

DR. EARHART RETURNS FROM BOARD MEETING

Teacher's College Instructor Back From New York City After Trustees' Meeting

(University Publicity Office.)
Dr. Lida B. Earhart of Teachers' College attended a meeting of the board of trustees of Columbia University, New York City, November 9, of which she is a member. The board announces the completion of a drive for $2,000,000 for a new library; and it accepted and ordered printed the report of Dr. Earhart on "Scholarship, Fellowship and Loan Funds" in which she made the following recommendations, which put these awards on a new basis:

"First—That fellowships be retained and awarded to students of marked ability. These fellowships are to be given purely as honors and with no thought of their affording financial relief.

"Second—Students may be cared for through loans and handled on a purely business basis.

"Third—That relief may be afforded through employment either on a perannum or per hour basis as the situation requires. This employment to have no connection whatever with the fellowships or scholarships. Those, excepting these latter, are not to render services for any benefits received.

"Fourth—Provision for some form of relief in the nature of outright gifts which would be made to the exceptional few, such as missionaries at home on sabbatical year's leave of absence who are attempting to improve themselves while at home, and also to others of the same character who are not eligible to fellowships and are unable to repay loans."

Wisconsin's victory over Minnesota revealed the final development of the football bug. A big man wearing a huge Cardinal W on one arm and a big M on the other, occupied a space in the stands and attracted attention by his wild rooting. He explained loudly that he had attended Wisconsin for two years, then changed to Minnesota, therefore he wore both arm bands. He rooted first for one team and then for another, and finally when Williams broke loose for his 70-yard run and Martineau saved the day by a desperate leap over the interference, the big man got so excited his right arm got into a fight with his left.—Minnesota Daily.

Graduate Returns To Visit Friends

W. R. Chapline, B. Sc. '13, is calling on friends in the Botany department this week. Mr. Chapline specialized in Botany and Forestry while he was in the University. At present he is director of the national grazing work of the United States forest service. His office is in Washington, D. C., but he spends most of his time in the field in the western part of the country, working on a study of forage problems with other Nebraska graduates.

FAMOUS COLLECTION ARRIVES AT LIBRARY

Thirty-one Copies of Old Masterpieces Presented by Mrs. Carroll Beckwith

(University Publicity Office.)
Thirty-one copies of old masterpieces made by the late Carroll Beckwith, foremost mural painter and author of many books on art, which were presented to the University of Nebraska School of Fine Arts by Mrs. Carroll Beckwith, widow of the noted artist, have arrived at the Art Gallery and will be placed on exhibition about December 1 in the entrance hall and in the main reading room of the library. The value of these pictures is great, according to Edwin Howland Blasfield, because the originals of these particular pictures will never be exhibited in America; they are firmly lodged in European galleries. Beckwith's work was done for his own instruction and as that of an enthusiast, not as a professional copyist. The collection comprises copies of the following:

- Velasquez—"The Coronation of the Virgin," "Los Lances," "Portrait of the Sculptor Mantegna," "The Infanta," "Phillip IV of Spain," "The Jester" and "Vulcan's Forge."
- Tiepolo—"Antony and Cleopatra," and "Fragment of Ceiling."
- Tintoretto—"Descent From the Cross" and "Suzanna and the Elders."
- Rubens—"Peace and War," "Portrait of An Unknown Man," "Venus at the Forge of Vulcan," "Assumption of the Virgin" and "Adoration of the Magi."
- Ribera—"Piebot."
- Veronese—"Temptation of Saint Anthony."
- Van Dyck—"Charles the First of England," "A Garden Scene" and "Portrait of Isabella Van Asche."
- Annabel Caracci—"Pan."
- Henri Martin—"Crucifixion (modern)."
- Hirsch—"Night" (modern), and "Hero Awaiting Leander" (modern) by Cabanel.
- "Virgin and Child" by Parmigianino.
- "Venus and the Three Graces" by Giovanni Van Lys.
- "Portrait of Monsieur Le Peltier" by Largilliere.
- "The Queen Maria Leczinska" and "Madame Adelaide of France" by Nattier.
- "Officers of the St. George's Doelen" by Franz Hals.

Negro Educator Praises Work of Former Student

That Prof. George W. Carver, director of the agricultural experiment station at Tuskegee Institute, Tuskegee, Ala., and a graduate of Iowa State, class of 1894, is doing wonderful work for the negro in the south is the opinion of E. D. Washington, son of Booker T. Washington, famous negro educator, who visited Iowa State college last Monday.

"Prof. Carver is one of the most enthusiastic experimentalists in our faculty of 197 members and in teaching practical agriculture and chemistry to our students he is doing a wonderful amount of good for the negro race," declared Mr. Washington.

"This year Tuskegee has nearly 2,000 students, more than ever before in its history. With most of these students coming from the southern states, the influence of the school is becoming a great factor in educating the black masses."
