TENTATIVE SCHEDULES ARE MADE FOR MEETINGS WITH EUROPEANS

Hans Tiesler to Talk Tuesday, February 13, in General Convocation in the Temple—Piet Roest and Jorgen Holck Will Speak at Convocation Wednesday—Will Be Here Three Days.

ORGANIZATIONS MAY ARRANGE FOR SPECIAL MEETINGS

University Settlement Movement Plays Large Part in Political Situation in Foreign Countries—Students Help Workers Who Are Unable to Attend Universities.

At a special meeting Monday evening of representatives of campus organizations, tentative plans were made for the meetings which the three foreign students, Hans Tiesler, Piet Roest and Jorgen Holck are to hold on February 13, 14 and 15. John Rothschild of Harvard University and Jasper King, traveling secretary for the National Student Forum will accompany the foreign students.

The schedule for the meetings follows:

Tuesday
11 a. m.—General Convocation, Temple theater, Hans Tiesler.
5 p. m.—Vespers, Ellen Smith hall.
8 p. m.—Open Meeting, Social Science Auditorium. Especially for current history classes and International Relations Club.

Wednesday
11 a. m.—Convocation for Laavs.

Thursday
11 a. m.—General Convocation, Piet Roest and Jorgen Holck.
1 p. m.—Convocation at Agriculture College—Jorgen Holck.

The schedule may be added to, and if any organization would like to have one or more of this company for a special meeting arrangements may be made with Crawford Folmer, who has charge of meetings.

These men are not coming here with the idea of reforming this country, nor will they try to force any theories on their fellow students. They come to America fresh from their home lands and will be able to give to American students their viewpoints of problems which must be solved.

Who They Are
Hans Tiesler comes from Germany where the student movement looms largest, perhaps on account of that country's position during the war, but on account of the events which have shaped themselves since the war. The German youth movement is a spirit, it cannot be described in words, and can only be characterized by telling its results. The two great ideals on which this movement is founded are national love of country and brotherly love of men, and its unit is the group, living the ideal life away from and outside the existing turmoil.

Piet Roest's country, Holland, was hardly touched by the war, yet it displays and produces a considerable amount of young thought of a renaissance character. Its essential characteristic is emphasis on the practical rather than on the theoretical and theological side of life.

Denmark, which is represented by Jorgen Holck, has on university settlement movement, located in Copenhagen. Mr. Holck has spent much time in the university settlement where students pass on their instructions to workers who are unable to attend university. Here, also, are groups of business men, students, and workers who discuss their mutual problems.

Ever since the close of the war there have been coming back to us rumors and vague descriptions of a new activity, an awakening of the youth of all the countries of the old world. New tales of students' activity in political and national affairs come from these European countries where the social orders are in a more or less state of turmoil. Most outstanding of all has been the movement in Germany, where it has taken on enough significance to become a factor in the political situation of the country.

These foreign students will merely try to give the views and opinions of young men. Every year several opportunities are offered to hear mature views on subjects affecting the economic situation in foreign countries, but this is the first opportunity Nebraska students will have to hear from fellow students.

Aztalan, the ancient Indian village, near Lake Mills was recently converted into a state park by the Wisconsin Archeological society.

The popularity of skiing is increasing at McGill University, Montreal, Canada. The winter sports club has a membership of 175 and it is still growing. Many contests are being held, such as ski dash, ski jumps and ski cross-country.

Blonde Robbing Fraternity Houses Has Been Discovered and Sent Home

The blonde, who has been robbing fraternity houses, has been identified and has left school. She was proved to be the girl who was seen in the library last Friday. Sunday she left for home on the plea of sickness. She lives in a small Nebraska town where her father runs a large mercantile establishment. The affair never came before the University authorities, it was settled outside. Most of the goods that were stolen have been returned and anyone who comes to the "Rag" office will receive information as to where he can get back his things, providing he will swear on his honor that he really had something stolen by the mysterious woman, and is not just trying to find out her identity.

