

EXPLAINS THEORY OF EVOLUTION AT FROSH LECTURE

Evolution of Men and Domesticated Animals is Subject of Lecture

EXAMPLES IN NEBRASKA

Barbour Brings Subject Close to Home Telling of Finds Here in State

"The Evolution of Men and Domesticated Animals" was the subject of an illustrated freshman lecture delivered by Prof. E. H. Barbour Monday evening, and Tuesday morning. Prof. Barbour traced the development of animal life from the earliest marine forms to the present date. He also emphasized the fact that Nebraska is rich in fossil forms of prehistoric animals.

The professor showed pictures of the earliest forms of animal life. These creatures resembled fishes in their form and habits. Prof. Barbour explained that they moved landward and developed legs. These land beasts resembled lizards and the name dinosaur meaning "terrible lizard" was applied to them. These reptiles developed until they walked on four legs, and finally until they walked erect on two. In explaining why this species of animals did not continue to exist, the professor explained that they were sluggish, slow in action, and unable to accommodate themselves to new conditions.

The development of the bird was also traced by Prof. Barbour. He showed slides depicting the first flying creature. This animal had four wings and a lizard's tail. Another distinguishing characteristic of these early birds was the fact that they had teeth. The professor showed how these creatures lost two of their wings, their tails and their teeth, and developed into modern birds.

Prof. Barbour also explained the evolution of such familiar animals as the deer, the antelope, the dog, the cat, the elephant and the cow. He stressed the fact that in prehistoric times all of these animals existed in what is now the state of Nebraska.

"Remember that I am not saying that man developed from monkey," cautioned Prof. Barbour in taking up the subject of prehistoric man. "In fact," he continued, "scientists are agreed that man did not come from monkey."

The professor showed pictures of some forms of prehistoric man. He explained that early man was marked by a flat nose, an immense jaw, protruding eyebrows and a low forehead. He explained that these prehistoric men could not straighten their necks, knees or backs.

Prof. Barbour maintained that these creatures deserved the name of man because they had reached a stage of civilization where they buried their dead with honor, made implements out of bone and stone, and cut picture-writing into the walls of caves. Prof. Barbour declared that scientists had found a perfect record of their occupancy of France for three hundred thousand years.

Catholic Students to Entertain Notre Dame

The Notre Dame and Nebraska football teams will meet twice on Thanksgiving day according to the plans of the Catholic Students Club, which will entertain the two teams at a banquet at the Lincoln hotel after the game. Covers are to be laid for three hundred.

Coach Rockne expressed great pleasure in accepting the invitation in behalf of the Notre Dame team.

L. J. Doyle will probably be toastmaster and the captains and coaches of the two teams will be called upon for toasts. This is probably the first time in the history of this institution that two teams have met around the banquet table after a game.

Stadium Campaign Starts in State

With the student, faculty, and Lincoln stadium drives successfully completed, the efforts of the alumni association to complete the raising of funds for the stadium is being centered on alumni over the state.

County chairmen who met in Lincoln several weeks ago to organize the drive among ex-students are starting local campaigns with county banquets. The drives are being conducted in most cases by the regular county alumni associations.

Mrs. F. W. Robinson has moved from Chicago to Hotel Canterbury, Boston, Mass.

Convocation for Bishop Wednesday

Bishop Paul Jones, of the New York committee of fellowship reconciliation, will address the convocation Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock. He addresses to the Quaker ideas of pacifism and is heralded as an orator. His subject will be "The Christian Way of Peace."

Bishop Jones will be a guest at the meeting of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening in Ellen Smith hall. He will speak to this smaller group on a subject which will not be announced in advance.

WILKINSON TALKS ON CHURCH AFFILIATION

Pastor of Grace M. E. Church Speaks at Vespers Tuesday

Affiliation with Lincoln churches was the keynote of vespers Tuesday evening when Dr. Herbert S. Wilkinson, pastor of Grace M. E. church, spoke about light-giving. He used as his theme "The Spirit of Man is the Candle of the World." Clara Loewenstein led the meeting, and special music was furnished by Helen Kummer who played a violin solo, accompanied by Ruth Needham.

