NOTRE DAME TO GO TO LAFAYETTE FOR GAME ON SATURDAY

Expect More Than One Thousand Fans to Follow Them to Witness Annual Battle

Notre Dame, Oct. 7.—More than 1,000 students of the University are expected to journey to Lafayette Saturday, October 14, to witness the annual Notre Dame-Purdue battle. The party will leave South Bend in the early morning and leave Lafayette before midnight. Dances and other entertainments are being arranged for the evening by the student activities committee, under whose auspices the trip will be made.

The student outpouring of last year was made to Indianapolis for the Indiana game and two years ago the journey was made to Chicago for the Northwestern engagement.

The Purdue contest will measure the potential strength of the squad of new men whom Coach Rockne uncovered in the opener against Kalamazoo on last Saturday. Two sensational runs of ninety and ninety-five yards by Paul Castner, and dashes of more than forty yards by Crowley, Layden, Miller and Kane, were made through an eleven which was tiring fast. A squad of the strength which Purdue always packs will give Rockne's men the exact test needed to classify this year's team and to determine its chances of success against Georgia Tech, Indiana, West Point, Carnegie Tech and Nebraska.

Developments in the opening game against Kalamazoo have changed the complexion of the eleven. Besch received an injury to his head in the second play of the game and will be out of the game for a period yet undecided. The showing of Crowley, Layden and Kane at left half has resulted in a four-cornered fight with Bergman, McNulty and Vergera are contesting the end positions.

All of the more prominent sport writers agree that the Ames-Coe game Saturday was a complete upset. The little Iowa college went through the Ames line four times, while they held the Ag team to a goose-egg score. It was a repetition of the defeat to Ames last year. Either something went wrong in that game, or else something is radically amiss at the Ames school. Ames usually turns out a formidable eleven, putting a healthy fear into the rest of the Valley elevens.

The result of the Kansas-Army game held little surprise for the majority. The Jayhawk eleven, with just three weeks of practice behind them, trounced half way across the continent, to find that they were hardly a match for the Hudson river militants. Credit is due "Potsy" Clark's eleven, however, for holding the West Pointers to two touchdowns, which shows that the teams were not so badly matched. The game was played in a drizzly rain, and the West point players attained a certain amount of proficiency on a soggy field at the Polo Grounds last November.

Returns from the World's Series games are being received by radio in the military office in the Army, according to an announcement by that department yesterday. A magnavox has been installed, and there are accommodations for as many as care to listen to the reports. Signal corps equipment is being used, and the reports are received from the W-L-A-G station at the Oak Grove hotel about 1:20 p. m. The reports will commence to come in daily, until the series is over, lasting about an hour and a half.—The Minnesota Daily.

With the appointment of Frederick W. B. Coleman of Minneapolis as the minister from the United States to Estonia, Lithuania and Latvia, another graduate of the University of Michigan is brought into the national limelight. Mr. Coleman graduated in the class of 1916 from the Literary college and received his degree from the Law school three years later.—The Michigan Daily.

"I don't think it's fair," said Kathryn Miller, 25, Saturday upon being released from her two-day jail sentence which was imposed for speeding at the rate of forty-one miles an hour on College avenue last week.

Miss Miller was arrested by Officer C. P. Taylor, 23, a student in the College of Mechanics, while speeding from her classes. Judge Robert Edgar gave her the alternative of doing without her car for six months or spending two days in the county jail.

Claiming she was only going thirty miles an hour, Miss Miller vigorously opposed giving up her car. In consequence, she chose the latter course and spent the week-end cramming for mid-terms and preparing assignments.

The Sport Circle

Missouri is next on the list. The Tigers are working hard in preparation for the Nebraska game, and it is safe to say that the Huskers will not run circles around the Tigers like they did with the Coyotes. "Beat Nebraska" is Missouri's slogan.

The Huskers bettered Coach Allison's statement by twenty-six points. The South Dakota mentor said before the game that Nebraska wasn't any good unless she beat the Coyotes by forty points.

Rudy Lamb, who starred as quarterback on the freshman team here two years ago, was a leading factor in the victory of Lombard College over the Notre Dame Reserves last Saturday. A sensational forty-yard run by Lamb was a feature of the game. Paul Schissler, former assistant coach at Nebraska, is head coach at Lombard.

Three opponents of Nebraska this year had scouts at the game last Saturday. Coach Gharitty of Missouri, former Princeton fullback, scouted the game for the Tigers, and was loud in his praises of the Husker eleven. Scout Williams of the Kansas Aggies was also in the press box. Chet Wynne, former Notre Dame star, who is now coaching at Midland, scouted the game for the "fighting Irish."

Syracuse, Nebraska's eastern opponent this season, scored its third victory of the year last Saturday when it defeated New York U. by a 32-0 count.