We hope our readers see the difficulty we are in, concerning this case. We have run across the biggest piece of news possible to get. We have been trying to run down the case for days. And now that the girl has been found, we fear that we cannot make her identity known. We cannot give her name for two reasons. The first is policy. She has been and still is one of the most popular girls on this campus, her sorority is one of the strongest, so as gentlemen, we could not brand her as a thief. Also, from an ethical point of view we must remain silent. We have seen the workings of a woman's heart and we would be going against all standards of reliable journalism if we were to make public our knowledge. Nevertheless, we are going to tell the story. It will prove to those who think that this is a practical world, that adventure is not dead, and that in real life there is as much romance as in the most startling novel.

We will be unable to tell the complete story, but the theme will be given. We will not even be able to give the solution of the mystery and how the girl was apprehended until tomorrow. We wish the girl to have at least two days leeway at home before the story comes out. Above all, she must be protected. It is the wish of The Daily Nebraskan to give its readers all that it possibly can and as much as is able to be published will be sent out.

TICKETS FOR UNIVERSITY NIGHT ON SALE THURSDAY MORNING

Students Will Be Limited to Six Pasteboards for This Year's Production—Skits Are All in For Annual "Scandal Night"—Orpheum Box Office Will Open at 12 o'Clock.

SHOW WILL BE RUN OFF ON REGULAR SCHEDULE

"Evening Shun" Will Be Sold by Members of Sigma Delta Chi Following Show—Corncocks Will Feature Program with Minstrel Show—Many High Class Acts to Be Selected.

Tickets for University Night, scheduled for Saturday Night, February 17, at the Orpheum theater, will go on sale Thursday morning at 12 o'clock at the Orpheum box office. Six tickets will be the limit for each individual to purchase this year. This will give every student a chance to get a few of the pasteboards. The price will be fifty cents.

At a committee meeting Saturday noon at the Lincolnshire, practically all of the skits were read and a few of the best selected. There are still a few skits to come in and all of those already chosen will present their acts for final judgment before the members of the committee sometime after the latter part of this week.

EVINGER LECTURES TO FRESHMAN ENGINEERS

Professor Discusses Development of Water Power in the U. S.

"One horse power means the employment of one skilled workman. Applications for water power plants representing an aggregate of 21,000,000 horse power were received by the national water power commission last year. So, the latent possibility of development in this direction is apparent," said Prof. M. I. Evinger of the Department of Civil Engineering in speaking to freshman engineers Monday at 5 o'clock in M. E. 206.

The whole Pacific coast region, and perhaps the entire country will soon be covered with a network of interconnected power transmission lines, Prof. Evinger asserted. He gave the following reasons for the possibility of such startling development in this field: increased efficiency of generating units, lower costs of operation, lower costs of building power stations, increased lengths of line and greater differences of line potentials increased loads carried by means of interconnected stations.

"The larger projects in water power development have been held back in the past by navigation and inter-state interests," he pointed out. "Since recent federal legislation established a water power commission these projects have received an impetus. A short time ago 357 applications for such projects had been received by the commission. Five million horse power of the twenty-one represented by these requests were applied for during the year 1922.

"Seventy per cent of the development in water power during the last year was in California. Regions having a rough topography are, of course, natural centers for such plants. The larger plants are in New England, in the Appalachian range, in Minnesota and Michigan, and in the Rocky Mountain states."

Over 20,000,000 acres of the public domain are yet to be reclaimed, officials have said, Professor Evinger stated. A tract about a tenth as large is at present under irrigation. It will cost approximately two billion dollars to complete the work, he estimated, and if the money supply is not increased considerably it will probably take about 200 years to completely reclaim all the useful land.

"The Catskill aqueduct supply water to New York City has ten times the capacity of all the nine of ancient Rome," Professor Evinger declared. "At the dawn of history the flood waters of the Nile were dammed up forming the largest reservoir ever built. The art of the hydraulic engineer is old but his science is young. The science had its birthplace along the rivers of Italy, but it was not until about 200 years ago that men began to make precise observations and experiments. About 100 years ago French engineers have developed the mathematics of hydraulic to almost the same point at which it stands today. Since, there has been remarkable development in the art. Enormous structures have been erected. But the science has lagged behind. The need of the present is larger hydraulic laboratories. Many engineers advocate a national hydraulic laboratory."

