GINDER TEAM COMPETES IN VALLEY MEET

Husker Trackmen Left Yesterday
For Valley Championship
Meet at Lawrence

KANSAS JAYHAWKERS
ARE THE FAVORITE

Kansas Team, Captained by Bradley, Olympic Star, Strong in Field Events

The Nebraska track team which will compete in the Missouri Valley conference championship track meet at Lawrence May 26 and 27 leaves today at 1:20. The Cornhusker tracksters are in fine shape for the meet, and as a result of their victories in dual meets the last three weeks, are expected to make a strong showing in the Valley athletic carnival. Every school in the valley will have strong teams at the meet and the hottest contest ever staged for Valley honors is promised.

Coach Schulte is taking the following cinder path artists to the valley classic: Captain Ed Smith, Dave Noble, Deering, Gibbs, Hawkins, Ted Smith, Maurice Gardner, Coats, Bowman, Higgins, Allan, Fischer, Stemmans, Hatch, Herbert Gish, Red Layton, Lear, Lukens Hartmen, Weller, Wenke, Turner, Riddleberger, Schoepel and Brown. Four golfers and four tennis players who will compete in the Valley tennis and golf tournaments will go with the track team in their special car.

Nebraska won the Missouri Valley championship last year in fairly easy fashion but Coach Schulte faces a different proposition this spring. Floyd Wright and Fred Dale, a pair of sure first place winners, have been graduated and Nebraska is without a man that can be safely counted on for a first position.

"We are up against a real proposition this week," comments Coach Schulte. "Our chief strength in the sprints, relay and certain field events which has been winning for us in the dual meets will be cut into by other schools of the Valley, while Kansas with Bradley and Missouri, with Hamilton, can breeze along with about the same strength as shown in the dual meets."

The Kansas Aggies threaten to make a severe inroad in the Huskers' point total in dashes and hurdles. Wiley of the Kansas Farmers is the class of the Valley in the low hurdles and looks good in the highs. Irwin beat Smith of Nebraska in the century last week, but the Husker captain came back and whipped the Aggie sprinter in the 220-yard dash. Paul of Grinnell as well as Simond and Burrill of Missouri must also be counted on as strong contenders in the sprints.

Ames Has Edge in 440
Wolters of Ames looks like one of the leading quarter-mile performers. He looked especially good to Nebraska track fans when he lowered the Nebraska track record two weeks ago. O'Leary of Kansas, who was beaten by Ted Smith of Nebraska, also looks good.

Gardner of Nebraska, who set a new Nebraska record last week, is prepared to give them a fight in the 220-yard event. Wolters or Higgins of Ames, however, will probably copy first position.

Allen of Nebraska is favored by Valley dopsters to win the mile run. He won the even in the indoor meet and also in three dual meets in which he has been entered.

Weller and Moulton, Nebraska, look good in the discus, but Hamilton of Missouri and Bradley of Kansas have been consistently hitting close to the Nebraska's best marks.

Bradley Strong in Shot
Bradley is favored in the shot put. Hamilton of Missouri looks like a best second. This pair should also copy in the broad jump.

Nebraska is weak in the pole vault and can hardly hope to place. The Huskers, however, are pulling for some of the other Valley contenders to keep Kansas away from the score column in this event.

In the javelin throw, Schoepel and Wenke of Nebraska may place well in front. Hamilton and Bradley, however, are expected to push them hard. In the two-mile it looks like a three cornered fight between Rathbun of

CORNHUSKERS TO BE DISTRIBUTED TODAY

Today the Cornhusker is out! The annual for this year is finally in the hands of the students and may be secured at the Student Activities office. It is, according to Editor Randol, the "biggest and best" of the long line of annuals.

The book is bound in maroon-colored leather, and is artistically lettered in gold. It will make an admirable addition to any library. And in after years, the Cornhusker will mean more and more to the loyal Nebraskan.

The annual is dedicated to Professor Barbour, who has made himself a friend to so many of the students of Nebraska.

The co-eds will be particularly interested in the "Beauty Section," and the male exponents of the Terpsichorean and other arts will also find themselves between the covers of the book. The Student Life section is purely original, and different from those of the last few years, which have received so much adverse criticism.

