SPIRIT.
On Thanksgiving day we saw Nebraska in her glory, we saw her rise to the heights of her ambitions and remain there flaunting her proud presence before the eyes of the world. The slow rolling of spirit the first of last week swelled and rose into a hilarious, determined, and supreme type that culminated when the mighty Notre Dame football team fell before the Scarlet and Cream.

Who didn't experience a feeling of pride when the Huskers smashed the Notre Dame defensive and marched down the field to a touchdown? And who wasn't alarmed when the redoubtable South Benders came back in the third quarter and threatened to take the game? Such moments when one feels the extreme of human expression are the times that tell you whether the game was good or not. The Cornhusker students attained the level of spirit that day that is worthy of the team that represents this institution. The wonderful Notre Dame spirit is a big factor in helping them to win their games, but Nebraska even outdid them there too.

That is the spirit that makes college and amateur athletics out-dance professionalism so far that the salaried players are playing a second fiddle to the University football. Let that wonderful spirit of the Thanksgiving game continue in the realm of Nebraska sports.

INDECISION.

One of the hardest things for many students to learn is to make up their minds to a course of action and then carry it out without any wavering. It is so much easier not to decide. This lack of decision, while it does not materially affect one's life at the time, if allowed to take hold, becomes a habit, which has a deprecating effect on the character.

A decided character is quick in forming judgments and firm in adhering to them. What he has decided he is likely to carry out resolutely. Sometimes the decisions may be the wrong ones. But it is a great deal better to decide wrong once in a while than not to decide at all. Most students waste a great deal of time in making relatively unimportant decisions. Whether to order a Home Style or a Peran Perfecto, whether to go to the Lyric or the Rialto, are, comparatively speaking, insignificant matters. Yet how many times do we hear students hesitating over just such questions. An incredible amount of time is also wasted in deciding which lesson to study first and beginning to study it. If you have the habit of indecision it is time to begin at once to make up your mind promptly on the less important matters. It will save your time and prepare you to make your decision quickly when confronted with an important problem. The football player cannot vacillate when he is playing the game. Just as it is important for him to make his decisions quickly in the game of football, it is important for the student to make his decisions promptly in the game of life.

SCHOLARSHIP.

It is alarming that more than two hundred students in the University are unable to keep the majority of their hours above passing. It is not only alarming but it is especially appalling to think that such a percentage of the students through either incapability or sheer laziness were dismissed from school so that the scholastic level of the institution might not fall. For these students who are absolutely incapable of carrying university work one feels sorry, but for those who came here for the social advantage, they have gained their just dues. A State University is at a disadvantage inasmuch as there are few restrictions that govern those who would enter the school. As a result it is necessary to dismiss those who are not worthy of the time and money that is being spent to make them better and more worthy citizens. At the present time the people supporting the University have not had the opportunities that the student has now. Many of the people in the state did not have a chance to enter a high school but they support ungrudgingly a State University.

It has been said that the incoming legislature men who have vowed to give the University a thorough cleaning to eliminate many of the undesirable and unnecessary expenses. The majority of the students are doing their best to profit by the opportunity that is offered but the few who are not are giving the school a black eye. There is no means of eliminating the undesirable other than that of dismissing him from school and that is what has been done.

GIVE!

Voluntary contributions to the Near East Relief fund are asked of the students today. Those who are acquainted with the appalling conditions in the Near East must realize the need for assistance. It is a challenge of necessity. There will be no forcing of students to contribute to the fund. The great need for relief work is enough to make the thinking students give as best they can.

OPEN ALUMNI CLUB IN NEW YORK CITY

Fraternities Reserving Floors and Sections of Rooms for Alumni Members

THE COST IS VERY NOMINAL

Building to be Sixteen Stories High and Will Accommodate Club Rooms and Parties

A real alumni club for fraternity men is to be opened in New York City by October of next year. It will be a home where members may live with all the comforts of a modern metropolitan club house and associate with fraternity brothers, all at a cost so small as to be within the reach of the young man just starting in business.

Many of the fraternities have arranged to have thirty-five bedrooms and its club space on the same floor. In addition to these rooms for resident members the fraternity has arranged to have a certain number of rooms set aside for transient service, for which the charge will be $3.00 a day.

The building, which will be sixteen stories high, will be occupied jointly by several member-clubs of college fraternity alumni, and will be operated by a central management, thus reducing the bug-bear of overhead expense that has made the operation of club house quarters in New York City a long record of financial deficits.

A group of well-known capitalists, representing eighteen fraternities, were interested in the proposition of building the club house. They formed themselves into the New York Fraternity Clubs Housing Committee to look after fraternity interests and deal with the building and operating company. From the first it has been emphasized that this is not to be an inter-fraternity club house or an inter-fraternity movement. The quarters of the member clubs will be as separate as though they were in different buildings, and there will be all the privacy of a first-class apartment house.

Men of national importance are interested in the project. The personnel of the honorary board is as follows: Hon. Newton D. Baker, Maj. Gen. Robert L. Bulard, U. S. A.; Hon. Bryon Patton Harrison, Hon. Will Hays, Hon. Charles E. Hughes, Hon. Joseph E. Ransdell, Rev. Dr. Ernest Stiles, Hon. Oscar W. Underwood, and Hon. Charles S. Whitman. The members of the general committee are William A. Starrett chairman; Henry H. McCorkle, vice chairman; Philip J. Ross, treasurer; Archibald R. Gibbons, secretary; John S. Ballou, Albert S. Bard, Charles W. Gerstenberg, John M. Gibbons, Harry S. Gorgas, John C. Hegeman, J. Harold Johnston, James D. Livingston, John Marchmont, Philip H. Senior, George A. Smith, Rudolph M. Triest, Samuel B. William, Jr., and Lawrence R. Bandler, director of organization.

The building is located on Madison avenue and Thirty-eighth street, and is already built up above the ground. In the basement will be a barber shop, general billiard room and ample storage space. On the main floor, with the entrance on Thirty-eighth street, will be a large general lounge, library and reading room, writing room, the operating offices of the building and the national headquarters of a few of the member fraternities, with a large dining room for restaurant and banquet needs.

A broad stairway will lead to the floor where most of the private club rooms of the member-fraternities will be located, and where there will also be a private dining room for luncheons and dinners.

The third floor will contain additional private club quarters, Turkish baths, gymnasium, squash court and handball courts. A sun parlor and roof garden will adorn the sixteenth floor.

The remainder of the building will be given over to bedrooms, which will be apportioned among the member-fraternities. These rooms will rent for $9 to $16 a week, and no lease will be required. A few suites will also be provided.

Emphasis is made by the governors that the club will be limited strictly to club members. Resident membership will cost $20 a year, and non-resident membership will amount to $10 a year. Men who have been out of college three years or less will be required to pay only half these amounts. Experienced men will have charge of the operation of the house. There will also be a house committee composed of one member from each participating club which will co-operate with the management committee through representation on its board of directors.