Dr. Wilkinson brought out the fact that the function of life is to bring light to the world, and said that the light-giving souls who help the world are in conscious contact with God.

"We cannot give to the world what we have not first received," and "What you are speaking so loud I can not hear what you say" were among the outstanding statements made by the speaker.

Dr. Wilkinson spoke at some length of the influence of single lives on the lives of other people and the world. What is true of a great life is true of any life, and the influence of anyone can go on and on. He mentioned that in school there is a chance to light-lives that will never come again.

American Students Raise Half Million To Help Europeans

Students and faculty of American colleges are raising $500,000 for the Student Friendship fund to aid students and professors in Europe and the Near East. Fifteen thousand students are being fed by workers in Russia, and the government is cooperating by giving free transportation to food donations.

Ninety thousand students, many of them refugees, in 127 universities in Russia and Central Europe are being saved from destitution and diseases by the relief work. Money has already been cabled to Smyrna, where many students are victims of the recent disaster in that country.

Classes in some of the European universities are held during the night so that the students can work during the day. Textbooks and equipment are unbelievably inadequate. A student relief worker recently visited a class in economics which had one textbook for 250 members.

A Russian professor's salary is equivalent to about $10 a year, plus a scanty food ration, which often has to be shared by other members of the family. In famine districts the students have been found eating leaves, clay and bark. One set of clothing is often shared by two or three students.—Washington Daily.

Penn State Debaters Argue Two Questions

Two triangular debates, four single debates, and a possible tour of the north and east is the schedule for the Penn State debating team this year. The forecast for the success of the team is cheerful for this year according to Professor T. J. Gates, coach, since a large number of men are out for the team and debates have been scheduled with some of the best college teams in the country.

Two questions are to be argued this year. They are as follows: I. "Resolved that the United States and the several states should establish industrial courts analogous in principle to the Kansas Industrial court." II. "Resolved that the Towner-Sterling Educational Bill should be enacted into a law."—Penn State Collegian.

TRYOUTS FOR INTER-CLASS DEBATE TEAMS

Candidates Will Give Speeches in Law Building Thursday Afternoon

THIRTY-SEVEN ARE TO TRY

To Talk on "Adjusted Compensation Question for War Veterans"

Tryouts for the inter-class debate teams will be held Thursday in the Law Building at 4:30. Candidates will try out in the following rooms:

- Freshmen—Room 107.
- Sophomores—Room 201.
- Juniors—Room 101.
- Seniors—Room 202.

Each candidate is to present a seven minute speech on the subject, "Resolved, That the United States Government Should Grant Adjusted Compensation to the Veterans of the World War." Part of the speech is to be devoted to refutation. The judges will choose three team members and an alternate to represent each class.

Twenty-seven candidates have signified their intentions of trying out for places on the teams. Several have withdrawn and several more candidates have signed since the list of candidates was published in the Nebraskan. The present list of candidates follows:

- Senior.
  - Robert Geneoways.

  - Joseph C. Brown.
  - Tyler Buckenau.

Success of Drive in Lincoln Credited to Chamber of Commerce

"All the credit for the success of the Stadium drive in this city should be given to the Chamber of Commerce," said Mr. R. E. Campbell of Miller & Paine, and chairman of the stadium committee for Lincoln. "We were not so sure of being able to raise the specified amount at first, but after that dinner given at the Chamber of Commerce Monday night, no doubt was left in our minds, and we know that it would go over the top."

The total amount received in at noon Monday was $155,000, and Mr. Campbell believes that this amount will at least rise to $165,000. As far as intensive campaigning goes, the drive is over. There are still some alumni committees out working, and they will carry the campaign on among the ex-students residing in the country.

Mr. Campbell said, "The people of Lincoln showed, by the way in which they measured up to their responsibilities, that they appreciate the university and what it means to Lincoln. The business men realized that the eyes of the students, the faculty, and the rest of the state were on Lincoln, and it was felt that the least Lincoln could do was to oversubscribe the quota allotted by the Stadium committee, and they made good."

LATEST UNIVERSITY JOURNAL PUBLISHED

Announces Ten Year Building Program for the University

The November issue of the University Journal published by the alumni association has just been completed. It is the most complete and the largest number of the magazine that has ever been published.

