

CHRISTMAS TREE TO BE HELD ON CAMPUS TONIGHT

Musical Program Is Planned for the Annual Celebration

ASK FOR NO DONATIONS Frats and Sororities Arrange Parties on Other Nights

Tonight is Christmas night for the students of the University of Nebraska. Promptly at 7:15 this evening the program by which the Cornhusker school will conduct a double celebration—that of the vacation coincident with Christmas and that of Christmas itself—will start.

Under the auspices of the All-University Party committee an elaborately decorated Christmas tree, a regular Santa Claus in the person of—but we're not supposed to tell that—a program of singing and last but not least—free candy for all those who attend the program have been arranged to help the students make a fitting celebration for the University.

Good Program. The program for the evening will start off with singing by the entire audience. Printed copies of the songs to be sung will be distributed. Following the community singing the Vesper Choir will sing.

Miss Lenore Bucket, a former Nebraska student, and a well-known soprano of Lincoln, will then sing a solo.

The Vesper Choir will again sing and another solo will be given.

Community singing will conclude the program proper, but following the close of the final song Old Saint Nicholas will distribute the sweet meats.

First in Years. The community Christmas celebration by the University community is the first held in years. Several years ago a beautifully lighted tree was a part of the program held in behalf of the Near East Relief and after the night of the program the tree was kept lighted throughout the holiday season, and hundreds of Lincoln people made special trips to the campus to view the tree. There will be no collections for the benefit of any one, no money asked whatever at the Thursday evening program. University authorities have not as yet stated definitely that the tree will burn throughout the week, but it is said that they are favorable to the idea and plan to do so.

Federations and sororities, most of them, hold their Christmas parties on other nights than the community program night, and a crowd of several hundred University men and women is expected to attend the program to night at 7:15.

STUDENTS ASKED TO BUY CANDLES

No Fixed Price for Candles—Funds for Russian Relief

Buy a Candle! This is the cry on the campus today and yesterday. The candles, which are being sold at no fixed price, are to be lighted in the windows of the homes of the students, and after the celebration at the campus Christmas tree tonight, the members of the Vesper Choir of the University Y. W. C. A. will sing in front of all the houses where these lighted candles are found. The proceeds from the sale of the candles will go to the Russian Student Relief.

The Vesper Choir asks that all students who intend to have candles in their windows call Ellen Smith hall sometime during the day to report their locations. The Choir, because of the number of places which it will have to go, will probably be late, and patience is counselled for those celebrators of the "White Christmas" who live out in the city.

Students in war-ridden Europe are going to school in the valiant attempt to acquire that broader outlook which will be the saving of the European countries. Educated men, ten years from now, will be the young men who are now in the Universities, striving to let themselves be those men who will be the rulers of the European states after the war reaction is finished.

And the suffering in these countries is so acute that the students are unable to procure enough to eat to avoid the pangs of hunger. When one stops to consider that here one can have luxuries undreamed of in Russia,

Botany Professors Leave for Boston

Dr. R. J. Pool and Prof. J. E. Weaver of the Botany department plan to leave Lincoln Saturday for Boston where they will attend the national annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, from December 26 to 30.

Dr. Pool will give a paper at the meeting, and Prof. Weaver will give two papers, one to the Botanical Society of America and the other to the Ecological Society of America.

MORE CORNHUSKER APPOINTMENTS OUT

Complete Organization of Staff of Nebraska Annual Publication

ASSIGN TWENTY-FIVE

Compulsory Staff Meeting Called for Thursday Afternoon in Office

Additional Cornhusker staff appointments were announced yesterday afternoon as follows:

- Classes. Lois Helges, Hugh Wilson, Dorothy Taylor, Francis Weintz, Ray Phelps. Organizations. Zella Gillmor, Doris Trost, Florence Miller, John Townsend, Athletics. Howard Buffett, Sarah Surber, Zella Roope. Art. Alphonse Clapp, Howard Turner, Valora Hüllinger, Helen Kummer. Military. Robert F. Craig, Steve King, William Bertwell, Blanchard Anderson. Student Life. Marjorie Wyman, Carolyn Aiky, Eno Granawald, Irma Wilcox, Leland Snyder. Editorial Stenographers. Edna Kent, Katherine Koch.

