HUSKERS SHOW REAL SPIRIT AT ANNUAL FEAST

"Bobbie" Joyce Voted Capable Toastmaster by Men at Cornhusker Banquet

GIVE TRIBUTE TO 'JIMMY'

All Speakers Are Vigorously Applauded by the Thousand Men Attending

BANQUET TICKETS.
Tickets and money for the Cornhusker banquet should be turned in to the Student Activities office or to Floyd Reed at the Acacia house immediately.

Uproarious cheers for Nebraska's champion football team, respectful "Jimmy" Best, and a great outpouring of Nebraska spirit, were combined in the annual men's Cornhusker banquet attended by over twelve hundred students at the Scottish Rite Temple Friday night.

Seriousness and hilarity were outstanding in the feast and celebration which takes its place as one of the greatest in the long life of Cornhusker banquets which have been held to finish gridiron seasons. "Bobbie" Joyce, toastmaster, was credited with a large amount of the success of the banquet, conducted under the auspices of the innocents in honor of the football letter men and the coaching staff.

The banquet opened with a deafening cheer for the football men who entered the huge banquet room after the students and speakers were assembled. After the noise had died away, two orchestras led in the singing of the Chant. Dr. Walter Aiken delivered the invocation.

Throughout the meal, Nebraska spirit bubbled over in song and cheer, first from the students, then from the Varsity quartet and then from the orchestras. Scarlet and cream decorations were hung from the ceiling and draped about the pillars of the Temple banquet room.

In a rousing speech to the men, the toastmaster opened the second part of the program. He was introduced by Chauncey Nelson, president of the innocents. Mr. Joyce raised a big cheer when he stated that he would rather be a Cornhusker and have a share in the glory brought by the 1922 football team than a student in any other American University.

Chancellor Samuel Avery spoke on "Athletics and the University" pointing out that Nebraska was the only school where the head coach is a dean. "I am proud of the coaches and proud of the team," he said. He pointed out that athletics were a great force for solidarity not only among the students of the various colleges but also among the alumni scattered in many states.

A great advance in physical training at Nebraska in the past few years had been helped greatly by the development of the athletic department, the Chancellor declared. He emphasized the fact that there had been complete harmony in the coaching staff and between the coaches and the administrative forces throughout the whole year.

Cherrington Speaks

Ben Cherrington, a Nebraska graduate who has spent some time in Europe since the Armistice investigating conditions among the students there, spoke for a few minutes from the point of view of an alumnus. He praised the spirit of "co-operative service which has developed at Nebraska and which is the essence of true sportsmanship. He stated that this spirit was needed to bring order out of chaos in Europe. He urged a brotherhood of all students to restore the shattered morale of European students.

The privation suffered by Europeans were graphically described by Mr. Cherrington who stated that 90,000 students were fed last year through contributions of American student bodies.

Dr. George Condra of the department of Conservation and Soil Survey portrayed, "Nebraska in Action" on the gridiron and on the campus. Nebraska spirit was the central theme of his talk—the right kind of spirit. That success was the main part of this spirit, he emphasized, stating that no success was worth while which was not honorably won.

Vestals Hear Talk on Art

Miss Hermine Stellar, assistant professor of drawing and painting, talked on Art at a meeting of the Vestals Thursday evening at Ellen Smith hall. The vestals is the honorary Arts and Science organization of women. A series of meetings are planned, at which speakers will be invited to discuss subjects in the field of Arts and Science. The next meeting will be held January 18.

OPPORTUNITY TO WIN ANNUAL TILL MONDAY

Contest for Free 1923 Cornhusker Will Close Monday Night

Opportunity to win a free 1923 Cornhusker remains open until Monday night at 5 o'clock. The contest to secure a name for the big annual has aroused a great deal of interest among the student and dozens of titles have been submitted for consideration of the judges.

"Everybody's Cornhusker," the title of the book last year, is the type of name that the editors of the Cornhusker this year want submitted. Opportunity for originality has been opened by the contest and a good number of students have turned in contributions in an effort to win the certificate which entitles them to a free copy of the book when it is distributed next spring.

