

CORNHUSKERS READY TO GIVE BATTLE TO NOTRE DAME

CORNHUSKER GRID BANQUET AND GIRLS' PARTY ARE DECEMBER 15

Week From Friday is Day Set for Annual Girl's Cornhusker Party in the Armory

WILL BE A CLOSED NIGHT Evening Will be Spent in Stunts and Program With Dancing as Added Attraction

Frisking clowns, merry milk maids, gypsies, and bizarre figures from many lands will meet at the Armory, Friday, December 15, at 8 o'clock to participate in the annual girl's Cornhusker party.

This party is put on every year by the W. S. G. A. for the purpose of enabling the girls of the University to get better acquainted, to promote better Nebraska spirit among the girls, and of course, the idea of fun is also an important incentive.

Complete plans for the party will be announced next week. A larger number of girls than usual are expected as the night of the party has been declared closed to other University events.

Football Results To Be Broadcasted

The Notre Dame game will be broadcasted from the University radio station in the E. E. building. The game last Saturday with Ames was broadcasted and Ames, received well according to a report from the Iowa college, but the operator said he was sorry to hear the score.

Black Masque chapter of Mortar Board, the Senior girls' honorary society, is one of the busiest and most alert groups of girls on the campus, and its work covers a wide range of activities.

Mortar Boards always have charge of the Ivy Day festivities, the election of the May Queen and her attendants, and attend to other details of that day.

Statistics Given Out On Subscriptions to Cornhusker Stadium

Forty per cent more men than women subscribed to the stadium fund by a rough count of the college rolls of stadium subscriptions. Between the 2,203 men and the 1,576 women listed, there is a difference of 627. If we take the number of men to be 100 per cent, the women are 75.5 per cent. Again, of the total number subscribing—3,779—the men formed 58.3 per cent and the women 41.7 per cent.

Counts of the different colleges give results varying enormously from the average, because of the varying registrations. For instance, one woman was found in the College of Law list and two in that of the College of Engineering, while the list of the College of Arts and Sciences shows 451 men and 742 women.

About eight per cent of the total subscription was made in two-unit blocks. Eight-tenths of one per cent was in one and one-half-unit blocks; four-tenths of one per cent in four-unit blocks, and eight hundredths of one per cent in six-unit blocks.

Taking the College of Arts and Sciences to be representative of the size of subscriptions, these figures are borne out. Of the total of 1,203, ten and one-half-unit blocks were listed; ninety-five two-unit blocks; eighteen three-unit blocks; five four-unit blocks; three five-unit blocks, and one six-unit block.

The College of Arts and Sciences, the largest one in the University, has a registration of women close to the 1,000 figure. Although the college made the 100 per cent mark, only 742 women are listed at present at the alumni office. In the Teachers' College, with seventeen men and 468 women subscribing the quota assigned was not reached.

Annual Cornhusker Banquet Will be Held at Scottish Rite Cathedral

JOYCE IS TOASTMASTER Vikings, Corncoobs, and Iron Sphinx Will Have Charge of Ticket Sale Starting Monday

Tickets for the Cornhusker Banquet will go on sale Monday, December 3. Corncoobs, Vikings, and Iron Sphinx will have these tickets. The price of the banquet this year is one dollar, which includes, beside the dinner, the other entertainment planned.

All speakers on the program have not yet been decided upon, but it is expected that Captain Hartley, Coach Schulte, and other men who have played their last game for the school will be on the list. Friday, December 15 has been made a closed night in order that all men will be free to attend the banquet. The Cornhusker costume party for Nebraska women has been scheduled for the same night. It is expected that the fraternities will not serve dinner Friday in order that all members may be present.

The Cornhusker Banquet, an annual event, will this year be the celebration of the conclusion of a successful football season and of the campaign for a memorial stadium. The men who have fought for the school on the gridiron will be present in a body, and no finer tribute to them could be made.

The animal husbandry stock-judging team will spend Thanksgiving at the University of Illinois at Urbana where they will judge stock in connection with the International Livestock Exposition. The contest will start December 2.

In the contest at the American Royal Livestock Show at Kansas City, November 18, the Nebraska team placed fourth in a field of seven teams. The individual scores were very close, two of the Nebraska boys tying for places among the high ten. James Adams tied for fourth place with a score of 548 out of a possible 600. Arnold Fouts tied for tenth place with a score of 542. The scores of the teams follow: Kansas 2,698, Texas 2,631, Iowa 2,613, Nebraska 2,602, Missouri 2,582, Oklahoma 2,582, and Arkansas 2,416.

New University Regent Wants to Do What is Best for Nebraska

"I have no hobbies to ride in my duties as regent. I will give my best service, and best judgment in business matters, to the University, and its several departments. I appreciate the advantages to our people, and to our system of government, and the far-reaching influence in life, of liberal education. I sincerely believe, if we are to endure as a nation, we must persistently and unremittently afford sufficient educational facilities to our boys and girls, and the more that carry their educational training through the higher institutions, the greater will be the guaranty of safety to our state and nation, and all organized society."