"Everybody's Cornhusker" and "Everybody a Cornhusker" are the slogans of this year's staff.

PARENTS RECEPTION COMMENCEMENT DAY

Mothers and Fathers of Students
Invited to Visit Uni Monday, June 5.

Monday, June 5, a reception for the mothers and fathers of Nebraska students will be held all day at Ellen Smith hall.

June 5 is commencement day and many parents of graduating seniors are expected to be in Lincoln. To be sure that there will be a restful place in which parents may relax after the morning's program or sometime during the afternoon, the plan was adopted to help them.

All day members of the senior class will be in charge of the care and entertainment of visiting parents. Refreshments will be served and any wants they need fulfilling will be cared for.

Nora Livingston is in charge of the Parents Day at Ellen Smith hall and under her are a number of competent seniors who have expressed their willingness to be of service that day.

ATHLETIC REVIEW OUT ON THURSDAY

"Tales of the Cornhuskers" to be Released on First Day of June

The "Tales of the Cornhuskers" Nebraska's yearly athletic review will be distributed to all "N" men and those men who have been working out for places on any Nebraska athletic team.

Those men desiring copies of the book may get them by calling at the Athletic office any time after June 1. "N" men who wish to have the book mailed to them may have this done if they will register their summer addresses at the Athletic office.

In order to let the management of the book know how many copies of the book should be printed, those students who did not win "N" but are eligible for the books because of their attempt should register their names at once at the Athletic office.

The "copy" and cuts for the book may be secured for fifty cents. Orders may be placed in the Student Activities office now.

Lyle Holland has returned from Wilbur where he spent the week end.

Elva Hartford of Plattsmouth, Florence Lyfert of Falls City and Inez Peregoy of Council Bluffs were guests at the Pi Beta Phi house over the week end.

A FEW EXTRA CORNHUSKERS

A few additional copies of the 1922 Cornhusker will be available for students who were unable to subscribe during the past semester. These will be kept at the Student Activities office and may be purchased at the same price offered to subscribers.

Ward Randol, editor-in-chief, and Ray Stryker, business manager of "Everybody's Cornhusker."

CORNELL INTRODUCES AN UNUSUAL COURSE

Hotel Management Class Adopted
Into Curriculum of Eastern University

Cornell is initiating into its curriculum a new course—Hotel Management. The successful "running" of the hostilities of this country has already become the fourth largest industry and Cornell's system of industrial training is trying to include all important branches of the business world.

"Few people," says George M. Sweeney in the July number of the Hotel Management Magazine, "realizes what a tremendously complex, interesting, and human organization exists solely for the purpose of rendering them a service. They notice the prominent personages—famous actors, actresses, politicians, business men and society leaders—who crowd the lobbies, are impressed, perhaps by the grandeur of the place, but they never think of the hotel's staff—the men and women who make their surroundings possible. Yet the hotel industry offers a very real and lucrative opportunity to the student of today who can bring to it the right qualifications and mental attitude."

In the past, the public has been in the habit of grouping hotel men with tavern keepers (in most cases unjustly, of course) and because of this feeling it has been different for the hotel man to assume his proper place in the nation's business, but has resulted in attracting to the hotel business far too few intelligent men. Most young men have never thought of the hotel business when trying to decide on a career, largely because of this sub-conscious impression.

But with the beginning of the college courses, there will be more information and less superstition—and better hotel management.

UNIVERSITY CHORUS TO GIVE DRAMATIC CANTATA

The University Chorus will give a dramatic cantata, "The Gate of Life," by Leon Sunday evening, June 4, at St. Paul church. The cantata is a story of the early Christians of the third century in Rome.

Part I is a dedication of the Temple of the Sun. The people are assembled awaiting the arrival of the Emperor Aurelian. In the midst of the dedication service the voice of the young Christian Portia is heard proclaiming that there is only one true God and that the Roman gods are false. This throws the people into a frenzy of rage and they declare that the Christians must die.

The second part is a prison scene at midnight. The imprisoned Christians are awaiting their fate in the arena on the morrow. In this terrible hour they sing their hymns of unflinching faith.

