Brown Betty Caters To Student Parties

The Brown Betty, under the new management of Mrs. B. Huddleston, is now catering to student trade. A revision of prices in conformity with the quality has been made. Today the Brown Betty is serving a 6 o'clock dinner at 75 cents per plate, with a menu which is most appetizing and which cannot be duplicated at the same price.

A specialty of after-theater parties is being made. The students are invited to try the after-theater parties where they may dance and have a lunch served at the most reasonable of prices.—Advertisement.

UNIVERSITY PUBLICITY

A special convocation in connection with another week will be held November 11.

Prof. Frank Louis Schnoell, visiting professor of French at the University of Chicago this year, will speak at convocation November 17.

Dwight Kirsch, '19, is in Los Angeles for the winter. On his way to California he went as far north as British Columbia, stopping off at Portland, Seattle, San Francisco, and other points of interest on the Pacific coast.

Miss Stella Mather of the Home Economic Extension service, conducted a round-table discussion at the Federated Women's clubs at North Platte, October 26.

Prof. Margaret Fedde of the Home Economics department spoke before the Clinton Community Mothers' club last Tuesday on "Making the School Child Physically Fit."

The drug-plant garden of the College of Pharmacy furnished about half of the twenty-four full-page photographs of drug plants used to illustrate a recently published work on materia medica and pharmacology by Dr. H. W. Felter of the University of Cincinnati, one of the leading pharmacognosts and therapeutists in the United States.

Three circulars on homemaking problems, mimeographed for general distribution, are being sent out by the Home Economics department: "Childhood—How to Know and Use Them," by Arabelle Livingston; "Childhood Malnutrition," by Margaret Noble; and "Vegetable and Fruit Budget," by Florence Atwood and Jessie Greene.

Dr. George E. Condra of the soil survey and conservation department, is checking soil surveys in northern Nebraska. He will remain in the field as long as the weather permits.

Mary Ellen Brown of the Agricultural Extension service, spoke at teachers' institute last week at Geneva, Tuesday; Clay Center, Thursday, and at Pawnee City, Saturday.

Walter D. James, Law '19, who is practicing law with the firm of Lamb and Butler, Beaver City, Neb., has been awarded the American Law Book company's prize, competition for which is open to all lawyers in Nebraska, for passing the best examination on problems for legal search. This bibliography prize is a set of sixty law books, consisting of the encyclopedia of law, a procedure, and corpus juris. Mr. Jones, while a student in the College of Law, did special work in bibliography which training, he says in a letter to the

Many Students Are Church Attendants

More than half of the University of Nebraska students attended Lincoln churches on a recent Sunday when an accurate count was made by a committee of the University Y. M. C. A. University pastors estimate that, taking the year as a whole, every student attended church at least once a month and that some attend every Sunday. Out of 4,290 students in 1921-1922, when registration in the University was 4,784, 3,647 students were members and 553 were affiliated members of some denomination or sect. Special consideration is given students by Lincoln churches by extending them affiliated church membership while they are in college without losing their membership in their home church. A campaign, terminating November 28, is being made by Lincoln churches to enroll students as affiliated members.

Missionary Will Speak at Vespers

Mrs. Oscar W. Lowe, a missionary who has recently returned from Japan, will be the speaker at Vespers Tuesday at 5 o'clock at Ellen Smith Hall. Mrs. Lowe will show a display of Japanese curios. Ruth Coddington will lead. There will be special music.