Boxes to receive the titles have been placed at the entrance of Social Science hall and U-hall with placards announcing their purpose hung above turned in to the Cornhusker office in the basement of Administration building before tomorrow night.

ILLINOIS ARRANGES FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Coach Zuppke Lines up Number of Hard Games for 1923; Nebraska, October 6

Illinois sentiment here is that Coach "Bob" Zuppke has selected for the Orange and Blue 1923 football team the best schedule it has had in years, though the loss of the Wolverines because of the failure of Yost and Zuppke to agree on any date has not met with entire satisfaction.

Zuppke, known for taking on the toughest foes that exist, year after year, has again accepted a most grueling list of games and all on consecutive weeks, with a break at the last just previous to the Buckeye battle.

Nebraska, winner of the Missouri Valley title and conqueror of Notre Dame, which team defeated Georgia Tech. W. & J., Carnegie Tech., Wash. utler, and tied the Army, will be the opener on Illinois Field on Oct. 6. Then comes Butler, which team beat Illinois last season before the Illini got set.

The conference games are: Illinois at Iowa, October 20; Illinois at Northwestern, October 27; Chicago at Illinois, November 3; Wisconsin at Illinois, November 10; an open date, and then the Buckeyes at Ohio State No. 24.

Stagg's Maroons will dedicate the (Continued on Page Four).

Junior-Senior Prom First Open Night After Holidays

The junior-senior prom, formal party for the students of the two upper classes will be held at the Scottish Rite Temple on Friday night, January 5—the first open night after the Christmas holidays.

Elaborate plans for the prom are in the hands of a committee from the junior and senior classes. Tickets are on sale at the fraternity houses and may be secured from members of the committee. The price of the party is $3.00 per couple.

Novelty is planned both in refreshments and decorations. A big orchestra has been arranged. The dancing rooms of the Temple have been opened to the students for the evening and no effort is being spared to bring the prom up to the standard of the pre-war days.

Ticket sales will be limited to juniors and seniors. The prom tickets will be sold to only two hundred couples, although the Scottish Rite

OPEN FORUM TO FOLLOW CLASS DEBATE CONTEST

First Debate of Annual Interclass Tourney Tuesday Night

TO DEBATE COMPENSATION

Discussion Will Not Influence Judges' Decision of Honors

Open Forum discussion will follow the first debates in the inter-class debate tournament, Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in the Social Science auditorium and in Room 101 of the Law building. The open Forum debate committee not to count in the judges' decision. The general inter-class debate committee decided upon the discussion plan in order to give those attending the debate a chance, to express opinions on the subject, and to ask questions of the team members.

"Resolved: That the United States Government Should Grant Adjusted Compensation to the Veterans of the World War," is the subject for debate. The seniors and the freshmen are to defend the affirmative side of this question, while the juniors and the sophomores will take the negative. Direct argument speeches are to be ten minutes in length and the rebuttal speeches five.

The seniors and the juniors will mix in Room 101 of the Law building, and the freshman-sophomore contest will be held in the Social Science auditorium. Rivalry in the Law college between the junior and senior teams is running high and it is expected that a great deal of interest will be taken in this debate. Members of Delta Sigma Rho, honorary debating fraternity, will act as chairmen and time-keepers at the debates.

Grinnell Starts Fund In Russian Relief

In response to the appeal made in chapel last Wednesday by Miss Margaret S. Quayle for student aid for the refugee students in Russia and other devastated districts, the students and faculty of Grinnell have undertaken to raise $2,000 for the Student Friendship Fund. Miss Quayle is Director of the Central Area in Europe of the Student Friendship Fund Movement. This movement was first fostered by the World Student Federation, but has since almost outgrown its parent organization, although it still remains one of the activities of the federatio.

NOTICE!