Scene three is the arena. The chief priests are calling upon their gods to look down with favor upon them. Just before death the Christians sing their hymns of faith and confidence. The mob breaks forth in fury again. At the very last the Christians sing the hymn of triumph and meet death bravely.

A twenty piece orchestra will accompany the chorus.

The soloists and parts are taken as follows:
Portia—Margaret Perry.
Probus—Francis Diers.
Chief Priest—Oscar Bennett.

THIS YEAR'S IVY DAY TO BE LARGEST EVER

May Queen Will Be Chosen and Hundreds of Former Graduates Will Witness Scene

This year's Ivy Day promises to be the best and largest yet in the Cornhusker history. With hundreds of Grads retracing their steps on the old campus it cannot help but be a great success, from the point of view of Nebraska spirit as well as from that of beauty.

Who will be Queen? What girl has gone through school active enough in affairs of the college to be rewarded with the highest honor given a senior woman? In the morning of next Thursday the secret will be out. Surrounded by her attendants, her subjects will do her homage in festive songs and dances before her.

In the morning also, the junior and senior class presidents will plant the Ivy, the symbol of perpetual growth, left each year by the outgoing class. The senior poet will be known for the first time, with the reading of his eulogy to Nebraska and his class. Kenneth McCandless will give the oration of the day.

The whole program of the morning will take place on the city campus at the site of the Little Green Theater and will be under the supervision of the Mortarboards. In the afternoon the program will be held at Antelope Park.

The Mortarboards for next year will be masqued and the Innocents tapped. Those who have been the most representative in Nebraska activities and carrying out her ideals will be honored publicly for their work by choice of the two honorary societies. The whole program of the afternoon is planned and directed by the Innocents.

In the evening the big inter-fraternity sing and dance will take place at Antelope Park.

CHLORINE GAS NEARLY FATAL AT DRAKE UNI

DES MOINES, May 25.—Twenty firemen were overcome by chlorine gas and rushed to hospitals when the science building of Drake university was threatened with destruction from fire here last night. Six of the injured firemen are said to be in a serious condition and two may not recover.

The fire is believed to have started from a gas jet which was left burning in the private laboratory of Prof. C. W. Kinney, head of the physics and chemistry departments at the university. The gas jet is thought to have melted the plug from a tank of chlorine gas which stood beside the jet, liberating the chlorine gas fumes and causing a small explosion.

The fire was soon extinguished and property loss was estimated at $5,000. Of the twenty-six firemen who were overcome eight soon recovered and were taken to their homes. The twelve others are in the city hospital.

Leo Petree, ex-'21, left for South America recently where he will do work in geology.

A AND S STUDENTS

The distinctive caps designed for Arts and Science Students are to be worn on the campus June 2, during the pageant which is being produced by the college. The caps may be received at the College Book Store.

FORMER STUDENTS TO RETURN FOR FIRST-ANNUAL CORNHUSKER ROUNDUP

Ivy Day Program Opens Funfest
—Innocents and Black Masque Tapping at Park

CARNIVAL ON SATURDAY
TO CLOSE THE REUNION

Baccalaureate Sermon by Dr.
Fast and Commencement
Address by Dr. Finley

In just one week the University of Nebraska will be host to hundreds of its former students when the three day Cornhusker Roundup starts off with a leap and a bound on June 1. Starting with the traditional Ivy Day celebration, the funfest will run for a trio of days, coming to a close with a campus carnival on Saturday night. The baccalaureate sermon by Dr. J. G. W. Fast of Omaha and the commencement address by John H. Finley, associate editor of the New York Times, will come on Sunday and Monday respectively and will close the university courses for the students receiving their degrees with the class of 1922.

This is the first year in the history of the university that a big celebration under the auspices of the alumni association has been held. In future the Cornhusker Roundup is to be an annual affair. Every class from '73 to '22 is urging its members back and from reports coming to Lincoln, there will be an overflow of former students. Every college and every organization has a program lined up for its alumni. The three day program is jammed full of events from start to finish.