A compulsory meeting of all members of the staff has been called for 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the Cornhusker office in the basement of the Administration buildings. All appointees who expect to serve on the staff must attend this initial meeting. General plans will be outlined so that the work may be started before the holidays. More appointments to both the editorial and business staffs may be announced after the Christmas recess. The Cornhusker sales campaign will be carried on soon after the opening of school and before the beginning of the second semester. The appointments announced today were made by the editors of the various departments of the book.

W. A. A. To Entertain Children in Armory

Fifteen unfortunate little children will be the guests of the members of the W. A. A. at a Christmas party in the Armory.

Besides a toy—perhaps two toys—there will be warm underclothing, stockings, caps, even shoes, each child to receive the things he needs most. Of course, there will be candy and nuts in little stockings tied to a large Christmas tree, which will be lighted during the party.

After some lively games, the gifts will be distributed, and a luncheon will be served. The committee consists of the following: Blanche Gramlich, Jessie Holt, Marie Snively. Refreshments: Rosalie Platner, LaVerne Brubaker, and Lois Petersen.

December Number of Awgwan Is Published

The mistletoe season is gladly acclaimed in the "Smackers" number of Awgwan which appeared on the campus today. The history of the custom of kissing under the mistletoe is discussed at length in various places with cautions to look first.

Dumbbells are given an opportunity to guess what is wrong with a drawing that appears in the center of the book. All the innocence of youth is recalled by a "days of real sport" cartoon. The book is quite a memorial to the flapper and the finale hopper.

Copies may be rescored at Station A in University hall today and Friday.

Merry Christmas!

Episcopal Club Meets on Tuesday

The Episcopal club of the University held its monthly meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday evening at 6:15. Harold Morgan, the first president of the club, Rev. McMillan, student pastor, and Quintard Joyner, president of the club made short speeches. Plans for the coming year were discussed and the constitution was read.

ENTERTAIN "N" MEN AT OMAHA BANQUET

Twenty-two lettermen guests of Omaha Alumni at University Club

Twenty-two football letter men, accompanied by the coaches, were given a banquet at the University club in Omaha last night, by the Omaha alumni in celebration of the success of the football season. Chancellor Avery, Coach Dawson, Harold Holtz, alumni secretary; Coaches Frank and Fay, John Selbeck, agent of student activities, and James Tyson, student manager, were present at the banquet.

Howard Hunter, Omaha attorney made the speech of welcome to the team. Arrangements were in charge of Vincent Haskell of the alumni association who sent the invitations to the coaches and letter men some time ago. It was expected that assistant coach Swanson, who is in Omaha in employ of the Western Newspaper Union, would also be at the banquet. Coach Schulte could not be present, as he is out on a tour in the western part of the state.

Some of the men making the trip will not return to Lincoln but will go direct to their homes for the Christmas holidays.

FORMER CABINET MEMBER UNABLE TO MAKE SPEECH

Daniels Called by Urgent Engagement to Washington DELAYED BY BREAKDOWN

Former Naval Secretary to Have Spoken at Convocation

Hon. Josephus Daniels, former secretary of the navy, who was to have spoken at a special convocation at 11 o'clock today at the Temple was forced to leave Lincoln, on the midnight train last night to fulfill an urgent engagement in Washington, D. C. No convocation will be held.

Mr. Daniels' arrival in the city was delayed by a breakdown on the Rock Island line and was forced to come by auto to fill his speaking engagement at the banquet of the Kuffs and Fork club, at the Lincoln hotel last evening.

The guest was met by a reception committee composed of Chief Justice Morrissey, Regent P. L. Hall, E. S. Snively and Professor M. M. Fogg. Mr. Daniels expressed himself as being anxious to visit the University and promised Professor Fogg, at whose invitation he was to speak this morning, that he would come to Lincoln the next time that he was in the middle west.

"The Challenge of Peace" was the subject upon which Mr. Daniels addressed the members of the Kuffs and Fork club. He was introduced by J. E. Lawrence, law, '11, editor of the Lincoln Star. At his right at the banquet table were seated Governor-elect and Mrs. Charles W. Bryan.

