THE HERO COMES

Lincoln and the University of Nebraska paid homage to Marshall Joffre yesterday. The University played an important part in the entertainment of the great French general. The Pershing Rifles escorted him and his staff from the depot to the capitol grounds, where, by means of an interpreter, the "Hero of the Marne" made a very brief address to the assembled hundreds.

Joffre brought no message to the people of Lincoln. He expressed appreciation for the privilege of taking part in the services in connection with breaking the first ground for the new capitol. A display of glittering military medals upon his manly breast and a staff of flashy, gayly bedecked officers were the marshal's only stock in trade. He paid a brief tribute to our martyred ex-president, Abraham Lincoln; but he gave us no message from France.

And Joffre now holds a degree from old Nebraska. From the hands of Chancellor Avery the Frenchman received the diploma bestowing upon him the degree of Doctor of Philosophy from the University of Nebraska. He received it with becoming dignity and conducted himself as a true Cornhusker. His remarks were not prolonged and were undoubtedly to the point. He seemed to lack the characteristic volubility of the Frenchman.

But far be it from us to criticize the great hero. He ranks as one of the world's greatest military leaders and justly so. We meekly did him homage and doffed our hat when he passed by.

A world-renowned character has spent a few hours in our midst. Are we any better for his coming?

Contemporary Opinion

FURIOUS COLLEGE LIFE

When the average student refuses to do some friend a favor, or when he foregoes a picture show or cuts a class, or misses a dance, he heaves a sigh, or mutters a snap, "too busy." We, who also have our minor obligations of classroom activity and society, take him at his word and offer him a bit of brotherly sympathy; for we also are wrestling with the hallucination that we are likewise "too busy."

And so we continued our way of bonding beneath the burdens of a fast and furious college life, until we heard of one student whose business was exceeded only by his ambition and physical endurance.

This student is in the College of Agriculture. He waits tables for his board and tends furnace for his room. He works five hours at night in a restaurant, finishing up at midnight; then he takes a turn at night watchmen until 4 a. m., when he goes to bed for his less than six hours' daily sleep. When he studies no one can tell, and yet he is carrying on an average schedule and making good grades.

This man is determined to get a college education and it looks as though he were going to succeed. And we have learned that we, after all, are possibly not so busy as we thought.—Daily Illini.

The Exhaust.

A Freshman girl in the gym was heard to remark guilelessly as she watched one of the track men gyrate on the trapeze. "Gee, he's a good swinger!"

And she's from a small town, so we wouldn't wonder if she knows more about it than she lets on.

Speaking of Spring, the tennis courts are in action. Some of the girls are playing in gym suits, and some of them in "civics."

Shadows clear-cut on the dark slate roofs
Everything looks its best.
Bill asked me to go for a ride with him—
And to-day's my mid-term test!
—"The Co-Ed's Lament."

The Exhaust Editor is "exhausting" all the semi-humorous subjects. But there is no fun in the present situation—the combination of Spring and the Daily Grind.

Baseball at the U. of N. has already passed first base, stolen second, and gone on to third. And it's not long now until time to go "home."

Isn't it almost time for the revival of the jumping-rope.
A last short glance
Before the dance
To see if all is right
And since it is
We leave the sis,
And make we straight to dance.
An hour is past

It will not last
Until the party's through,
The pin is out,
There is no doubt,
Now it is slipping fast.

A yell! A shriek!
I safety seek,
Before the thing comes down.
They hear the pop,
The rancers stop,
As down my leg it comes.

Oh! Hellespoint!!
Don't you get sore
When people write like this?
All the would be poets
Write like this—
Its a good way to Cover territory.
And besides —
You can cut out
The pencil chewing Trying to get the Meter.

Other Worlds Than Our Own.

Oklahoma University—The first tennis match of the 1922 season was played April 10 with the University of Texas. The Texas men sent three men for two days matches.

Ohio University—The senior memorial fund of approximately $2400 will be used to help in the furnishing of the new women's union building.

Northwestern University—Fifty-six men are taking the tests here for membership in the honorary athletic fraternity, Sigma Delta Psi, a chapter of which is being established at Northwestern.

The requirements in the various events are not particularly high but the combination makes it necessary to be able to do considerable in an athletic line. The necessary records are to be able to swim 100 yards; to broad jump 17 feet; to high jump 5 feet; to pole vault 8½ feet; to dash 100 yards in 11 3-5 seconds; to do the 220 yard low hurdles in 31 seconds; to run two miles in 12 minutes and 15 seconds; and throw a baseball 250 feet.

University of Minnesota—Baseball, tennis, horseshoe, golf and track are all on the list of sports scheduled for spring competition by the professional fraternities at Minnesota.

Harvard—Harvard and Yale will send a tennis team to England. Three men from each university will sail on July 4 for a tournament with an Oxford-Cambridge sextette on July 17 and 18.

FILM SENSATION BOOKED.
The spectacular Fox special, "A Virgin of Paradise," by Hiram Percy Maxim, which created a furor in New York, is coming to the Orpheum Theatre next Wednesday for a 4 days' run. It is the story of a half wild girl who grew up in the jungle, with wild animals as her only companions, and then was brought into civilization, where she found much to displease her. J. Searle Dawley directed the production.

In addition to "A Virgin of Paradise" the Orpheum will give "Try to Get It" a comedy of the moment. Shows start at 1-3-5-7 and 9 p. m. and the prices will be 25c all over the theatre.

In Years Gone By.

Seventeen Years Ago Today
The freshman-sophomore scrap took place at Convocation. The occasion of the scrap was a lamb, tethered in front of U hall by the sophomores and labeled "A Lost Freshman."

Thirteen Years Ago Today
An art exhibit from the Chicago Art Institute was presented in the library building. It included twenty five oil paintings of very good workmanship.

Ten Years Ago Today
The masculine members of the "Rag" reportorial staff were the guests of the editors at the Orpheum theatre.

Seven Years Ago Today
The Sophomore party given by Silver Serpents at Musical Hall was attended by nearly one hundred.

Six Years Ago Today
A League of the Second Generation that is a club formed of students whose parents attended the University, was proposed for the purpose of promoting a greater Nebraska.

Two Years Ago Today
Nebraska won the opening baseball game from Wesleyan by the score of 7 to 2.

MARRIAGES

The marriage of Miss Elma Sturdevant and Carl Jones took place last Monday at Bridgeport. Both people are graduates of the University. Mrs. Jones has been director of home economic work in Morrill county. Mr. Jones is in charge of Boys' club work in connection with the University Extension.

The Magician requested some gentleman in the audience to lend him his hat—he got a DUNLAP $7.00

MAGEE'S

Jones is in charge of Boys' club work in connection with the University Extension. Arthur Ackerman of Fairbury visited his brother, Walter, at the Sigma Chi house. Beatrice Broughton, '24, will visit in Beatrice this week end.