Thursday, June 1, is the first day of the celebration. On this day will be held the traditional Ivy Day program with the beautiful feature of crowning the May Queen—who is yet unknown. Then in the afternoon there will be a program at Antelope Park, at which time tapping of the Innocents and Black Masques will be held. In the evening comes the big inter-fraternity stag and a dance, both at the park.

BIG TEN MEET TO HAVE FAST EVENTS

Predict Middle Distance Races
Exceptional at Meet at Iowa
to be Held Next Week

IOWA CITY, May 24.—Middle distance running at the annual Big Ten track meet and field meet to be held at the University of Iowa June 2nd and 3rd will bring together a fast field of performers from western colleges and universities. In addition Fessenden of Illinois, Spetz of Wisconsin, Pyott of Chicago, Johnson of Minnesota and Wilson and Morrow of Iowa in the 440 yard run and Higgins and Wolters of Ames, Switzer of Minnesota, Ramsey of Wisconsin, Yates of Illinois and Noll and Morrow of Iowa in the half mile, altogether a collection of stars such as will give the spectators a whiff of startling competition as these entries fight in out for points in the western classic.

In the 440 yard run practically all named are doing the quarter in 50 seconds or less this season, while the half mile finds several men in the 1:37 class, including Higgins of Ames who won the event at the Big Ten meet last year. Dual meets to be held next Saturday may give some further indication as to which men have the best chance to win the week following, but present dope is that any one of these leading entries may take first, depending almost entirely on the condition of the men the day of the race.

Nor will the battle be limited to the above entries, as other Big Ten universities and some of the smaller colleges have stars capable of cutting in on the better known favorites. As far as close competition goes it seems likely that the half mile will furnish perhaps the most spirited race. Noll of Iowa, Yates of Illinois and Switzer of Minnesota will have an argument to settle between themselves, while Morrow of Iowa and Higgins of Ames will battle again for honors won by Morrow in the state meet at Des Moines last Saturday.

College Reunions Friday

College reunions come on Friday. The college of law is planning a big barbecue to be held at the Lincoln Auto Club Park. The former law students will meet at the law building at 10:30 in the morning and a parade to the park will be held. The colleges of engineering, pharmacy, medicine, agriculture and business administration have all notified their former students of interesting programs to be held in their honor. Letters by the hundreds have been going out from each of these colleges which have special committees in charge of the celebrations.

The feature of the college programs probably will be the pageant of arts and sciences. The pageant, written by Professor H. B. Alexander, depicts the growth of the college from the time of Greece until the present day. It is a beautiful program and several of the other colleges are dismissing their meeting early in order to allow their alumni to witness the program. The pageant will be given in the "Little Green Theater."

The University "N" men also are planning to entertain the former university athletes. A program has been worked out by the followers of the Cornhusker sport circle and the former athletes are to be entertained royally.

Organizations to Banquet

In the evening at 6 o'clock all the organizations—fraternities, sororities and literary societies—will hold their banquets. Letters have been sent out by each organization telling of the detailed plans for the programs.

Then as a finale for the second day's funfest there will be a general reception at Ellen Smith hall for the former students. Here is where it is expected that most of the alumni will meet their former class mates and it is here that most of the "tales of Nebraska of old" will be spun.

Saturday is the last day of the funfest. In the morning the class of 1902—the twenty year class—will hold a breakfast at 9 o'clock. Then all the classes will hold reunions at 10 o'clock. Every member of the fifty classes who returns for the reunion will here recount school day stories with old friends.

"The Row of Classes"

Registration of all alumni is next on the program. "The Row of Classes" will extend down Thirteenth Street. A tent will be provided for all the classes from 1873 to 1890, whose surviving memberships are fast being depreciated by Father Time, the classes from 1891 to 1894 will have another tent the classes from 1895 to 1897 will have a third, and every individual class from 1897 to 1922 will have tents of their own where their members are asked to register.

An alumni women's meeting will be held at Ellen Smith hall at 3:30 Saturday morning. Every woman who is interested in the problems of university women is asked to attend the meeting and take part in the general discussion on the subject.

North is Alumni Orator

An alumni parade and luncheon on the city campus will follow. Then comes the general alumni meeting at 1:30. Mr. Cecil C. North, '02, will give the alumni oration at 2:30. The
