THE "N" CLUB

We have often heard numerous questions asked concerning the uses, purposes, etc., of the Nebraska "N" Club. Many individuals seemed at a loss to know in what manner this club functioned or what reasons it could offer for its existence. And we are forced to admit that for a long time we couldn't think of any very good answer for such queries. The "N" Club seemed to just barely exist and really accomplish nothing.

But that was in the dim, distant past. Such questions are needless now, and are never asked. Every body knows what the "N" Club is doing. At least the thousand students who attended the interfraternity track meet yesterday know.

The "N" Club has made a name for itself this year in sponsoring and managing interfraternity and intercollegiate athletics. It has handled a number of tournaments and meets with excellent success and has shown Nebraska students that it really has a very important place in university activities and perform a very important mission.

We want to congratulate the "N" Club and the athletic department on the success of yesterday's meet. Everything was handled in a business-like manner, with the small exception of the mistake in charging at the gate. This was one of those mistakes that are bound to happen and was overlooked by thinking students.

At last the "N" club found its niche and we are sure it will continue throughout the years to exert a vital influence in athletic circles.

Contemporary Opinion

MICHIGAN ERRED

While the adage, "spare the rod and spoil the child," is antiquated in the schools of today, yet the spirit of this old maxim is clearly evident in the recent action of the administration at Michigan state normal college, where seventeen students were expelled for smoking.

"This college will not knowingly permit any young woman to remain in school, much less graduate her, who smokes tobacco," states the subsequent proclamation issued by the president of the institution and the dean of women.

Certain a clear and straight forward statement of their attitude on the question of smoking. And they have not hesitated to back up their words with action, or rather, their action with words. Fair warning is hereby given to any member of the weaker sex in that institution who in the future feels the craving for a visit with lady nicotine.

The majority of men and women all over the country are slightly opposed to the use of tobacco by women. Every man has a little of the puritanical streak in him which objects to this habit in the feminine sex. The authorities at the Michigan institution do not stand alone in their opposition. But the administration was a trifle indiscreet and hasty in the manner of coping with the situation.

Through the action of expulsion the normal school has placed a stain upon the names of these young women which will follow them for many years. For with the expulsion of these women on the charges of smoking goes the implication of loose morals in the minds of a large part of the public. The action has been made public and the seventeen girls are already probably under the ban of censure and reproof.

The method which the Michigan school used in dealing with the problem is far from commendable. For what was merely a school prank these girls have been forced under the censure of their schoolmates and home society.—Daily Kansan.

The W. A. A. girls must have a different method of dancing from the usual one. They advertise it as "drama" which is the spiffy word for "show."

And in a couple of weeks, if the propagandists have any idea, the whole school will be carolling as we walk down R street to our eight o'clocks—and otherwise expressing our individuality as we back from our five o'clocks.

The University chorus sang "Faust" last evening. Isn't that the one where the poor devil buys a girl's soul and then finds that she hadn't any after all?

Kosmet play is scheduled To play on May the first— And May-Day is for Socialists The day they do their worst. We make no accusations But we wonder if the cast Will make its first appearance Do duty as its last.

Did you ever notice that "love" sets begin on the courts? They sometimes end there, too.

DANCE FLOOR SMILE ECHOES Everybody on the dance floor today may not be executing the Conversation Walk. But, verbal patter between partners often keeps pace with the pitter-patter of their feet on the waxed floor. Some of the conversation doesn't mean anything. Much of the talk is mere gossip. And naturally, most of the sayings are about dancing and thoughts akin to the light fantastic. The steppers usually converse merely for the sake of sociability. Often the words that pass between strutting or gliding couples are highly humorous although said in all seriousness. Dance jokes in the current press echo some of these conversations. On the screen, "Topics of the Day" films present these jokes with laughing success. Now, whether you dance, or whether you are a wall or a snailflower, you ought to find some smiles in our card of dance floor echoes:

She (feily)—I wonder where all the men who can dance are.

He (feeling his sore foot)—In dancing with the girls that can dance, I guess.—N. Y. Univ. Medley.

Shades of the Shimmy He (at any dance)—I think Jim is trying to shake his girl.

She—I think Jim is succeeding.—McKeesport, Pa., News.

Gushing Girl—I believe I have danced with you before, haven't I? Her victim—I dunno; if you have why don't you do it now?—Vaudeville News.

Two would be "dizzies" were revolving about on the dance floor.

May—I know something you don't know.

Ray—What's that? May—You're on my foot.—"Topics of the Day" Films.

Mildred—I overheard that dear young man telling you I danced like a zephyr.

Ruth—Zephyr? He said Heifer.—Dance Review.

Rastus (at the dance)—Mandy, is your program full?

Mandy—Lawdy, no, it takes mo' dan two sandwiches an' a cup of tea to fill ma program.—The Owl.

The Automatic Push-Back

The Redipoint lead is out only when you want it out—for writing.

When you don't want it, the lead is up inside the barrel, out of harm's way.

The Automatic Push-Back does the trick. It whisks the lead back into the barrel instantly, at a pressure straight down on the point.

Redipoint alone gives you this patented Push-Back. It protects lead from breakage. It protects pockets from damage.

See it—try it—today. Prices from 50 cents up.

Other Worlds Than Our Own.

Stephens Colleg. Mo.—A new $100,000 dormitory to accommodate one hundred and thirty girls will be started on the campus soon. It will be ready by October the first.

Massachusetts Tech.—The management of Technique 1922 has purchased a beautifully designed and finished cup on which will be inscribed each year the name of the athlete who makes the best record in track and field sports. The trophy will be formally awarded each year at the annual banquet of the track team and the winner will receive a small replica which will become his permanent property. At all times the original cup will be kept in the trophy room of the M. I. T. A. A.

Iowa State College—Twenty humor creators of Ames have organized the Order of the Gossings. This is the first year of the order which was instituted by the staff of the publication as an honorary group for members of the Gander staff who had worked on two issues of the paper.

Georgia Tech—Quite a number of the Tech R. O. T. C. chaperons and sponsors have been entertained by the Seaboard and Blade Military fraternity during the past few weeks. Luncheons have been given on the first and fifteenth of each month at the Capital City club in their honor.

University of Illinois—Extensive plans are being made here for Mothers' Day on Saturday, May 6th, when the entire University will devote its time to the entertainment of mothers of the students.

Drake College—The Men's Panhellenic council here has planned a formal for all fraternity men. This will be the most elaborate affair of the year.

"Singing before class puts students in a good humor—that alone would make song day worth while," said Prof. H. C. Brown. Song day neither adds nor subtracts from the efficiency of the classroom work, according to Professor Brown, though it makes a considerable difference in the students' dispositions. "I should like to see it tried here," he said.—Daily Call Journal.

Attention

Monday evening will be the last opportunity for campus organizations to take advantage of the offer of the business management of the Kosmet play. Each organization that buys thirty or more tickets for "The Knight of the Nymphs," to be given at the Orpheum May 11 in the afternoon and evening is entitled to reserve the tickets in advance of the general public. Information regarding the offer may be secured from members of the club or at the Student Activities office.
