coliseum, armory, Y. M. C. A. chapel and auditorium will be busy all of Thursday with a continuous run of contests, two being decided each hour on each floor. At 4 o'clock in the afternoon both of the Lincoln high school gymnasiums will be drafted into use and class N and O floors will not be used after the first round is played.

Games All on Schedule.

Every game in the tournament will be run off on schedule time. No sooner will one contest stop than the next will commence with clock like regularity. The large number of the games to be played each day makes starting promptly necessary. Teams not reporting in suits at their scheduled time automatically forfeit their games.

No season tickets for the tournament are to be issued this year according to word received from the department of athletics in charge of the tournament.

Practically all teams entered in the tournament have completed their basketball schedules. A grand and glorious finale to the cage sport for the year of 1922 will be reached when the cups in the different classes are awarded Saturday.

Dope on Classes.

Dope on basketball is rather regularly upset especially when tournament time comes around. In the class A aggregations, however, Omaha Central, Creighton, Lincoln, Hastings, Central City, and Sutton look like the strongest teams. Wahoo, although has been showing good form, but most of her victories have been over doubtfully strong aggregations.

Either Hastings or Clay Center are due to drop out in the first round of the tournament. These strong teams are matched for the first round contest on Thursday.

The dope may be given a severe upset on the other teams and more of them may drop out Thursday. Wahoo has not lost a contest while Lincoln has dropped two, one of which was to Sutton.

In class B, Ravenna, York, Nebraska City and Schuyler have particularly strong teams. They have been showing good form throughout the season and should put up strong battles for the honors. Ravenna has taken the scalp of Alliance, a class A team, given Grand Island a strong fight, losing out by one point and in a late season game was defeated by Hastings. Schuyler showed its best form in defeating Omaha Central some weeks ago. Nebraska City has been winning rather consistently.

Central City, Superior and Craig are strong teams in the class C contest. Central City has not been hitting a particularly winning stride but has been meeting strong teams all year. It was the runner-up in its class last year, losing the final contest by a one point margin. Superior has been hitting it up at a rather

GIRLS DISCUSS "CREED" AT VESPERS YESTERDAY

Vespers tonight was given over to a talk on the Nebraska Girl's creed. "An Ideal College Girl" was read by Clara Dickerson and an "If for a Nebraska Girl" by Ruth Lindsay. Mrs. Roy Green an alumni of the University of Nebraska, a Black Masque and a Y. W. C. A. worker talked on what an alumni would think of the creeds laid down for Nebraska university girls. She said that a creed was necessary as girls needed a pattern to go by. That girls are going to discuss this creed and it is going to represent the girls of the University to the people of the state.

A vocal solo was given by Doris Thompson. Copies of the Nebraska girls creed were given to every girl on entering.

FRESHMEN WIN INTER-CLASS MAT TOURNAMENT

First Year Class Win Inter-Class Wrestling Tournament Last Night.

Winning four matches out of seven, the freshmen captured first honors in the inter-class wrestling tournament which ended last night. The meet was hard-fought, and an unusual amount of interest in the tournament resulted. Announcement of an open in which anybody in school except varsity men may participate, was made last night by wrestling coach, Dr. Clapp.

In the concluding matches of the inter-class meet, held yesterday afternoon at the armory, the freshman won in the 125, 135 and 175 pound classes. Roebing, freshman, defeated Woth, senior, in the 125 pound division by decision, having an advantage of eight minutes and twenty-two seconds behind.

The bout in the 135 pound class between Nelson, junior, and Robert Inham, freshman, was won by Inham by a fall in three minutes and twenty-five seconds, with a body chancery. W. R. Inham, freshman, received the first honors in the 145 pound class. Smith, sophomore, defaulted. In the 175 pound class Balm, freshman, pinned Spickler, junior, with a chancery in nine minutes and forty seconds. The heavyweight title was won by Hendricks, junior, when Reed, sophomore, defaulted to him.

SPRING VACATION TO START IN TWO WEEKS

Vacation Periods Changed for Next Year With Only one Day at Thanksgiving.

The annual spring vacation will begin Saturday, March 25, 6:00 p. m. and will close Saturday, April 1, 6:00 p. m., according to a report from the office of the registrar. This will be the last year that the students will get a whole week of vacation.

