Gretchen Griswold Wins Prize for the Most Flaming Red Hair—Interesting Program Given.

The Order of the Golden Fleece, which was established at the University of Nebraska in 1917, held its annual competition and luncheon Saturday noon at Ellen Smith Hall. A hundred women, with hair ranging through all imaginable shades of red, made a dazzling sight as they round the luncheon table. The shampoo and beauty parlors of the city worked overtime Friday afternoon and Saturday morning to groom the under-graduate competitors; and the operators complained that they had to wear eye-shades after their experience, when working on their other patrons.

The nine prizes offered were awarded by the judges as follows:

Winner of the prize for the most vivid red hair, the reddest of the red—Gretchen Griswold.

Winner of the prize for the most fascinating, scintillating golden glow—Della M. Perrin.

The program was given during and just after the luncheon. It was in two parts and was as follows:

"The Beautiful and the Bobbed," Margaret Clatterback.

Award of prizes by the judges.

The judges, themselves conspicuous for their burnished locks as well as for their powers of discrimination in tints of red, roamed about the long tables or strolled among the competitors during the program that followed the luncheon. They were attracted here and there by alluring freckles or flaming twists, as they lined up candidates. The quantity judges might be seen taking out pins, or pabbing red clusters of rate, or ruining perfect coils by weighing out knots. When the color judges sighted especially brilliant locks they said "Shep out into the light, please," and many of them put on smoked glasses, when they compared the most vivid tints.

Out of town guests in attendance were Mrs. Howard Kennedy and Miss Mary Gant of Omaha. Mrs. H. D. Landis of Seward, and Mrs. Dutton and Mrs. George Coucut of Hastings. These guests served as judges, assisted by the following Lincoln ladies: Mrs. Samuel Avery, wearing for the occasion the reddest of red hair. Mrs. Barton Green, Mrs. Everett Sawyer, Mrs. J. P. Senning, Miss Lucile Foulke, Miss Florence Teager, Miss Laura Pfeiffer, Mrs. F. E. Wolfe, Mrs. Russell, and Mrs. Parvin Witte of University Place. The donors of

Many Freshmen Attend Smoker at "Zip" House

Two hundred and fifty freshmen of the different fraternities of the University of Nebraska thoroughly enjoyed a smoker given in their honor at the Xi Psi Phi house, 1640 G street, Thursday evening.

The object of the smoker was to get acquainted with the various freshmen, and to pull for unified co-operation, as well as to create good school spirit. Pledge Clifford DeFord introduced the following speakers: Coach Schulte, who explained the value of each individual to the University. School spent in the proper way was emphasized. He put great stress upon two things that this University must correct, first that the awkward prouddness that the university student has, and also the fact that track clothes are constantly being stolen from the field during recent workouts. He was given much applause.

D. Wiedman was then introduced, he being the oldest letter man the Xi Psi Phi has, and holder of the state record high school record in the 100-yard dash 10-1, made 20 years ago. He was track man in '08-'09. He also gave an interesting talk about the proper attitude toward sports.

SENIOR GIRLS TO ELECT MEMBERS OF MORTARBOARD

Election of Thirteen Juniors for Honorary Society Held Tuesday and Wednesday.

Twenty-five Receiving Largest Vote Passed Upon by Eligibility Committee and Board.

Senior girls will vote for thirteen junior girls to be members of Mortarboard for next year, in the library, on Tuesday and Wednesday. The twenty-five girls receiving the largest number of votes will be passed upon by an eligibility committee and the present Mortarboards. The members of Mortarboard are masked at the Ivy Day services, which falls this year on May 31.

The girls who receive the highest number of votes from the members of the senior class, will, of course, be those girls who in their under-class days have done the most work in school activities. In the many fields for activity open to women in the University, there is opportunity for more than thirteen girls who may be considered worthy of the honor, say the girls of the chapter this year.

The names of junior girls ultimately chosen will be kept secret until the traditional Ivy Day masking in May. The polls in the library for the election will be under the control of present Mortarboards all day Tuesday and Wednesday. The members in charge urge that all senior girls vote so that the girls chosen will represent not only the most deserving and representative group in school, but they will also, in a measure, reflect the wishes of the senior class.

from the University of Nebraska Medical College in 1914, will leave in June for Halle, Germany, to study under continental specialists. Dr. Moon, for seven years following his graduation, was located at Superior, Wyoming, as Chief Surgeon for the Union Pacific and other companies. He is, at present, doing special graduate work in the Department of Anatomy and Pathology.