The railroad companies ask that the students buy tickets early so that an estimate may be made as to how much equipment will be needed for the Christmas rush. Tickets will be put on sale Monday morning at the local ticket offices, and will be dated ahead. If the students will co-operate with the railroads in this matter, the students will save themselves the trouble of standing up during the ride home for the holidays.

Eastabrooks Laid Up With Bad Ankle

R. L. Eastabrooks a candidate for the Varsity basketball squad sprained his ankle Friday night. He will not be able to report for practice for some time. He has been showing up well at the practices and it is hoped that he will be able to come back to try for a berth on the team.

UNIVERSITY NIGHT COMMITTEE IS AT WORK ON PROGRAM

Chairman Eller Outlines Plans at a Meeting of the Committee at Ellen Smith Hall

PROBLEMS ARE DISCUSSED

Students and Organizations Are Asked to Submit Skits for Annual Funfest

In a meeting of the University Night committee at Ellen Smith hall Friday evening, plans were discussed for making the next University Night the biggest and the best that has ever appeared on the campus. Chairman Eller outlined the program to be followed by the different members of the committee.

The most important problem confronting the committee at this time is to interest the various organizations of the campus in the preparation of skits for the program. Presidents of all organizations are requested to bring this matter up in the next meeting. Students will be afforded ample time during Christmas vacation for the preparation of original skits. Some organizations are already at work on their skits and the commercial club has offered $5.00 as a prize for the best skit produced by a member of the Bizad College.

The committee expects to receive by the 15th of January, a sufficient number of skits to insure a rousing program so it will be to the advantage of each producer to have his skit in as early as possible.

The committee is corresponding with similar organizations in other schools and it is expected that some very good ideas will be obtained by this correspondence. The next meeting of the committee will be at Ellen Smith hall, Wednesday at 5 o'clock.

SEATON BACK FROM EASTERN MEETING

Purchasing Agent Returns From Meeting of Business Officers

F. L. Seaton, operating superintendent and purchasing agent, has just returned from Ithaca, New York, where he attended a meeting of the College and University business officers association. From there he went to Washington, D. C., to look over the government supplies, that are being offered for sale to state-supported institutions.

At the meeting in New York, plans were discussed for University and college finance and dormitory systems. University finance was the biggest and most important question raised, the final decision being to standardize methods of accounting by basing costs of operation on the basis of the number of students and the number of hours that the students are carrying. A ratio is taken between the actual number of students enrolled and the actual number of hours that the students are taking. The results are compared with those of the other institutions in the association. It may be that some of them will find that plans may be remedied or modified to enable the reduction of expenses.

Dormitory systems were discussed and new ideas submitted by men from the college and Universities that have large systems. In the east most of the institutions are endowed and are built in small towns so that it is necessary to build dormitories and make provisions for the students, according to Mr. Seaton. Consequently the eastern colleges have the better systems and told the state University officials many interesting accounts of the manner in which they were conducted and some of the minor means of making the systems pay. One man told of the dormitory at his school (Continued on Page Four).

CLEVER STUNTS FEATURE CO-ED PARTY FRIDAY

Costumes Represent All Styles of Feminine Apparel Ever Known

W. S. G. A. IN CHARGE

Six Hundred Girls Attend Annual Fun-fest in Armory Friday Night

A medley of bright colors and fantastical figures of all sorts filled the Armory to overflowing in celebration of the annual Girls' Cornhusker Party Friday night. The program of original stunts presented by sorority groups contributed largely to the success of the affair. The party was under the auspices of W. S. G. A.

Alpha Omicron Pi opened the program with a farce on "the latest" Mack Sennett comedy true to the bathing-beach type. Bebe Daniels and Harold Lloyd took the leading roles with great success, and the plot ended dramatically with the two in each other's arms. Alpha Delta Pi presented a faculty hop carried on in verse. The numerous interpretations of the old maid school teacher were the cause of great mirth.

"The Tragedy of the Lighthouse Keeper," by Kappa Alpha Theta, was notable for the remarkable imitation of climbing up and down an imaginary lighthouse given by the participants. The murder of the keeper and the subsequent grief of his family. The appearance of the doctor and undertakers, all continuously trotting up or down the stairs, was the kernel of the tragedy. It was done in pantomime.

