CONGRATULATIONS.

High school men, Cornhusker scrapers, congratulations! Nebraska is proud of her fighting athletes and proud of the record you are making this year. Officials in charge of the first days play in the greatest basketball tournament the world has ever seen have nothing but praise for the way you played yesterday. "Those boys know what good sport is," said one prominent official, "they played hard, according to the rules, and were courteous." That is the sport men, that enables the American athlete to lead the world, Nebraska, without question, leads the world in the size of its high school basketball tournament. Outstanding leaders of American sport have praised the idea of the mammoth state tournament and the way it is handled in the Cornhusker state.

No less a national figure than Mr. Naismith, who originated the game of basketball, said Nebraska had the right idea and he marveled at the skillful way the tournament was handled. The size of this tournament, indicates the way the University of Nebraska is called: "The giant of the middle-west." But Nebraska is not made a "giant" because of mere numbers. It is the spirit that counts—the clean, fighting spirit. That is what makes the U. of N. a "giant." That is why the university is proud of the high school basketball players—fighters all, in a fighting sport.

Contemporary Opinion

PHONOGRAPH ECLIPSED

What a change has taken place in the American home in the last twenty years. Some of us may remember when every home had a daughter who could pound out music on the piano and where in some families almost every member could coax music out of a French harp, a concertina, a violin or even a comb. Then came the phonograph. Now who would listen to sister mutilate Chopin or attempt to synopate Silver Threads Among the Gold when for eighty-five cents the family could buy a record which produced music so much better than any domestic efforts could possibly do. So the family entertainer has been forgotten.

Now comes the wireless concert. Who will listen to a Victrola with the troublesome labor of changing records when he can "listen in" to Grand Opera in Chicago, a jazz orchestra in Kansas City or a serious lecture from Denver? It used to be that a famous singer could reach a few thousand people at a time, then came the phonograph and his range increased to reach many more thousand people. Now with the wireless he may reach hundreds of thousands at each recital—if his hearers do not prefer a jazz selection.—Daily Kansan.

The Exhaust.

D'ja ever make a
Blind date with a
Girl over the phone
And just keep it
To see if she would Come?
You were there merely
Out of curiosity
And you watched a
Group of three or Four
Come out of a
Building and you
Knew she was one of These.
They giggled and then
Walked off down the Street without even
Giving you the benefit
Of a frigid stare.
But boy, weren't you
Glad they did after
You found out the
Person you had a date
With and lamped her
Baby stare?
D'ja?

THE CORNHUSKER GIRL.

She may seem slightly simple,
But oh, her hair! her hair!
Not golden rod or evening glow
With them can well compare.
Her head is bent in slumber,
Her arms partake of rest.
About her pensive lips unfolds
The secret of the West.

She dreams sweet dreams of wood-lands,
Of fields golden with corn;
Of joyous songs that will ring forth
With the first rays of the morn.

Strength lives within her nature,
Love glows within her heart;
Her gentle, peaceful breathings
Faithfulness impart.

Her dreams are poet-fancy
Wrought by an artist's hand;
But her rosy lips and golden hair
Are —(Who would understand?)
—X. Tempo Raneous.

Other Worlds Than Our Own.

University of Washington—It is estimated that over 1,000 students turned out for the first of Washington's evening assemblies, last Thursday night in Meany Hall, under the direction of the senior class. Speeches, songs and orchestra selections made up the program.

University of Wisconsin—About 400 courses have been planned here for the summer course.

University of Kansas—The locker situation here is a serious one. The physical education department is now considering the adoption of a new system whereby a double deck of lockers would line the east wall next to the pool, and run along the entire length of the south wall. In the center of the space vacated along the south side would be racks holding metal baskets. Each basket is large enough to hold all gym clothes and can be padlocked.

University of Iowa—Ten academies and prep schools have signified their intentions to be represented in the first basketball tournament of its kind to be held March 10-11 for academies and prep schools throughout the state. The athletic department decided to hold the tournament for the colleges and high schools who are outside of the regular college and high school lineup, after a request made by several of the institutions in this division.

Colorado Agricultural College—The College Women's Association gave a party for the faculty recently. The function consisted of a four-act vaudeville which included a one-act play, aesthetic dancing, singing by the "Cosmopolitan Actette," and a Cake Walk. After the entertainment the faculty members enjoyed refreshments and dancing.