Judging from the type of playlets that have been handed in at this time, the students are to be presented with a program this year that will be unequalled in the annals of University Night, say the members of the committee. One of the biggest features of the program will be a minstrel show by the members of the Corncocks. This is full of humor intermingled with popular as well as University songs.

The entire program will be made up of about four or five short curtain acts of a very high calibre and five of the best full stage acts will be selected for the program. Chairman Eiler stated that the curtain would go up promptly at 8:15 and everything will be run off on scheduled time. The entire show should not last later than 10:30.

Organizations which have already handed in skits which have passed the censorship of the committee and which are to be presented at tryouts are the A.G.S., Laavs, Theta Sigma Phi, Delian Literary Society, Cadet Officers Club and Corncocks. A number of other skits are being considered and announcements concerning them will be made in a few days.

A large number of curtain acts have been handed in and the committee has been attempting to select the best ones for the program. Marshall and Moore will present to the committee for acceptance a short musical skit with clever take-offs on some of the more important personages about the campus. Another musical stunt will be a trio composed of Slaymaker, Tyler and Zimmerman who will perform on the xylophone and piano respectively with Joe Zimmerman offering a few vocal selections.

Sigma Delta Chi has taken the responsibility of publishing the "Evening Shun" again this year and all the choice scandal about the campus will be portrayed in the little yellow paper. The members of this organization are appealing to the students for contributions, so that it may be a representative paper.

"The Shun" will not be issued until after the performance and the price will be five cents per copy. Last year the papers were distributed free of charge by the Y. M. C. A. but the "Y" did not want to take over the paper this year so the members of the fraternity will sell it to the students.

Open Forum to Debate Bank Guarantee Law

"Resolved, That the State Bank Guarantee Fund Law Be Repealed," is the question that will be debated at the first meeting of the open forum discussion this semester on Wednesday evening. Lyman B. Sorenson will uphold the affirmative, and Frank Watson will defend the negative. Legislator J. P. Pomeroy of Omaha, who drafted the present bill for modifying the existing law, will attend the meeting, and explain his bill following the debate. J. E. Hart, secretary of the Department of Trade and Commerce, has also promised to attend. The discussion will last one hour, beginning at seven o'clock. Everybody interested is invited to attend the meeting, which will be held in Law 101.

At the First Baptist church, of which Dr. P. L. Elmore is pastor, the fifth of a series of lectures on great cities and great religions will be given Sunday evening. The subject of the lecture is "The Modern City—The Future of Civilization."

ART ASSOCIATION OF NEBRASKA CONVENES

Dr. Lowry Gives Introductory Talk on Pictures Exhibited at Opening Session.

Dr. H. B. Lowry gave an introductory talk on the pictures exhibited at the opening reception of the Nebraska Art Association and the School of Fine Arts, Monday night, from eight to ten o'clock. The university orchestra played.

The exhibition is free to the public. The doors will be open from 9 a. m. to 12 noon, and from 7:30 p. m. to 9 p. m. daily.

Pictures of foreign artists are being shown as well as paintings of those of the last generation. The policy heretofore has been to show only works of living artists who were Americans.

The Metropolitan Museum supplied twenty-five or thirty of the paintings shown. Others are those of local artists. Lincoln artists who are showing work are as follows:

Mrs. Alice Edmiston, Mrs. Dean R. Leland, Miss Hermine Stellar, Miss Helen Wilson and Andres Haugseth.

A very interesting display of art craft was in display in the glass cases. Work by students of the school of fine arts also was shown. Thru the efforts of Professor Evinger, it has been possible to secure the competitive drawings for the new building of the Chicago Tribune.