"On and Off a Pirate Vessel," by Alpha Chi Omega in which a veritable gang of pirates, true to form even to the black patch, located and dug up a valuable treasure caused up gales of laughter.

Kappa Delta presented perhaps the most intricate stunt, "A Cornhusker Wedding." "Nebraska Spirit" was made the bride of "Football Hero" in a most impressive manner. Jack Best, the University quartet, Fred Richards, the innocents, and the Mortarboards were presented in the witnesses. Miss Heppner and Miss Conklin offered congratulations.

"Sweet Cookie Chorus," by Pi Beta Phi proved to be a vaudeville act in which the dancers, small girls in pinafores, waved immense cookies before their audience. Delta Gamma portrayed a typical small town audience "at the movies."

"In a Pullman Car," in which the colored porter bewailed his fate in "I've Got the Pullman Porter Blues" was the title of a skit by Delta Delta Delta. He was assisted by two travelers in bondoir attire.

Kappa Kappa Gamma represented the prominent characteristics of various fraternities as pointed out by a singer behind the scenes in their act "The Fraternity Man." Phi Mu portrayed the difficulties of a college student in driving a rickety Ford over the rough road from "Freshman City" to "Graduation Stop" in their skit "A College Highway."

The costumes were representative (Continued on Page Four).

Home Economics Club Stages Party

The members of the Home Economics club gave a party for all girls in the College of Agriculture at Ellen Smith Hall Saturday afternoon. A short program, dancing and refreshments made up the entertainment.

The Home Economics club which was organized several years ago, strives to remote friendship among the girls on the campus of the Agricultural College.

NAVY SECRETARY WILL SPEAK HERE

Daniels Accepts Fogg's Invitation to Address Students December 21

Hon. Josephus Daniels, secretary of the Navy in the Wilson cabinet, editor and publisher of "The News and Advertiser," Raleigh, N. C., has accepted an invitation from Prof. M. M. Fogg to address the 150 Journalism students of the University, Thursday, December 21. He will probably speak at a special convocation in the Temple Theatre at 11 o'clock. The University public will be invited.

Secretary Daniels is one of the South's most eminent editors. He will speak at the banquet of the Lincoln Knife and Fork club in the Lincoln hotel ballroom, Monday evening. The club's reception and arrangement committee is composed of Chief Justice A. M. Morrissey of the Supreme Court, Prof. M. M. Fogg, and Robert W. Devore, '09.

DRUG PLANT GARDEN TO BE REORGANIZED

Pharmacognosists of National Reputation to Aid in Building up Gardens

Out of 330 Drug Plants Grown in United States, Nebraska Garden Grows 110 (University Publicity Office).

Dr. W. W. Stockberger, head of the office of Drug, Poisonous and Oil Plant Investigation for the United States Department of Agriculture, has written to the College of Pharmacy to ascertain the condition of the drug-plant garden of the University and to inquire about the future plans for it. His letter states that of the 330 drug plants that have been grown in the United States, 110 have been grown at the Nebraska garden. Under the care and supervision of Miss Elsie Day, who was an instructor in the College of Pharmacy, the garden gained a nationwide reputation. Photographs and articles concerning it appeared in scientific magazines. During the war, the difficulty in securing help, seeds and shoots handicapped continued experimentation.

The garden has been placed in charge of Prof. H. R. Lewton, who has secured the consent of several well-known pharmacognosists to work with him in an effort to put the garden back on the former plane. Dr. Edward Kremers of the University of Wisconsin, Dr. Wulling of the University of Minnesota, and Dr. Henry (Continued on Page Four).

