Romance Languages Have Reference Section of University Library

The language and study room, U. 306, has been remodelled and has received many new books, so that students will soon be able to procure all the Romance Language references in school there. Dictionaries and periodicals are also in this room. Students may find all English reading matter here, too. First-year students should learn to study there as much as possible to relieve the congestion in the main library.

ALL-UNI PARTY TO BE HELD ON SATURDAY NIGHT

First Big Party Under Auspices of Student Committee to Take Place in Armory.

PROGRAM WELL ARRANGED

Entertainment to Occupy Time From eight-thirty to ten-thirty in the Evening.

Entertainment from 8 to 10:30 will feature the first all-University party of the college year to be held at the Armory next Saturday evening. The party will start at 8:30. Admission will be 30 cents. Refreshments will be served. The Kieth Tyler Troubadors will furnish music for the dancing.

In accordance with a plan to be tried by the party committee, those students who do not dance or do not care to dance will be given an opportunity to enjoy themselves at a program crammed to overflowing with entertainment. The first part of the evening will be spent in entertainment in the Armory, but when the dancing begins those students who do not dance will adjourn to the Y. M. C. A. where further entertainment will be provided.

Nearly 50 per cent more people may be accommodated at the all-University parties this year than last. The tearing out of the partition between the Armory proper and the chapel has greatly increased the floor space and will allow much more comfort for the huge crowds of students who attend the parties.

Freshmen are particularly urged to come to the all-University parties this year. No other way gives the first year men as good a chance to get acquainted with fellow students as do the mixers and the freshmen are invited to attend them.

Decorations, fitting to the Scarlet and the Cream, will be prepared for the evening of the big party. The decoration committee was appointed at the last meeting of the committee and the chairmen have been busy throughout the week getting lined up for the party.

J. Wilbur Wolfe, 23, is the general chairman of the all-University party committee.

Five parties are on the schedule for this year. The first is next Saturday. The second party will be held on October 21, the date of the homecoming day football game with Missouri. The third party is to be given by the freshman class under the auspices of the all-University committee. The date is October 28. On the evening of the Kansas Aggie game, November 18, will be the fourth party of the year and the last mixer is scheduled for February 10. That is the last party of the series and the only one which will be held the second semester.

ESTES CONFERENCE IS DISCUSSED AT Y. W. C. A. VESPERS

Recent Experiences and Ballot on a Secretary for the Year.

The Y. W. C. A. conference at Estes Park was the subject of vespers Tuesday evening at Ellen Smith Hall. Each of the eight University girls who attended gave a short talk on some phase of the conference. Ruth Small presided. The first number was, "Follow the Gleam," the scripture lesson and prayer. A solo by Blanche Martz followed.

"We had such a jolly good time and were so inspired, that we thought we would like to take you with us there, and try to make you live it over again with us," said Silence Adamson, the first speaker, in opening her talk on "The Trip and the Setting." Marion Madigan followed with a sketch of the general program of each day. Lila Wyman gave an account of the industrial forum of the camp, and three subjects, church, community and industry, taken up in it. Isabel Fouts told of the topics taken up in group study.

"We discovered how very little we know and how much we needed information if we are to face world problems" said Dorothy Williams in speaking of the group discussions which were followed by lectures explaining questions. Helen Tomson recounted the recreational experiences of the girls at camp. Gertrude Tomson gave a summary of the conference.

Ballots for secretary were distributed at the beginning of the meeting. The nominees were Lila Wyman and Isabel Fouts. The votes have not yet been counted.