The plan of vacations will be changed for the calendar year of 1922-23. By a vote of nearly ten to one the student body, December 16, endorsed the plan of the faculty, calling for one day vacation at Thanksgiving, eight days at Christmas and three at Easter. Under this plan Nebraska will show up favorably with Eastern schools. There can be but twelve holidays throughout the school year if the high standing is to be maintained. Eastern educators say, and the result of the voting showed that the students were very strongly in favor of the high standing which Nebraska deserved with the eastern schools.

This action of the students in endorsing the 1-day vacation at Thanksgiving will insure a large crowd at the "Turkey Day" football game next year. The Nebraska Cornhusker will battle the Notre Dame gridiron squad at that time in one of the most important games of the Nebraska schedule. At the Thanksgiving day game last year the student section was practically all filled with non-university people who had purchased tickets from the students who went home.

They also voted favorably for the plan of having two days of registration during the week of the state fair. This will enable school to start earlier and will also help to eliminate some of the congestion during registration.

University Students Should Help Boost For Their Own High School

Every loyal Cornhusker owes a duty to his school to boost it to the outside world at every possible time. Now comes a real opportunity for the students to talk Nebraska, with no sacrifice to themselves, and with but little effort. Once every year more than three thousand students come to Lincoln for the annual high school basketball tournament. These people are the very ones from whom we get our future Nebraska material. To them this is a great trip. They plan for months to make it and they leave home with the fullest intention to enjoy themselves. They are in a receptive mood. They seek information, they seek pleasures and they seek acquaintances among the university students.

If you are a live Cornhusker you ought to talk Nebraska. How many will make the most of this opportunity? Look up the boys from home and see that they get over to the campus. Show them what a fine school we have here. Tell them all about the different colleges and when you find which college they are most interested in if you can't tell them the things that might be of interest to them let someone else do it who can—but be sure that someone does. Then also they must be entertained. It is hard enough for people well acquainted in this town to really enjoy themselves, let alone for strangers to find clean high grade amusement. Do you remember the first few weeks or even the first few nights which you spent in this town? Then take pity on these visitors and show them how they may change a bored evening into one of pleasure.

Realizing that these visitors should be given special attention and that it would be hard for them to find proper amusement, some of the organizations have arranged dances and other entertainments. One of these parties is the dance and carnival to be staged at the Knights of Columbus hall, Friday night by the Iron Sphinx. Different from the usually subscription dances which are put on by private individuals, this party will furnish carnival effects and refreshments. Make a note of this and when you meet groups of these students from out in the state who have no place to go on Friday night, tell them of these parties and help them to get tickets. Every Iron Sphinx member in every fraternity house on the campus has these tickets for sale.

Let's boost Nebraska to these people who come to our very doorstep and entertain them. The better the impression which we leave with them the bigger our enrollment in future years.

Dame Rumor Reveals Inside Dope On Alleged Members Of The "Fleece"

Call out the fire department—bring in the judges of the fiery universe—Something terrible has come to the attention of those innocent souls who placed their faith in the charming co-eds who displayed their brilliant locks in the recent conflagration of the Order of the Golden Fleece.

Dame Rumor has again entered the realm of campus activities and the ears of the ever inquisitive reporter are hearing things. The whole thing centers around the apparent high-brow actions of those designated co-eds who attended the luncheon of red heads last Saturday noon.

Ancient fables tell us that Jason, the mighty hero of the Greeks, wandered hither and thither throughout the world, fighting and enduring trials in an effort to win the prize, the "Golden Fleece." Jason indeed was forced to go to a lot of trouble to win his prize, but his experienced find a modern day parable in the rumor based on the experiences of the Nebraska "Golden Fleece."

It was early Saturday morning when a light haired co-ed tipped up to a certain druggist here in town

DR. WISSLER TO TALK ON DIFFICULT SUBJECT

Noted Speaker From New York to Address Students in Social Science Auditorium.

Are you interested in what culture is? In what constitutes the differences between races and the importance of these differences? Do you want to secure a more correct idea of what our present civilization developed from and what tendencies are at present working in society?

Dr. Clark Wissler of the American museum of natural history of New York will lecture Thursday night at 8 o'clock in social science auditorium on "Time Perspective in Culture and Race." This topic has an added importance because of the great recent revival of the subject of world history and man's place in nature.