Sensation mongers and seekers of pipe courses would flock so numerously to a course in the "Psychology of Love" were such a course included in the college curriculum that it could hardly be a success.

How to Spend One's Time on A Stormy Sunday in Lincoln

By the time you read this, you will have cursed the weather for at least an hour. You will have asked yourself and all available audiences why the deuce it is that it always storms on Sunday. You will have forgotten the wonderful weather during the week and be longing for the balmy climate of California. Well, a stormy Sunday in Lincoln is something to moan over, in fact any Sunday in Lincoln is not a particularly hilariously wild affair, but with the proper information one can nearly enjoy himself. Here are a few hints.

First and foremost, stay in bed as long as you can. If the ambitious and noisy get up and play the piano so you can't sleep, lie in bed and think of pleasant ways of killing them. When you have thought of every possible method, arise and dress with care, just as if you really had some place to go. It is now 2 o'clock. Now of course you could go to church, but what is the use when you are unable to wear your new clothes? Prom 2 until 2:02 read the "Rag". Then you can start composing new verses for "It Ain't Going to Rain Any More." Of course, you will never be allowed to sing these verses in public because it is against the moral and cultural tone of the University. It is an interesting way to spend your time, however, it is, in fact, a psychological test. One can tell by the verses how his or her mind runs. It is now time for dinner. Eat all you can so you

DELTA CHI BOWLERS WIN CHAMPIONSHIP

Defeat Xi Psi Phis in Hotly-Contested Match for Title in Independent League.

In one of the hardest contested bowling matches of the season Friday evening, the Delta Chis, winners of the first half of the season in the independent league, were victors over the Xi Psi Phis, winners of the second half of the season, thus giving them the undisputed championship along with the coveted skin. Excitement ran high during the meet, and as each fraternity was represented en masse, the cheering of the respective groups reminded one of football season.

The first game was won by the Delta Chis by a lead of fifty-seven pins, and seeing as how the winner was to be determined by the total number of pins, the lead was welcomed by the Delta Chis. The second game was easily won by the Zips, their total number of pins on this game being sufficient to overcome the fifty seven point lead of the Delta Chi pin knockers and to put them in the lead by six points. In the third game the Delta Chi maple spillers got their optics focused on the head pin and it marked the beginning of the end. The final score showed the Delta Chi team to have rolled to victory by a majority of over a hundred pins.

Tryouts for the Kosmet play, "The Yellow Lantern" which will be presented early in April, will be held Monday and Tuesday evenings in the basement of Teachers' College building, room 21. There will be twelve principal leads, and about a dozen second leads. A cast of seventy-five will take part in the production. If it is necessary, additional tryouts may be held Wednesday, says the chairman of the committee.

Those students who wish to try out should register for a definite time. The list of contestants may be found in the office on The Daily Nebraskan. The members of the Klub wish that students register in advance in order to facilitate confirmation of scholarship and eligibility, which must be settled before the winners in the contest can be announced.

All the parts in the drama are not singing parts. Those who wish to try out should bear the following attributes in mind, says Fred Richards, who is managing the tryouts: Speaking voice, singing voice, stage presence, dancing, comedy stuff and character take-off. Individual skits should afford opportunity for judgment on these lines.

Each contestant will be given five minutes, but if two or more individuals try together, ten minutes will be allotted.

The main comedy head is a negro burlesque.

Tryouts on the two evenings will begin at seven-thirty, and will last until ten. If there are more contestants than can be accommodated in this amount of time, and additional tryout will be scheduled for the same time and place on Wednesday evening. In that case students may register on Tuesday in the office of the Nebraskan.

It is not necessary to sing in order to participate in the production. There are several parts which do not include songs. However, the majority of the parts are musical, and the chorus is composed of about fifty voices.

A Lenten Thought for Every Day

"Oh, how love I thy law..." and thy law is 'Truth.'"—119th Psalm.

Let us in our idea of God realize that he is trustworthy. That is really the secret of modern scientific advance—the discovery that the Universe is trustworthy, that it will not fail, that power always acts according to law. When we once realize that God is trustworthy, that he is as reliable, as unchanging in the spiritual as in the natural world, when we set ourselves no longer to evade or defy the spiritual law but to understand it and to work with it, then will come a spiritual revival in the world compared with which the scientific advance of the last century will seem a little thing.—A. Maude Royden.
