

KAPPA DELTS WIN SONG BOOK PRIZE

Sheffield Tea Service Chosen as Organization Reward in the Contest Last Week

Kappa Delta won the first prize in the contest among the organizations selling the new edition of the Cornhusker song book held on the campus last week, according to an announcement made by Harold Holtz, alumni secretary, Saturday.

The individual prize will not be awarded on account of the fact that no one sold the required number of books. The girl selling the largest number of books, Ruth Barrett, will be awarded a song book with her name embossed in gold as a reward. Twenty-five subscriptions were to be secured by one girl before the individual prize could be won.

The Kappa Deltas had an average of 2.23, or slightly over two subscriptions for each member of the active chapter.

PHILOSOPHY ASS'N MEETS IN LINCOLN

Annual Meeting of Western Division Held in Art Gallery

The annual meeting of the western division of the American Philosophical Association was held at the art gallery of Library Hall Friday and Saturday. Sessions were held in the forenoon, afternoon and evening of these two days.

Professors of philosophy from western universities were in attendance and gave addresses. Prof. C. O. Weber, introduced by Prof. H. B. Alexander, both of the University of Nebraska, Saturday morning gave an address on "The Reality of Chance."

The visiting members were Professors James H. Tufts; A. W. Moore; E. S. Ames of Chicago University; E. L. Schaub of Northwestern University; H. W. Wright of University of Manitoba, Canada; A. P. Brogan, G. W. Cunningham of University of Texas; G. A. Tawney of Cincinnati and Prof. Dickinson of University of Denver.

The visiting members were guests of the Department of Philosophy at a dinner at the Lincolnshire Friday evening. Prof. E. S. Ames, president of the association, gave an address on "Religious Values." The president's address was followed by the annual business meeting of the association.

RECOMMEND LAMB BE FED ON GRAIN

As the maximum growth of lambs cannot be expected unless grain is fed, and lambs become fond of grain when only a few days old, the creep method of feeding is recommended to sheep growers by the University of Nebraska agricultural college. A "creep" is a pen with suitable prepared openings accessible to the lambs, but not to older sheep.

A high, dry spot near where the ewes are corralled is an ideal location, says the college, and dry fresh feed should be available at all times, as sour or mouldy feed is a forerunner of trouble.

"Usually, lambs learn to eat grain more quickly if they are started on a mixture of bran and oats, as they are partial to this feed," declares the college. "A gradual change to any desired ration may then be easily made with good results. Lambs that are to be shipped to market should receive a ration consisting chiefly of corn by the time they are two months old. Corn, along with the ewe's milk and with pasture, produces fat lambs which kills out a desirable carcass.

"Lambs that are to be kept as breeding stock should not receive a great amount of corn, but rather should be fed oats and some bran. Oats and bran, the milk of the ewe, and pasture, tend to produce a rugged, growthy lamb with a strong bone and vitality.

NEBRASKA RELIEF CORN IS RECEIVED

OMAHA, April 15.—More than 150,000 bushels of Nebraska corn have been fed to the Armenians, Charles V. Vickrey, general secretary of the Near East Relief, told the members of the agricultural committee of the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday. He expressed his thanks to the farmers who contributed this, and to the railroads who hauled it free to the ocean ports.

The 5,000,000 loaves of bread made from this Nebraska corn, he said, have advertised this food in a part of the world where it formerly was unknown, and will open up new markets for the corn belt. Other states nearby have become interested in corn crops and are inquiring about prices.

"The orphans who are being fed on the charity of America will one day be leaders in their land," Mr. Vickrey said. "They are being made self-supporting as fast as possible, although the problem of their care will continue in a decreasing degree for several years. A tract of farm lands of 150,000 acres has been given to the relief association. The tractors tractors have been put into service and the older boys are being trained in modern agricultural methods. The girls are making lace and carpets and some of their beautiful work is being sold today in the shops on Fifth avenue.

Carita Herzog left Saturday for Omaha to attend the one hundredth birthday celebration of her grandmother, Mrs. William Rotschild.

Emily Ross, '24, left this morning for her home in Omaha, where she will spend several days.

Frank Elchberg, ex '15, is visiting at the Sigma Nu house.

BOWEN PUBLISHES BOOK ON NEBRASKA

Former Student, Now Instructor at Wayne, is Author of "The Government of Nebraska"

Oran R. Bowen, who received his master of arts degree from the University of Nebraska in 1904, now an instructor at the Wayne Normal school, is the author of a book entitled "The Government of Nebraska." The book is written for use in public schools of the state and contains all of the changes to the constitution which were made by the constitutional convention meeting at Lincoln in January, 1921.

There are fourteen chapters to the book, besides appendices containing the new state constitution, figures on the populations of all counties, list of the cities over 5000, financial and tax figures on all counties, proportionate distribution of the state's revenue, list of holidays, governors and other miscellaneous information.

The book gives all important information about the government of the state, counties and cities, relation of the state elections to the national government, tax and revenue information and outlines the educational system of the state. It is an excellent book for study in the grade schools.

Lora Lloyd, '23, will spend the week end at her home in Nehawka.

HUSKERS WIN INITIAL GAME FROM COYOTES

in yesterday's game. Carman and Ziegenbein were put on the mound in the last innings of the game, both men doing excellent work at that position.

Practically all the substitutes were run into action before the close of the game, as the Huskers had a sufficient lead on the Coyotes to allow them extras some practice.

The Coyotes, in the last three or four innings of the game, played a harder game of baseball, which if they had started in the first inning would have made a more even score. They made five runs in the eighth.

Next Saturday a second game will be played with the Coyotes and they are planning to come back harder, playing the quality of ball they began in the last two innings of yesterday's game.

The two games with Kansas University April 27 and 28, according to Coach Owen Frank, will be among the hardest in which the Huskers will participate.

"Terrible" Thompson showed up well in his hitting but received an injured knee sliding into second in the fifth frame.