Agersborg Publishes Article on Mollusks

H. P. K. Agersborg, a new professor at the University this year, has published a paper in the November issue of the Journal of Experimental Zoology. The title of the article is "Some Observations of Qualitative Chemical and Physical Stimulations in Nudibranchiate Mollusks With Special Reference to the Role of Rhinophores."

AGS WILL HOLD BIG "FUN FEED"

"Farmers Family Fun Feed" Will Feature Organized Ag Week

The Farmers' Family Fun Feed, sponsored by the College of Agriculture, will be one of the large get-together events of Organized Agriculture Week, which begins the second of January.

This is the initial event held in connection with Organized Agriculture at Nebraska, and it offers a chance for all visitors to get together and become acquainted. Special entertainment has been arranged. Alpha Zeta and Omicron Nu, honorary societies, will take active part in staging this event.

This feed is open to all interested in Agriculture, and will be held Wednesday afternoon, January 3, at 5 o'clock.

The year's program for Organized Agriculture promises to be better than ever. Twelve organized Agricultural societies of Nebraska, many having several divisions, will unite for their annual meetings. Included in their programs are such men as David Friday, President of the Michigan Agricultural College, who will speak at a mass meeting Thursday afternoon on "A State Agricultural

University Student Is Married Tuesday

Mildred Wyland and Albert Hastings were married at the First Presbyterian church Tuesday at 12 o'clock. The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Wyland of Underwood, Iowa and is a member of Gamma Phi Delta. She is a senior in the University. Mr. Hastings is the son of Mrs. Franklin Reid Hastings of Colorado Springs and is a member of Beta Theta Pi of Iowa State University. They will make their home in Lincoln.

THREE THOUSAND ATTEND MESSIAH

Classes Dismissed During Program in Newly Enlarged Armory Wednesday

HAVE MANY SOLOISTS

Beautiful Service Presented by University Musical Organizations

More than a thousand people attended Handel's "Messiah," given by the University Chorus of two hundred and fifty voices, the University orchestra, and a string quartet composed of Edward J. Wall, William T. Quirk, Mrs. August Molzer, Miss Lilian Eiche, and Mark Pierce with Miss Donna Gustaf at the piano, and Mrs. Edith Burlington Ross at the pipe organ, under the direction of Mrs. Carrie B. Raymond, at 10 o'clock Wednesday in the enlarged University Armory. The trumpet obligato in the final bass solo was played by Mr. Don Berry.

The soloists were: soprano, Miss Margaret Ferry; contralto, Miss Sylvia Cole; tenor, Francis Diers, and bass, Oscar Bennett. The choir of nine ladies which gave the major theme in the "Lift up your heads, O ye gates" chorus was composed of the following: Althea Brown, Irma Croft, Harriet Cruise, Ruth Alcorn, Ruth Carpenter, Mary Hall Thomas, Ruth Dressmer, Margaret Gettys, and Myrtle Kemp.

At the close of the program, Mrs. Raymond, who directed the production, was given a bouquet of red roses. Loud applause greeted the presentation.

"The Messiah" was written in 1741, by George Frederick Handel, who is now regarded as one of the masters of music of all time. The University chorus presents the oratorio every year just before the beginning of the Christmas holidays. Formerly, no space large enough to accommodate the crowd has been available, but with the throwing together of the two rooms of the second floor of the Armory, all the students were able to attend as well as a sprinkling of town people who were particularly interested in the production.

Temporary "bleachers" were erected at the back of the room, so that even those far to the rear would be enabled to see the singers on the stage in the west end. The program follows:

The Prophecy. Tenor—Comfort Ye My People. Chorus—And the Glory of the Lord Shall Be Revealed.

Bass—Thus Saith the Lord of Hosts—But Who May Abide the Day of His Coming.

The Nativity. Pastoral Symphony. Soprano—There Were Shepherds Abiding in the Field. And Lo! The Angel of the Lord Came Unto Them. And the Angel Said Unto Them. Fear Not. And Suddenly There Was With the Angel a Multitude of the Heaven by Host.