University of California—Action on the protest against the Strawberry Canyon site for the Stadium will probably be deferred by both parties until the architects plans are made public. The chief objections presented to the committee were: that the location of the bowl would not be in accord with the interests of the University, that it would cause irreparable injury to the most beautiful place of the campus, that it would be a failure from the architectural point of view, and that it would interfere with the study of natural sciences in the University.

Iowa State University—Band men at Iowa State University at Ames are awarded gold A's, if they come up to certain requirements. It is necessary to be a member for two full years, to have high scholarship, to appear at all performances, and at the same time have only two absences each quarter from rehearsals.

OTHER WORDS THAN OUR OWN
Oklahoma University—There are about one hundred and fifty high schools in the high school debating league which is divided into eight districts. Competition has been started among the members of the league for state honors. A director is in charge of each district and debates will be held under this supervision until the district championship is determined. The district champions will debate here for the state championship during the interscholastic meet the last week in April.

Northwestern University—An opportunity for the student body to register its sentiment on various plans for an Honor System at Northwestern was arranged at a meeting of the Student Council. It was decided that the best means of ascertaining such sentiment was through the medium of a questionnaire submitted to all campus organizations for consideration. Consideration however, will not be directed specifically to the general advisability of simply installing an honor system but rather to merits of various types of systems which have proved successful.

Billie Prinz of Grand Island will visit her sister, Roberta Prinz, at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house this week.

ORCHARD UNABLE TO SPEAK IN LINCOLN

C. R. Orchard, employment manager for Armour & Co., in Omaha, who was to have spoken before the Industrial Research club Thursday evening, was unable to appear. He notified the organization Thursday by long distance phone that an unexpected business emergency had arisen that made it impossible for him to come to Lincoln.

The regular meeting of the club was held and routine business transacted. Announcement was made that on Thursday, March 23, Fred Rindge, national secretary for the Y. M. C. A. Industrial service movement, who will be in Lincoln for two days, will speak to the club. Mr. Rindge has just completed a trip around the world investigating industrial conditions.

At the Theaters

"The Bat", far and away the sensation of the year in the theatre from point of popularity, will be presented by Wagenhals and Kemper at the Orpheum Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, March 13th and 14th. "The Bat" is the joint work of Mary Roberts Rinehart and Avery Hopwood, reason sufficient in itself for its tremendous success.

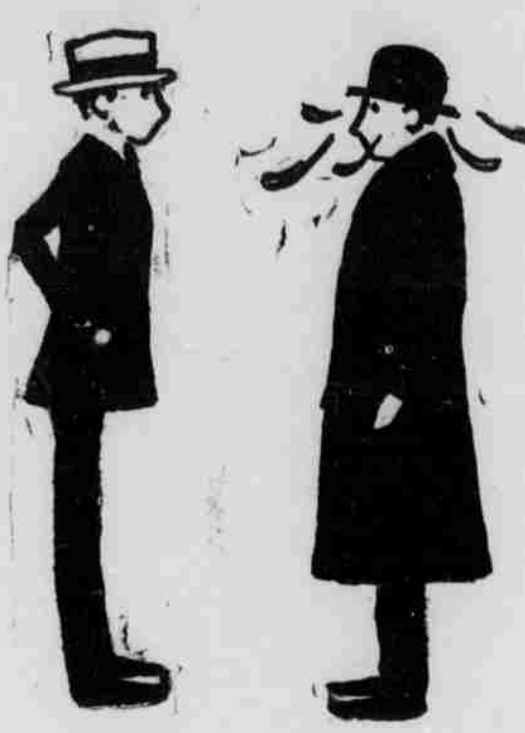

"The Bat" is every bit of the dramatic smash one critic called it. One climax after another, follows in rapid sequence and the suspense literally holds the audience breathless from curtain to curtain. Nor is that all, for running through their story the authors have succeeded in introducing one of the funniest characters ever seen on the stage. Lizzie, the servant of the household accounts for shrieks of laughter.

"The Bat" has played in New York for a year. And it is still there. Simultaneously, another company of "The Bat" achieved a run of one solid year in Chicago, breaking all theatrical telerecords for that city by a matter of many months. This is a record that is positively unique in the annals of the theatre.

The story of "The Bat"—that is a secret. It is the request of the authors and the management that no one tell the secret of "The Bat" and there has yet to be a critic or a theatergoer, so far as is known, who has broken faith.

When "The Bat" comes here, the same request will be made of local theatergoers. For the present, then, know that the "The Bat" is the hit of its in the theatre and that it comes here, presented exactly as it is being in New York and with a cast of unusual excellence.
