When the publication of the Alumni Journal was changed from quarterly to monthly, Mr. Holtz found that he would need some one to take charge of the work and he selected Peterson for the position. Peterson is now reporting on the Daily Nebraskan. He was for three years connected with The Lincoln Star and worked for one year on the Lincoln High School Advocate. He is a member of Alpha Sigma Phi and of Green Goblin, freshman men's society.

The Alumni Journal is to be published ten months each year, the summer months of July and August having no issue. In the past it has been published but four times each year but the fact that much of the material for the Journal must be held for a long period before it can be used has made the change to monthly publication advisable.

Professor Gurnsey Jones, professor of English history, is reported to be recovering from his recent illness rapidly. Professor Jones will not return to instruct his classes this year, however, because of the University's granting him a leave of absence until next fall.

BLOCK AND BRIDLE HOLDS INITIATION

History of Club Told to New Men at Thursday Business Meeting

Fifteen students were initiated into membership of the Block and Bridle Club at its meeting in the Judging Pavilion Thursday evening, April 13. Prof. W. J. Loeffel of the Animal Husbandry department made a short, inspiring talk about the history of the organization, its aims and purposes. A short business meeting followed. Then formality was abandoned and the rest of the evening spent in talk and good fellowship over "the cup that cheers."

"In 1914," said Professor Loeffel, "a group of advanced Animal Husbandry students at Missouri Agricultural College began to hold occasional evening meetings to further interest in their line of work and to become better acquainted with each other. The group organized permanently and chose the name of Block and Bridle Club."

"At the same time other schools were forming similar organizations. Several years later, members of clubs in the various state colleges who became acquainted at the Chicago International Livestock Exposition held a meeting and formed a national organization with branch chapters at respective schools, adopting for its name 'Block and Bridle Club'."

The spirit of fellowship developed among the members and the value of the club in spreading information about the livestock industry were especially stressed by Professor Loeffel as the greatest functions of an organization of this nature. "The comradeship, the ability to get together, to mix with others and exchange ideas which a student can get out of his college days, and any organization which develops this ability is serving a most excellent purpose."

The speaker then briefly reviewed the various activities of the club and urged participation by every member in as many of these activities as possible. He especially commended the club upon its admirable management of the recent College Judging Contest, and spoke of the opportunity offered for boosting interest in the Animal Husbandry department work through the Farmers' Fair.

The new members of the club are: W. B. Bennison, A. M. Daniels, L. W. Grandy, L. E. Hammang, O. C. Hatch, Lee King, R. Mackey, W. E. Shainholtz, A. Stenger, H. Turner, E. H. Weisenreder, F. Getty, P. Gaddies, Wm. Morrow and B. Russell.

VARSITY DAIRY CLUB TAKES OMAHA TRIP

Omaha Day for Dairy Men Meets With Big Success in Metropons

Omaha Day, April 7, for dairy students sponsored by the Varsity Dairy Club was highly successful. Fifteen men, together with four members of the faculty of the Dairy Department of the College of Agriculture, made the trip. The weather man co-operated in contributing to the success of the trip by reserving for the club a fine day. A time schedule was followed quite closely in visiting the several plants.

The tour was commenced by a visit to the plant of the Fairmont Creamery Co. The Fairmont people have a fine plant in Omaha with an output of about 11,000,000 lbs. of butter per year. They possess a chain of ten plants extending from coast to coast with a total output of 35,000,000 lbs. of butter per year. All the processes of the plant were explained by the guides which conducted the party through the plant, answering in full all questions asked by the visitors. Upon leaving, the party was treated with brick ice cream which was of a high quality.

The next plant visited was that of the Kirschbaum Creamery Co. This plant is the only one as yet belonging to this company and is one of the most modern in the city. All appliances and apparatus used in this plant are of a modern type. In the pasteurizing room, the vats are enclosed in tie foundations. The walls of this room are also tiled. A large number of cases of eggs are gathered and stored by this company. The output is about 9,000,000 lbs. of butter per year.

The plant of the David Cole Creamery Co. was the next stop listed on the itinerary. They were in the midst of reorganization and installation of machinery at the time of the visit. All the new tanks and vats will be glass lined. This company has quite an extensive southern trade, much of their butter going to Nashville, Tennessee. They considered their output at 6,000,000 lbs.

The Kennedy & Parson Dairy Supply Co. and the Harding Ice Cream Co. were then visited. At these places the most up-to-date machinery and processes in the ice cream industry were exhibited. The Harding people treated the group to a sample of the far famed Eskimo Pie.

The Graham Ice Cream Co. manufactures a high class brand of assorted chocolates and other candies. It was here that Eskimo Pie was brought to its present state of perfection. Mr. Graham personally conducted the party through the plant. He is a versatile conversationalist and gave an exceedingly interesting account of the work done in his plant. He has made many economical innovations in the system of the plant and understands minutely all points of the business. Mr. Graham gave members of the party much first-hand information and advice in the conduct of a business such as his.

The Alamito Milk Co., the Omaha Milk Co., and the Peters Milling Co. were next visited in order named. Much of interest was seen at all of these places.

FANCY FLINGING ON OPENING DAY

NEW YORK, April 13.—Opening games of the major leagues' season were marked yesterday in most instances by the effective work of the men on the pitching mound. "Dutch" Reuther of Brooklyn engaged Arlie Nehf of the Glants in a tussle at the Polo Grounds. "Dutch" permitted only occasional bingles and won.

Urban Shocker of the Browns had an interesting contest in the Windy City. Faber allowed only three hits, but issued a trio of passes, two of which blossomed into runs and defeat. Shocker was touched for nine scattered wallops.

Sherdell, ace of the Cardinals, was opposed to Cooper, the Pirate Star, in St. Louis. Sherdell was effective, but Cooper wasn't.

Grover Cleveland Alexander hurled the Cubs to an easy victory over the Cincinnati Reds; the veteran moundsman Quinn lost a close decision for the Red Sox against Philadelphia