Captain Warren of the Husker basketball team sure does believe that the early bird gets the worm. Warren is conducting daily workouts in the Armory gym for the candidates for the Nebraska cage crew. Between fifteen and twenty men are practicing daily, shooting baskets and passing the ball.

Captain Chick Hartley is carrying around a charley-horse as a result of the track meet with the Coyotes last Saturday. All the other Husker players came out of the game in fine shape.

The rest of the Valley games were mere practice affairs. Washington won, Oklahoma did not get into action, the Kansas Aggies took their game with Washburn College. Drake won at Des Moines.

The standings:

	W.	L.	Per.
Nebraska	1	0	100
Missouri	1	0	100
Kansas Aggies	1	0	100
Washington	1	0	100
Drake	1	0	100
Ames	0	1	0
Kansas	0	1	0

The inter-sectional games were not very surprising, chiefly because the favorites did not meet their matches in any case. Yale trampled on North Carolina, while Chicago was doing the same to Georgia. The Army beat Kansas. Centre's victory over Mississippi indicates that the Praying Colonel's are still a factor on the gridiron.

Notre Dame is up to her old tricks. One of their men made a ninety-five yard run down the side of the field in Saturday's game with St. Louis. This is enough to indicate that the Catholics are still playing football.

Saturday's game with South Dakota showed up some weaknesses in the Cornhusker line, and many points of strength in the backfield. It was stated pre-season that Coach Dawson would indeed be lucky if he could find men competent to fill the places of Pucelik and Lyman, stars on the 1921 squad. The coaches seem to have found two good men for the places in Bassett and Berquist, who both showed they knew considerable of the game Saturday. Both men are heavy, Bassett weighing 198, and Berquist 212. The two linemen were responsible for many of the substantial gains made by the backfield thru the left side of the line.

The backfield is a machine in itself, probably as formidable a one as has played on Nebraska field since the war. Noble did the lion's share of carrying the ball, and never failed to gain. Herb DeWitz upheld his reputation in carrying the ball as well. The sturdily-built little half is away like a shot whenever he is entrusted with the ball. Captain Hartley showed promise of gaining a berth on the all-Valley eleven with his brilliant playing. The leader of the squad is a veteran of the game, and his playing bears that out. In Preston, Nebraska has a quarterback that would be hard to rival. Preston uses his head in the direction of the advances.

EXCHANGES

University of Washington, P. I. N. S.—Latest available registration figures show 4,574 students enrolled on registration day which is twenty-two less than were recorded on the complete census last year. Three to five hundred students usually register late. Approximately 580 students were refused admission to the University this quarter on account of their low grades. This is the first year that high school students were limited, requiring that two-thirds of their subjects be 80 per cent or above. About 175 applicants for admission were turned away on this account, but three-fourth of these were admitted after passing the freshman scholarship examination.

Discovery that the hillside where the stadium will be built was of a sedimentary formation rather than hard rock has removed the final and most important difficulty which faced the stadium committee.

Professors Andrew Lawson and In Buwalda, heads of the geology department, gave an opinion some time ago that the entire hill by Strawberry canyon was of shale composition. This statement has now been verified by the drift shaft which goes back into the hill for a distance of over a hundred feet.

Had the test shaft revealed hard rock strata the approximate cost of excavating for the bowl would have

The Kansas Aggie hopes of Missouri Valley honors went up another notch last week with the return of "Suede" Axline, quarter of the 1920 squad, and "Susie" Sears, two letter fullback. This makes a total of ten letter men now in the fold. Habt, left guard; Burton, right half; Sears, fullback; Swartz and Axline, quarters; Stark, left half; Steiner, left guard; Nichols, left tackle; Schlinder, right guard, and Sebring, right end.

Get the Pen that Fills by a Press of the Button

A Filler That's Not Exposed So Can't Catch and Spill Ink

THIS is one of the vital reasons why the Parker Pen ranks highest with America's educators and student bodies. Its filler is "safety-sealed" beneath the neat screw-cap end. There's no exposed lever to catch on the clothing, spill ink and spoil your suit or blouse. Remove the cap, immerse the pen in ink, press the button and the Parker is filled.

This simple, perfect filler was created by Geo. S. Parker, inventor of the celebrated leakproof "Lucky Curve" feed. And in no other pen can you obtain these features—so important in operation if a pen is to perform without a hitch. And that's what you want in a fountain pen—not one that distracts your mind when you're trying to concentrate on study or class instruction.

All Parker points are 14 K rolled gold, so they can't rust, corrode or tarnish and are not affected by acids.

Prices range from $2.50 upward according to style and mounting. These pens are made with the same mechanical perfection and jeweler's accuracy and finish found in the famous Parker 25-year Duofold—the lacquer-red pen at $7 that has taken America by storm.

Come pick out the point that best suits your hand—extra fine, fine, medium, coarse or stub. We'll give you a Parker Accident Policy free—insuring you for one year against any breakage, damage or unsatisfactory service of any kind.
