

HAWKEYE MATMEN DEFEAT WISCONSIN

Ames Leads Association with Four Victories and No Defeats.

The most important change in the standings of the Western Intercollegiate Wrestling Association occurred when Iowa defeated Wisconsin, 16 to 11. This did not change the positions of the teams, but Wisconsin dropped out of the 1000 division. Nebraska remained stationary.

Important changes in the standings will probably be in evidence after the battles at the end of this week. Nebraska should defeat Minnesota. This would give the Huskers an average of .667. If Ames defeats Wisconsin, which is very possible, the Badgers will drop down and give the Huskers fifth place.

Invitation from Coast Declined by Nebraska

The athletic department of the University of Nebraska has decided against the invitations extended by the University of Southern California to pit Husker football team against the Trojans in a game at Los Angeles. The invitation was rendered some weeks ago by the California athletic department but the Nebraska faculty committee, after consideration, were forced to refuse the bid.

Decision of the faculty committee was due to the long absence from school the team would be forced to undergo if the invitation scheduled for December 8 were accepted. Another factor was the conference rule which would make it necessary for the Nebraska management to secure permission from Valley authorities before they could send a team to California.

Los Angeles ranked second in the Western Coast rating this fall. The U. S. C. is completing a stadium with a seating capacity of 100,000 that they planned to dedicate by staging the Nebraska-Trojan game.

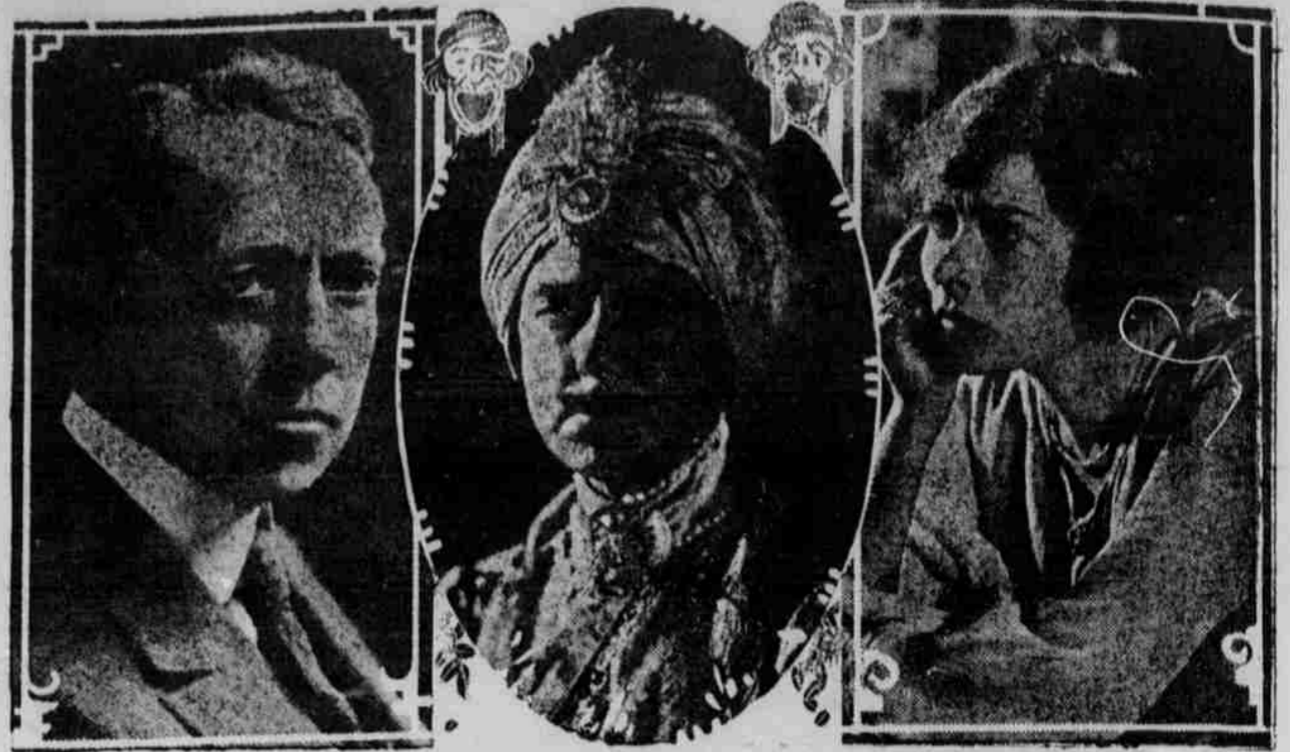

The following official announcement was made by the Nebraska athletic office:

"Director Dawson has received a formal invitation from E. C. Henderson, football coach and athletic director at the University of Southern California, for a game of football on December 8. Mr. Dawson took up the proposition with the faculty committee, but the latter turned it down because of the large amount of time that would have to be taken out of school work for the trip. Another point in connection with the proposed trip was the fact that there is a ruling in the Missouri Valley conference against playing more than eight games. And even if the faculty had countenanced the trip, permission would have had to be obtained from the Missouri Valley conference. Under the conditions it was deemed inadvisable to take it up at all with the conference."

Walker Whiteside in "The Hindu."

Walker Whiteside is said to revel in his oriental role in "The Hindu," the mystery melodrama of India in which he will appear at the Orpheum theater in Lincoln on Monday and Tuesday March 5 and 6. This fine actor has always fancied odd characters, and in Prince Tamar he has one of the most fascinating personages to portray that he has ever found in any play. Prince Tamar dominates the play, for this handsome youth Maharah is a power in his own land. His word means life or death, and when his gorgeous palace becomes a hot bed of intrigue which threatens to involve all India in a bloody rebellion, he sets his wits to work to such good purpose that the various villains are soon apprehended and done away with. There is nothing of a gruesome nature in "The Hindu," although it teems with thrilling scenes, and exciting adventure. Walker Whiteside produces "The Hindu" more than two years ago, and played in it in New York and Chicago all of the last season. At the moment he is engaged upon one of the longest trans-continental tours he has ever played. "The Hindu" has been a sensation wherever it has been presented by Walker Whiteside. The fine New York cast and the elegance of the production has served to satisfy the most exacting audiences. Miss Sydney Shields will be seen in Lincoln as the heroine, who pursues the villains from London to India. Other celebrities are Harold Vosburgh, Harold De Becker, Grant Sherman, Elwyn Eaton, Miss Maude Shaw Grant, Miss Gimmon McClintock, and the Hindu musicians, Pambur and Desylva. There will be a special matinee on Tuesday, March 6.