Chorus—Glory to God in the Highest. Contralto—Then Shall the Eyes of the Blind Be Opened. He Shall Feed His Flock Like a Shepherd.

Soprano—Come Unto Him All Ye That Labor.

The Passion. Chorus—Behold the Lamb of God. Tenor—Thy Rebuke Hath Broken His Heart. Behold and See if There Be Any Sorrow Like Unto His Sorrow. He Was Cut Off Out of the Land of the Living. But Thou Didst Not Leave His Soul in Hell.

Chorus—Lift Up Your Heads, O Ye Gates.

The Resurrection. Soprano—I Knew That My Redeemer Liveth. Quartet and Chorus—Since by Man Came Death. By Man Came Also the Resurrection. For As in Adam All Died. Even So in Christ Shall All Be Made Alive.

Bass—Behold! I Tell You a Mystery. The Trumpet Shall Sound. Chorus—Hallelujah! The Lord God Omnipotent Reigneth.

Kicking Turkey out of Europe is a noble business, kicking Europe out of Turkey is wicked.

MAY REGISTER FOR NEXT TERM AFTER RECESS

Second Semester Registration to Start the First Week in January

WILL PUBLISH DIRECTIONS

Plan Applies Only to Students Enrolled During the First Semester.

Registration for the second semester will begin immediately after the Christmas holidays. Students are urged to have their schedules planned by the time they return to school in order to save time.

Registration this year will follow the same plan that was used last year. Resident students, those who are now in school, will register from January 3, the day University opens after vacation, until January 11. Students may register at any time during these days, by seeing their advisors.

This plan, initiated last year, has been very successful. It eliminates the crowds and the necessity of waiting in lines for hours at a time.

Fees are to be paid in the Armory, using the post entrance, the week after registration, which is examination week. They may be paid from 9 to 5 daily, except Saturday, when fees will be received only between 8 and 12 o'clock.

Students in the Arts and Sciences college, including pre-medics, pre-dents and pre-laws, and those in the School of Fine Arts and the College of Business Administration, will pay their fees on January 17 and 18; and those in the colleges of Agriculture, Dentistry, Engineering, Law, Pharmacy, Teachers and Graduate College will pay on January 19 and 20, in the morning only.

The following directions are given out by the registrar for the order of early registration of resident students:

1. Apply only to students registered during the first semester 1922-23.

2. Dates for seeing adviser—January 3 to 11—except in College of Agriculture, where it is January 8 to 11.

3. See adviser at his office hours.

4. See Dean of Women, if an undergraduate woman.

5. Leave your application blank and statement of your outside activities with the dean of your college, who approves your courses and checks your fees.

6. Fees paid in Armory—east door—9 to 5 daily except on Saturday, 8 to 12.

7. A late fee will be charged all students who do not see their advisers by January 11, or do not pay their fees by January 17 or 21, according to the assignment for their college.

New students, those entering the University for the first time, will register between Wednesday, January 17 and Saturday, January 20. The order for new students registration is as follows:

1. See the registrar in Social Science 107.

2. See adviser and dean of your college as directed.

3. Pay fees in Armory—east entrance.

Final examinations are scheduled for the week beginning Saturday, January 13, and ending Saturday, January 20. Friday evening, the 12th, will be a closed night. The definite schedule of examinations will probably be out soon after vacation. The same plan will be followed as in other years. Most of the examinations will be over by Thursday night.

The second semester will begin on Monday, January 22.

After vacation students will have exactly ten days in which to complete their semester's work and get ready for finals.

Radio Speech Made By Ohio Professor

"The star of education is moving westward."

This was the keynote of the address by President Thompson of Ohio State University alumni assembled in some 90 meetings throughout the country to commemorate Ohio State Day. Speaking through the radio-telephone in the broadcasting station WEAO, President Thompson greeted his audience "most gladly on this anniversary of our Ohio State Day."

Devoting his opening words to a review of Ohio State's successful building program and increase in enrollment, he told of the advancement of ideas on the parts of the students which are formulated in a helpful and patriotic spirit.

Along with Santa Claus The Staff of the Daily Nebraskan wishes the students and faculty of the University A Merry Christmas and A Happy New Year