William P. Warner of Dakota City is the new University regent who will take office January 1. His only daughter is a sophomore in the University, and his oldest son, who was a student in the School of Agriculture when war was declared, entered the Navy in May, 1917.

Thanksgiving Banquet To Be Held at Grand Tonight for Students

For those who have planned no Thanksgiving dinner in the evening, a banquet will be held tonight at the Grand hotel, Twelfth and Q streets. Under the direction of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. this dinner is given for students and their friends. It fills a distinct need, for most out-of-town students will not be able to get home, and the Temple cafeteria is to be closed all day.

Feeling that most of the students would have plans made for the noon meal, the committee decided to make it an evening affair, and set 6 o'clock as the time. A joint committee from the two Christian Associations has arranged for music; games will occupy the rest of the evening.

Captain Bowman related a few of the choice happenings of the team and described some of the races in which the Nebraska runners took part. The team has run races in which some member of the squad was injured or physically incapable, but they ran the race and quit only when the white flag was shown. Several of the races that were run under adverse conditions.

COLLEGE TEAMS WILL ROLL BOWLING MATCH

Laws and "Bizads" Meet on Lincoln Alleys Wednesday Evening in Ten Pin Match

The second inter-collegiate bowling match will be rolled between the Law College team and the "Bizads," who have organized their team, and have accepted the challenge issued by the Laws some time ago. The "Bizads" are to play the winner of the Law-Dent match, which happened to be the Laws. The match will be rolled on the Lincoln Alleys, 1117 P street, next Wednesday evening at 6 p. m.

The "Bizads" also intend to roll a match with the Dents as soon as they dispose of their argument with the Laws. A match is also scheduled to be rolled between the "Bizads" and the Arts and Science College team, as soon as the latter organize.

All of the above teams are anxious for matches with the other colleges, and will roll series with each other soon.

Today two great football teams meet on Nebraska field. Thoroughly coached and ready, the Cornhuskers are waiting for the whistle.

Back of the Scarlet and Cream jerseys upon the field will stand a student body united in spirit. It will be a great game and a great day for Nebraska.

We must not for a moment allow our part in the game to be anything but a close observance of our finest tradition.

- TODAY LET NEBRASKA: 1-Cheer our team every moment of the game—imbue the men on the field with our faith—the faith of Nebraskans. 2- Applaud the fine performance of our team and applaud the good plays of our opponents. 3-Not allow even the most sporadic "crabbing" of the men who run the game. The officials are playing a game—the game of running the game. Let them do it. 4-Sing our songs with a roar that will carry with it a glorious victory. 5-Stand to sing the two teams off the field at the end of the game. 6-Beat Notre Dame—beat with a fighting spirit and with determination to uphold the best ideals of true sportsmanship.

Dean W. Clyde Davis Leaves Soon To Take Up New Work In East

Dean W. Clyde Davis, whose resignation as head of the Dental College takes effect December 1, has expressed a willingness to return to Nebraska for short periods during the coming year to give lectures and meet students. The new position which Mr. Davis is taking in Milford, Delaware, will not occupy full time so that short visits to this University will be possible. He will aid the acting dean, Dr. Clyde Nelson, and the chancellor in an advisory capacity until September 1, 1923, without remuneration.

Beginning December 1, Dr. Ralph Sturdevant becomes associate professor of operative dentistry. Dr. Arlo M. Dunn and Dr. Arthur H. Schmidt will also carry additional work in the College of Dentistry.

SCHOLARSHIP AWARDS MADE

HIGH AVERAGES RECORDED

Miss Lillian Margolin Wins $50 for Highest Average of all University Women

Pan-Hellenic scholarship awards were announced at a special convocation Tuesday morning by Miss Louise Pound of the Pan-Hellenic Board. Daisy Portener, Lillian Margolin and Bernice Halbert received the highest ratings in the junior, sophomore and freshman classes of last year. The University orchestra gave a musical program of four numbers preceding the announcements.

The Pan-Hellenic Board annually presents a pin to the girl making the highest average the preceding year. The pin is a pearl studded flaming torch. Scholarship is the only consideration in awarding the pins and non-sorority girls as well as fraternity girls are eligible.

Daisy Portener of Guide Rock is the senior girl who won the highest average in her junior year. Her rating is 96.56 per cent. The highest honors of the sophomore class of last year went to Lillian Margolin who made an average of 96.61 per cent. Miss Margolin was also awarded a $50 scholarship by the American Association of University Women this year. She is secretarial assistant in the office of Prof. M. M. Fogg.

Bernice Halbert of Blair won the freshman honors with an average of 95.56 per cent, carrying thirty-six hours. Barbara Martin of Rising City made the higher average of 96.56 per cent, but could not be considered, as she is not in school this year. When she returns, her name will be taken up. Louise Lineman of Omaha, a graduate of Benson high school, received honorable mention in the freshman class. She carried thirty-four hours last year, making an average of 95.5 per cent.

Lillian Margolin, who made the highest average ranks 2.91 per cent higher than the highest average last year. Her average is 96.61 per cent as compared with 93.7 per cent last year.