EIGHT SENIORS TO BE HONORED IN CORNHUSKER

Pictures of Four Men and Four Women of Classes '23 Will Compose Section

REPLACES BEAUTY DIVISION

Student Body Will Elect Seniors Who Most Clearly Portray Nebraska Spirit

A "representative section," to replace the beauty section, will feature the 1923 Cornhusker. Complete plans for the selection of the students who will be honored by position in this section of the big annual are announced as follows by the staff:

The section will contain the pictures of eight seniors—four men and four women. Selection will be made by the entire student body soon after the Christmas holidays.

The students chosen are to be representative of true Nebraska ideals. Consideration will be given to scholarship, student activities including work in athletics, on publications and other campus activities, and social activities.

The representative section is designed to overcome all objection which were raised against the beauty section of the annual last year. Only seniors are eligible to places in the section, as the awards will be a recognition of real service to Nebraska.

During the campaign for subscriptions to the Cornhusker, which will be held in January, ballots will be distributed to all who enter their orders for the year-book. This ballot will have spaces for the names of four men and four women.

Eight names must appear on each ballot in order to have it count so that as much of "favoritism" and campaigning for individuals as possible may be eliminated. The ballots will be numbered to correspond to the sales slips. In this way, danger of duplicate voting will be eliminated. The new plan of voting is expected to meet with the approval of students who are anxious to have a fair and accurate election of eight seniors who deserve special recognition for four years of boosting Nebraska in the right way.

The Cornhusker management has suggested that not scholarship, not athletics, nor social prominence be taken into consideration alone, but that all of these points be taken into consideration in the balloting.

No soliciting will be allowed at or around the polls on the day of the choice of the eight representatives. The management hopes to do away with the "blind" voting which has sometimes characterized student elections. Each vote is supposed to represent the true opinion of the voter uninfluenced by professional campaigners or "favorite son" enthusiasts.

The date for the election of the four men and four women has not been announced, as the time for the subscription campaign has not been decided. Last year the sales for the annual were made during the week of registration for the second semester.

Church Observes Annual Services

The Sixth Annual Candle-Lighting Service will be held at the First Presbyterian church Sunday evening, December 17, at 8:30. The ceremony is in charge of the young people of the church, and it is promised that it will be very beautiful. The only light furnished will be that of the candles. The chapel will be decorated with Christmas colors. A program of special music has been arranged by those in charge.

Everyone is invited to the service, which will be held tonight in order that students who are going home for the holidays will not miss the event.

Andrew Melick has just sent to the Nebraska State Museum a large collection of shells from Western Texas. Among other things, the collection contains a full set of the giant oyster-shells of that age, some of which are as much as fifteen inches long. This is considered a valuable addition to the state collections.

"White Christmas" for Benefit for Starving Russian Students

Nebraska is going to have a "White Christmas" this year. Beginning early Wednesday morning and continuing until Thursday evening, Nebraska students may buy Christmas candles on the campus and as they do so show genuine Christmas spirit to the students in Russia by making their gifts radiate good will.

Wednesday evening, Christmas candles will be put on sale—no price to be fixed, but the voluntary aspect to be stressed—through the organizations already existing on the campus. After the Community Christmas Sing at 7:30 under the auspices of the All-University Party Committee, each student will light his candle in the window of his home. The Vesper Choir of the University Y. W. C. A. will sing Christmas carols before the houses in the windows of which these candles are burning.

And the spirit of assistance to the needy will fill the hearts of the student of Nebraska, and make Christmas more than a gala occasion, a season of "Peace on Earth, Good Will to Man." Several thousand Russian students got up this morning, each one started the day off with a cup of weak tea, and will have nothing more until evening, then perhaps only a boiled potato and some soap made of harness, grass, bark, or straw. The situation looks hopeless to them. They are facing a cold, hard, Russian winter, with sufficient clothing, no money, perhaps with no lodging; the only future they can hope for, if they survive at all, is one handicapped by several physical weaknesses. And one hundred and fifty pennies will save a life for a month. The Christmas candles will go on sale at no set price, for they are to represent a free-will gift of students to students. Although those young people in war-ridden Russia cannot live on sympathy, good will and love, yet a gift prompted by those motives would accomplish more than its giver would think.
