MANY MEN IN INTERCOLLEGE MEET SATURDAY

Twenty-Eight Events in Track Program on Nebraska Field This Week

TRYOUTS FOR DRAKE RELAYS TO BE HELD

Schulte Urges More Men to Come Out for Track Before Des Moines Meet

Nebraska will have the largest number of track men ever assembled on the athletic field for a home meet next Saturday, when the inter-college and preliminary Drake Relay tryouts will be held. The program will consist of thirteen varsity and fifteen inter-college events, and the meet will begin promptly at 2:30. The inter-college meet was won by the Ars last year, with the Arts tracksters for a close second.

The inter-college meet Saturday will be the biggest thing in intramural track that has ever been pulled off at the Cornhusker institution. Every college team captain reports a large number of men lined up, and all the colleges have strong teams. The rivalry between the various college teams is keen, and the meet promises to be hotly-contested.

Coach Schulte on Meet

In speaking of the inter-college meet, Coach Schulte made the following statement:

"These Intermural Meets are a big thing for track at Nebraska. Last year's intramural meets uncovered several of our Varsity stars for this season. I'd rather have 300 men take part in the inter-college meet—in all intramural track contests—than have a few stars compete. Given plenty of competition for a great number of men and the stars will appear of themselves.

I want every man in school who has been out for track a week or more to get into the runs Saturday and in the field events. I hope to see in addition to the regular track workers out a whole host of men who haven't found the time to come out.

Any man who cares to try out in the jumps or weights is urged to come out.

Report on the field in uniform and tryout. The officials will put down your name, and I'll be glad to look you over.

To make Nebraska truly great in track we must have men out. This is a meet for the novices and new men. Letter men and all men who have represented Nebraska this season in track are barred from such intramural competition.

Mr. New Man, come out and try. You can't do worse than I did my first race and I'm not ashamed of it. It was good fun at that. I ran the quarter. In a field of five men I finished sixth. A careless policeman walked across the finish line before I got in.

Regular work plus regular training plus sane coaching times the number of men working equals Nebraska's future teams.

R. W. + R. F. + S. C. × N. M. W. = Nebraska's Team.

Would it have been possible for Nebraska to have won the Valley last year and placed second in the Indoor Valley this year if we had had only 50 men in 1920 and 1921 instead of 175 in 1920 and over 300 in 1921?

There's your answer.

Drake Relay Tryouts

Preliminary tryouts for the Drake meet will be held Saturday. This will be the biggest varsity tryout in regard to numbers that has ever been held at Nebraska.

Any eligible man in the inter-college meet who betters the record of any of these Varsity men will be considered. The following athletes will compete in the tryouts:

110-yds, 440-team, Ed. Smith, Deering, Noble, Lukens, Gibbs, Hatch, Layton, Beckford and others.

220-yds, 80 team, Same lineup.

440 yds. mile team, Hawkins, Ted Smith, Davidson, Layton, Beckford, Bieser, Wier, Higgins and others.

ALUMNI JOURNAL TO BE A MONTHLY

Graduates' Publication to be Issued the Fifteenth of Every Month Under New Plan

Monthly publication of the University of Nebraska Alumni Journal is to be started with the May issue of the publication according to an announcement of Harold F. Holtz of the alumni association. The Journal will be published as a monthly ten months of the year, the summer months of July and August having no edition.

The Journal, in its monthly form, will contain sixteen pages besides the cover. Artistic designs for the front page will be used in each monthly issue.

In the past the Alumni Journal has been published every three months. This has caused much of the campus news to grow old before the alumni could receive it through their publication and it is believed that the new system of publishing the Journal will meet with the favor of all alumni.

Student Wants To Know Whether Flappers Flap At Nebraska U

As I sit down to my meager breakfast of toast and coffee, conveniently tilt the "Rag" against the sugar bowl or any other available piece of table artillery and prepare to digest the daily campus gossip. On the front page I see in bold black type the word "Flapper." I shrug my shoulders rather nonchalantly, as it were, and turn to the next page where the self-same "Flapper" greets my eye. A trifle disgusted and somewhat annoyed, I scan the next page only to find that identical, unexplainable, un-understandable, incomprehensible and meaningless word looking innocently out from the column or so devoted solely to its explanation. Then wonder of wonders—on the last page of this mighty printed collection of school activities, I find one article, aside from the advertisements therein contained, all of which is devoted to the "Flapper."

As explained by Friend Noah, the "Flapper" is one who flaps—or, a young game bird. Now to the first definition—one who flaps—I scarcely believe our current colloquialism is attributed. These lithe young figures of the so-called "Flapper," who would make Helen of Troy howl for a reducing diet, may scarcely be said to flap as they trip lightly and youthfully along with their hat carelessly placed on one side, their chin in the air, a book under one tan-coated arm and their gray hose defying the customary mourning (for what? I don't know) of their more ancient sistern.

As to the "young game bird"—well vaguely perhaps.

Why all this agitation and the somewhat disrespectful use of the word "Flapper"? Probably because whether scientist or poet, historian or artist, scholar or proletarian, and the somewhat loath to admit even a speaking acquaintance with such an insignificant microbe as the female of the species, they always revert sooner or later to man's principal topic of conversation—woman!

