

TWO GAMES TONIGHT IN TWILIGHT LEAGUE

Pedagogues to Clash With Football
Class and Basketball With Summer Nebraskan

Two games in the Twilight League baseball race are scheduled for 6 o'clock Tuesday evening on the Social Science baseball diamonds. The two teams at the bottom of the league clash with the two teams heading the list.

The Football class-Pedagogues contest gives promise of providing the most interesting competition. The Football class gave the Summer Nebraskan a hard run for honors in a contest last week and the Pedagogues will be sorely pressed to maintain the league leading pace which they set when they defeated the Basketball class 16 to 5 last week.

The Basketball class promises a re-organization of its team and may run off with the honors in its contest with the Summer Nebraskan. The basket tossers last week presented a sorry plight against the hard hitting Pedagogues and "Wallie" Waite, the manager, is out after new honors and the leading baseball players in the summer session.

Scarcity of players was deeply felt at the first game of the session. Two games were scheduled, but only enough players came out to make three teams. Men in the summer session should file as members of one of the four teams if they wish to play.

GATHERING DOPE ON 'MIDSUMMER TALES'

Schulte Writes to Cornhusker Athletics Asking For Contributions to News Letter

Letters asking for contributions to the "Midsummer Tales", a newsy sheet for Nebraska athletes, have been sent to Cornhuskers over the entire state and country.

The letters were sent out to all Nebraskans who were on teams last year and those who will be candidates for teams in the future. Henry F. Schulte, track coach, is to be the editor of the big sheet which will contain notes of athletes of all kinds.

The letter asks for short articles from each athlete, for jokes and news of what they have been doing and what men from other schools whom they have met during the summer are doing. A letter was also sent to "N" men of recent years asking for constructive criticisms, contributions of all kinds.

Especially is it wanted to know if "Kansas still owns the valley."

The "Midsummer Tales of the Cornhuskers" as it will be called will go to press about August 1, according to the plans as now worked out. Schulte is at Marcellus, Mich., and will do most of the work of putting out the big letter there.

In the letter Schulte says the boys should write about the following:

What have you been doing?

Who of the bunch here have you met or heard from?

Have you heard a good joke?

Have you met men from our enemy schools and what do they boast of? Does Kansas still own the Valley?

Have you run across any star high school men who think of coming to Nebraska?

Have you caught any big fish? (Puce-lik, come through, but I've got you beat already.)

Well, just hand out all the honest news you know and then spread a little bit.

PROFESSOR SANFORD TO TEACH AT CHICAGO UNI

Professor F. W. Sanford of the department of Romance language will teach Latin during the summer session at the University of Chicago. He will return in the fall to assume his duties with the University of Nebraska.