Here is a chance for all the readers of Wells and other popularizers of the advances in the science of culture to hear an address by a scholar of note, who is also a good speaker.

Dr. Wissler is making a tour of American universities in the interests of the national research council, in general, and of anthropology in particular. He is curator of the division of anthropology in the American museum. One of the most prominent of America's younger anthropologists, his recent work on "The American Indian," is considered the best comprehensive study on the subject. The middle west is no new region to Dr. Wissler, who has made many first hand studies of the plains Indians, especially as to their societies and social organization.

AG. STUDENTS START FIELD TRIPS SATURDAY

Field trips for the advanced classes in animal husbandry judging in Ag. college began last Saturday with the enjoyable trip to S. A. Nelson & Sons at Malcolm. About eighteen men made the trip via the Lizzie route to look over Mr. Nelson's good Shorthorn herd and visit with the entertaining old gentleman and his son. Several classes of excellent individuals were placed by the student coaches and owners with good natured disagreement and reasoning.

This is the first of a series of trips planned by Coaches Lavin and Derrick of the animal husbandry department to show their advanced students the herds of nearby stockmen and their methods of caring for and managing stock. It is enjoyable as well as instructive, being a diversion from class work at Ag. college.

ORCHARD TO SPEAK ON PACKER STRIKE

Armour & Company Offered to Address the Industrial Research Club.

SOUTH OMAHA MAN TO ADDRESS RESEARCH CLUB

Speaker is One of the Most Prominent Men in the Packing Industry.

The recent South Omaha packing house strike will be discussed at an open meeting of the Industrial Research club in the Grand hotel Thursday evening by C. R. Orchard, employing manager for the Armour & Co. plant in South Omaha. During the strike Mr. Orchard was appointed official publicity manager, representing all the packing plants, and all official statements issued to Omaha newspapers by the packers went through his hands. He is general chairman of the employe representation system at the Armour plant and will also speak concerning it.

This meeting Thursday is open to all students and faculty members. A 50 cent dinner will be served at 6 o'clock. It will not be necessary to make reservations. Those wishing to attend and who are unable to get there in time for dinner are urged to come in before 6:45 o'clock.

In a recent conversation with a member of the Industrial Research club, Mr. Orchard said that his general speech would be short as he preferred to spend most of the time in answering questions.

Br. Orchard's Record.

The following sketch of Mr. Orchard's record while with Armour & Co., has been furnished the Daily Nebraskan by an official in the Armour plant in South Omaha:

"Claude R. Orchard came to work for the company as night time keeper in 1903. In 1916, when the employment department was established, he was placed in charge because of his unusual executive ability and general knowledge of human nature. He is keenly attentive to detail and thoroughly familiar with all packing house practices, though never having had any actual experience as a "plant man" he soon attracted the attention of his superiors.

"As the institution developed, 'C. R.' developed along with it, until today practically every industrial relations activity in the plant comes under his direct supervision. He supervised the organization of the first aid department which takes care of all workers injured in the course of their employment and was installation of the plant newspaper, The Armour Oval. He is now helping to organize an interplant athletic league among the five leading packers on the South Side.

Directs Many Activities.

"Perhaps the most momentous activity with which he has been associated was the inauguration of the employe representation plan, of which he is general chairman. He will speak about it at the meeting.

"Other allied activities with which Mr. Orchard is directly associated include the plant service committee, which has general supervision of all local plant athletic activities; the Armour band, now consisting of about thirty pieces; and all the education work which is going on in the plant. Immediately following the war, he was instrumental in starting the evening Americanization classes for foreign employes in the plant, and is now in charge of the organization of a series of packing house practice classes which have for their purpose the teaching of foremen and workers more about their immediate jobs.

"Mr. Orchard has won, without question the respect and esteem of every employe in the plant, and his broad-minded democracy and ability to see the working man's view point has made him a personal friend of all who know or have any dealings with him. There is no problem of the worker too small to come to the attention of this man, who, having worked up from the "ranks" himself, has no trouble in getting the view point of the "men in the ranks."

"And topping all of these splendid qualifications is 'C. R.'s' unusually good-natured personality. He is the type of man never too busy to have a word with you and he can always listen to the other fellow's story with a genuine interest."

Mr. Orchard is making a special trip to Lincoln to talk before the Industrial Research club.