I ask you—Does the tipsy soft felt hat of the "Flapper" appeal to the masculine eye with more disdain than the "patent leather hair" of the lounge lizard? strikes the feminine optic? Does the gay colored scarf merit more scorn than the side-burns of the "tea hound"? Is the tan coat more mildly contemptuous than the "misplaced eyebrow" of the "cake-eater"? Are the short skirts more conspicuous than the tight fitting coat made especially to ostent the graceful-f-l-n masculine figure of the "cookie-crumcher"? And last of all, do the grey hose in themselves challenge sobriety to any greater extent than the male eye of the "lollygagger" who would follow them for two blocks?—Oh! Where are our men of yesterday?

Well—so be it! Perhaps the best way to be rid of an unpleasant thing is to ignore and treat it with utter disdain. Possibly I'm helping the "Flapper" accuse along. But anyway, sometimes a brain storm relieves the pressure and I do feel better.

TROUTMAN CAPTAIN OF 1923 WRESTLING TEAM

Intercollegiate Grappling Champion Selected to Lead Next Year's Squad

Stanton Troutman, the Cornhusker light-heavyweight wrestler, was chosen to lead the 1923 wrestling team by a unanimous vote of the matmen on Tuesday night. Captain-elect Troutman has been on the Husker grappling team for two years, and is one of the best wrestlers the Scarlet and Cream has ever had. During his two years of Cornhusker grappling, Troutman has won a large majority of his matches. He won the 175-pound class championship in the western intercollegiate this year, and captured second honors in this meet last year.

The open wrestling meet will begin this afternoon. A large number of capable grapplers have signified their intention of entering the meet, and a large turnout is expected. A large amount of interest is being shown in the meet, and the meet promises to be a hard-fought affair. Several freshmen, who are threatening to displace varsity men next year, will compete in the meet.

Dr. Clapp was chosen chairman of a committee to revise the wrestling rules of the western intercollegiate association at a recent meeting of the association, and is making plans with his committee to completely revise the wrestling rules before the association meeting in December when the revised rules will be submitted to the association, which now numbers in its list twelve colleges. Dr. Clapp is also making an effort to interest the high schools of the state in a high school wrestling meet.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR CAPS AND GOWNS MADE

The Senior Cap and Gown committee has arranged with the Co-Op Book Store to handle all the cap and gown orders for those receiving degrees in June.

Cards are being mailed to all those in the graduating class and the return card containing the blank form for sizes should be mailed within a week in order that the order may be placed in time for checking.

It will not be necessary to make a payment until the gowns are received and the return card which is the order will insure a cap and gown for each senior on commencement day.

Any irregularities will be handled by Margaret Henderson, Bob Hardt or the management of the Co-Op, first door south of the Conservatory.

SPRING FOOTBALL PRACTICE RESUMED

Re-Appearance of Sun Makes Workout Possible Under Dawson's Direction

The spring football men went thru another hard workout last night. The squad has been held back somewhat by the bad weather, but with the advent of the sunshine yesterday, workouts were resumed. Forty gridsters compose the squad, ten more candidates having reported last night. Coach Dawson is devoting the spring practices to the drilling of the fundamentals, so that this work can be dispensed with in the fall. Owen Frank assisted in the coaching yesterday.

Such fundamentals as handling the ball, backfield, sidestepping, passing the ball, and bucking the charging machine form a part of the daily drill. Punting is also being stressed, and several good punters are being developed. Various formations are worked on, and almost everything except actual scrimmage make up the workouts.

The spring training will continue up to the end of the spring year. Coach Dawson plans to thoroly instill the fundamentals of the pigskin sport during the spring training, so that when the fall practice begins September 15, everything will be ready for a strenuous campaign of football.

The spirit shown by the spring gridsters in the workouts has been exceptionally good. The men are full of enthusiasm, and pep is the keynote of the workouts. Coach Dawson and assistant coaches Bill Day and Farley Young are very well pleased with the "fight" displayed by the candidates.

The idea of spring football practice, which started but a few years ago, has been rapidly taken up, and is used now by practically all the large colleges and universities in the country. All the Valley schools report large spring training squads.

Open Wrestling Meet

Wrestlers who expect to participate in the open meet which starts at 4 p. m. Wednesday April 12th, may weigh in at any time between 12 noon Wednesday and the time for the meet to start. The usual two pound weight allowance will be made.

This meet is open to all wrestlers in the University except those who have competed on a varsity team. All members of the wrestling class who expect to receive credit either on this or the past semester are required to participate. R. G. CLAPP.

DENTAL COLLEGE REDUCES TUITION

Extension Department Announces Cut in Laboratory and Other Fees

Reduction of tuition fees in the Nebraska Dental College has been announced by the Extension Department. The tuition charge including all laboratory and other fees is as follows:

Pre-dental year	$39.00
Freshman year	111.99
Sophomore year	137.60
Junior year	170.00
Senior year	170.00

The requirements for entering the study of dentistry here are the same as in all other registered schools in the United States; that is, graduation from a four-year high school course. From that point the student is required to attend five sessions. Credits earned in the College of Dentistry are accepted for their face value in any other college of dentistry in America. The junior and senior years are already filled to their full capacity for next year. It is advised that those who contemplate beginning their dental education at Nebraska file their credits in advance with the registrar of the University in order that complete arrangements may be made for their accommodation at the opening of the session next September.

The summer session of the University is planned both to serve the needs of the teachers of the state and to students to shorten their residence at the institution.