The University orchestra, which opened the program, played "Men of Sparta," by Zamecnik, "Symphonie Militaire," by Haydn; "Ballet Sentimental," by Zamecnik, and "Zampa Overture," by Herold.

Nebraska Spirit Hits High Mark in Rally Last Night--Corncoobs Help

Three thousand cheering and howling students watched by hundreds of townsfolk paraded through the streets to the Lincoln hotel last evening to welcome the "Fighting Irish" from Notre Dame. The rally which preceded the parade and the welcome were the greatest in the history of Nebraska University and came as the culmination of a week of singing and spirit-building such as has never before been seen in the school of the Scarlet and the Cream.

Torches and red lights flared for a distance of over a mile as the Cornhusker boosters showed to the Notre Dame team and hundreds of visitors in the city for the Thanksgiving battle their determination to have revenge for last year's defeat at South Bend.

Two of the greatest football teams in the United States, the Fighting Irish of South Bend and the Fighting Cornhuskers of Nebraska will clash this afternoon in the biggest game that has ever been played on Nebraska Field. The Notre Dame team goes into the annual battle undefeated this season, while Nebraska, champion of the Valley, will go into the fray with one defeat, the Syracuse contest, marked up against her 1922 record. The seven conflicts in which these two unmatchable teams have met have resulted in four victories for Notre Dame, two victories for Nebraska, and one tie contest. The game will be attended by 13,000 persons, the largest crowd that has ever witnessed a football game at Nebraska. Among notables who will attend the game is General John Pershing, who will be escorted across the field before the game begins at 2 o'clock. The University band will play, while the Corncoobs will put on a stunt between the halves of the fray.

Dope on Game. According to the dope that has gone the rounds, Notre Dame is the favorite by a six-to-five odd margin, for a careful analysis of the two elevens shows that if the odds are not even, an advantage that exists is in favor of the Huskers, for in their lineup is contained more football ability and physical power than on any other team in the country. The Catholic team, however, is the best-coached team in the country, and has the reputation for being the hardest-fighting aggregation ever witnessed on a gridiron.

PROF. DEMING TALKS TO FRESHMAN GROUPS

"Frontiers of Physical Sciences" Is Title of Address Given to Freshmen Lecture

"We are not concerned with things physically useful, but we are seeking on the frontiers of the sciences, the truth," declared Prof. H. G. Deming in a lecture on "The Frontiers of the Physical Sciences," delivered to the freshmen of the College of Arts and Sciences, Monday evening and Tuesday morning. Professor Deming's lecture dealt with the smallest particles of matter, atoms and electrons.

The professor explained that scientists, through studying radium, had discovered that atoms decompose to form new atoms. Within the last year, according to the professor, it has been found possible to convert tungsten into a different element, helium, by means of a lightning discharge. Professor Deming declared that this discovery meant that it might be possible sometime to transform one element such as lead into an entirely different element, such as gold. In such a transformation the energy released would be more valuable than the gold produced.

Professor Deming declared that atoms were too small to be seen with the microscope and that a molecule or a group of atoms, would have to be magnified a million times to make a (Continued on Page Two).

of the Huskers, for in their lineup is contained more football ability and physical power than on any other team in the country. The Catholic team, however, is the best-coached team in the country, and has the reputation for being the hardest-fighting aggregation ever witnessed on a gridiron.

The game will be a contest between beef and speed, on one hand, and science and skill on the other. The Nebraska team will outweigh the Irish nineteen pounds to the man, and has a fast, hard-hitting backfield. As against these advantages possessed by the Scarlet and Cream machine, Knute Rockne's crew has a wonderful assortment of trick plays and forward passes. The South Bend team is an exponent of clever football, while Nebraska plays almost uninterrupted straight football.

If the Nebraska team fights as Notre Dame will fight, the Huskers will win. The Husker team has the line-smashing power to drive to one or more touchdowns, and if they can smother the attempts of the Irish to work trick passes and passes, the Cornhuskers will win.

Palladian Society Will Hold Annual Dinner Friday Eve

The members of Palladian will hold their traditional Thanksgiving feed Friday evening at 6 o'clock in Palladian Hall in the Temple. The boys will furnish a short program, and one member, Lloyd Schildneck, will be initiated. The meeting will be closed, and a business session will follow the feed and program.

Thanksgiving Day of 1922 Will Live for a Long Time in Memories of Huskers

What holiday of our whole school year will be quite as thrilling and exciting as Thanksgiving? A whole day of freedom in the middle of the week, with the best game of the season, wonderful "eats," old friends and relatives coming from great distances to see us—and five open nights right in succession. Really, this seems a phenomenon almost too good to be true, but perhaps dear old Nebraska realizes that her poor over-worked students need one day of play. For months and months we have waited, none too patiently, for this day, and our enthusiasm and "pep" have all been saved for the great occasion. Won't it be just perfect, with the traditional turkey dinner first—and Notre Dame to bring on the thrills for the rest of the day?