The cover design, quite in season, is a full size picture of Captain "Chick" Hartley. The alumni as well as the students are interested in the progress of the football team and the picture will be very acceptable to those who are unable to see the Scarlet and Cream in action.

The editorial column is headed by a ten-year program that will make a greater Nebraska. It is quite consistent with the realization of the dream whereby Nebraska will have an "Avenue of Columns." There is not a thing in the program which this University does not need and (Continued on Page Four).

PLAN BIG TIME FOR UNIVERSITY PARTY SATURDAY

Ames Football Team Will be Honor Guests at Fun-fest in Armory

IS TO BE A MASQUERADE

Ask More Co-eds to Attend All-University Party Saturday Evening

Plenty of fun is in store for University of Nebraska students who attend the all-University dance to be given Saturday evening at the Armory. Admission will be 30 cents. This is the last party to be staged this semester by the all-University Party Committee.

Members of the Ames football team and students and followers of that team will be honor guests at the party. A special invitation has been extended to Iowa State students through their student paper inviting them to be present at the party at the Armory in the evening.

Nebraska students should make it a point to attend the Saturday evening party so that the Ames students may be royally entertained. Girls especially are asked to attend the party. At all of the previous parties, girls have been noticeably scarce and a special invitation is extended to the co-eds to make the Armory their pleasure-seeking headquarters Saturday evening.

Good Music and Floor. There will be plenty of good music at the Saturday mixer. The best orchestras available are always engaged for the University parties and students may dance there to the best of music.

The newly-enlarged floor is now in fine shape. The partition has been entirely removed and the scaffolding taken down. The enlarged Armory makes a fitting place for an all-University dance and students should avail themselves of the Cornhusker atmosphere Saturday night.

To Have Masks. Masks will be provided for the early evening entertainment. The spirit of a masquerade is always more jovial and more companionable than an ordinary dance and the committee feels that students will mix more readily after the spirit of a masquerade has been used to start off the evening.

A short entertainment act is being planned for the intermission. The long games usually featuring the early part of the all-University parties are being dispensed with this week and the affair will be simply a dance.

New Regents Will Meet on Thursday

The Board of Regents of the University will meet for the first time since the election in Chancellor Avery's office Thursday at 11 o'clock.

President the Hon. H. D. Landis, of Seward, recently re-elected to the Board, will be present. Hon. F. W. Judson, Omaha; Hon. J. R. Webster, Omaha; Hon. W. Y. Bates, Kimball; Hon. G. N. Seymour, Elgin, will also attend the meeting. Hon. W. P. Warner, recently elected to the Board, will be the only member absent from the Thursday meeting.

SIGMA DELTA CHI TO MEET THURSDAY NIGHT

"Oz" Black Will Discuss Proceedings of National Convention

"Oz" Black will report the proceedings of the recent national convention of Sigma Delta Chi held in Manhattan, Kas., at a meeting of the Nebraska chapter Thursday at 6 o'clock at the Grand hotel. This will be a regular business meeting, according to the president, Harlan Boyer.

Members will pass on the forms for application blanks to be sent to Nebraska high schools, which desire to compete for the two silver loving-cups offered by the fraternity to the school which publishes the best paper this year.

Initiation details will also be discussed at the meeting Thursday.

Advise Runners to Enter Thanksgiving Cross-Country Race

In regard to the coming inter-fraternity cross-country meet, Coach McMaster advises that all men who expect to participate in this meet should run in the Y. M. C. A. meet to be held next Saturday. The opposition offered by the other men running in the meet will be beneficial to the fraternity men who expect to run the second Saturday after Thanksgiving.

Information in regard to the Y. M. C. A. meet can be gotten from Coach McMaster any afternoon. Men expecting to run in the inter-fraternity meet should start practicing immediately if they expect to make a good showing.

Students Employed for Household Work by Lincoln Residents

Returns are already coming in from the canvass of the residential district made last week by the Employment Bureau of the University Y. M. C. A. Such jobs as washing windows, taking down screens, and putting up storm doors are numerous, and boys are being required every day to answer these calls. Last week several boys canvassed sections of the city, telling the residents of the work of the University Employment Bureau. Within two weeks the whole city will have been gone over and more calls will be received.

