BASEBALL CLASS WINS FIRST GAME

Take Summer Nebraskan Team to a 9 to 4 Trimming—Contest Filled With Errors

Twilight Team Standings:

	G.	W.	L.	P.
Baseball class	1	1	0	1.000
Football class	0	0	0	.000
Track class	0	0	0	.000
Summer Nebraskan	1	0	1	.000

In a game filled with errors, the baseball coaching class won the first game of the Twilight baseball league and stepped out into first place by defeating the representatives of The Summer Nebraskan, 9 to 4. Backed by poor support Lefty Williams deserves credit for holding the point tally down as low as it was.

The newspaper team looked good the first inning. Not a baseball class man reached first and only three of them got hold of a bat. When the Nebraskan men got to bat, Tonkinson started a three run scoring offense with a two base hit. Patton brought Tonkinson in and was in turn scored by a hit by Williams. A poor fielding chance enabled Waite to hug second and Williams to score. Waite was called out on third when he took a long leadoff.

That is when the baseball class started things. Making easy hits which were fumbled by the Nebraskan representatives the baseball men tallied five runs. Rosen brought in the first followed closely by Johnson, Maxwell, Dan and Dial.

The Nebraskan failed to score in its half of the third while the baseball class sent Colson and Rosen across for counters. Colson's tally was the result of a long drive to center field which was muffed and rolled far enough back to allow him to circle the plates before its return to the field.

Again the Nebraskan men failed to score and the baseball class tallied two runs, one by Lewis and another by Dial. In the first of the fifth Lee crossed the plate on a muffed infield drive. It looked like a rally but Matzke was called out at first and the game was over.

The score by innings:
Baseball class 0 5 2 2 0—9
Summer Nebraskan 3 0 0 0 1—4

GARDNER NOW AT COLUMBIA, MARRIED

Glen H. Gardner, a graduate of the University of Nebraska and a member Sigma Phi Epsilon and Phi Delta Phi fraternities, who is now attending Columbia university in New York, was married to Miss Dorothy Butler of New York City. Mrs. Gardner is a graduate of Smith college. Gardner is a well known Cornhusker alumni, having been business manager of the Daily Nebraskan while in school.

College Women Shun Marriage

The following is taken from The Michigan Daily, official paper of the University of Michigan. Its scope is general of college graduates and provides an extremely interesting study. It also proves conclusively the falseness of the statement that women go to college "just to catch a man."

Why do college graduates persist in shunning marriage, when by so doing they impede the development of racial quality? The answers seem to be conditioned upon human whims and shortsightedness, but convicting evidence in the form of reliable statistics prove that such a condition exists.

Prof. A. Franklin Shull, of the zoology department has procured from various official sources, data which demonstrates the timorous, antagonistic, or indifferent attitude which college people take toward assuming the marital vows. Other figures which follow are credited to a work on Applied Eugenics, by Popenoe and Johnson.

The percentage of marriages over the entire country has increased steadily during the last two decades. Subsequently the birth rate has increased. It has also been noted that people marry at earlier ages than they did twenty years ago. To the casual observer this may seem satisfactory, but a close scrutiny discloses an alarming absence of marriages and births among the people whom we may assume to be superior to the average.

Whether college graduates may be classed as superior individuals might be disputed, but in the following data they have been held up as such.

Wellesley College Figures

Let us first glance at the record of Wellesley College. The percentage of all students who marry within ten years after graduation is 35 per cent. Forty-nine per cent of the graduates marry within 20 years.

At Mount Holyoke college, the oldest in the country of institutions for the higher education of women, the number of graduates marrying, decreased from 85.4 per cent to 50 per cent, over a period of 50 years. Those who decided to remain single increased from 14.6 per cent to 50 per cent during the same period.

Bryn Mawr's figures show only 165 out of 376 graduates, from the senior classes of 1888 to 1906 inclusive, who

ARCHITECTS DRAW UP STADIUM PLANS

Alumni Association Committee and Designers Meet Today to Decide Details.

Another forward stride leading to the construction of the University of Nebraska memorial stadium will be made today when members of the alumni association stadium committee and a group of architects will meet to work out more definite plans toward the structure.

Plans are already well under way, many of them having been completed. C. E. Chowins, general superintendent of the university before his death last week, did much of the preliminary work on the stadium plans.

Ellery Davis and John Latenser, well known architects of Lincoln, will have charge of the designing for the stadium. Ellery Davis' work in connection with the new state capitol will long be remembered. He was given mention as the leading architect of Nebraska and his design was regarded as one of the three or four best submitted by the best architects in the country. Latenser's work has also been attracting much attention from leading American builders.

The office of the superintendent of grounds and buildings of the university will have charge of drawing up the plans. Their services are being donated to the stadium committee.

Regents Buy Ground

The board of regents has agreed to purchase the additional ground which will be needed for the new structure providing the money for the actual construction of the stadium is provided by student, alumni and general subscription.

Actual construction of the new stadium will not start until after the completion of the 1922 football season. This decision was arrived at when it was learned that it would be impossible to sufficiently complete the new structure so as to have a proper place to play the fall games.

Some trouble is being experienced in regard to the track field. Tearing up of the present field will leave the track squad without a place to train. Just what steps will be taken in this regard remains to be seen but at present plans call for the stadium construction to start late this fall.

It has been suggested that the Lincoln high school track might be secured for the varsity tracksters. The high school has used the university field for football purposes for years and it is probable that a satisfactory agreement might be reached between the two institutions in regard to a joint use of the new Lincoln high track. The Cornhuskers would be under a slight handicap but use of that field would enable plans for the new stadium to proceed more rapidly than otherwise would be possible.
