

GRADUATES ON WEST COAST HOLD BANQUET

Alumni of Puget Sound District Elect Officers For Year.

Nebraska alumni and husbands and wives of the Puget Sound Section, to the number of nearly one hundred, gathered for their annual banquet in Seattle, February 9. Alfred H. Lundin, '06, president, presided. Mrs. A. W. Beeler, ex '11, as secretary-treasurer arranged the details of the dinner which was held in the Domestic Science dining hall at the University of Washington. No set program had been arranged and the chairman announced that each person should briefly announce the person to his right with any interesting details known to them. In this manner, all present were quickly introduced.

University songs and yells and many of the familiar songs of older days with Jessie Emerick, '05, at the piano paved the way for the speeches which were called for from representatives of such decade. The oldest alumnus present was Mrs. Glenn Talbot Babson, '88, of Seward who is spending the winter in Seattle. She said if she were to speak reminiscently she would have to "speak over your heads and behind your memories." Mrs. Babson was a very welcome guest and her remarks were very happily received.

For the next decade, Dr. J. H. Sayer, '98, president of the club in 1921, said he would prefer to introduce Ralph C. Saxton, '97, who gave another of his annual speeches on the subject of the pranks of the students of the late nineties. His speech is now looked forward to as a part of the regular program. John R. Forsyth, '05, told most entertainingly of fifteen-cent haircuts and other bargains of his day. Sam Buck, '08, followed for his decade after which Arthur M. Hare, '1, and R. H. Kendrick, '20, spoke briefly. President Lundin also called on J. L. Lytle, '00, of Yakima, Washington.

The nominating committee composed of J. W. Hoar, '05, Mrs. Anna Jones Meier, '02, and Sam Buck, '08, reported at the close of the speech-making. They recommended O. B. Thorgrimson, '01, for president and renominated Mrs. Mae Belleville Beeler, ex'11, who has faithfully fulfilled her duties for several years as Secretary-Treasurer. Both nominations were unanimously approved.

Two Nebraskans are prominently in the lime light as candidates for the nomination of Mayor of Seattle; Walter Meier, '03, who is at present Corporation Counsel and Senator Dan London, who was once a resident of Nebraska. Neither one was able to be present altho the president had asked each to be sure and come and be ready to tell why the other should be elected Mayor. Mrs. Meier was present and responded briefly for her husband.

Following is a list of former Nebraskans who attend:

WASHINGTON ALUMNI HOLD GET-TOGETHER

Anniversary Meeting in Nation's Capitol For U. of N. Graduates.

The University of Nebraska alumni and near Washington, D. C., held an anniversary meeting on the evening of March 2, 1922 at the Wilson Normal School. Because of the absence of the president, the meeting had been postponed from February 16, the usual date. Forty-eight enthusiastic Nebraskans were present. Dr. Shantz president, and Mr. Pierce, the secretary, spoke briefly of the activity of the university alumni association and reported on the Wolfe Memorial fund. He read a report of the last meeting held at the University of Maryland. A nominating committee reported the following names for officers for the ensuing year: Colonel C. W. Weeks, Mrs. C. N. Temple, and Dr. C. W. Mitchell.

Mrs. Kenneth Warner favored the group with several piano solos and Professor Luckey spoke at length on the present condition of the educational system in foreign countries. He explained both the French and German plans, going into detail concerning the latter. Mrs. Bruman played two piano solos which were noteworthy in their clearness and interpretation of the movements.

The new president, Colonel Weeks, outlined the educational system of the U. S. Army. He stated that the army was a continuous school and gave some educational training to every man. This school extends from the lowest elementary study to graduate work, it was pointed out.

A collection of slides on the university was shown. These served to portray views of the old buildings and the professors, and brought many reminiscences to those present. The new buildings indicated the great progress which has been made on the campus.

A pleasant social hour followed the pictures and a buffet luncheon was served. Even though there was no football game, a hearty U-U-Uni yell which must have aroused the staid Washingtonists living in that neighborhood, was given. The next meeting of the association probably will be held in June at the University of Maryland, College Park, Maryland.

WESTOVER TO DEBATE ON BONUS QUESTION

Challenge Issued For Argument At Tuesday Evening Mass Meeting.

A hot time is expected Tuesday night at the city auditorium. B. G. "Nip" Westover, who graduated from the Nebraska law college a few years ago has challenged the world to debate on the soldier bonus. "Nip" is trimmed for action, and if a worthy opponent appears, the chances for excitement are good.

The soldier bonus has been a much mooted question for several months. Washington correspondents have attempted to sway public opinion by wordy articles, which are believed by many to have submerged or distorted the facts. The tide has ebbed and flowed with political regularity. The question of the rights of ex-service men and women has been made a handball; flung back and forth over the heads of constituencies to see if they would run after it, bark and wag their tails, or sink away from it with a sullen growl. Some of the players have tossed the ball as an inviting thing, a thing dedicated to justice and to the betterment of conditions in general; some have painted it a fiery red, with a leering face and horns, and whizzed it thru the air in the semblance of a meteor demon, which if allowed to light would destroy everything.

The American Legion wants the argument stripped of all political war paint; they want it presented solely on its merits; they want the people to judge it upon facts.

The mass meeting Tuesday night is for the purpose of presenting these facts. There will be a hotly waged debate if the challenge is accepted. If no other warrior appears to joust with "Nip" he will deliver a package of facts concerning adjusted compensation that will be an education in itself.

Another important event of the evening will be the American Legion band concert.

This meeting is being arranged by a committee of University students and Lincoln business and professional men. James Kinsinger, the chairman, is a senior law, and E. B. Chappell is in the Arts and Science college. The other members of the committee are: John Barrott, T. J. Hare, Ralph Crawford, Glen Crancer and Earl Hogue.

DR. GUERNSEY JONES UNABLE TO MEET CLASSES

Dr. Guernsey Jones, of the English History department, will probably not be able to attend classes the remainder of the semester because of illness.

Professor Cochran will take over the eleven o'clock division of English History, while Miss Reynoldson will have the one o'clock division. Prof. Donald McFayden will take charge of the Economic and Constitutional History classes.

The field Geology class 150 will return this evening from Wymore, where they have spent the week-end in studying geological formations.

The class was in charge of Professor Schramm and Mr. Petree. Ethel Wild, '24, is spending the week-end at her home in Wilbur.
