The need for a large student delegation to Kansas is recognized more acutely now than it ever was last week.

We admit we were too sure of ourselves. We know Nebraska's football machine could not help but win in any contest.

Special meeting of Corn Cobs at the Phi Delta Theta house tonight at 7 o'clock sharp.

Important meeting of Iron Sphinx Tuesday evening at 7:15 at the Xi Psi Phi house.

Architectural Club. A meeting for the purpose of organizing an architectural club will be held at 7:30 Wednesday in M. A. 107.

Viking Meeting. There will be an important meeting of all Vikings this evening at 7:30 p. m., at the Delta Epsilon house.

It is imperative that everyone who can go to Kansas go. Show that Nebraska can come back all the stronger because of the reverse last week.

A "Good Sport." Good sport is a term which usually carries with it the highest commendation which can be applied to an individual.

Before considering its misuse we should consider what the expression, good sport, implies. Here is a reasonable definition by Oliver Wendell Holmes.

This type of sportsmanship is found in the University. It is the spirit which predominates in the whole school.

Occasionally, however, we hear a student misuse the term, good sport, in a way which detracts from the meaning which his term should have.

What is there of sportsmanship in the aiding of cheating? Certainly it takes strength to refuse help, but to promote cheating by loaning over one's work to another hardly deserves credit for sportsmanship.

The good sport does not loudly acclaim the fact to the public. He works for the best interest of the school without over-emphasizing his importance.

In order that the term, good sport, may be a recognition of worth it should not be misapplied.

The Welcome. The spirit displayed yesterday when the loyal Nebraska students welcomed the team home was indicative of the big spirit of the University.

Today is election day. Many students who have reached their majority will cast their first vote for the government officials today.

Student Directories. Wouldn't it be wonderful if a scheme might be devised whereby the student directories could be gotten out in the first few weeks of school?

Minnesota School Declares War On Ticket Scalpers

With pool room men estimating that tickets for the Minnesota-Wisconsin game would bring as high as $50 apiece, federal agents yesterday afternoon rounded up several scalpers who paid fines of $100 without seeing into court.

Numbers of plain clothes men and half the federal agent force in the entire northwest are mingling with the crowds at suspicious places in St. Paul and Minneapolis, as well as on the University campus, today in a battle against what is purported to be one of the most brazen scalping games ever operated in this section of the country.

A right guard of police, detectives, and federal agents will be stationed at the gates of Northrop Field all day in order to discourage any scalping activities that may arise there.

Realizing the gravity of the situation, Fred W. Luehring, director of athletics, has taken every precaution to minimize the scalpers' changes for success by judiciously managing the sale of tickets, and by co-operating with the police department in the detection of lawlessness.

The University will take all possible legal action against those caught selling tickets at advanced prices," Mr. Luehring said.—The Minnesota Daily.

Daily Nebraskan to Have Regular Daily Radio Exchange Soon

Radio exchange among campus dailies has been suggested to the radio station here by the radio board at the University of Colorado at Boulder. The Nebraskan has agreed willingly to do what is possible toward perfecting such a system.

About 200 words a week is quoted by the Colorado University as a beginning. Mr. Moles, radio operator here, received a letter from Boulder a short time ago asking him to explain the matter to the editors of the Nebraskan and request their aid in making the system a reality.

The exchange will be started as soon as definite arrangements can be made.

BLIND WOMAN SAVES LIFE OF MATE BY PRESENCE OF MIND

Mrs. Mahlon Bethers, of Omaha, though totally blind, Saturday night successfully administered emergency treatment to her husband when he became violently ill, supposedly from poison which he had partaken of earlier in the evening.

Some months ago Mrs. Bethers who has never seen her husband or baby boy, appeared in the role of heroine when the youngster unknowingly swallowed a small portion of ice. By the use of proper antidotes the blind mother saved her babe's life.

Saturday night in her dilemma, Mrs. Bethers found her way to the telephone and there calling police asked what treatment she should administer, requested the sending of a physician and stated she would care for her husband until the doctor arrived.

Bethers at one time was in a critical condition from the poison, but reports from the home Sunday night stated he was greatly improved.

GOVERNOR KENDALL HAS A BROKEN RIB BUT STAYS ON JOB

Governor N. E. Kendall of Iowa was at his desk at the state capital today despite of fractured rib suffered Friday night near Sioux City when an automobile threw a rear wheel causing the executive to be pitched from the car.

He says the injury causing him considerable pain, but that it is not serious.—The Lincoln Star.

Fred Layton, captain of the Beattie high school football team, was slugged and robbed last night by an unidentified man of some of the football signals and a small amount of change while he sat in his car in front of the Methodist church waiting for the Epworth League's services to be dismissed.

Layton was later found unconscious in his car in front of the Christian church with a robe thrown over him. It is believed the man drove the machine there after slugging Layton who was unconscious until after he was taken home where physicians attended him.

When he came to he stated that a strange man stepped up to his car and asked for some one in church. Layton told him to get in, that the services would soon be over. That is the last Layton said he remembered, until he reached home.

A bruise was found on his right temple as if made by some blunt instrument. The motive for the assault is not known unless it was robbery or to get hold of the signals of the football team.—The Lincoln Star.

FRESHMEN ENGINEERS HEAR OF SIGMA TAU

These three requirements make the fraternity truly representative. This year the scholastic standing of every junior and senior in the C. E., M. E., E. E., Agr. E., Chem. E., and Arch. E. departments was carefully determined and the upper third determined. The whole fifty were then invited to a smoker given by the active chapter.

About fifteen will probably be elected," he explained.

"Sigma Tau is not a political machine. The only possible connection it can be said to have with such activities is that men who are doing things for the University and for themselves are chosen for membership," he emphatically stated.

Sigma Tau is a Nebraska product. It was founded here in 1904 and has experienced a steady growth. At present there are fourteen active and three alumni chapters, scattered from Pennsylvania to Oregon, and from North Dakota to Oklahoma. "Dean Richards—he was dean of the College of Engineering then—supported the founders in every way in his power," Mr. Sjogren said. Mr. Richards has just been installed as president of the University of Lehigh.

Dr. Charles Newton Gould has been visiting in Lincoln for the past two days, the guest of Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Barbour. Dr. Gould has been attending the meeting of the Association of Petroleum Geologists at Denver. He received his M. A. and Ph. D. degrees from the University of Nebraska, was professor of Geology in the University of Oklahoma for several years, was state geologist of Oklahoma for some eight year or ten years, and is now a consulting petroleum geologist with offices in Oklahoma City.