Hundred "N" Books to Be Given to Students

One hundred "N" books remain in the Y. M. C. A. office. Any student desiring one of these should see the Employment Secretary. At the first of the year, these booklets were distributed only to Freshmen. Since all first year men have been supplied, the rest of the books will be given to any man or woman student wishing one.

Schulte Addresses Scottsbluff Alumni

Coach H. F. Schulte addressed the alumni at Scottsbluff Monday evening. The alumni of Scottsbluff contributed $600 dollars to the stadium fund. The quota for the county is $2,200. John Cook, former varsity man, was elected president of the county association.

Team Managers Select Women's Hockey Team

Team managers for the class hockey teams have been appointed by Jessie Hiett, hockey sport leader. Each class manager will observe her classmates at practice, as she helps to choose the class team.

DECEIVE PARENTS IN DEMANDS FOR MORE ALLOWANCE

Stadium Committee Finds Students Asked Parents for Full Amount of Pledge

UNCOVER THREE CASES

Men Not the Only Ones Who Used This Plan to Get More Money

Gross deception practiced by a few students of the University of Nebraska upon their parents with the express and only purpose of securing money under false pretenses has come to light since the close of the campaign for Stadium funds among students.

Three definite examples of unsuccessful attempts of students to secure money from their parents have been unearthed within the last few days by the alumni secretary. Men are not the guiltiest parties to the deception for two of the three students attempting to get extra spending money were girls, one of them a sorority girl, and the other not.

Out of respect for the parents of the students, names are not being used but the stories of the attempts at securing money will be told. Other students, if there are any, who have tried similar stunts, hiding their requests for increased allowances behind shields made up of deception, had better set themselves right now for the Memorial Stadium committee will have little sympathy in dealing with them according to those in charge of the campaign. University authorities intend to set parents right on the question.

Claim Coercion. All three examples which have come to light have revealed the fact that the students have told that they were co-erced into making their pledges, that the University assessed them the $25.

The fact of the campaign are simply this. Out of 5,345 students in the University, 3,740 made pledges and 1,605 did not pledge. Some of those who pledged subscribed less than $25; many loyal sons of Nebraska subscribed more than $25.

And to make the deception even blacker, at least two of the three students who have attempted to secure money from their parents under false pretenses made voluntary pledges the first day of the campaign.

The Boy's Example

A girl, who pledged wrote to her sister, who is helping her through school, saying she had subscribed $25. The sister, believing the girl had paid the $25 in whole, asked the Memorial Stadium committee to reduce the pledge to $10. The girl has paid the first installment of $5. Mr. Harold Holtz, alumni secretary, has written to the sister explaining the exact circumstances; that the $25 is paid in five installments, and asking if she still believes the girl should lower the pledge. He says in part, "I doubt if there are many students in the University who do not spend a great deal more than this in two years on little extravagances which could be sacrificed."

The Boy's Example. A sophomore man, made a voluntary pledge of $25. He made the first payment of $5 and wrote to his parents saying in part, "every student in school has been assessed $25 for the Nebraska Stadium fund. This is absolutely compulsory and must be paid by December 15." His father, after thus quoting his son, says, "I cannot understand what authority the University has for making such an assessment."

The son was called into the Stadium Builders' office and questioned. He admitted these facts.

He told his folks he had to pay the $25 on December 15.

He deceived them that he might get the extra $20, because, he said, "I wanted to go to some dances."

He had not received any of the money as yet, his parents waiting for an explanation from University authorities.

Reflects on University. And another girl, made a voluntary pledge of $5, paying $1 down and promising the rest in later installments. She told her parents that she had been co-erced into subscribing $25 and asked for the extra money, rather for $5 with which to make the first payment. She showed her parents voluntary pledge card which she had filled out for the amount of $25. The Memorial Stadium committee has a record of a volunteer pledge of $5.

Such conditions of gross deception in order that students may secure money to fill their own selfish desires are regarded as reflections on the University and must be stopped.
