On the next down, Swartz' forward pass was incomplete and Nebraska took the ball on downs on her 34-yard line.

Hartley ran from punt formation and made four yards. Sears was substituted for Clements. Hartley then fumbled on the next play and Stark recovered for the Aggies on Nebraska's 38-yard line.

Lewellen broke through and spilled Swartz for a three yard loss. Sears bucked Nebraska's center but failed to gain.

A forward pass by Swartz was incomplete.

The Aggies took kout time again.

An one-side kick was good for twenty-five yards, Russell returning ten yards to the Nebraska 17-yard line. Hartley drove through the Aggie line for three yards. Lewellen made it a first down on a plunge for seven yards.

Monday night Henry W. Savage's new production of Franz Lehár's undying operatic success, "The Merry Widow" will come to the Orpheum. This promises to be one of the most important theatrical events of the season as already there have been several hundred reservations made for seats for this operetta. Mr. Savage, whose theatrical offerings are always of the highest standard, has promised that this one will even excel his former presentations. It has been equipped at tremendous expense with a complete scenic investiture from the studio of the famous Joseph Urban who designs all the scenery for the "Ziegfeld Follies" while the costumes are from the fashionable shop of Peggy Hoyt, modiste and milliner to New York's most exclusive society. At to cast Mr. Savage promises that "The Merry Widow" will possess one of the finest singing and acting organizations the theatregoers of this city have enjoyed in many years. Then to complete the list of delights there will be a special orchestra carried by the company.

ing 6 to 5 in favor of the high students.

The captain's assertion that faculty members "can play baseball" was verified in the Friday afternoon game. The Dean himself handles a "mean" ball. He cracked out a two-base "Ruther" and in rightfield was kept busy chasing after the ball.

Professors Fullbrook and French Eugene Wolfe did the tossing for the faculty, and their clever handling of the ball was largely responsible for the failure of the seniors to score more heavily.

Bizads Beat Ags.

In a game marred in the early moments by an unfortunate accident in which Al Rau, member of the "Bizad" team, received a broken leg, the future business men defeated the future farmers, 19 to 0.

The "Bizads" had all the better of the argument, tearing through the Aggie line almost at will. The Ags could gain little against the business students line, and frequently were forced to punt after only a down or two. The "Bizad" team ran the ends, smashed the line, and forward passed with exceptional ability for a college team.

The Aggies were handicapped by not having much warning of the oncoming battle. Until Wednesday night, the "Bizads" expected to play the Law College team, but late that evening the barristers backed out on their acceptance of the "Bizad" challenge, made several weeks before and the Ags were substituted.

The day ended with a dance in the Armory in the evening. Three hundred "Bizads" with their lady friends attended the party.

NEXT ALL-UNI. PARTY IS SATURDAY NIGHT

Girls, especially, will be needed to make the Saturday evening affair a success. Most of the early season parties have been marred by the absence of partners for the men and with a large number of Ames students as visitors, the co-eds will be most welcome at the party.

Committeemen for the Saturday dance will be announced in the Tuesday Nebraska.

ing match between "Kid" Kelley and "Battling" Rollins concluded the program in the Armory. The Vikings, junior men's honorary organization was in charge of the luncheon.

In the morning the Dads registered at the main entrance of the Armory, where they were given recognition badges. The Dads were also taken on an inspection tour of the campus. Many of the fraternities gave dinners in the evening at the chapter houses with the Dads as guests of honor. The evening ended with the Military carnival, where the Dads were admitted free.

Shoes. Which kind gets you there the quickest?

Two college men were walking down the road, when a classmate whizzed by in his car.

"Pretty soft!" sighed one. Said the other, "I'll show him. Some day I'll own a car that's got his stopped thirty ways."

The more some men want a thing, the harder they work to get it. And the time to start working—such men at college know—is right now.

All question of classroom honors aside, men would make college count for more if they realized this fact: You can buy a text book for two or three dollars, but you can sell it for as many thousand—once you have digested the contents.

This is worth remembering, should you be inclined to the self-pity which social comparisons sometimes cause. And anyway, these distinctions are bound to be felt, even though your college authorities bar certain luxuries as undemocratic—as perhaps they are.

The philosophy that will carry you through is this: "My day will come—and the more work I crowd into these four years, the quicker I'll make good."
