came back to something as good or better than he had left. When new seen active service; many professors, college students. instructors, and assistants also. Other things being equal, discrimination was always made in favor of the exservice man. But suppose one was discharged late in the year and his services were not very necessary an til the next fall. The ex-service man was in such cases immdelately placed on the payroll, work was found for him to do, work germane to his subject, work that he wanted to do. The returning instructors have rendered high praise for the treatment received in the complete absence of any criticism. How about the returning students? We made liberal adjustments for the time lost. We gave them all the credit we could for work done in training camps and elsewhere. Here again we have received high praise in the almost total absence of criti-

I now refer to the local rehabili tation work in the collegiate courses. Beginning with the fall of '19 there were at the city campus about 50 students with Dean Enyberg as their counsellor and 40 at the School of Agriculture with Principal Bradford as counsellor. The government of ficials in charge of the work were not all greatly loved either by our professors or by the ex-soldier boys The latter, not being under military discipline, expressed their opinion most treely. Some of the visits of these government officials are said to have been endured by the University professors with courtesy and by Auto Mechanics the students with stoic fortitude. Af-Commercial Dairving ter a while everybody began to understand the situation better and now adjustment in the accounts in volving some 17c can now be made in less than two months time and frequently with less than ten sheets of paper. Let me add, however, that much credit for their pioneer efforts isfactory condition of affairs.

There are now in the University in number with 2. each: .. 2 are planning to become business managers; 9 agriculturists; 7 geologists, perhaps oil magnates: 7 teachers; 6 are planning to become civil engineers; accountans, bank clerks, chemists, phar macists, physicists, mechanical engineers, have 5 each; courses in elevator management and journalism press my love for you, my ---claim 4 each; 2 horticulturists; while 1 is registered in each of the courses leading to employment in agricultural engineering, architecture, bacteriol ogy.. advertising assistant, construction engineer, county agent, electricaengineer, interior decorator, salesman, etc. It may be interesting to note that most of the fellows are making good in spite of physical handicaps. Last year several of them had no grade below 90 and the highest aver age in the University was held by a vocational student, who carried three hours in advanced history in addition to a full law course, his average being over 96. He was a cripple as the result of spinal meningitis and recovering from tuberculosis, and was, leading the University. Is not work

Brilliant Bandannas on Nebraska Co-eds Bring Back Pioneer Customs

How very extremely blase we have become with our co-eds dressed for all the world like the famed Nebraska characters that we are! It has long been thought in the east that Nebraska still claims the distinction of being massacred at various intervals by savage hordes of Indians, of wild cowboys dashing over vast plains, but how could they ever dream of the truth? It is the co-ed, with her glaring bandanna knotted cow-boyish over her shoulders or tied rakishly over one eye resembling a bold private of old!

among America's leading magazines has been awarded the rating of

for the short stories of distinction it has published. Edward J. O'Brien, the American authority on the short story, in his annual review of American magazine fiction recently published in the Boston Transcript, again rated THE DIAL above every other magazine in America for the percentage of short stories of distinction it has published during the past year.

Every year Mr O'Brien makes a survey of the fiction published by American magazines, and his appraisal is generally accepted as authoritative by students of literature. The best of the stories selected by Mr O'Brien are annually republished in book form.

THE DIAL was first awarded the rating of 100% m 1920, at the end of its first year as a magatine of art and letters. Again in 1921 THE DIAL headed Mr O'Brien's list, and now in 1922, for the third consecutive year, THE DIAL has achieved the highest rating in Mr O'Brien's classification.

This record is particularly significant in view of the fact that Mr O'Brien selects for his percentage ratings only stories of unusual merit and distinction. THE DIAL's record of 100% means, therefore, that since 1920 it has not published a single mediocre story.

This record becomes all the more remarkable when it is realized that THE DIAL is not exclusively a fiction magazine. Short stories form but a part of the material in each issue. The poetry, essays, criticism, and reproductions of the fine arts published by THE DIAL are equally distinctive. The editorial policy of THE DIAL is directed towards achieving distinction in all lines. THE DIAL'S better known contributors include the most distinguished writers of Europe and America. A new name will shortly be added to this notable list of contributors-

whose latest novel will be published in the spring issues of THE DIAL.