ORGANIZING STUDENTS FOR TOUR OF FRANCE

Group Will Leave New York in June—Faculty of Party includes noted professors.

Professor Felix Weill, general secretary of the Federation de l'Alliance Francaise, has notified the branches of the alliance that a group of American college students and instructors is being organized to travel in France next summer under the joint auspices of the federation and the National Institute of International Education.

"The students will sail from New York on the S. S. Saxonia on June 30, 1923. After disembarking at Cherbourg, they will go to Paris for a stay of several days, and thence to Brittany, the chateau country, the Pyrenean towns, the Riviera, the industrial section centering around Lyons, the French and Swiss Alps, the redeemed provinces, and the cathedral towns in Normandy. They will return to this country on September 4.

The purpose of the undertaking is to enable college students to travel in France at the lowest possible cost and under scholarly instruction, directed towards a broad and sympathetic understanding of the history, traditions, ideals, and arts of the French people. The 'faculty' will include Professor Eugene M. Lebert of Grinnell College, as lecturer on French history, Mlle. Helene L. Jacot of Packard Collegiate Institute, Brooklyn, as language instructor, and other members of college and university faculties.

The Elks' Club Cafe has been taken over by Mr. L. M. Simmons. A special lunch is being put on the menu for the benefit of the University students. The prices for the luncheon are 35c and 45c.

FINAL INTERCLASS DEBATE IS TONIGHT

Junior and Freshman Forensic Teams Will Clash on Soldier Bonus Question.

Supremacy in interclass debate will be decided when the junior and freshman class teams clash in the Social Science Auditorium this evening at 8 o'clock. The Soldier Bonus or Adjusted Compensation, is the issue over which the verbal battle will rage. The freshman team will uphold the affirmative, and the junior team the negative side of the question.

The speakers in the order of their appearance are:

Freshman
Orville G. Bosely, Tyler Buckenau and Hugh E. Cox.

Juniors
Floyd E. Leavitt, Merle Loder and Alexander McKie.

The debates this year are being held under the auspices of Delta Sigma Eho, national debate fraternity. Wendell Berge, a member of the Varsity squad last year, will preside.

The freshman team has been coached by Sheldon Teft, Law '24. Bernard Gradwohl, Law '23, has had charge of the junior team.

To Hold Open Forum
Open Forum discussion will follow the formal argument of the question. This discussion will not count in the decision. The soldier bonus offers an opportunity for some good argument, since most students have opinions on the subject. The discussion will last as long as the audience wishes. At the freshman-sophomore debate, held the first of December, the arguments lasted an hour and a half. No admission will be charged to the debate this evening. It is open to the general public.

American folks lore talks, held in the open air, are a feature of the summer session of the University of Wisconsin.

Waupaca county is represented by a total of 47 students at the University of Wisconsin this year, including 11 women and 36 men.

Extra! Extra! The Evening Shun is Coming! Editors Want Scandal

The Evening Shun has always played an important part in the University Night program in previous years, and is scheduled to make its regular appearance Saturday night, February 17. Sigma Delta Chi is again sponsoring the University Scandal Sheet, but an entirely different plan is going to be used in putting out the paper than in other years.

The material for the paper will be taken entirely from contributions that are turned in by students. A locked box will be placed in the library in a convenient place in which every one may drop their news. This material will be put in shape for the press by the editors.

Here is your chance to get even with your friends and enemies. You can pay back that little grudge by a good story in the Evening Shun. It is imperative that everyone contribute to the little paper as everything that goes into the publication will be contributed by the students. Persons handing in material do not need to sign their names and no "fake" stories are wanted.

Remember, only witty stuff is desired—nothing that is in any way vulgar. "This is to be a strictly respectable publication and we want to make it representative of the University," said one of the members of Sigma Delta Chi yesterday.

If you have a choice campus scandal that you feel would be the right sort of thing for the "Shun," get busy and put a few ideas on paper, the main facts at least, and the "Shun" editors will do the rest. With every one working, the 1923 Shun should be the best in the history of University Night.
